Officials Release Blackout Plan

Norman Begins Assignment With Grizzly ROTC Unit

Colonel Assumes Duties Formerly Held by Jones

Lieutenant-Colonel Lewis S. Norman, formerly stationed at Fort Lewis, Wash., with an infantry unit of the Third Division of the U. S. Army, assumed new duties this quarter as head of the university Reserve Officers' Training corps. Colonel Norman succeeds Colonel Robert E. Jones who was ordered to report to the War department at Washington, D. C., where he will undergo a short course of instruction in preparation for his assignment as military attache to the United States legation in Montevideo, Uruguay.

Lieutenant-Colonel W. G. Dockum, chief of the Montana recruiting and induction district, has been serving as head of the military department pending Colonel Norman's arrival.

The new professor of military science and tactics served a previous ROTC detail during the period of 1935-40 as assistant professor at the University of Idaho in Moscow. Prior to his duties in Fort Lewis with the Third Division, Colonel Norman was stationed at Fort Ord, Calif., where he was assigned to the Fifty-Third Infantry.

The officer, born in Chattanooga, Tenn., enrolled in the Georgia School of Technology in 1911. Two years later he went to the University of Tennessee and after four years took an LL. B. in June, 1917.

After attending an officers' training school at Plattsburg, N.Y., Norman was commissioned a second lieutenant and on Aug. 15, 1917, went into active duty with the U. S. Army. On Nov. 27, 1917, he was promoted to the rank of first lieutenant, and in Jan., 1941, he was advanced to the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

Colonel Norman served in the St. Mihiel and Argonne battles during World War I, has since been stationed at Camp Pike, Ark.; Fort Lewis, Wash.; Vancouver Barracks, Wash.; Schofield Barracks, Hawaii, and Fort Douglas, Utah.

Convo Group Will Stage Pep Rally

First convocation of the quarter will be a pep rally sponsored by traditions board, members of convocations committee decided last night. A new chairman will be chosen by Central board at its next meeting to replace Phillip Galusha, Helena, who is attending radio school at Iowa university.

The convocation Friday will consist of songs and yells, although Traditions board has not yet stated its plans, Homer Thompson, Three Forks, said.

Convocations committee will meet again at 5 o'clock Thursday in the Eloise Knowles room.

Takes Over Post

Lieutenant-Colonel Lewis S. Norman this quarter assumed command of the university ROTC unit. He replaces Colonel R. E. Jones who was called to Washington, D. C., during December. Lieutenant-Colonel W. G. Dockum has been serving as head of the department pending Norman's arrival.

Board Plans Defense Setup; Mixer for Aber Day Expenses

ASMSU will sponsor the quarter's first mixer Saturday night in the Student Union gold room, Central board decided last night in its initial meeting of the year. Dance returns will be used to finance Aber day in the spring.

Frances Talcott, vice-president of ASMSU, is in charge of the affair. She will appoint her committee at a later date.

Discovery of a new way to finance the observance each year in honor of "Daddy" Aber was necessitated this fall when the usual $350 set aside for the purpose was abolished under the new budget. Various student functions will take place during the remainder of the quarter in an effort to rebuild an adequate fund, she said.

Marcus Bourke, ASMSU, announced that he will appoint a "campus defense coordinator" in the near future who will be responsible for all black-out preparations on the campus. The coordinator will be assisted by all service organizations and a special committee to be appointed later.

Bourke explained that there is no need for alarm, and that there will be no practice blackouts. Preparations are being made because Missoula is in a strategic position should planes attacking the Pacific coast decide to fly inland. Lights here would assist pilots in determining positions of industrial cities such as Butte, Anaconda and Great Falls, where a large part of the United States copper industry is located.

In case of an air-raid, whistles located at the Clue-Polleys lumber company and on the campus will warn Missoula residents and students. These signals are to be followed immediately by a complete blackout down town and on the campus. Complete instructions will be furnished students in the near future, Bourke said.

