Deadline Set For Federal Applications

Students Wishing to File For Civil Service Exams Must Apply Soon

Announcement of the annual examinations for junior professional assistants and for student aids given by the United States Civil Service commission, was received recently by T. C. Spaulding, federal relations committee chairman. Applications for both examinations must be on file in the commission's Washington office not later than Feb. 3, 1942.

Students having completed a four-year course in an accredited college or university and having a major in the field of the examination are eligible to take the junior professional assistant exam. Seniors completing their undergraduate study before July 1, 1942 also are eligible.

Examinations are offered for assistant chemists, biologists, bacteriologists, archivists (recorders), foresters, geologists, household equipment workers, public welfare workers, range conservationists and statisticians.

Junior meteorologist and junior physicist exams are forthcoming, the announcement said.

Student aid exams in the fields of engineering, political science, public administration and statistics, open to juniors in colleges and universities of recognized standing, will be open at the same time.

All applicants for the student aid exam must be in sound physical health and not have passed their 30th birthday by Feb. 3, 1942.

Junior professional assistant applicants must be in sound physical health and not have passed their 35th birthday by Feb. 3, 1942.

Salaries for the assistants positions start at $2000 per year and the student aids receive $1440 to start.

Application blanks and announcement copies may be obtained from first or second class post offices or from the secretary, Board of United States Civil Service commissioners, Washington.

This year persons subject to military duty may take the exams and their eligibility for civil service is retained for 90 days after discharge from the armed forces, Spaulding said, but emphasized that the civil service commission must be notified within the given period in order to retain eligibility.

The written tests probably will be given early in March, Spaulding concluded.

Brain Truster

Bob Hurly, Glasgow, demonstrates the study technique which earned him 58 grade points last quarter, enough to lead the honor roll. One "C" was the only grade below perfect that Bob received.

Grade Curve Genius Says Physical Education Is "Jinx"

"I guess I must be jinxed," replied Bob Hurly, 19-year-old sophomore brain-truster from Glasgow, when asked yesterday to explain how one person can collect 58 grade points in one quarter to lead an honor roll of 154 students.

For three quarters a "C" in physical education has spoiled an otherwise perfect record for the unassuming pre-law student who carried 20 credit hours last quarter and won "A's" in Geology, Humanities, Spanish, American Government and ROTC.

Gives Best

However, working on the principle that some day he will be through with physical ed, Hurly continues to give his best in other subjects. Contrary to the popular belief that all of a student's spare time must be used in study to get good grades, Hurly contends that concentration during study is more important than the amount of time spent on the subject. "Of course, sometimes I get a week or so behind in one subject or another, and then I have to do a little extra studying," he admitted, "but the idea is to study hard—not a lot."

In his spare time Hurly goes to shows, plays tennis or experiments with photography. An experienced

Business Head Sets Deadline

Clide Carr, ASMSU business manager, yesterday announced that Thursday will be the last day for students to have their student activity tickets stamped for winter quarter. Tickets will be stamped at the Student Union business office.

Students who have lost their tickets may get admittance slips for the basketball games this week-end by applying at the business office. A charge of 50c will be made to all students who have lost their tickets and wish to purchase new ones for the remainder of the year.

Homer Thompson Named To Succeed Galusha As Convocation Chairman

Central Board Rules Out Bourke's Appointment To Position; Sets Deadline on Applications for Operetta Business Manager

Central board last night overrode the recommendation of Marcus Bourke, ASMSU president, for a person to fill the position of Convocations chairman, and instead approved the appointment of Homer Thompson, Three Forks, who, until the meeting, had not been recommended for the position.

Authoress To Speak At Banquet

Theta Sigs Schedule Damon for Honor Table Guest March 9

Bertha Damon, American-born authoress of Victorian novels, will be guest speaker at the eleventh annual Matrix Honor Table banquet, scheduled for March 9 at the Florence hotel by the local chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism honorary. Mrs. Damon will appear in place of Mme. Genevieve Tabouis, French journalist, who was forced to cancel her engagement to speak here Jan. 13.

