The Faculty...

Montana State University has always felt keenly that it has an obligation to serve not only its regularly enrolled students but also the people of state and nation.

It is particularly glad to have a part in fitting you for specialized service in the armed forces. We feel sure that by working together strenuously in these intensive courses we shall all be contributing to the national welfare.

While the keynote of your stay here will be work and more work, we hope that you will enjoy all the more on that account the limited time for recreation, and we shall do all in our power to make your stay pleasant as well as worthwhile. You are welcome.

R. H. JESSE, Dean of the Faculty.

Welcome!

The Students...

To the Army Air Force unit stationed on our campus, I extend the sincere best wishes of the Associated Students of Montana State University.

To our new friends we wish all the success and happiness possible. May your stay here be both profitable and pleasurable. I am sure that the entire student body will endeavor in every way humanly possible to make it a stay to be long remembered.

United as we are toward a common goal—defeat of the Axis powers—the closest cooperation toward the attainment of that goal is necessary.

Regardless of how long your stay here, remember that our facilities are yours. May you make full use of them.

SCOTTY McLEOD, ASMSU President.

Army Cadets Move Onto Campus; Dean of Men "Burly" Miller Welcomes Men to University

Military secrecy blanketed the arrival of Army aviation cadets on the University campus yesterday. Publication of the number of men arriving, the date and time of arrival and the courses they will study is not permitted, Major George E. Heikes, commanding officer, stated yesterday. The men are now undergoing indoctrination, Major Heikes said. Dean of Men J. E. "Burly" Miller welcomed the soldiers to the University at a special Army assembly Monday afternoon.

"The boys appreciate the dormitories and we guarantee that good care will be given them," Major Heikes said. "When we get this war won we will try to give them back to you in good shape."

Faculty and staff members of the University will instruct all academic and physical training programs to be taken by the men. Regular University courses will continue, school official emphasized.

When the Army classes begin, all class periods will be cut to 40 minutes with five minutes between sessions. This will provide a two-hour lunch period except on convocation days. The morning session will regularly end at 11:00 o'clock and the last afternoon class will be over at 4:45 o'clock.

Army classes will begin at 7:15 o'clock, but regular University sessions will start at their regular time, 8 o'clock.

NOTTI IN MARINES

Bob Notti ex-'43, former student in history and political science, is now stationed with the Marine Medical Corps at San Diego, Calif. He expects to be called soon for overseas duty. While a student on the campus he was actively engaged in International Relations Club, once acting as its president.

Employers Will Offer Forest Jobs

Representatives of the National Park Service and the U.S. Forest Service will be on the campus Thursday and Friday to hire students for summer forest jobs, forestry officials announced yesterday. Interested male students and possibly a few women will be signed up, it was stated.

The representatives will be in the office of the forestry school Thursday and Friday from 1:30 o'clock until evening. Persons wishing appointments may secure them by calling the forestry school and having interview hours assigned.

Forest Service officials said that there would probably be a few openings for women. Definite information about jobs for coeds may be secured at the Forestry school office not later than 1:30 o'clock Thursday. Interested women should call at the office before arranging for appointments.

Faculty members may also be needed for these summer forest positions. Those interested should call Dean Thomas C. Spaulding of the forestry school.

Parachute jumpers will be paid on a $2,000 rate, while base pay for lookouts, fire patrol workers and national park service employees will be $135 per month.

University Navy Men To Receive Call July 1

Naval Officer To Enlist Men in V-7 Program; New Vision Standards

College students enrolled in the Navy reserve program, V-1, V-5 and V-7 classifications, and also Coast Guard reservists, will be allowed to continue in school until July 1 of this year, Lieut. E. A. VanDiest, USNR, announced Monday.

On July 1, Navy reservists will be called to active duty. They will be issued uniforms, given apprentice seamen's pay, and be sent on to college to continue their training.

Lieutenant VanDiest is in Missoula to enlist men between the ages of 18 and 27, inclusive, in the Navy V-7 reserve. Any junior or senior student in college, majoring in engineering, physics or mathematics, may enlist in the V-7 Naval Reserve and continue his studies until July 1.