Carr Releases Card Dates

Student activity tickets will be stamped for winter quarter at the Student Union business office between 8:30 and 12 o'clock and 1 and 4:30 o'clock today, Thursday and Friday, Clide Carr, ASMSU business manager, announced yesterday.

The new picture type card issued last fall requires stamping at the beginning of each quarter, but the same card is used by the student all year. In former years students obtained a new activity ticket each quarter.

Genevieve Tabouis Wires Cancellation Of Scheduled Tour

Madame Genevieve Tabouis wired cancellation of her north-west lecture tour to the Missoula chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism honorary. She was scheduled to speak at the annual Matrix Honor table, Jan. 13.

Her special duties in the present defense work keep the French newspaper woman in the east.

Negotiations are now being made to have Bertha Damon, author of "Grandma Called It Carnal," speak to the group.

There Will Be No Trial Blackouts, So Students Must Heed Regulations If the Warning Signal Whistle on the Heating Plant Is Blowing

A university blackout plan that can go into effect on instant notice was announced last night by Dr. A. S. Merrill, chairman of the committee in charge. Members are T. G. Swearingen, maintenance engineer; Monica B. Swearingen, director of residence halls; J. W. Severy, professor of botany; Marcus Bourke, student body president; Mary Marshall, Pan-hellenic president, and John Sheehy, president of Interfraternity council.

Theta Sorority Plans to Build New Home

Montana chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta, Inc., will begin construction in March on a new house for the local Theta chapter if war conditions make building possible, Mrs. John J. Lucy, secretary-treasurer of the corporation, said yesterday. The corporation has bought the lot adjoining the Sigma Nu house on Gerald avenue for the building and with the completion of the home next fall, a 20-year Theta dream will have been fulfilled.

The $50,000 sorority house will be cream-colored brick, Colonial style, with single and double rooms for 24 women. It will be the first of the university sororities without a Siberia, Mrs. Lucy said, as the grand chapter has enforced a ruling prohibiting Theta houses from having collective sleeping quarters.

Kappa Alpha Theta has been housed at 333 University avenue, the previous home of Sigma Chi, since 1921. It has been remodeled and enlarged several times since that date. The corporation will make no plans for disposing of their old house until the new one is completed.

Montana chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta first incorporated in 1920 as a non-profit institution. They re-incorporated Nov. 24, 1941, when President Roosevelt revealed new tax plans which would have made some of the sorority claims taxable.

"There will be no trial blackouts so if one comes it will be real," Missoula officials promised the committee. A whistle installed on top of the heating plant is the main signal for students. It will blow for three seconds with two-second intervals for 15 minutes. A system to ring all class bells simultaneously has also been arranged.

The downtown whistles are too distant to be heard distinctly, so the university must rely on its own warning, committee members said.

The watchman will turn out all campus lights, but students are asked to see that all lights in residence halls, sorority and fraternity houses, the Student Union and all other university buildings are turned off.

Blue lights provided residence halls will be placed at the heads of stairways and other places throughout the buildings. Candles, regarded as a fire hazard, are not recommended. Flashlights should be used.

Houses and co-ops will be organized with someone from each appointed to turn out all lights. Arrangements will be made for houses to provide blue lights also.

The committee advises all students to stay inside and away from windows during a blackout, to avoid the danger of flying splinters and broken glass. However, if anyone desires to leave the university and go home during a blackout, he may do so. Those having cars must leave them and get them the following day. Students should see that

Letters Indicate Former Students Alive in War Zone

Letters from university alums, now in the war zone, to relatives and friends here indicate that at least they are alive and in most cases safe.

"Don't worry about any of us in Honolulu" is the latest report from William Cogswell, '23, to his brother, Andrew C. Cogswell, assistant professor of the journalism school.

Cogswell, a graduate of the journalism school, is now a member of G-2, Army Intelligence service.

According to word received from George Armitage, '14, brother-in-law of Harry Adams, professor of physical education, he and his family are safe in the Hawaiian capital.

Armitage, secretary of Honolulu

Tourist bureau, received the first degree in journalism at Montana State university.

