Bachelor Woes Increase As "Sadie's Day" Nears

By VIRGINIA DOYLE

Gloom hangs heavy around "Mammy" Yokum as she foresees inevitable doom for her son, the pride and joy of Dogpatch Corners, as Sadie Hawkins' Day approaches with its woes for all bachelors in the community. Mammy is bemoaning the sad fact that Sadie Hawkins hadn't made her spectacular effort in obtaining a husband when Mammy herself was young. If she had had the same opportunity, she feels sure that she could have done much better in her matrimonial venture than marryin' up wif Pappy Yokum.

Mammy wasn't nothin' to look at in her youth so she had to take the fust opportunity that presented itself. Now her fear is that someone just as homely as herself might be hankerin' to outrun her precious Lil' Abner and he would not have another day of peace for the rest of his life.

Now, co-eds, you can see what advances have been made in the history of man-hunting since the days of Mammy Yokum's girlhood. You can't afford to miss this chance to get yo' man and bring him wif yo to the Sadie Hawkins Dance Dec. 5.

"Mammy"

Lil' Abner's mother, "Mammy" Yokum tells in the accompanying article the advantage of getting a man as compared with the antiquated "wait-and-see" method.

ROTC Adds Sgt. Eubanks To Its Staff

The University military department has announced the addition of Sergeant Berine L. Eubanks to its staff. The sergeant, a native of Blytheville, Ark., arrived recently from an outpost in the mountains of Alaska where he had been pioneering with his infantry unit.

Eubanks said that his stay in Alaska was the most spectacular period of his life, as he spent a great deal of time skiing, skating, big game hunting and fishing. He remarked that the trout fishing on the Russian River, near which he was stationed, was the best he had seen.

Ballet Russe to Appear Here December 16, Gildroy Announces

World-Renowned Ballet Company Will Present Varied Program at Second Community Concert Of Current Season

By MARILYN HILLSTRAND

Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, the world's foremost ballet company under the direction of Leonide Massine, will perform on the Student Union stage at 8:15 o'clock Wednesday, Dec. 16, in the second of the Community Concert series, Ralph Gildroy, Billings, student chairman, announced yesterday. Founded on a traditional and complex art with, according to critics, the best of dancing, musical, and graphic culture of Russia to which has been added the vigor and speed of the American continent, the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo is recognized as the foremost and most distinguished ballet company now before the public. It is now on its tenth annual American tour.

Heading the company is Leonide Massine who stands today as the foremost male figure in the world of dance. Alexandra Danilova, one of the most brilliant ballerinas of our day, shares the spotlight with the star of the motion picture, "Ballerina" Mia Slavenska and Nathalie Krassovska, who makes the third of the ballerina triumvirate.

The company also boasts the aggregation of such male dancers as Igor Youskevitch, Frederic Franklin, George Zoritch, Roland Guerard and many others.

The musical accompaniment for the company is handled by Franz Allers, the company's conductor for several seasons, and Gregor Fittlerberg, internationally famous symphonic director and founder of the Warsaw Radio Symphony Orchestra, who will appear as guest conductor.

Troupe Uses Cars

Though transportation difficulties constituted one of the major problems of this year's tour, the company of more than one hundred artists and musicians still travels in its own caravan of cars loaded with scenery and costumes.

Highly contrasted ballet from the classical "Snowmaiden" to the music of Glazounov, the humorous American "Rodeo," the specially composed music of Aaron Copland, "Concerto in E Minor," by Chopin and a new ballet to Max Bruch's concerto for the violin will be featured at the performance.

Stamps, Bonds on Sale In Student Union; Urge Students to Assist

Mary Elrod Ferguson, acting dean of women, announced yesterday that Associated Women Students will sponsor "Women at War Week" under the plan of the American Women's Voluntary Services. According to Mrs. Ferguson's statement, bonds and stamps are on sale at the Student Union store now and will be for the remainder of the week.

The organization on the campus is cooperating with the downtown committee, headed by Mrs. John Gillie, Missoula. Planned by the women's section of the war savings staff of the Treasury department, the program is intended to provide the women of the nation a means to demonstrate their enthusiasm for the purchase of war bonds and stamps.

AWS is the first campus organization to be assigned any specific duties under the AWVS organization and it has been appointed to sponsor the most intensive sale of war savings bonds and stamps yet staged on the Montana campus. Mrs. Ferguson further asserts that there this drive a spectacular success will be an all-out effort to make and one worthy of patriotic recognition for the University.