On that date, the reservist will be called to active duty and will be assigned to a naval school with all expenses paid, plus $50 a month apprentice seamen pay. Upon completion of college studies at the Naval school, the reservists will be sent to an indoctrination school for a period of two months and will be commissioned an ensign in the United States Navy.

Lieutenant VanDiest announced that any college graduate is eligible for the same program. In addition, Lieutenant VanDiest said that eye requirements for the new V-7 program have been reduced to 8-20 without glasses.

If a student enlists in the Navy reserve and is called into the Army through selective service, he will be released at the induction center to continue his training under the Naval Reserve program.

McDonald Will Leave For Frisco

Pick Coed to Compete In Local Debate Round Over KGO Sunday

Helen McDonald, Butte, one of the two University entrants in the National Intercollegiate Radio Prize Debates contest of the American Economic Foundation, was chosen to compete in the local qualifying debate round to be broadcast over KGO, San Francisco, from 5 to 5:45 o'clock, Sunday, Ralph Y. McGinnis, assistant professor of speech, announced yesterday.

Miss McDonald, a senior English major with four years of varsity debate experience, took the affirmative viewpoint on the debate question, "Should American Youth Support the Re-establishment After the War of Competitive Enterprise as Our Dominant Economic System?" Roger Baldwin, Kalispell, submitted briefs on the negative side.

Miss McDonald will leave Wednesday for San Francisco with all expenses paid by the American Economic Foundation. She was one of 261 students from 132 colleges and universities throughout the country who entered the contest.

Winners of the eight local debates will receive $50 and $25 prizes for first and second places, respectively. They will then go on to the finals which will be broadcast over the Blue Network from New York on Sunday, April 18. Winner of the final will receive a $1,000 war saving bond and $250 in cash. The runner-up will get a $500 war savings bond and $125 in cash.

NOTICE

Psi Chi, psychology honorary, will elect a new president at a meeting in U-205 at 7:30 o'clock tonight, Bill Hopkins, Missoula, announced yesterday.

Wylder Story To Be Used In Mountaineer

A short story about high school life in a small town will be featured in the spring issue of Mountaineer, according to Gertrude Auren Dixon, Belt, editor. Robert Wylder, Havre, is the author of the story, "Tank Hill."

Deadline for material is Wednesday, March 10, Miss Dixon said. The staff is very short on material, she said. A section of letters from soldiers, especially former students here, will be included and any such letters or parts of letters will be appreciated. Short stories, articles, sketches, poems and essays also are needed, she said. Manuscripts may be turned in at the switchboard in Main Hall or the Mountaineer office, Library 111.

National President Of Sigma Kappa To Be Entertained

Mrs. Ruth Ann Ware Greig of Los Angeles, national president of Sigma Kappa sorority, will be a guest here this week according to Shirley Schnee, Columbia Falls, president of the local chapter.

Actives, pledges and alumni will meet jointly at a buffet dinner in honor of Mrs. Greig Tuesday night—Wednesday Pan-Hellenic Council will meet at the Sigma Kappa house at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. Greig is scheduled to give a short talk on Junior Pan-Hellenic at the meeting.

Thursday, the Sigma Kappa alumnae will entertain Mrs. Greig at a down-town dinner.

"Liliom" Opens Thursday

The curtain will rise Thursday evening at 8:15 o'clock in the Student Union Theater on the campus premiere of Molnar's "Liliom." Directed by Larrae Haydon and presented by Montana Masquers, the play will continue through Friday night. Students will be admitted upon presentation of their activity cards. No seats will be reserved either night. "Liliom," a legend in seven scenes, was first presented in this country in 1921. At that time it won the Pulitzer Prize. Its story concerns a brutish carnival bouncer who is led astray by an underworld thief, kills himself, goes to heaven and returns.

Ed Gemberling, Great Falls, whose last campus appearance was in "Macbeth" plays the title role. Ellen McCrea, Missoula, will be seen as Julie, his wife.

Bob Sias, Chinook, returns again to the Student Union stage after a season in professional stock to add another to his growing list of villainous portrayals. He will ap-

A New Formula For A Better Education . . .