No word has been received from Aubrey Benton, ex-'39, stationed with the U. S. army at Clark Field, Pampanga, Philippine Islands, since war was declared. According to an Army communique issued yesterday by General MacArthur, commander of the U. S. forces in the Philippines, the lines at Pampanga are holding out against the Japs.

Dean A. L. Stone received a Christmas card dated Nov. 21 from Benton.

MOST WOMEN DO NOT COME TO COLLEGE TO MARRY

For years we have all heard the statement, "Most girls come to college to get married or to find the right man." F. Lawrence Babcock, who for sixty years has anonymously written articles for Fortune's Survey of Public Opinion, has released figures that definitely prove this to be wrong.

Today, there is an estimated total of 2,700,000 college graduates. Of this total 63.1 per cent are men or 1,704,000. This leaves 990,000 women graduates or 36.0 per cent of the total.

It seems only natural that 53.7 per cent of the women were graduated between the years 1930 and 1939 while 45.1 per cent or 769,000 men obtained a degree during that period. The trend for more women to go to college is probably found in the fact that more desire office positions at present than during another period in United States history.

Of all the graduates, 29.1 per cent of the men are single, while 48.9 per cent of the women are unmarried. This one item alone refutes the idea that more women come to college to get married than to study. Of all United States residents over 15 years of age only 26.4 per cent of the women are single, but there is 48.9 per cent of the college graduates who are single. Therefore, there are fewer married women among college graduates than among those who never attended a college.—P.L.K.

CAA Program Assumes New Importance

With the United States at war, the Civilian Pilot training program at the university is more than previously a military program of extreme importance, said Dr. A. S. Merrill, professor of mathematics, today. Those who are admitted into the program will be expected to become eligible for entrance into the military air forces, and to apply for further military training, Dr. Merrill said.

At the present time orders have not come denoting any changes in the spring session which will start tentatively March 1. Applications for admission may be made now at Dr. Merrill's office in Craig hall.

An applicant must have completed satisfactorily one-fourth of the credits necessary for a university degree for eligibility in the primary flying course. He must be between 19 and 26 years of age. In addition, he must pass a prescribed medical examination which, among other things, requires 20-20 vision without correction, Merrill said.

One new regulation imposed by the Civil Aeronautics authority is that the student must present either the original or a certified copy of his birth certificate with his application.

SERVICE TO GIVE SERUMS, VACCINES

Immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria and typhoid will be given on Monday and throughout the quarter. New students must make appointments for required physical examinations immediately, Doris Rankin, technician, said yesterday.

Journalists Given Teletype Machines

United Press has given two teletype machines, formerly used by the Havre Daily News office, to the School of Journalism. A. C. Cogswell, assistant professor of journalism, said yesterday.

Such teletypes when new, cost about $1200, Cogswell said. The two given to the journalism school need new motors, generators and keyboards before they can be put into use. Both are receiving machines, but the journalism school plans to convert one into a sending machine.

Since there is a prevalent demand for teletype operators in the newspaper field, the student will be given an opportunity to learn the operating technique of the machines.

Alums Leave For Spokane, Wichita Falls

Charles Sweeney, '40; Peter Murphy, '38, and Bob Pantzer, '40 graduate of the university and law school junior, left Missoula Dec. 29 for Spokane, where they will receive final physical examinations before reporting for duty with the United States army at Fort Lewis. They have been assigned tentatively to the Forty-first division there. All are members of the Officers' Reserve corps.

Stan Healy, '40, left Missoula the same day for Wichita Falls, Texas, where he will become a private in the Air corps. Healy, who has been employed as engraver by the Missoula Engraving company, is qualified in photography, and hopes to enter that branch of the service at Wichita Falls.

De-"Bunk"-ery

By DOROTHY ROCHON

Now that everyone has cashed in on all the sleep (?), Christmas presents and allowance possible, and we find ourselves forced back into the dreary grind again, like all other boring things, this stupid line of chatter must again be ground out—so please bear with me. It hurts me much more than it does you (even if that does sound impossible).

