Heikes Refutes Rumors; Says Signs Now Indicate CTD Here for Duration

By TANNISE BROWN

Refuting the rumors of discontinuation of the 317th College Training Detachment, Major George E. Heikes stated yesterday: "Present signs indicate that the CTD here at Montana State University will be continued for the duration."

Training at some 70 other schools, however, will be disbanded about April 1, according to a statement released by General H. H. Arnold, chief of the U. S. air forces.

No curriculum changes and no pre-flight training will be the program adhered to here on the MSU campus, states Major Heikes. When new squadrons arrive in Missoula, they will have had physical examinations and psychomotor tests but will complete their classification at Santa Ana.

"We have been living proof," stated Major Heikes, "that the Army Air Forces and Western Flying Training Command were right in setting up college training detachments and in their administration of them. Our goal here is to make better officers, gentlemen, and air crew members out of those who would fly for the Army Air forces."

Last week marked the first anniversary of the CTD on the campus.

Campus Gives Total of $150 To Red Cross

Contributions totaling $150 were received this week for the annual Red Cross membership drive, in a campus-wide canvass conducted by Spur members.

The Women's Co-operative was the only house to go "over the top" with 100 per cent memberships, although a majority contributed in each house.

A Red Cross booth took contributions in the Student Union, Wednesday, and the following Spurs covered the various sororities and residence houses: Alpha Chi Omega, Ann Elliot, Lavina; Alpha Phi, Claire Criswell, Missoula; Delta Delta Delta, Leota Halter, Sunburst; Delta Gamma, Dorothy Davis, Dillon;

ARMY-NAVY QUALIFYING TEST

The Army-Navy college training program qualifying test will be given Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock in Library 30, Dean J. Earle Miller announces.

Men who intend to take qualifying test but have conflicting examinations should report to the instructor prior to the time of the final that they plan on taking the college qualifying test.

Coeds Swing At Annual Slack Party

It's "swing your partner" tonight as coeds in jeans, skirts and sweaters gather in the Gold Room of the Student Union for the AWS-WAA Slack party. The annual slack party is this year sponsored through the joint efforts of AWS and WAA with Irene Caras, Missoula, AWS, vice-president, and Elizabeth Pearl, Missoula, WAA president managing the party. Anna Vee Mather, Glasgow, is in charge of publicity.

Feature of the evening will be old fashioned square dancing called by Dr. G. B. Castle and demonstrated by a group of faculty members, followed by group participation by the coeds.

Sweaters and pins will be presented to "M" club members. Edythe Keig, Anaconda, Barbara Grunnert, Butte and Helen Reed, Rothiemay, will receive pins.

Winners of sweaters will not be announced until the slack party. The basketball cup will be awarded to the Sigma Kappa sorority, the winner of the inter-sorority tournament.

Kay Willis, Winifred, and Irene Caras, Missoula, are the masters of ceremony. Features of the program include a dance by Betty Madison, Barbara Hall, both of Great Falls, and Gene Morris, Corvallis; a soft shoe dance by Jean Peterson, Missoula and Mary Anderson, Ekalaka; a tumbling act by Marian Casey, Peggy Connor, Helena, and Evelyn Cherry, St. Ignace; folk dance by Evelyn Taylor, Great Falls, June Sanders, Troy; Mildred Wheeler, Kalispell; Leona Lampi, Red Lodge; Shirley Kirkpatrick and Kay O'Laughlin, both of Missoula; Pat Mitchell, Anaconda, Betty Jean Green, Big Sandy; Elizabeth Mosser, Chinook, and Marge Milligan, Miles City. The musical portion of the program will be violin solos by Janice Johnson, Belt, and Harriet Finch, Eureka and a clarinet solo by Betty I. Smith, Livingston.

Sentinel Pics Must Be Paid

Approximately 75 sorority pictures will be omitted from the Sentinel if students do not pay for their reprints and do not return their proofs to Ace Woods Studio by 4 p. m. Friday, Editor Lorraine Griffith, Williston, N. D., announced early this week.

Each person should check with his house president to see if there is any question about his picture.

All the photography for the Sentinel has been completed this week.

The staff is attempting to meet the deadline, which is March 15. Any help which students can give during examination week will be greatly appreciated, said Miss Griffith.