It's fun, now and then, to sit back in class and hear "the powers that be" emote, and to wonder just where all this is getting us. Often we receive either attractively wrapped little parcels of platitudes which, when opened, are designed to make great improvement in our lives; or we hear practical idealisms which are not quite clear.

Too seldom do we hear from "honest-to-God ideas" that mean something to us. In any case we feel strongly that intangible barrier which has always stood between the master and the pupil.

And it is this seemingly impregnable barrier which impedes us in our attempt to gain a real liberal education. Many students, who believe they are martyrs to the cause, attempt to lower these barriers with out-and-out "apple-polishing" just for a grade; it goes without saying we have little veneration for this too omnipresent group.

But lectures, written assignments, and reading should be, for all of us, hardly enough. The prof who teaches a course is, after all, only human. He is a living, breathing being controlled by his own personal interests, prejudices, and limitations. He can impart information within the limits of his background, but it is up to us, if we are interested enough, to gain more of his knowledge.

For the most part, we are all too content to attend class, take notes, and make a "good" final grade, and those of us who fail to make that "good" grade are equally too content to blame the professor for not making the course interesting or thorough. Of course there are those men who have neither the time or interest to make their courses attractive. But often it is the student who fails to find interest or attraction in the course.

If the professor fails to offer the afore-mentioned "honest-to-God ideas," it may be because he is either afraid of ensuing reaction, or because he believes the class incapable of comprehending what he might have to offer. Admittedly, in some cases he may be afraid of what the results of his honest thoughts might bring.

Obviously, then, it is up to us, as intellectually interested students, to bring these men out into a more open and constructive discussion of their subject. If we are truly interested in gaining more than so many hours of credit from our courses, we will find it our gain to seek to know our profs better. As we've said, they're human beings who are willing to do their job; but they need a bit of cooperation.

For those who are leaving the University within the next few weeks, trying to know these professors better is, for the time being, out of reach. However, for those of us who are able to continue our learning, there is an excellent opportunity to create an important step forward in education.

These men are devoting their lives to the education of young men and women. Prod them with questions; let them know your interests and your ideas, and try to gain a clearer view of what education can be.—J.C.

Grizzlies Drop State Title To Red Hot Bobcat Club

Friday Win Gives Staters First Championship Since 1938; Bears Rally to Cop Last Tilt On Standout Play of Chuck Burgess

After five years of futile trying, the Bobcats of Montana State College finally won the state intercollegiate hoop title as they overpowered a hard-working quintet of University Grizzlies 69-59 in the third of the four-game series last Friday night. But the Silver-tip squad partly revenged the loss of the state title as they snapped the Bobcat winning streak at 15 games the following night with a 50-48 triumph.

The Winning Basket
Captain Chuck Burgess's 359th point of the year in the last 40 seconds of play in the second game kept the Bobcats from sweeping the series. He looped 36 points in the two games to give him a near 15-point average for 24 games this season.

The series, one of the hottest played on the home court this year, was no run-away for either squad. Both games were nip-and-tuck with only a few points difference between the teams at any time. Only in the closing minutes of play were the Bobcats able to build up their 10-point lead in the first game here.

High Score Record

Once more the high score record on the new high school floor was broken as a result of the Blue and Gold's 69 points in the opener.

Tom Stachwick was high scorer for the Cats as he dropped in 35 tallies while Will Jorgenson scored 29, mostly from far out.

Jinx Anderson was one of the best players on the floor as he continually worked himself into scoring position by his clever dribbling and passing.

• foul shots •

By DICK KERN

When the final gun sounded after Saturday night's Bobcat-Grizzly game a number of things happened. Jack Burgess took the ball and kicked it up in the rafters of the gym, the washboard effect on Coach Chinske's forehead disappeared like magic, the nervous strain of a 15-game winning streak was lifted from the Cats' shoulders and the curtain came down on the most unique season in Grizzly history.

The team that wasn't supposed to win a game all season came up with 15 wins taken from some tough competition like Utah State, Idaho, Utah U, Gonzaga, Whitman, Idaho Southern and the Bobcats.

