Summons Served on Alleged Haircutters Friday; Lawyers Ask Damages of $300

Three forestry students face charges of assault and battery, false imprisonment and injury to person and dignity on charges filed in the justice court Friday by three law students.

Constable Jack Pittenger served the summons Friday on Vernon Hamre, Opportunity, Wash.; George Heilman, New Castle, Ind., and Kennie Drahos, Missoula. The summons were issued on complaints entered by Bob Seitz, Missoula; Carl Lamb, Billings, and Arnie Berger, Billings. Lamb and Berger are asking $75, and Bob Seitz $150 damages for the alleged "forcible restraint" and head shaving Wednesday night.

The constable caught Drahos on the sidewalk leading to the forestry school. After hearing the complaint, the alleged barber looked at the clipped Seitz, who was present, and said, "you better hope you can prove all these things."

"We can," said Seitz.

Los Gringos Discuss Limited Membership

Los Gringos, the campus organization of the Pan-American Student Forum, met in the Bitterroot Room last Wednesday, for its first meeting of the year.

The club is sponsored by the Spanish department and under the direction of Miss Thora Sorenson.

During the meeting proposals were discussed for limiting membership to Spanish majors and minors, and for conducting the meetings, as far as possible, in Spanish.

Ski Club Shindig To Raise Dough For Equipment

The Montana Ski Club breaks into the social whirl with a "flashy sweater dance" Saturday night in the Student Union. The dance will be given to raise money for equipment.

"We want to buy a tow and hire an instructor," Otto Ost, co-president, told a Kaimin reporter Sunday. "This dance and others we will give through the year will, we hope, help bring in the money necessary to realize our aims."

Navy Reopens Flight Training

Naval flight training is open to 19-year-old civilian boys again, according to a bulletin received from the Naval Aviation Cadet Selection Board this week.

The new enlistment program is open to all boys between the ages of 17 and 20. Enlistees will be placed on inactive duty till March 1, 1946, and those participants who have not reached their 19th birthday before March 1, and who have had one term of college by that time will be sent to college for one year by the Navy.

Any boy who passes the written and physical examination, is at least five feet, six inches tall, and

The Ski Club was organized early this month by Ost, George Savage and others interested in seeing MSU become a power in collegiate skiing.

At Montana State College, Bozeman, the Ski Team is financed by the athletic department and is a regular minor sport. Last year the MSC team won recognition for its performance in the Northern Rocky Mountain ski meet at Elkhorn Hot Springs. MSU was not officially represented at the meet, although several students from the university were present at their own expense.

"The Ski Club hopes to develop a team that can compete with other schools in the region this winter," Savage commented at the club's first meeting several weeks ago.

Drum, Kaimin Business Manager, Resigns; Will Devote Full Time To Coordinating Work On Proposed University Chapel

Because of publication technicalities, the Kaimin will come out at 4:00 p. m. on Tuesdays instead of 12:00 noon.

Alice Drum, Miles City, Kaimin business manager, has given her resignation to Clinton Oster, chairman of Publications Committee. Miss Drum resigns so that she may devote all of her time to the university chapel movement.

"I feel that I can be of more service to the students and the Kaimin by giving full time to the promotion of the Chapel idea," Miss Drum said. "I believe the kids want a chapel and I want to work to get one," she continued.

Drum was appointed business manager last spring. She will continue in that capacity until the board selects a new manager. Her resignation must be confirmed by Central Board.

The university chapel movement, which the Kaimin instituted several weeks ago, has received such strong support that someone is needed to help coordinate the work being done. Miss Drum will act as coordinator until a professional manager is employed.

Grizzly Team Thrills Navy Day Crowd in Losing 21-13; Flemming Makes 98 Yd. Run

BY DON WESTON

Before a Navy Day crowd of 6,000, Montana outfought and outplayed the Farragut Naval Center squad only to go down in an undeserved 21-to-13 defeat Saturday afternoon.

A dumbfounded sailor eleven was caught off-guard by the revamped Grizzly line but found the margin of victory in passes. Highlight of the afternoon came when, just after the sailors thought they had sewed the game up with their second touchdown, Halfback Gene Flemming ran the kickoff back for 98 yards and touchdown.

Montana's line was impregnable; several times Farragut was held for downs within the five-yard stripe. Giant Ken Drahos sparked in spectacular defensive play; Ed Rossmiller, Bill Muflich and Clark Dayton were also big guns of Montana's outstanding line. In the backfield Eddie Gallagher starred

Alum from Syria Will Address Home Ec Club

Miss Irene Teagarden, Sidon, Syria, one of two first graduates of the Home Ec School, will speak to the Home Economics Club at their next meeting.