Squadron 5 will have its second Sunday night open post this week, from 6 to 10 o'clock p.m.

Campus Carnival Dance Set for April Fool's Day

University students and the Student Union will be joint sponsors of the Carnival Dance, to be given Saturday, April 1, in the Student Union building. The carnival spirit will be evident in fortune telling, penny pitching, a telegraph booth, a freak sideshow, a spook tunnel, ball throwing, dart throwing, a garter act and dancing, according to the tentative concessions listed by Lewis Burdick, Butte, chairman of the event.

All residence houses, clubs and campus organizations are welcome to have concessions, Burdick said, and the profits will be halved with the Student Union. Concession charges will be limited to five cents, he reported.

Mabel Ringling, White Sulphur Springs, is in charge of decorations, and Billie Farrington, Bozeman, heads the costume preparations. Publicity will be handled by Sue Fraser, Billings; Anna Jo Kelley, Missoula; Anna Vee Mather, Glasgow, and Betty Lola, Great Falls. Stewart Brandborg, Hamilton, is concession manager, and Dr. Gordon B. Castle will be master of ceremonies. Bill Fiedler, Stanford, is head of the independent men's concession.

All concessions now listed are tentative, Burdick said, and may be changed before concession de-

Wauters Says Structure For Collective Security Is Post-War Necessity

By GERALD LESTER

"Some sort of collective security organization among nations must be formed after this war or we may as well begin preparing for another war," said Mr. Arthur Wauters yesterday. "I would not say that the absence of the U. S. and Russia was the cause of the failure of the League of Nations, but it certainly had much influence."

Campus Contributes To WSSF

A grand total of $82.56 resulted from the recent War Student Service Fund drive, Pat Pettersen, Great Falls, drive chairman, announced today.

Of the total, $72.06 came from students on the campus and $10.50 from the aviation students of the CTD.

The total collection will sent in to national headquarters where it is to be used to finance study courses for servicemen in prison campus.

Girls in charge of contributions for each house were Barbara Ward, Clinton, Phi Sigma Kappa; Una May Arras, Cut Bank, Sigma Chi; Louise MacKenzie, Havre, Sigma Nu; Marilyn McConochie, Lewistown, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Dorothy LeVasseur, Great Falls, Sigma Kappa; Dorothy Angstrom, Helena, Kappa Alpha Theta; Muriel Wilson, Great Falls, Delta Gamma; Mary Morrow, Oak Park, Ill., Kappa Kappa Gamma; Suzy Taylor, Great Falls, Alpha Phi; and Pat Babcock, Missoula, Delta Delta Delta; Eileen Volk, Great Falls, Alpha Chi Omega.

Spring quarter classes for all students will begin Tuesday, March 21, according to the registrar's office, with new students registering on Monday, March 20.

Former students who registered between March 6 and 9 should call at the Main Hall business office for a statement of fees between March 20 and 22, at which time fees are payable.

All subscribers who have not received their winter quarter issue of the Mountaineer may get it at the Mountaineer office, Library III.

MSU Installs Radio Studio

The University was on the air Wednesday afternoon with its first broadcast from the newly equipped studio in the journalism building. Fred Wamble, chief engineer for KGVO, installed the equipment and was control booth operator at the broadcast.

The studio is sound proofed and has the latest equipment, including three microphones with desk and floor stands. Equipment in the control booth includes a power supply, amplifier and headsets for the operator. All equipment was furnished by the Gates Radio Supply Company of Quincy, Ill.

The broadcasts are "piped" by telephone line to KGVO's main studios and from there to the transmitter west of town.

The Wednesday broadcast was the regular University Library program with Mary Ellen Fifer, student librarian, speaking. All future University speaking or dramatic programs will originate from these studios, says Dean James L. C. Ford of the journalism school.

Wauters is a member of the Belgian Government Council in exile in London. He has traveled and spoken extensively in this country since December.

"Political agreements are not enough in the solution of post-war problems," he continued. "We must also have economic agreements. Nations cannot exist alone and independent of other countries in the present day world."

Many countries are dependent upon foreign trade. Seventy per cent of Belgian food must be imported. Markets for her industrial production must be available, he said.