It is only appropriate that some praise and congratulations be administered to some of the more instrumental persons in the Grizzlies successful season. First, there is Ed Chinske. He stuck out his neck for his old alma mater when he volunteered to coach the University and several sources tried to lay an ax on that unprotected neck but they didn't succeed. Ed surprised these sources by coaching two winning teams. A multitude of slaps on the back to you, Ed.

Next on the list is Captain Chuck Burgess. He aided the cause by sinking more baskets in one season than any other Grizzly in the school's history. He climaxed his college athletic career by turning in two sparkling exhibitions against the Cats last week-end. You and your 16-points per game have been more or less taken for granted, Chuck, and you proved yourself a great player by maintaining that average throughout the season. A multitude of plaudits for Charles Burgess.

Big Joe "Satch" Taylor comes in for a lot of credit for his performances this year. You realized that the chips were down this season, Joe, and you came through splendidly both on offense and defense. A dozen orchids to Joe Taylor.

Now we come to Jack Burgess and Dick Bowman, the "Black and White," of the Grizzly team. Both of these players were consistently outstanding on the defensive side of the ledger and both of them came in for their share of the points on offense. For extraordinary ability displayed in every game of the year, a hearty cheer for J. Burgess and D. Bowman.

Allen McKenzie came out of the hospital to turn in two superlative exhibitions against the State College to be a major factor in the defeat of that team on Saturday. Also for excellent work in your pivot spot throughout the season, Al, a big round of applause.

To freshman Ray Krone, who stepped into McKenzie's shoes when the latter was in the hospital and to Arnie Scott, Ray Rieder, Harry Hesser, Mark Listerud, Bob Cramer, and Dick Stegner the school's thanks for a swell job through the whole season.

To Jinx, "Prima Donna," Anderson, Bobcat ace, we award proudly the Foul Shot award of the week for his conspicuous, spoiled-child attitude when the nasty crowd wouldn't be quiet so he could shoot a foul. You were an ace in every sense of the word, Jinx.

Sportwriter Glase Picks Kaimin All-Star Intramural Clubs on Basis of Statistics Kept Throughout Season

Editor's Note: Following is the Kaimin 1943 All-Star basketball team. The selections were made by Wayne Glase, Kaimin Intramural reporter. Glase is well qualified to make these selections. He has seen every game of the season and has kept statistics on players and teams. Each player on both the first and second teams has been a standout all year. This is not a fly-by-night sports writer's dream but a scientific selection of the league's stars.

First Team		Second Team
Player-position	Team	Player-position	Team
R. Fox, forward	PSK	Swarthout, forward	SPE
Sykes, forward	TX	DiRe, forward	SN
Poppler, center	IND.	Fiske, center	PSK
Schendel, guard	TX	Yovetich, guard	IND.
White, guard	SPE	Wedin, guard	SAE

R. Fox would undoubtedly claim a berth on anyone's all-star team due to his uncanny ability to hit consistently from any position, his remarkable speed on fast-breaking plays, and his adept ball-handling and guarding. Rich has all of the essentials of a good forward. His 80 points in seven games led the league in scoring and his 25 points against the Sigma Chi's set this year's individual scoring record for a single game.

At the other forward post is agile Bob Sykes, a clever ball-handler with a multitude of shots. Bob scored in every game he played this season, dropping 19 points against the Independents, and ended up in fourth place in the individual scoring with 66 points. He is fast, clever and deceptive at faking guards out of position.

Lou Poppler gets the nod for center position mainly through his unerring backboard control. Karl Fiske, Phi Sig center, outscored Lou 72 to 70 during the season, but could in no way match his excellent play of rebounds. Giant Lou was the bulwark of the Independent offense this season and was instrumental in leading his team to a second-place tie.

Far and above the best guard in the league this year was lanky Chet Schendel of the Theta Chis. Chet was consistently brilliant at blocking shots, breaking up passing attacks and grabbing rebounds. Although scoring only 36 points during the season, he displayed amazing accuracy from far out when occasion demanded. He is tall, fast, a good ball-handler, a good passer and most important of all, "ball-wise."