Miss Teagarden is principal of a girls' boarding school in Syria. She is in Missoula on a seven months' sabbatical leave. She will tell of her experiences in Syria and the war at the meeting on Nov. 6 at 4:30 in room 313 of the Home Ec building.

She has been instrumental in establishing Home Ec in Syria.

Houseman's Works Will Be Subject Of Poetry Recital

Poetry of A. E. Housman, popular Edwardian poet and scholar who died recently, will be featured in the fourth poetry recital in a series by Professors John Moore and Baxter Hathaway at 8 o'clock tonight in Library 103.

The recital, like others in the weekly series, will be open to all students, faculty members and townspeople.

Hart-Kaufman Play Substituted For "Angel Street"

Tryouts for a Masquer production, "You Can't Take It With You," will be held Tuesday and Wednesday in the Student Union auditorium, 7:30 to 10:15 p. m. This play has been substituted for "Angel Street."

"Parts are open for nine men and seven women in this enjoyable Moss Hart-George S. Kaufman comedy," Mr. Stiffler of the drama department said.

"You Can't Take It With You" has been substituted for "Angel Street" because a New York road company is still touring with the play, according to Mr. Stiffler.

Garber Ducats Go On Sale

Tickets for the Jan Garber dance will be on sale at the Associated Students' Business Office from next Wednesday until the following Tuesday.

The dance will start after the Pocatello Marine Base game on Nov. 10. It will be in the Gold Room.

Tickets will be $2.40 and anyone expecting out of town guests should buy tickets early.

Fake Telegrams and You

It has been called to our attention that university students are engaging in a practice that is vicious and criminal. We mean the sending of fake telegrams via telephone.

Here is how it has been worked lately: Someone telephones another party and tells them that he or she has a telegram at the local telegraph office. The caller then reads off the message over the phone in much the same way a telegram is read. The message usually asks the person receiving it to meet the sender at a certain place, etc. Often the person receiving the fake telegram goes to the local Western Union office and demands to see the original message. Of course there is no message at the office. Confusion, loss of time and money result.

Western Union is a corporation built on public confidence and good faith. Anything that destroys this confidence is injurious to the telegraph company.

The management of the local office feels, as we do, that most of these false messages are sent before the sender stops to think of the damage he is likely to cause. We join with the local Western Union office in asking you to find some other way of joking.

We feel it is the duty of the student paper to warn students when they are in danger. This is no joke. The telegraph office has the names of several of the senders of these false telegrams. If the thing does not stop they intend to turn them over to the police. We are telling you these things in the hope that you will have the good sense to stop.

Plaudits

We want to applaud the people who are working to make the Montana Ski Club a permanent organization. We feel that there is need for such a club. We regret that at present ASMSU is not able to help finance it. The spirit shown by the club in going ahead and raising their money outside the association is commendable.

Perhaps as time passes the people who govern athletic policy will give more attention to minor sports. We are not sure but what MSU could gain more fame on the ski slopes than they will on the gridiron or basketball courts. AND FOR A LOT LESS MONEY, TOO.

It's Catching

Building a chapel is a large undertaking. When we proposed that one be built on the MSU campus we were not sure that the idea would take. BUT WE WERE PLEASANTLY SURPRISED. The idea has been taken up, discussed, and passed around the state. Reports are most encouraging. We believe that it is safe to announce to you that the drive for funds will begin before long. We are counting on you to put it over. In the meantime do all you can to keep discussion of the subject alive. Thanks.

By Way of Announcement

We wish to mention that we have figures, gathered from universities all over the country, on wages paid to student employees of the universities. The wages paid here at MSU are not up to the average. We thought some people might like to know this. You may be sure that these people will hear all about it before long.

The Great Outdoors

Sunday was the first day of the Chink hunting season. From reports reaching us most of MSU's bold hunters didn't do so well. We wish it were possible for us to publish a symposium of hunting tales that were and will be conjured up about the week-end's shooting. We regret that we have been unable to sign up a genuine "outdoors" writer.

Beating the Brush with Brutsch

When it gets right down to it, how many of us have missed the morning newspaper? According to our writer of the Campus Tableau, dire results may occur if the continual rumors of news are not stopped and some actual facts printed for our benefit. However, despite our loud griping about our newspapers, we missed them.

I for one, had not read a newspaper for several weeks, although I suppose one could have been picked up downtown, and the number of broadcasts I have heard during our local newspaper strike could be counted on one hand.

Occasionally a bit of sensational news was passed around via the grapevine, but nobody can vouch for its truth. I'm not alone when I say I am glad to read a newspaper again.

A marvelous opportunity for our journalism school has been missed, I think, in not putting out some sort of daily with the students in the journalism department acting as reporters. Some sort of deal probably could have been arranged with the radio news wire for nation-wide events. What an experience it would have been for all members of the J-school, not only for covering local events, but also in printing and handling of a paper for the townsmen to read.