Mrs. Damon, a New England writer, came into literary prominence with the publication in 1939 of "Grandma Called It Carnal," a series of provocative reminiscences of her grandmother and her own childhood in a staid Connecticut village. She is now at work on "A Sense of Humus," her views of country life in New Hampshire.

Plans for the dinner are being arranged by Astrid Arnoldson and Margaret Coucher of the alumni chapter, and Betty Bloomsburg, Carmen, Idaho, student chapter president.

Work is now going ahead on invitations under the direction of Miss Bloomsburg. Invitations will be mailed during the latter part of February to prominent campus and town women as well as to women of Hamilton, Helena, Anaconda, Plains, Butte, Thompson Falls, Kalispell, Polson and Deer Lodge.

Student committee members are Mary Bukvich, Butte; Ann Clements, Helena; Dorothy Rochon, Anaconda; Jean Swenson, Flaxville; Dorothy Burr, Havre, and Lucile Williams, Missoula, on the invitations committee; Betty Alf, Arretta Dobrovolsky, Virginia Gisborne, and Aline Mosby, all of Missoula, working on other arrangements, and Lucille Adamson, Raymond, in charge of publicity.

Former Student Is Air Cadet

Tom Daniels, ex-43, of Los Angeles, was recently made an aviation cadet at the Corpus Christi Naval Air station. He attended the university for two years, and was a member of Bear Paws, men's sophomore honorary organization, and Sigma Phi Epsilon, social fraternity. He completed the primary CAA course here.

Bourke had recommended Phyllis Miller, Conrad, as committee head, but the appointment was not confirmed because board members felt that upperclass standing should be a prerequisite for the position.

Thompson will replace Phillip Galusha, Helena, who is not in school this quarter. Galusha was appointed last spring when Bourke named all ASMSU committees, but his withdrawal from the university necessitated appointment of a new committee head at the beginning of this quarter.

Two Appointed

Two new members were also appointed to the committee. They are Arnold Rivin and Eileen Thompson, both of Missoula. Other members include Bob Ackerslund, Missoula; Phyllis Miller, Conrad, and Eileen Murphy, Anaconda.

Frances Talcott, Nibbe, ASMSU social chairman, was named to head a committee in charge of arrangements for a dance tentatively scheduled for March 27, when the university debate squad will be host to the state debate and oratory tournament. She will appoint her own committee.

Central board decided that all students interested in applying for business manager of the university operetta to be presented spring quarter must file their applications in the Student Union business office. Final selection will be made by the board. An advisory committee to assist the manager will also be appointed.

War Brings Second Czech Student to U

Eva Sagh, student war refugee from Czechoslovakia, arrived in Missoula Monday and completed her registration in the university yesterday. Miss Sagh, brought here through the combined work of the Interchurch Conference committee and the campus committee of the World Student Service Fund, came directly from New York where she has been attending school for the past three years.

Miss Sagh came to the United States from a small town near Prague, and since then has been attending a college in New York City. She entered the university with an advanced standing and plans to make her home at the women's co-op.

"Eva Sagh comes to the university under the same auspices as Beatrice Boyko, Czechoslovakian refugee brought here last year," Rev. Harvey F. Baty, advisor to the Interchurch Conference committee said.

Melby to Talk at Convocation

President E. O. Melby will open tomorrow's convocation with a short talk about blackout instructions. "Blackout Jamboree," a skit about how not to act during an air raid will follow. A pep rally will conclude the program.

Convocations committee and Traditions board, joint producers of the convocation, are introducing a new seating scheme tomorrow. The classes will be seated by sections, the seniors in the center downstairs, the sophomores and juniors on either side and the freshmen upstairs.

During the pep rally the classes will yell in competition and prizes will be awarded to those who place first and last. The class presidents should attend the program in case their class wins a prize, according to Howard Golder, Missoula, yell king.

Golder and Ted Delaney, Missoula, will introduce the new cheerleaders and lead the students in yells and songs. A 12-piece pep band will accompany the singing.