AWVS has sponsored the movement of bond and stamp sales on other campuses with commendable success and the same success is anticipated on this campus, Mrs. Gillie said. Since this is the first (Continued on Page Four)

Summer Theater

Features Color, Experience For Six Montana Students

By HELEN McDONALD

"Summer theater was a source of experience in designing and directing, make-up and acting," said Dorothy Lloyd, a senior from Butte, majoring in speech and dramatics. Miss Lloyd was one of six University students who enrolled last spring at Ad Karn's summer theater in Yellow Springs, Ohio.

Others were Bob Sias, Chinook; Joyce Crutchfield, Missoula; Harriette Franklin, Bozeman; Bob Walker, Missoula, and Martha McCombe, Texas.

The season at Yellow Springs ran for 11 weeks, opening June 21, and closing September 5. Students who registered at Antioch college were given five credits for their work in dramatics. The theater itself was operated by a former University dramatics director, Ad Karns, who has produced and directed in New York and an associate of Cleveland Thomas, professional actor and professor at Ethel Walker's school for girls in Connecticut, Mass.

Little Leisure Time

"We constantly were employed building scenery, designing sets, or doing the hundred other little jobs that must be completed before a performance," Dorothy said. "We often worked as many as 12 hours a day, but we were granted more leisure time on Sundays."

Dorothy was make-up mistress for the complete span of plays. She had the ingenue role of "Jane" in the comedy, "Mr. and Mrs. North." In "The Wooley," a war play, she played the part of "Primrose," the ingenue lead. Miss Lloyd was in charge of props for Steinbeck's "The Moon Is Down."

"I enjoyed being property mistress for this show," Miss Lloyd continued, "because it helped furnish me with a background of that which constitutes Victorian style and taste." She was also costume mistress of "Separate Rooms," a three-act farce.

Dorothy directed a one-act play which she had put on last year in Simpkins Hall, called "Suppressed Desires." It was presented in Osborne, Ohio, for the soldiers of Patterson and Wright fields. Another one-act salon play which was presented for the U.S.O. was "Sunday Costs Five Pesos," in which Dorothy Lloyd and Bob Sias played the leads.

A STEP TOWARDS HEMISPHERE SOLIDARITY; LET'S TAKE ADVANTAGE OF IT

Ask almost any student what he thinks about Pan-Americanism, hemisphere solidarity, inter-American understanding. He'll nod his head gravely, and say, oh yes, it's a fine idea, I'm all for it. He would say in the same way, the moon sounds like an interesting place, it might be fun to go there some day. Everyone understands the real need for unity of the Americas. President Roosevelt and Cordell Hull and our own Mr. Bischoff talk about it; and still to the University's version of Joe College and Betty Co-ed the idea of doing anything concrete about it is as remote as Cape Horn. That is, it was like this until the Pan-American Student Forum came to the campus.

PASF is an international organization—a tangible link between us and students of the other Americas. It has a brand-new chapter here, with fifty-four charter members, and with Bob Hayton, its international president, as student advisor. It has a full program planned for the year, including an installation banquet, a Latin dinner-dance, programs of Pan-American music, dancing, art and literature, and discussion groups. It is fully organized, but new members may join at any time. Non-members are welcome to come to meetings, and reap the benefits of the programs.

The other Americas should be as close to us as our next-door neighbors. Let's not get our eyes so well-focused on an abstract ideal of Inter-American cooperation that we can't see, right in front of our eyes, the first step towards realization of that ideal.

Crowder Back From Meeting Of Executives

John B. Crowder, dean of the School of Music, returned to the campus recently after a 10-day trip to Austin, Texas, and some of the mid-west states. In Austin he attended a meeting of the music executives of the state universities of the nation. He also visited schools of the nation at the Universities of Louisiana, Indiana and Iowa.

"A review of the activities of music schools throughout the country indicate that the profession is rendering a real service to at least seven federal agencies in prosecuting the war," Dean Crowder said. "Although the profession as a whole is limited in combat service, it is doing a wonderful job on the home front."

His visits to the music plants of other universities enabled Dean Crowder to get ideas and collect data for building a suitable music school plant on this campus. The planning of a music building, Dean Crowder said, must include meeting the needs of music students, professional musicians, and the people of the state as a whole.

Thirty Cubs Recommended By Grid Coach

Athletic Board Has Yet To Approve Numeral Winners

Thirty Cub gridders are eligible for football numerals, which will be awarded during winter quarter, Coach John Dratz, frosh mentor, announced yesterday. Final approval of athletic board, however, must be secured before winners will receive their awards.