True, the university press is a union shop. The agreement which kept the Kaimin going during the strike hung on the fact that it was a non-competitive publication, but the department has a typography class which could use experience and if worse came to worse the paper could have been mimeographed. This would have put us in a mighty ticklish spot, but it would have been an opportunity of a lifetime.

Considering the way this strike has affected the average person, I was thinking how much our Kaimin means to us. Would we miss its college chatter, would we miss its posting of meetings, its information about college activities? We would more than any of us realize.

The only reason we ever see a Kaimin in its present lively state is due to the editor and a few interested persons. Work on the Kaimin is not compulsory. No credit

"Somebody will be sorry they ever took this to court," Drahos replied.

Other members of the forestry school and Dean Davis, head of the forestry school, chimed in support for Drahos.

"I am sorry things have come to this point," the Dean said.

Heilman heard his charge at his home in the forestry nursery at about 1 o'clock. When the constable had finished his reading of complaints, Heilman asked, "Who is the county attorney?"

"Oscar Lympus," Pittenger, answered.

"From now on we will play with the home economics department and take their sewing needles," he added.

The foresters have six days to answer the lawyers' charges.

Seitz, Berger and Lamb will make no statement until after court action.

is given; it is a purely voluntary proposition. In order to get the paper onto the press and out into the hands of the students there must be organization, and it is mighty difficult to organize reporters without a big stick. They can not be hired or fired. They work because they are interested in it and because it is an honor and pleasure to see their stuff in print.

It takes an untiring determination to keep the paper going, to get the news out and a little credit should be given in the right places. For every mistake made, the editor is blamed, yet appreciation is seldom heard. In my opinion, the need for incentive is a great one. By the appointment of associate editors maybe we are heading in the right direction.

To Cheerleader Lester H. Margetts, for comedy above and beyond the line of duty, I present the badge of achievement.

Cheerleader Margetts, single-handedly and with great danger to his person, produced an honest laugh at an MSU convocation. By this act he has won the undying gratitude of a bored assembly. . . .

What manner of beings make these library rules?

Succumbing to a strange impulse last week, I withdrew a thick, ugly book, covered with the dust of ages. After looking at the pictures, I placed it on my bookshelf and promptly forgot about it.

Yesterday, as the librarian saw me dragging the giant volume toward her desk, she leaped from her chair. Her eyes narrowed with suspicion.

"Are you J. Brunett?"

When I admitted it, a triumphant smirk twisted her lips.

"Your book is overdue."

She gloated for a moment, then added pointedly, "You owe five cents."

I meekly suggested that a five-cent fine on such a book was ridiculous. Angriely, she waved the book's filing card.

"Other people also read this book, you know!"

Incredulous, I looked at the filing card. She was right. Above my name was written, F. Johnson, April 6th, 1926.

I paid her a nickel which should have existed only for juke boxes. The book was borne away to its niche. And the trap was set once more for victims as easily caught as F. Johnson and I. . . .

Inter-Frat Round Robin Hits Climax; SAE, PDT, SN Leading

League Winner Determined This Week; Top Three Squads Have Chance in Playoff Scheduled To Name 1945 Champion

Inter-frat touchball hits the climax of its round robin season this week. The two undefeated squads, SAE and Phi Delta Theta meet Wednesday in a battle that will decide the winner of the round-robin league.

SAE tangles with the third-place Sigma Nus this Friday. Tonight Theta Chi and Sigma Chi battle to see who gets out of the basement.

Phi Deltis Dump Sigma Nu

In last night's torrid test of strength Phi Delta Theta dropped Sigma Nu from the undefeated ranks 30-to-0. This loss does not eliminate the SN from a chance at first place, but it does point to tomorrow's SAE-Phi Delt game as deciding the issue.

Again it was Babe Young leading the rampaging Phi Deltis to their fourth straight victory. Young scored twice, John Manix, Bob Arthur and Bill Donker each scored once. The previously unbeaten Sigma Nus were completely dumbfounded by the terrific offensive power of the Phi Deltis and did not even threaten.

The Independents battled their way out the league cellar with an 18-to-0 win over Theta Chi last Friday afternoon. Wilbur Funk was the mainstay of the Independent attack. It was all Independent the first half, the victors scoring thrice, then the Theta Chi squad settled down and held their opponents scoreless the last half.

Standings Today

Team	Won	Lost	PF	PA
PDT	4	0	77	0
SAE	3	0	86	0
SN	2	1	44	36
Independents	1	3	24	58
SX	0	2	0	54
TX	0	4	0	83

The postponed Sigma Nu-Sigma Chi game of last week will be played next Monday night. The three top teams from the round-robin will then engage in a playoff to determine the Inter-frat championship. This playoff will probably be completed the second week in November, announces Bob Tabaracci, Interfraternity president.