If Eileen Plumb's vacation was a little uneventful, she made up for it on her trip back to school. When the Northern Pacific stopped in Helena, Eileen and a coed from Washington flew off to play around the station for the half hour they thought they'd have there. The conductor, however, had other ideas, and after the usual 10-minute stop, the train departed for Missoula. Friends soon missed the two girls and the conductor was persuaded to stop the train. There, about six blocks down the track, came Eileen and her friend, doing an elongated 100-yard dash to the best of their ability. And the nice thing about it was that the girls, to get back into their own car, had to walk through the special compartment of the president of the N. P. road, who was just a wee bit irked by the whole procedure. (And you should have seen that conductor!)

The sudden cold spell caught Pat McHale by surprise, but not unprepared. On her first night back, she decided that to enter Siberia without being armed with a hot water bottle was sheer suicide, so she began to look for hers. After a fruitless but thorough search of the whole Sigma Kappa house, Pat gave up the hunt and borrowed one. After a 15-minute warm-up period, Pat decided to stretch out her feet. There, in the bottom of the bed, was a solid object—her hot water bottle, frozen.

In spite of uncooperative weather, the holidays had their share of L'Amour. Paul Burke is minus a sword and shield reportedly in the possession of a Billings Normal miss. Eileen Murphy now wears a white cross, while Clary Kaufman returned with a very nice specimen of Great Falls diamonds.

Looks like a mighty prosperous quarter for the depleted male population of the campus. Coed and Pan-hellenic formal, plus all the sorority firesides and formals make the future bright for the lads. The more fun the gals can show them right now, the better. It is small return for what they may see in the future.

A thousand pardons! In one of these columns toward the end of last quarter, I falsely accused Wells Cahoon of being in danger of membership on a committee for Barrister's ball. Wells is this year's Chief Push for Foresters'. The man I should have teased is Carl Simpson, a former Chief Push, at present a student in the law school.

Melby Attends Eastern Conference

President Ernest O. Melby, while in the East spending the holidays with his son, attended a national conference of college and university presidents in Baltimore Jan. 3-4.

He will meet with the Association of American Colleges in Cleveland Friday and will return the first of next week, the president's office said yesterday.

Eleven Students Figure In Christmas Weddings

The Christmas holidays saw seven weddings of students and alumnae of the university. Marcus Bourke, Lewistown, president of ASMSU, married Veronica Schillinger, nurse at the Daly Memorial hospital. The wedding was solemnized December 27 in Hamilton. Ray Ryan, Big Timber, was best man for the couple.

Clyde Hinton, Missoula, married Dorothy Shepard, Missoula, former student, Dec. 26. Hinton is a junior in the law school.

Beth Chaffin, Bozeman, became the bride of Barney Ryan, Livingston, '41, Dec. 27 in Bozeman, at a double wedding. Her sister was married at the same time. After a short honeymoon in Spokane, Ryan returned to Fort Lewis and his wife to Missoula to finish her senior year at the university.

Dorothy Taylor and Jim Alexander, former students, were married Dec. 28 in Missoula. They will make their home in Butte, where Alexander is employed by the American Tobacco company.

Winifred Bridges, '41, married Robert Schweitzer in Missoula Christmas afternoon. They will live in Missoula.

Catherine McKeel, former director of Corbin and South halls, married Paul T. O'Hare, '41, now a member of the faculty of the Powell county high school. The couple will live in Deer Lodge. The ceremony took place in Missoula.

Roberta Bras and Robert L. Dalke were married Christmas evening in Missoula. Dalke attended the university, and is now employed in Kalispell.

Two women students will leave Missoula this week-end for Fort Ord, Calif., where they will marry two graduates of the university. Barbara Adams, Billings, will be wed to Tom O'Donnell, and Betty McClure, Missoula, to Bruce Babbitt.