Tom Strong and Harold McClesney, both of Missoula, wrote the script for "Blackout Jamboree."

Charles Lucas, Lewistown, and Jim Baldwin, Kalispell, will play the parts of students experiencing their first air raid. Eileen Murphy, Anaconda, will sing, and Betty Boding, Missoula, will tap dance at an impromptu party Lucas and Baldwin give. Ed Voldseth, Lennep, will play the piano. The Sigma Nu swing band will make its first stage appearance. Members of the band are Rex Stage, Great Falls; Tony DiRe, Anaconda; George Van Brocklin, Livingston; Alan Merriam, Missoula, and Baldwin.

McClesney will be master of ceremonies.

CAMPUS DEFENSE AND THE HALL CLOCK

We cannot help but wonder what kind of reasoning it is that makes the Missoula County Defense board order the clock in Main hall tower to be blacked out yet allow prominent signs on the Florence and Palace hotels to continue to glow.

The lighted tower would make a fine land mark to guide enemy bombers since it can be easily observed, the board used as its reasoning in ordering the dousing. Also because the switch to turn it off is located on the third floor and since there are so many main switches located all over the campus to turn off other lights it was thought that the night watchman should be relieved of this duty.

But the light which illuminated the clock cannot be seen more than a few blocks away while the glittering Neons on top of the downtown buildings can be plainly distinguished for miles. And as the maintenance department itself admitted, a switch could be installed on the first floor without too much work.

But what difference does it make anyway, you might ask?

The clock serves as a guide for students in their activities on the campus at night. Whether it be the couple who makes the last mad dash to New or North halls as the timepiece trembles on the stroke of 10:30 o'clock, or the hurried individual who speeds into the Student Union for a meeting or the one who scurries to the library for that last minute book—they all used the Main hall clock to guide their actions. And the old timer probably chuckles to himself these nights as he watches the frantic efforts of the students to meet deadlines without his assistance.

At least he does give some assistance not toward a commercial end.

And since the clock is turned off at or about 11 o'clock, we cannot help but think that at such early hours it could be of little assistance to enemy fliers.

Do not confuse this as unwillingness on the part of any individual student or group of students to cooperate with the defense board. The publicity given and the work done to organize the campus into a well-knit organization to handle blackouts should be ample proof that the students are willing to cooperate with defense authorities and that the question involved is not one of selfishness.

But we still cannot help but wonder.

A CHALLENGE TO COLLEGE STUDENTS

A recent article in Harpers points out in a convincing fashion that our opportunities for education are the one thing that will help us to maintain our American way of life in this world crisis. It might be well to pass a few lines from that article to you.

"In America we think we have the rudiments, at least, of a free community and a good state. We look to education to give us free minds which will join in our struggle toward a better life for all people . . . we need men and women capable of freedom.

"What this country must have, is free minds. This does not mean minds loaded with archaic information or equipped with obsolescent technics. It means minds informed by principles derived from human experience through the ages, minds that will operate well no matter what wave of change beat upon them."

American government is based upon the proposition that all men are politically equal, that all men are ruler and ruled, they must all be educated to do this. If they cannot be made to accept the education offered them we might as well drop the pretense of democracy.

This is a strong challenge to the fortunate few of us who have the opportunities for higher education. If pondered over it should be for some of us—especially those who are wondering what is the use of laboring over books when they will probably be in the army soon—an incentive to try to get the most we can from our college life.—E. F.

day will be the last day students may have student activity tickets stamped for winter quarter. Those who have lost their tickets and wish to attend games this weekend may secure admittance slips at the Student Union business office, where the stamping will also take place.

Carr said a fine of 50 cents must be paid before a student may obtain a new student activity ticket. The board appointed Carr to draw up a by-law to this effect and present it at the next meeting.

Earl Fairbanks, Lima, campus defense coordinator, announced that lists of blackout instructions will be distributed to all dormitories, residence halls and sorority and fraternity houses as soon as the campus defense committee issues them.