Speaking then about present conditions in Belgium, he said: "Many people are starving in Belgium today. Daily food rations are one-third of the pre-war standard. Children are so weak in some instances that they have to sit down while writing on blackboards. All able workers have been forced to go into German war industries."

Despite these adverse conditions, the underground movement goes on, he said. "Powerful workers" (please see page two)

After the Shouting Dies . . .

Sometime within the next year or two it will all be over. The fellows in khaki, blue and forest green will don tweed sports coats, sweaters and cords, striped socks and moccasins and return to our campuses. Return to our campuses but not as the breezy pre-war model college man we've known. What can we offer these fellows? What do they want from college?

Time marches on. We can't set the hands back to 1940. The fellows returning to our campuses will have lived two, or three or four years in a world quite different from the somewhat erratic, leisurely campus world. They will have been forced to grow up in a hurry. Their sense of values will have undergone drastic revisions.

What do they want from college? Below is one MSU serviceman's viewpoint.

The war isn't over yet. It may be some time before it is, but it will end. And when it does there will be thousands of college-age boys coming home, coming home to either finish or start their advanced education. It will be different, quite different, and a long cry from the 1940 model of carefree Joe College. These boys won't be "boys," either in mind or body. They will be as different as a 19-year-old high school letterman and a 19-year-old holder of the DFC. Are the American universities prepared to meet and understand these "new" students? It is doubtful.

The former college man will be impatient to get back into the swing of things — anxious to forget what has gone before. He is going to want his own way. He will want to feel free. He has been told what to do long enough — it was necessary then. He had physics crammed into him when he wanted to study Shakespeare. He studied engineering when he wanted to be a lawyer. He did setting-up exercises when he wanted to pack a football before a cheering crowd. Call him temperamental if you wish, but remember that war is a touchy business. No, don't give him a blank check and expect him to fill it out to his own taste and still end up a success; that wouldn't work either. Remember two things: he isn't still wet behind the ears, and he has given up his beloved individualism for the good of all. Develop his individualism and treat him like a man.

College can and must answer these two things. Our universities can be an excellent place for the young veteran to regain his feeling of "existing" again. He may never graduate knowing the formula for hypochlorous acid, but he will know the formula of a happy and normal life. If it were that he had for two years been digging foxholes when he cherished the dream of writing sentimental poetry — give him poetry to his heart's content.

Get ready for him. He has been a man of action too long, and he is going to demand action in getting back to normalcy. If you are to re-establish an effective educational system, you'd better be ready.

Will we be ready? Will we have formulated a concrete plan to guide and yet follow the wants of the lads returning in khaki, navy blue or forest green? We will have to change. We will have to broaden our too-often narrowed college vision. We will have to grow up in many ways to look eye-to-eye with the ex-serviceman. We will have to gain a new understanding to give him that something that he wants from college. And we are going to have to start thinking about it now. What will we have to offer the serviceman after the shouting dies?

organizations from the pre-war period have been leaders in the movement. Acts of sabotage in factories, mines, harbors and railways have been carried on repeatedly. Probably their greatest work is the disruption of the intricate and extensive Belgian railway system vital to German raw material and food.

"University students have a national underground organization actively engaged in acts of sabotage. Former students in chemistry now make bombs to sabotage Nazi controlled industries, transportation and communications.

"An 18-year-old Belgian student engaged in sabotage was brutally tortured by having his knuckles crushed when he refused to give information to the Nazis.

"All universities were closed following a strike of 2800 students and most of the professors were arrested. Many students have been taken as hostages for acts of sabotage.

"School children are now helping the underground movement by helping in the escape of Allied soldiers, carrying dispatches and distributing the 135 clandestine papers published by the underground."

Men and women in the underground movement in occupied Europe eagerly await the arrival of their comrades in the Allied armies, he said.

"I belong to a country, Belgium, which owes a great deal to America. During the last war, American food relief saved our children from starvation. The Belgians will never forget how America, after the last war, helped us in the rebuilding of our libraries and universities. Scores of Belgian students have been guests of American universities. I am happy to have the privilege of expressing my gratitude for American generosity."