In the other all-star guard spot is Bob White, one of the trickiest men to show during the season. Bob is small but amazingly fast and deceptive. His guarding ability was a major factor in allowing opponents but 155 points in seven games, making Sigma Phi Epsilon the least scored-on team in the league. He is a remarkable dribbler, clever passer, deceptive ball handler and brilliant floor general. His season's total of 52 points is evidence of his shooting skill and ability to set for shots quickly.

Bill Swarthout played consistently good ball for the Sig Eps in a forward position, scoring often with his one-hand flip and working hard on defense. He collected 49 points during the season to rank among the scoring leaders.

Tony DiRe sparked for Sigma Nu with a deadly one-handed flat shot. He played well both as a guard and as a forward but, because of his offensive punch, rates higher in a forward position. Tony tied for fifth place in the individual scoring.

Karl Fiske rates the center position because of his unstoppable jump shots from the hole. Carl dropped 72 points during the season and was constantly spectacular for his guarding and passing.

Phil Yovetich also played both forward and guard during the league play but showed much better at guard. He worked rebounds cleverly, passed accurately and broke nicely to hit 58 points in seven games for the Independents. "Bibs" Wedin played with a hard-luck team all season, but that didn't mar his value as a hard-checking guard. "Bibs" was outstanding throughout for coolness and defensive ability. His ball-handling was good, and he showed accuracy on long shots.

These players have been considered under the light of having seen each of them play in seven games during the league schedule. Due credit must be given other athletes who have outshone these 10 at times perhaps, but, for consistently brilliant play, these two squads rate tops. Much respect is accorded the Sigma Nu champions in that, while no player was a spectacular star, all showed a beautiful sense of co-operation and team spirit. Every man was a good athlete. They are true champions.

Red Cross Drive Starts On Campus

Burns Appoints Three To Head Committees Soliciting Funds

Promotion of the campus Red Cross drive which will help Missoula County reach its $20,000 quota got underway yesterday when Betty Lou Burns, Butte, chairman of the War Service committee of the social laboratory, appointed committees.

For the drive which will conclude Friday of this week, Lorraine Thompson, Havre, will be in charge of posters; Jim MacIntosh, Missoula, will recruit Bear Paws and Irene Caras, Missoula, Spurs.

In conjunction with the War Service Committee Bear Paws and Spurs, the SWAC and Alpha Lambda Delta will solicit two dollars from each student.

"Because the effects of war are so great and have become more noticeable during the past year, the campus Red Cross drive has doubled its solicitation of last year," Miss Burns said.

Activities of the Red Cross are to provide blood plasma, aid the sick and wounded, give service men an American home abroad, provide voluntary nurse's aides, send packages to prisoners of war and serve as a contacting unit between prisoners and their families.

Settings for "Liliom" were designed by Mike O'Connell, Butte. Costumes are by Virginia Perkins, and lighting is by Bob Ackerlund, Missoula.

Pharmacy School To Submit Petition For Organization

It was announced today that the members of the Pharmacy school have enough names to petition for membership in the American Pharmaceutical Association.

The American Pharmaceutical Association is the foremost organization in the Pharmacy world. The membership consists of retail druggists, pharmacists, pharmacy supply salesmen, teachers, and students. There are branches all over the United States, Canada, and Mexico.

If accepted, the local chapter will be one of the few student branches to belong to the organization.

Varied Relic Collection Now On Exhibition

The Journalism Museum was formally opened to the public Sunday afternoon with a special exhibit and tea. The Indian and pioneer relics that it houses may now be seen during regular exhibition hours from 4 to 5 o'clock on Mondays, 11 to 12 o'clock on Wednesdays and 10 to 12 o'clock on Saturdays, Dean James L. C. Ford, of the Journalism School, announced yesterday.

Seminar Project

Work in arranging and classifying the museum material was completed this year as a project in senior seminar by journalism students, Harlan Lee, Fairfield, and Pat Cambell, Choteau.