Married Women's Club to Resume Campus Activity

Dames club, an organization of the married women on the campus, after a lapse of two years will begin again with Mrs. John Duffalo as sponsor, Cyrille Van Duser, Student Union manager, announced yesterday.

Miss Van Duser said that this type of club is found in all larger coeducational institutions to provide a meeting place and social activities for married students. Bridge, sewing and discussion of household activities provide entertainment. Faculty wives sponsor the club.

Names of married students should be left at the Student Union business office or Miss Van Duser's office this week if possible, she said.

De-"Bunk"-ery

By DOROTHY ROCHON

Numerous sleighing activities have been in evidence since the recent snow deluge, but the Sigma Chis have copped the head of the list with the formation of their new Nine o'Clock club. Members of the famous club all own a certain share in a super toboggan, and every night at nine the boys take off for a short spin. Brothers who do not belong to the corporation may get an evening's ride for the nominal fee of 25 cents. Only drawback to the whole deal is that women are prohibited, because the club membership is too large, and women can take up an awful lot of room. (Too true!)

Christmas vacation proved a field day for the Bourke family. President Marc acquired a very cute Missus, and brother Jerry presented June McLaughlin with a sparkling token of his esteem.

Richmond Pease, recently inducted into Uncle Sam's employ, reports that he has the situation well in hand. He advised a friend on the campus not to worry, because all the Germans will be doing for the next few months is shelling Pease.

That horrible season is here again—basketball for women. All amazons reported to the gym last night for a preliminary weighing-in. Practice sessions this year will consist of games between sororities, so if Greek coeds appear in slightly dilapidated condition (minus arms, legs, etc.) these next few weeks, you'll know what's the matter.

Joeko Saldin, commonly known as the most bashful soul in the university, is even more so now. Joeko had a date Sunday night, and during the fog he became so enrapt in the thought of her that on the way to her house he drove right into the middle of the wading pond in Bonner park. After frantic attempts to get out had proved fruitless, a telephone call brought Jack Kuenning and Jack Hollowell to the rescue. Half an hour later Joeko's car still was in the same spot and Joeko was a very worried lad. Hollowell finally discovered that the enamored Joeko had his brake on, so a quick removal from the pond was accomplished. (Couldn't discover the girl's identity, but she must be all right!)

A recent story in this paper informed the student body that in order to have an Aber day this spring $350 must be raised. Last Saturday night ASMSU sponsored a dance for the purpose of laying a foundation for that fund. The orchestra was swell, the entertainment good, and the dance a lot of fun. Just one thing wrong—no body was there. Some fund—if all future attempts to build it are as successful as the first!

Representatives from each sorority and Fraternity will meet tonight at 7:30 in Library 102 to discuss debate plans, according to Ralph Y. McGinnis, assistant professor of speech.

amateur, he works with a home-made camera, develops and finishes the pictures in an improvised dark-room in the residence where he works for his room. As a hobby during the summer, he builds boats and sails them on the lake at Fort Peck. His latest achievement in this line was a 17-foot power launch.

Intends to Apply

He intends to apply for the advanced course in ROTC next year and will take one more year of pre-law before entering law school. He once considered medicine as a career, but believes he will like law much better. He shamefacedly admits that high school short hand knocked him out of first place in his graduating class.

Good grades are important, he feels. "I believe that, with few exceptions, students who get the best grades get the most out of school, and call me what you will, as long as the grades mean cash to me in the form of scholarships, I'm going after them," he says with a grin.

Communications

Jan. 12, 1942

Dear Editor:

It seems as if a bit of hysteria has the Missoula County Defense board by the tail. Judging from its actions its members appear to me to be foggy-minded individuals who want to feel that they are contributing something to the war effort but, in reality, have nothing to contribute. The government for some strange reason, humors them with titles and positions.

If blackouts are ever necessary in Missoula, I am sure the Army will make adequate provisions for them. In the meantime the local Defense Board requests that the lights on the tower clock be darkened. While this is no great inconvenience to the student body, it is a ridiculous measure if the lofty signs atop the Florence and Palace hotels are to blaze through the nights.