Gridiron ability displayed during the past season by the frosh hopefuls determined Dratz's selections.

Although not all numeral winners entered game competition, sufficient playing skill was demonstrated by several frosh in practice sessions to warrant a sweater award.

To receive a numeral, the candidate must be in attendance at the University next quarter and must conform to Pacific Coast conference varsity requirements, which demand five times as many credit hours as failing credit hours.

The following Cub players were named:

Linemen: Dick Willey, Oak Park, Ill.; Ray Krone, St. Xavier; Don Moore, Missoula; Rudy Collins, Florence; Curt Hopkins, Medford, Ore., who captained the team; George Caras, Missoula; Bob Scott, Great Falls; Glenn Hinton, Missoula; Clark Leaphart, Missoula; Bob Hansen, Worden; Carl Hysen, Missoula; Bill Gundel, Evanston, Ill.; Wilbur Scott, Missoula; Ellsworth Skeie, Hardin; Henry Sherlock, Helena; Chet Jameson, Plains; John Worth, Billings; Charles Brackett, Billings; Henry Elespuru, Great Falls.

INDEPENDENTS WIN VOLLEYBALL TOURNAMENT

In a match to determine first and second place in the volleyball contest, the Independents last night edged out the Sigma Kappas in undoubtedly the best game of the season by a score of 35-33.

New Hall and Kappas will vie for third and fourth places tonight in the last game of the season.

Makin' The Rounds

Again King Winter has the upper hand; so with the parting of that grand old gridiron game for this season another major sport again comes into the limelight.

Ol' man basketball with his multitude of followers will move into the cozy quarters of steam-heated gymnasiums while the snowy blasts cover the gridirons and diamonds of warmer days gone by.

It's still a little early to talk about the Grizzly squad for 1942-'43, so we'll reserve that for a later date. Suffice to say, several Montana hoopsters have a football date with USC on Dec. 5 and the entire University hoop squad will not practice until after that date.

Here's a tip, however, about some Grizzly stars of an earlier day who will form an "extra-curricular" team that starts practice either this week or next. The squad will have such old faces as the Gold Dust Twins, Willie DeGroot and Bill Jones; Paul Nicholas, former Kansas ace and ex-Grizzly guard of last season, and Gene Clawson and Henry "Dutch" Dahmer, past Grizzly centers who earned three letters each in the sport.

The aforementioned ex-Grizzlies are organizing an outfit to play such teams as the Second Air Force of Great Falls, the Grizzly and freshman squads, possibly a team from Spokane as well as numerous others, if transportation facilities are available.

Each year these past Grizzly hoopsters have formed a squad under the label of "The Studebakers." The name of "Studebakers" was always synonymous for wins throughout the state as well as in city league ball.

Studebaker, however, "has gone to war," along with a certain cigarette company and various and sundry soldiers. Hence, the alumni squad of which we speak will be the successor, and we predict that it will be a darn good one.

Watch this alumni team. It may be the best quintet in the state, come March.

NOTICE

Any woman who has not yet passed the University swimming test, which is required before graduation, may do so today or Thursday, Dec. 3, during regular class periods. Classes meet at 9, 10, 2 and 3 o'clock.

SX, Phi Delts Down Foes; SAE Ousts TX

Sigma Chi and Phi Delta Theta swimming teams both chalked up their second victory Friday as the Sigma Chis swam away with a 35-6 win over the SAE's and the Phi Delt tanksters found it just as easy to down and outclass Theta Chi club, 33-8.

Jesse stepped off the 40-yard free style event in a fast 21 seconds with Simmons close behind him to carry off eight of the first nine points for Sigma Chi.

SX's Gillespie easily copped the 80-yard backstroke. Weber of SAE took their only third.

Teammate Simmons beat Jesse out in the 80-yard free style swim with SAE Barnes taking third.

Fleming breast stroked the 80 yards in 1:05 for SX, while Gillespie finished second and SAE's Rasmussen third.

PDT's Bell and Voorhees took first and third in the 40-yard free style with Knolton of Theta Chi placing second.

Pederson swam a fast back stroke, covering the 80 yards in a minute and four seconds. Teammate McElwain added three more points for the Phi Delts and Lodders of TX finished third.

In the 80-yard free style, Jardine finished in 50 seconds for PDT, Knolton finished second and McElwain third. Voorhees copped first in the breast stroke with Kennard second and TX Lodders third.

Monday's Meet

Sigma Alpha Epsilon taking advantage of two free-style wins by Bob Barnes and a back-stroke victory by Fred Weber defeated the Theta Chi plungers 28 to 8.