Grizzlies Split With Idaho For Only Triumph In Vacation Hoop Games

An inspired Grizzly quintet chalked up its first win of the season with a decisive 55-35 conquest over Idaho's Vandals in the first game of a doubleheader over the week-end but went down under a 49-29 drubbing in the second contest. Grizzlies were defeated twice by the Vandals at Moscow earlier in the season.

In five other vacation games the Grizzlies failed to win a single contest. Washington State won a pair from the Montana men while Kansas State, Wyoming and Brigham Young took single contests.

The first game found a new brand of fire displayed by Dahlberg's second string which opened the game and ran up a 15-10 lead in the opening moments, never relinquishing the winning margin as the game progressed. Dutch Dahmer and Gene Clawson led the aggressive attack.

Backed up by Russ Edwards, diminutive forward, the second squad sparked with effective passes and accurate rebound shots.

Montana Takes Charge

Vandals scored first when Thompson sank a short push shot and Hopkins dribbled a quick tally. Dahmer and Clawson took charge of the backboard then by countering six points in three minutes with free throws and two goals.

Turner scored for Idaho before which Paul Nicholas and Clawson tipped in a pair of rebounds. From that point Montana doubled the score throughout the contest until Vandals, led by Hoobing, sparked at the close of the tilt with five counters.

The first Grizzly aggregation, led by Bill Jones and Will DeGroot, showed fire and fury when it took the court and ran the count to 30-14 at halftime. Idaho used two teams in a futile attempt to halt the Grizzly onslaught.

Dahmer, Edwards, Clawson and Nicholas started the second half with a flurry of baskets.

Edwards hooped two neat shots and Thompson countered one. Hopkins arched another for the opponents just before Clawson and Dahmer matched the brace of baskets. Joe Taylor and Nicholas hit often.

Idaho Takes Game

In the second contest Montana was unable to maintain the even score of the game before halftime and went down under a 42-29 pounding. Hopkins, versatile Vandal guard, proved too effective as a push shot tosser which netted the winning squad 20 counters in the one-sided tilt.

Grizzlies were inaccurate on offense completing just 20 per cent of attempted shots. Dahlbergmen blew gift throws and missed set-ups.

Unhindered by the Idaho jinx, Jones rang up seven baskets and five free throws. The stellar forward's mates could not find the basket though DeGroot managed to tip in five counters.

Clawson Scores First

First score in the tilt came after five minutes of play when Clawson broke the ice with a free throw. Newell and Piedmont barraged the basket for Idaho and Dahmer retaliated with a pair of open shots.

The score was tied four times before intermission with Jones and Hopkins looping most shots for the two teams. Benson, guard, sank a neat throw to put Idaho in front 14-12 at halftime.

Jones fought a lone battle offensively in the final period. DeGroot and Burgess connected for Grizzlies twice but Idaho nullified Montana's gains when Hopkins and Benson poured in basket shots.

Managers' Meet Fails to Change Conference Setup

No change was made in the Pacific Coast conference setup at the meeting at Palm Springs, Calif., Doug Fessenden, athletic director, and Harry Adams, associate professor of physical education, who attended the graduate managers' conclave, announced on their return.

The managers twice heard discussions regarding changing the status of Montana and Idaho, and both times faculty pressure snapped the effort.

Changes in eligibility rules were considered for recommendation to faculty members, but a removal of the freshman rule was not among these. The future of the Rose Bowl, and contracts in regard to its promotion were also topics of the meeting. The football schedule for 1942 was approved with a few minor changes necessary.

Montana retains six games on the Pacific Coast schedule. Opening game will be Sept. 26, against Brigham Young at Missoula.

The coaches postponed approval of the officials' setup for future games until a later date when more definite methods of selection will be established. Recommendations for changes in the football rules, to be submitted to the National committee, were considered.

Coach to Talk At Banquet

Coach Doug Fessenden will speak at Libby high's football banquet tonight and show colored films to the players coached by Butch Hudacek, former Grizzly player.

Coach Hudacek's team won five games and lost two during the grid year. This season was the ex-Grizzly's first as a coach.