Let's send the old boys on the board a bromo for their nerves and call it our contribution to National Defense for this day. If it calms a bad case of the jitters it will be well worthwhile.

Grizzly Basketballers Will Meet Gonzaga In Week-End Games

Finally finding a winning combination against Idaho Southern in Pocatello last week, Montana's basketballers will return to the Grizzly floor Friday and Saturday nights to renew one of the oldest rivalries in the Pacific northwest when they tangle with Gonzaga's Bulldogs.

Missoula High will meet Butte Central in the preliminary Friday and Montana's Cubs will play Hamilton High in the early game Saturday. Both preliminaries start at 7:30 o'clock with the varsity contests getting under way at 9 o'clock.

Montana Has Advantage

The Grizzlies have stopped the Bulldogs for the past three years and hold a 39-20 advantage since basketball relations between the two universities began.

Neither team has built a very enviable record this year. The Grizzlies took two games from Idaho Southern to increase their triumphs to three against nine defeats for the season. The other victory came over Idaho's Vandals.

Gonzaga has managed to break into the win column but once this year. The Bulldogs split a series with the Vandals, winning 34-31 and losing 38-35. The Zags have dropped contests to Missouri 55-40, Washington State 60-36 and 67-40, and to Eastern Washington college 41-36 and 54 to 39.

Grizzlies Take Three

In last year's series, the Grizzlies took three games out of four. Montana won the first two in Missoula 53-43 and 59-43. On the Zag court, Gonzaga took one contest 54-43 and dropped the other 48-39.

Contests should be high scoring affairs.

Lack of a second half scoring punch has been the main cause of Bulldog losses. In early season games, Gonzaga has demonstrated an ability to get shots and convert in the first half. Last week against Eastern Washington, the Zags connected for only two field goals in the second half.

Will Be Minus Watson

Minus the services of colorful Frank Watson, who tossed in 63 points against the Grizzlies last year, Gonzaga still has five veterans to throw at Montana.

John Watson, brother of the high scoring Frank, and Sepich are the forwards. Yager played center for the Zags last year. Brice and Evavold are the guards.

Deadline Set For WAA Dues, Health Okays

WAA dues and doctors' okays must be handed in by Friday at the women's gym by students who did not participate in sports last quarter, according to Helen Johnson, Hall, president.

The ruling does not apply to women who entered a sport fall quarter, presented okays from the health service and paid the annual WAA fee.

Final winter quarter WAA schedule:

- Swimming—Tuesday and Thursday, 4 o'clock, men's gym.
- Minor sports—Any free hour, women's gym.
- Fencing—Tuesday and Thursday, 5 o'clock, men's gym.
- Rifery—Monday through Friday, 8, 1, 3 and 4 o'clock, ROTC shack.
- Modern dance—To be announced later.

Intramural Rifle League Organized By Captain Davis

Organization of the Intramural Rifle league, comprised of eight individual teams, has been completed and competition will begin next week following a meeting of league members, scheduled for 7:30 o'clock Monday night in the ROTC building, Capt. Oliver T. Davis, Intramural Rifle league promoter, announced yesterday.

Members of the league, which includes a forestry team, four men's and two women's teams, and possibly an instructors' team, will receive prizes for outstanding scores in competition.

Individuals placing in all four positions and all high-scoring teams and beginners will receive medals. The girl competitor possessing the highest score will be presented a trophy. Members of the instructors' team are not eligible for medals or trophies.

Of the 180 students who reported for rifle teams, only 80 will qualify after eliminations, Captain Davis said. Qualifications for the rifle team are determined by the student's practice record.

More than 90 matches, from Puerto Rico to Alaska, have been scheduled for the intercollegiate varsity squad. One challenge was sent to a Hawaiian rifle team.

Students interested in rifle competition will receive expert guidance under the direction of Sgt. H. H. Hopple, riflerly instructor.