A. L. Stone, dean emeritus of the Journalism School, who was instrumental in securing a large part of the collection, was on hand Sunday to offer explanation and lead discussion concerning the museum pieces. Tea was served to 250 townspeople, faculty members and senior journalism students.

Indian Collection

A large Indian collection containing such valuable pieces as a necklace of human bones for which the Smithsonian Institute in New York offered $1,500, a large number of primitive weapons and pioneer equipment besides early files of papers and items of historical importance in journalism are being exhibited in the museum.

Articles of special interest today include such items as the gold pen used to sign the charter for the University 50 years ago, and the watch fob and fraternity pin which belonged to Paul Dornblaser and was returned to this country after he was killed in France during the first World War.

Bears Cop Tournery Win From Cats

A topheavy advantage in the swimming events gave the Grizzly minor sports delegation just enough margin to win the annual meet against the Bobcats in Bozeman last week-end. The Bobcats picked up points in both the boxing and wrestling events but they weren't quite able to offset the 18 point lead the Grizzlies gained in the tank events and the home boys returned to Missoula with a 65-61 win tucked in their belts.

Two first places for Bob Oswald, and one each for Dick Bottomly, Dale Gillespie and Dick Voorheis coupled with a win in the 399 yard medley relay gave the Grizzlies their tank advantage.

In wrestling, Kenny Drahos, Don Leaphart and John Harker came through with decisions over their opponents. Other University mat men lost close matches to make the grunt and groan department scoreboard show a Bobcat advantage.

The boxing events were more in favor of the Cats. Only two Grizzlies gained victories and one of them, Hermie Althoff, had to knock his opponent out to do it.

Jim MacIntosh, outstanding university light heavyweight, gained the other ring nod by very decisively outpointing his opposition.

Other boxing events went to the college by close decisions though not one Grizzly boxer was even knocked down.

Newman Club To Elect Heads

The Newman Club will meet for its monthly Communion Breakfast in the basement of St. Anthony's Church Sunday, March 7, after 10 o'clock mass, Bob Zahn, Mandan, N. D., president, announced yesterday.

Nomination of officers for the coming year will be the main business of the meeting. Members are reminded to note the change in the date of the meeting from the second Sunday to the first Sunday in March, Zahn said.

War Posters On Exhibition In Art Studio

Collection Carries War Spirit of Allied Nations

War posters of 10 Allied nations are being exhibited this week in the main studio at the Art Building, Alexander Masley, lecturer in art, announced yesterday. The collection of 30 posters, a part of the Montana War Collection housed at the University Library, is shown in cooperation with library officials, Dean Ford of the School of Journalism, and the Art Club.

The posters representing the United States, Canada, Belgium, China, Czechoslovakia, Great Britain, Greece, Denmark, Netherlands and New Zealand, were obtained from the Inter-Allied Information Center in New York and from several agencies of our own government.

In evaluation of the poster group, it has been noted that the American posters show a distinctly deeper and more active fighting spirit than earlier ones shown several months ago by the Fine Arts Department. They still lack the power of compulsion of Russian art work recently exhibited here, and several are illustrative of nature to a point of being hackneyed.

Posters from China, the first of their kind displayed here, are charming in their simplicity. Carried in Chinese characters are such proverbs as, "The nearer you get to victory, the harder you should struggle." Noted artists are responsible for good design and cleverness in the group of placards sponsored by foreign governments for display in this country. Varietal in messages and diversified in techniques, the posters, as a group, are of general interest.

Four to Lead World Council Panel Talks

A panel discussion by Miss Edna Mann, Miss Agnes Kelly, Clifford Worthen and Frank Mann, social science instructors at Missoula County High School, will highlight the World Citizenship meeting in Main Hall at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

The subject will be "World Citizenship and the High School." One of the features of the discussion will be a description of the Victory Corps program and how it is being carried out in this community.

Spanish music and dancing and a travel-talk about Spanish-American countries by Dr. Bart Thomas, professor of modern languages, will be featured in the early part of the evening. Townspeople as well as faculty members and students have been invited to attend the meeting.

Phi Sigma will meet at 7:30 o'clock Thursday. Sentinel pictures will be taken at the meeting. All members are urged to be present.