The Libby mentor is making an effort to bring his team to Missoula for the Montana-Gonzaga basketball game Jan. 16.

Fessenden will be accompanied by Hugh Edwards, Butte, freshman grid coach and a former teammate of Hudacek's.

Idaho finished strong with Steele tossing accurate free throw shots.

Montana dropped four games on the disastrous road tour during the holidays. Veterans of the squad failed to click defensively which marred victory hopes.

The Grizzly quintet went down first at Pullman, 74-45 when Washington State passed an early Montana lead. In the second Pullman contest the Cougar crack conference squad barely nosed out Montana 48-47.

Wyoming Cowboys took Montana into camp 46-34 at Billings on the next stop for the squad.

In Billings also, Brigham Young kept a clean slate and mopped up on Montana. Grizzlies came out on the rear end of a 46-34 tally.

In the only Missoula contest a listless Montana five took a 44-34 defeat for a Christmas present from touring Kansas State.

Naranche Shines As West Ties East In All-Star Game

Eso Naranche, high-scoring Grizzly fullback, played an important role on an under-rated West Shrine team which tied the East 6-6 in the seventeenth annual clash of the East-West all-stars in New Orleans last week.

Naranche was instrumental in halting an aerial attack led by Bill Smaltz of Penn State. Late in the second period the Montana fullback intercepted a forward pass intended for Bob Westfall, Michigan back, on the nine-yard line. The Grizzly was in the starting line-up and played two quarters of the contest.

Has Special Mask

Coaches Babe Hollingberry and Biff Jones, respective Washington State and Nebraska mentors, selected 23 outstanding players from Western squads to take part in the charity battle. The Montana fullback received an eye injury in an early scrimmage but played the game with a special mask.

Others who were in the starting lineup for the West eleven were Bob Reinhard, California; Frankie Albert, Stanford; Ken Casanega, Santa Clara; Jack Wilson, Baylor; Harry Stanton, Arizona; Rupert Thorton, Santa Clara; Brad Sheafe, St. Marys; Chal Daniel, Texas; Glen Conoly, Washington and Mal Kutner, Texas.

Players Receive Awards

Naranche's selection came in recognition of constantly effective play of the fullback during the pre-

Severy fractured a bone in his foot and Fernette sustained head injuries. They returned to Missoula the next day by bus.

Players on both all-star squads were awarded wrist watches, sweaters and were given special seats for the Sugar Bowl contest in New Orleans New Year's day.

Milt Popovich played with the West team in 1938, and Bill Kelly and Russell Sweet in 1927 were other previous Montana selections.

Naranche also received honorable mention on the Associated Press All-America football eleven for the 1941 season.

Blackout Plan Arranged By Committee

lights in parked cars are always turned out.

No provision has been made yet for study rooms which can be used during a blackout, but the committee recommends the use of basement chapter rooms in houses which have them. Residence halls will probably be provided with such facilities later.

Although the danger of an air raid in Missoula may seem remote at the present time, it is better to be prepared for any emergency, the committee stated.

"We are relying on the initiative, responsibility, and good judgment of the students," they added, "and we hope that if there is a necessity for a blackout, the university will do its part."

Final plans, arrangements and details will be further explained to the student body at convocation next week.

Forestry Club To Meet Tonight

Forestry club will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Forestry school library, President Burton Edwards, Glacier Park, announced yesterday.

Photographing of seniors for the Sentinel will begin next Monday, George Luening, Missoula, editor, said yesterday. Appointments may be made from 8 a. m. to 10:30 p. m. each day on a schedule sheet which will be provided at the Central Board room.

"No one can have his picture taken without first making an appointment," the editor stated. "Appointments should be made some time this week in order that a full schedule may be maintained for the photographing."

Students will wear street clothes for their pictures, he said, stressing that no reprints of other photographs will be permitted without his approval.

Luening said that it is imperative that appointments be kept, since a rigid printing schedule is being adhered to and any lack of cooperation on the part of students will be detrimental to the ultimate completion of the book.