Lazetich Withdraws To Take ACM Job

Milan Lazetich, Anaconda, tackle on the Cub squad last fall, withdrew from school Monday. Lazetich, brother of nine-striper Bill Lazetich, was picked on the all-state teams of '39 and '40, and was considered as one of the best tackles seen on the frosh squad for some time. He dropped school to return to a job with the ACM smelter in Anaconda.

Thompson, Hodges To Make Report

Homer Thompson, Three Forks, and James Hodges, Laurel, will make a joint report on Clarence Streit's "Union Now With Britain" at International Relations club meeting at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night in the Eloise Knowles room. The group will discuss plans for sending delegates to the regional conference of International Relations clubs at Seattle Feb. 20 and 21.

STEPHENSON ENLISTS

Clifford Stephenson, '41, recently enlisted in the Army Air corps and is now stationed at Boeing field. He graduated in business administration.

Montana's coaching staff is having little trouble remembering Pearl Harbor. Joe Lutz, ace Cub center, weight tosser and boxer, has left school, enlisting in the U. S. Navy, adding to the ranks of departed athletes.

Sigs Beat TX; Sig Eps Down Phi Sig Five

First Interfraternity Basketball league games were played last night with Sigma Chi defeating Theta Chi in a close contest, 24 to 18, and Sigma Phi Epsilon edged out Phi Sigma Kappa, 17 to 11.

The Sigma Chi quintet started out slow with many shots bouncing off the rim and backboard. Shockley and Williams, Sig mainstays, tallied two baskets and then Schendel, Theta Chi guard, sank a goal and two free throws. Again Shockley and Williams converted for six more points and Schendel countered with a long shot.

TX Rallies

Theta Chi came back strong in the second half with the aid of Milstein and Schendel to cut the lead 20 to 17 with four minutes left to play. Felt and Shockley looped two counters and Schendel sank a free throw. Fifteen seconds later the game ended with Sigma Chi leading 24 to 18.

In the second game, both teams were slow in getting started. With eight minutes gone in the first half, Sigma Phi Epsilon led Phi Sigma Kappa 3 to 0.

George O'Connell, Phi Sig forward, sank a goal to give the PSK's their first score. Bob White, Sig Ep high scorer, converted twice and "Pops" Degnan, Phi Sig forward, looped a counter before the half ended with the Sig Eps leading 7 to 4.

Ferris Leads Phi Sigs

The second half continued slow with White again leading the scoring. Jack Ferris, Phi Sig guard, led his five by sinking five counters and showing well on both offense and defense.

Tonight the Sigma Nu quintet meets the Mavericks at 7:30 o'clock and Phi Delta Theta tangles with Sigma Alpha Epsilon in the 8:30 o'clock game.

Cubs Will Play Six Ball Games With State Teams

In addition to the Independent basketball league, the Cubs have a number of scheduled games with out-of-town teams, Coach Alex McLain has announced.

Saturday night the Cubs tangle with the Hamilton five here, and on January 27, with the Blue Devils and the Sportsmen's Green Bombers of Corvallis.

The neophytes will drive to Kalispell February 13 to play Pearce Drugs and then move to Whitefish the following day to meet the Independents.

February 28 the Cubs will meet the Missoula High Spartans in a preliminary game before the final of a two-game series between the Grizzlies and Bobcats.

The "B" team will not compete in further Independent league play, McLain stated.

ROTC Rifle Competition Starts Jan. 10

The 1942 national ROTC rifle matches for the William R. Hearst trophies will be conducted Jan. 10 through March 18, according to a press release from the headquarters of Major-General Jay L. Benedict, commanding general, Ninth Corps area, Presidio of San Francisco.

The annual competition, conducted under the direction of the Ninth Corps area commanders, is open to ROTC units in the United States, Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

Teams participating in the contest are divided into a senior group representing universities and colleges, a junior group composed essentially of military schools, and another junior group from all other secondary schools. Each ROTC unit may enter one or more teams in the competition.

Each member of the five-man teams fires one sighting shot and five shots for record at a range of 50 feet in prone, kneeling, sitting and standing positions.

