self-portrait, revised

Emily O’Neill

Let us know how access to this document benefits you.

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.umt.edu/cutbank

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

Recommended Citation
O’Neill, Emily (2016) 'self-portrait, revised,' CutBank: Vol. 1 : Iss. 84 , Article 17.
Available at: https://scholarworks.umt.edu/cutbank/vol1/iss84/17

This Poetry is brought to you for free and open access by ScholarWorks at University of Montana. It has been accepted for inclusion in CutBank by an authorized editor of ScholarWorks at University of Montana. For more information, please contact scholarworks@mso.umt.edu.
SELF-PORTRAIT, REVISED

grown up closer to water I’d dissolve when pressed but I was a cliff kid on the bottom lip of city I’m allergic to / sleeplessness ninety-degree corners stale heat thermal dissection
to fall, to body

body : as the only thing I flowered into body : what they call the page guts body : how to movement a flower blooming is both / a socket & plug are both & marry & spark had I been born a boy they’d call me Owen but he’s my brother now / taller than the silk tassels better for us to be twin horns curling from the same ram skull

had I become a boy I wouldn’t call it becoming if a city if a stamen
if elastic tuck hair into my hat knife / teeth / acrylic claw / what it takes to inspire manners bullshit regarding zygote fingernails / the sanctity of violent growth

to fall, to body

body: as unprotecting body: un-pink colony body: mother unnamed blood blood new once it clotted around invasion  blood decision automatic  synapse misfire we can wrongthink can't we can't we  we can body  however  we wake up city ram colony acrylic  boy fingernail who does these it's hard to get the shape right  it's hard to ask for what you want  when shifting rapidly I don't have a clue  who lives here anymore

Maggie in Greenpoint Brad in Astoria I am a bus stop nobody takes buses

in the atrium of my favorite organ a tunnel of rope  a praying towards what flowers

body: water, safely captured bloody: water, give or take bitter: but still rooted let it die in the space you won't keep little person  seedling  crushed by what's dominant I'm accidental / not a city