Grizzlies Win One, Drop One In Last of '44 Series

MSU Sinks Mines Navy In Friday Night's Game; Sailors Victorious Saturday

By BOB TUCKER

Montana Grizzlies, showing improved accuracy at the basket, lowered their biggest guns last Friday night to sink the Montana Mines Navy, 55-46. Saturday's game, however, went to the Mines, 55-43. This series wound up the Grizzly basketball schedule for this season, the record reading two victories and 10 defeats.

Jack Bulen, Great Falls; Bill Jesse, Missoula, and Gasper Cornell, Missoula, paced Friday's Grizzly attack which put Montana ahead 12 points at the half, 31-19. Bulen opened the scoring with a field goal and a free throw and started on a scoring spree in which he looped in 11 of Montana's first 19 points. Montana maintained its lead throughout the second half, although the Mines, paced by Cofer, at one time pulled to within eight points of the lead. Montana settled down, and Jesse, with his long shots, Fisher, Boese and Bellusci all found the basket to keep the Grizzlies safely ahead.

Jesse with 17 points and Bulen with 16 were high for the Grizzlies, while Cofer's 16 points made him high for the Mines. Other Grizzlies include Cornell with 10, Boese with 6, Fisher with 2, Greeley with 2, Bellusci with 2, Van Delinder, Farrand and Lommason. Due to the substitution rule and fouls, the Mines lost six men but carried the fight to the Grizzlies with only three men, scoring twice in the last two minutes.

Mines jumped back Saturday and turned the tables on the Grizzlies, 55-43. The score was tied at 8-8 when the Grizzlies began to hit and gained a first-half lead of 24-13, but at the end of the half the score was 25-24, Montana's favor. The Grizzlies managed to keep this lead part of the second half, but when Jesse left the game and Bulen and Fisher were ousted on fouls, the Mines began to trample the shorter Grizzly five and carried on a scoring spree which put them 12 points ahead at the finish.

Jesse scored 9, Fisher 8, Bulen 6, Cornell 5, Van Delinder 5, Boese 4, Bellusci 3 and Farrand 3 to complete the Grizzly total. Bigley with 13 points and Scharrer with 12 paced the Mines and captured high-point honors for the game.

Navy Seeks V-12 Students For College Training Units

Men between the ages of 17 and 20, unmarried and not enlisted in any reserve, are eligible to qualify as candidates for the Navy College Training program for the training of officers for the Navy, Marines and Coast Guard. Students selected for the program are sent on active duty, in uniform, to colleges under contract to the Navy.

Prospective candidates successfully passing the test report to the nearest Office of Naval Officer Procurement, where they are interviewed and given a physical examination. Candidates are chosen on a quota basis by regional selection committees. If selected, they are sworn into the Navy immediately and returned to their campus on inactive status, but subject only to the military orders of the Navy, to await assignment to a college under Navy contract.

Enlisted men from the fleet are also eligible for the program.

The length of time a student remains in the college program depends chiefly upon his previous education, his continued demonstration of adequate scholarship and the type of course he is qualified for. For example, the curriculum for deck officer candidates includes four 16-week terms in the

V-12 program, plus four months of reserve midshipmen's school; the medical program requires five 16-week terms, plus a complete medical course; the engineering course consists of eight 16-week terms.

The preference of the candidate for a specific school under contract with the Navy will be considered.

A student qualifying for the college program must be 17 but not yet 20 by July 1, 1944; must have been graduated from high or preparatory school by July 1, 1944, and must be unmarried and agree to remain unmarried until commissioned or released by the Navy department.

Jane Mee and Louise Replogle upheld the affirmative side of the question against Aviation Students James J. Kirwin, Squadron 1, and Melvin F. Jass, Squadron 2.

The winning team was judged according to the response of the audience. Due to the 99 44/100 per cent attendance of the Army Air Corps, (and all of 15 University women in the audience) the decision was "decidedly" negative.

Lieut. Geedie Simmons was in charge of the program.

The Interchurch committee announces a sleigh ride for Sunday, March 12 at 6:30 o'clock. The sleigh will start from Maurice avenue by the Student Union building. The ride will last about two hours. Following the ride the group will go to the Congregational church for a light lunch.

All students affiliated with the various church organizations are welcome, Virginia Baird, president of the interchurch committee announces. A small charge is to be made for the ride and lunch.