The standing of teams and high individual scores will be determined within the group and forwarded together with targets, team names and certificates to the corps area commander. After a check for correctness, the corps area commander will forward the results to the adjutant general who has been designated by the war department to determine the national winners.

Mr. Hearst awards trophies and medals to the national champions and to the winning teams in each of the nine corps areas.

Yearlings to Play Out-of-Town Teams, McLain Announces

In addition to the Independent basketball league schedule, the Cubs have a number of scheduled games with out-of-town teams, Coach Alex McLain announced recently.

Saturday night Cubs tangle with Hamilton here, and on January 27 with the Blue Devils and the Sportsmen's Green Bombers of Corvallis.

The neophytes will drive to Kalispell Feb. 13 to play Pearce Drugs and then move to Whitefish the following day to meet the Whitefish Independents.

February 28 the Cubs will meet the Missoula High Spartans in a preliminary game before the final of a two-game series between the Grizzlies and Bobcats.

GRIZZLY PARADE

By J. ROY ELMS

When the Grizzlies play Gonzaga Friday and Saturday nights, it will be the first time many students have had a chance to see the Montana men in action. The pre-vacation games found the Grizzlies away from home and the two games played here this quarter were the week-end before the students began to return.

But at long last, with the season half over, Montana will play at home, with all of us to look on. With an avalanche of defeats piled on the Grizzlies in early-season games, many will attend to draw their own conclusions as to why Montana has not been more successful.

It is impossible to voice any views on the subject as long as I have not seen Montana men in a game yet.

Before the season opened the team stacked up with a good chance of having a fair season. The squad was studded with veterans, including the Montana scoring champs, co-Captains Bill Jones and Willie DeGroot. Joe Taylor, Dutch Dahmer, Harry Hesser, Gene Clawson and Chuck Burgess all had experience with last year's team, which finished the season strong. Jones, DeGroot, Burgess and Taylor had had first-string experience.

In addition, several members of last year's outstanding Cub five were out for the squad. Things looked pretty good for Coach Dahlberg.

We all know what happened. Due to a late grid year the basketballers did not receive much practice before the opening games. It was natural that they lost the early ones.

But after that, none of us know what happened. Maybe we will be able to draw some conclusions after this week-end, maybe we won't.

But whatever is wrong, the Grizzlies had better get going against Gonzaga because the Dillon Normal and Bobcat games are coming up. If the Grizzlies drop those games, we all will be glad of the excuse to get out of the state by joining Uncle Sam's forces.

Review of Men Who Have Led University Shows Seven Have Served in Fifty Years Since School's Founding

By BILL CARROLL

Seven presidents have held the reins of administration at Montana State university in the nearly 50 years since it has been chartered. During this time the institution has grown—in enrollment, in physical size and in standards. When the first classes were held in the old Willard school in September, 1895, Dr. Oscar J. Craig was president and approximately 50 students were enrolled.

Dr. Craig had come here from Purdue university, where he had served on the Boilermakers' faculty. He was the first to guide the destinies of the infant Montana institution, created a little more than two years previously by an act of the legislature. He served as president, until 1908, having the satisfaction of seeing the construction of the first two State university buildings—Main hall and Science hall. It also was during his administration that the biological station was opened at Flathead lake and geology and paleontology courses were introduced into the university.

Succeeded by Duniway

He was succeeded by Clyde A. Duniway, who came here from Stanford university. President from 1908 to 1912, Duniway saw the continued growth of the university, the addition of the law school and the summer session. As president he established a scholarship book fund of $400.

Next to move into the president's chair was the late Edwin Boone Craighead, a native Missourian, who came here in 1912 at the age of 51, having served on the faculties of several colleges in the South. He previously had been president of Ental college in Missouri, of the Missouri State Normal college and of Tulane university, which he directed from 1904 until coming to Montana eight years later.

Edwin B. Craighead

During his term of office great steps forward were taken with the addition of business administration, journalism, pharmacy, home economics and forestry to the schools and departments, bringing greater prestige to the institution.