SAE started off when Barnes defeated Dexter Knowlton, Theta Chi, in a close finish in the 40-yard free-style. Weber next led the field as he won the 80-yard back-stroke, narrowly defeating

Mysterious "Date" Makes Bros. Late

A tip to our absent-minded professors—look to your laurels. We have on this campus two gentlemen whose minor vices include a certain forgetfulness of details which, if allowed to grow unhampered, might constitute a real threat to your fame.

The aforesaid gentlemen—the footballers, Harold and Arnold Scott—either forgot, were unable, or at any rate, failed to catch the train enroute from Berkeley, Calif., to Missoula.

The causes for this indiscretion are difficult to ascertain. It could have been mere forgetfulness. Perhaps they have absorbed some of the absent-mindedness of our professors.

Of course, the Scotts have a very glib alibi. They state that they were dining with some old friends of the family and forgot the passage of time. They ran to the train, but were unable to find their teammates and the train left without them.

While no one can rightly question the veracity of their statement, it leaves a wide field for conjecture. Were these "old friends of the family" blonde or brunette? The strain of guessing is beginning to tell on some of their friends.

Denny Lodders, Theta Chi.

In the next race, the 80-yard free-style, Barnes and Knowlton again raced close. This was the feature race of the meet. With the two main contestants matching stroke for stroke down the last lap of the race, Barnes finished a scant foot in front.

Theta Chi did not contest the 80-yard breast-stroke or the relay.

Women's Swim Events to Start Tonight at 7:30

The first half of the women's intramural swimming meet is scheduled for tonight at 7:30 o'clock, announced swimming manager, Ruby Plummer, yesterday. Teams are not limited this year, although each person is not to enter more than three events exclusive of the relay.

Next Tuesday the second section of the meet will be run off. Contests are open to women spectators and those who wish to attend must not arrive later than 7:30 o'clock, Miss Plummer said.

Contests will begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock and all participants are expected to be ready at that time, Miss Plummer concluded.

Aquamaids will assist in officiating.

Spurs points will be given to all freshman girls working on the Kaimin, Spurs decided at a meeting yesterday. At their meeting they also decided to sell Christmas cards as a means of earning money for activities.

Rifle Team Schedule Is Complete

Fratto Urges Anyone Interested In Shooting To Turn Out For Team

Lieut. Sam L. Fratto, University rifle team coach, announced yesterday that he has accepted challenges which have poured in from the rifle teams of numerous colleges and university. With the team schedule already set, the big remaining problem is organizing the University squad, Lieutenant Fratto said.

ROTC will provide a good share of the needed manpower, but the rifle coach urges anyone interested in trying out for the team to see him as soon as possible.

The rifle matches will be held by proxy, as in the past, so that the expense will be minimized. Minor numerals will be presented to members of the rifle team, Lieutenant Fratto said.

The tentative 1943 schedule follows: Jan. 23, University of Cincinnati; Jan. 30, Michigan State College and Texas A. and M.; Feb. 6, Oregon State College; Feb. 7, Western Kentucky State Teachers College; Feb. 20, University of Akron, Massachusetts State College, Montana State College, and New Mexico A. and M.; March 6, University of Kentucky.

No date has been set yet for the match with the University of California. On March 19, the ROTC rifle team will compete in the William Randolph Hearst ROTC Rifle Competition.

"I felt that I had been mis-cast," Bob reiterated; "other roles are more to my taste." He filled a double role in "The Wooky," playing an air raid precaution warden. "It was a miniature character role similar to that of 'Ribaud' which I played last year in the operetta, 'New Moon.'" The other part he did in "The Wooky" was that of a London dock worker. "I was happy to get back to this type of role," Bob said.

In "The Moon Is Down," he played the part of "the villainous" George Correll. "This play broke all box office sales for the season," Bob remarked, "and the newspaper reviews of Dayton and surrounding communities were very favorable." In the "world's premiere" of Harold Igo's "Remember Bud Jones," Bob played the role of "the hysterical socialist," Okey Underhill.

"The professional theater furnishes excitement and color," Bob stated, "but the work is often very grueling." Sias is now handling publicity for the State Correspondence School.

Crutchfield in Character Role

Joyce Crutchfield, Missoula, who graduated last year with a degree in English and who is working for the Forestry Service at present, played the "Vack Lady" in "The Wooky," and the character role of "Emily" in "Remember Bud Jones." She was also costume mistress for "The Wooky" and "Dracula."