Scheuch Fills Gap

Professor F. C. Scheuch, member of the original university faculty, moved into the chief executive's office to fill the presidential gap in an acting capacity for the next two years. It was during that period, 1915-1917, that Montana was admitted to the Northwest Athletic conference.

It also was during his administration that the university faced one of its most crucial periods. The United States had entered the great European conflict and the war scare visited the campus. An emergency war board was formed and compulsory military drill began in April, 1917. Plans for the extension of the university campus, which were formulated in December, 1916, were of necessity temporarily abandoned.

Sisson Inaugurated

On Oct. 11, 1917, E. O. Sisson was inaugurated. He was 48 years old at the time and had considerable experience in the educational field, coming here from Idaho, where he had served as commissioner of education since 1913. At the conclusion of his term in 1921 he returned to Reed college.

The late Dr. C. H. Clapp vacated the presidential chair at the Montana School of Mines in 1921 to begin what has been the longest term of any of Montana's six previous presidents. He guided and built the university for 13 years until death closed his career.

Standing Is Raised

During his administration, the scholastic standing of the university was raised, the survey courses were introduced, freshman week was inaugurated and the affiliated religion school was reorganized. The library, three dormitories, the men's gymnasium, heating plant and forestry buildings were constructed. Craig hall was remodeled and the forestry nursery was established. His last acquisition for the university was the new Student Union building.

Following Dr. Clapp's death on May 9, 1935, F. C. Scheuch again came to bat as a presidential pinch-hitter and served as the executive until Dr. George Finlay Simmons arrived.

Simmons Elected

Dr. Simmons, biologist, explorer, lecturer and one-time newspaper reporter, was elected president of Montana State university by the State Board of Education Dec. 9, 1935, and took over his duties winter quarter, 1936.

Virtually unknown at Montana at the time of his arrival, President Simmons speedily attracted attention through his speeches before campus organizations. He received his Ph.D. degree "with distinction" at the University of Chicago in 1934. As a member of the university committee on research during the time before his election, he pursued the subjects of rodents which he used as his Ph.D. thesis.

Former Feature Writer

From 1912 to 1915 Dr. Simmons was a feature writer on the Houston Post and reported for the Houston Chronicle in 1916. As an instructor at the University of Texas, he lectured on zoology and anatomy and also edited the Longhorn magazine, published at that campus.

Before coming to the university, Dr. Simmons had been a lecturer in biological science at Cleveland college of Western Reserve university and research worker for the Hull Zoological laboratory in the University of Chicago since 1931.

Following Dr. Simmons' resignation last spring, Dr. C. W. Leaphart, dean of the law school, took over the reins of presidency until this fall, when Dr. Ernest O. Melby was appointed to the position Sept. 13 by the State Board of Education.

Melby's Career

Dr. Melby was dean of education at Northwestern university in Evanston, Ill., from 1928 until he received his present position as

MSU to Take Part In Victory Book Drive—Campbell

Montana State university is taking part in the nation-wide Victory Book campaign to collect 10,000 books for soldiers, sailors and marines, Kathleen Campbell, university librarian and member of the county committee for collecting books, announced recently.

Miss Campbell urges all students to contribute books so that the university may make a favorable showing as compared with the other Missoula county divisions and groups.

Letters asking for contributions have been mailed to campus organizations and sorority and fraternity houses, Miss Campbell said. Volumes must be turned in to the library desk before Friday noon.

This country-wide collection of books for the service men is sponsored by the USO, American Library association, and the American Red Cross. Althea Warren of the Los Angeles public library is national director and Margaret Fulmer of the Parmly Billings memorial library is chairman for Montana. Missoula county chairman is Nina M. Ford of the Missoula city and county library.

Alpha Kappa Psi, national business administration fraternity, will meet at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night in Main hall 205.

Montana State university president. In the 13 years that he served as dean, the school's enrollment increased from 345 to 449 and its faculty increased by 25 per cent.

The new president, 50 years of age, was born in Lake Park, Minn. He received his B.A. from St. Olaf college, Northfield, Minn., in 1913 and studied for his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees at the University of Minnesota. He is the author of a number of books on education.