Montana-Farragut

in his triple threat role. Don George and Wally Stephens did a great job of backing up the line with consistently good tackling. The entire team played "heads-up" ball, working plays correctly, and making every tackle count.

Wind wrought havoc with the punting and passing of whichever team was defending the south goal. A steady downpour before the game left the field soggy, slowing the ground attack of both teams.

First Quarter

Gallagher took the kickoff on his goal, being stopped on the ten. Wind blew Gallagher's quick-kick out of bounds on the Grizzly 28. Montana held four downs on the two-yard stripe, but Gallagher's punt from behind the goal was blocked, giving Navy a two-point safety. A long kickoff again put the Grizzlies in the hole. Wind again forced Gallagher's punt out of bounds on the Montana 35. Farragut couldn't gain through the line but Navy end Newman scored on a quick pass from Magan. The quarter ended: Farragut 9, Montana 0.

Second Quarter

Change of goals put the wind on Montana's side. End Ken Krause blocked a sailor punt, Montana recovering. Buck Preuninger drove across the goal three plays later. Preuninger converted and the rest of the half was played in Farragut territory. Gallagher's pitching arm put Montana on the Farragut 11 yard line, first and ten, just as the half ended. Score: Farragut 9, Montana 7.

Tight Third Period

It was nip and tuck the third quarter, neither side scored. Farragut threatened twice but Gallagher's punting toe kept the Navy at a safe distance. Montana's line play was magnificent, several

MSU Basketball Turnout Fair; Prospects Good

Varsity basketball made its 1945-46 debut on the MSU campus last night. There was a fair sized turnout including good prospects in men like Clawson, Stegner, Marinkovich, Barocher, Lane and Giesy, all well-experienced in either high school or college ball.

Coach Dahlberg has announced that until the end of football season practice will be at night. The coach emphatically urges any men of past casaba experience to report to men's gym tonight.

Home Tournament

The Grizzlies have a good schedule ahead of them this winter, highlighted by an intercollegiate tournament in Missoula December 14 and 15. Utah State, Idaho, Montana, and Montana State will compete.

times throwing their opponents for five or ten yard losses. The third period ended Farragut 9, Montana 7.

Wild Fourth Quarter

The wild fourth quarter began with both teams slugging it out at midfield. A 33-yard pass set up another Farragut touchdown as Pertella smashed across the one. Paul Williamson blocked the extra point, making the count 15-to-7.

Then the Montana stands went wild as Gene Flemming took Farragut's kickoff on his own two yard line and raced through the entire Navy team for 98 yards and a Grizzly touchdown. The wind sidetracked Preuninger's extra point. The entire crowd was on its feet as the game went into the final minutes, Farragut leading 15-to-13.

Montana fans again went wild, when with two minutes left, Gallagher intercepted a Farragut pass, returning it 15 yards. The fortunes of battle then switched when the Sailors intercepted a desperate Grizzly pass. After being thrown for two successive losses, Perkins tossed a 28-yard touchdown pass to McDonald, putting the game on ice for Farragut, 21 to 13.

HUDDLE STEAM

BY DON WESTON

I pick Montana to win its next game against Pocatello Marine Base here Nov. 10, by three or more touchdowns!

The Grizzlies were definitely the better team on the field at Farragut last week. Had the Grizzlies' pass defense been up to par the score would have been 13-to-9 for Montana. The last two Navy touchdowns were unearned! The return game here on Thanksgiving day will give the Grizzlies a chance to prove they are the better team.

Farragut outrushed the Grizzlies, but all of their rushing was done at mid-field, not where it counted. Inside of the ten-yard stripe an atomic bomb couldn't have budged that Montana line. It should be noted that all three Navy touchdowns came on passes of 30 or more yards, not on ground plays.

The Sailors were a better team, by far, than Idaho; the Grizzlies though playing a great defensive game, had a hard time finding holes in the Farragut line. It was a perfect game, well played and hard-fought by both sides, with the issue undecided 'til the final gun—a record Montana's underdog Grizzlies can be proud of.

"To Be or Not To Be"—Pep

As for pep and noise at the Farragut game, the 60 odd students there made about ten times as much noise as the entire student body made at Convo Friday. That pep rally at Convo was certainly a sad affair; I've heard half a high school make twice as much noise at their assemblies—and this is supposed to be college. We've got a good team (ask anyone who saw the Farragut game). Let's go MSU, there's a home game next on the schedule. Really back those Grizzlies.

Saturday Surprises

There is less of an idea as to who is going to represent the Pacific Coast in this year's Rose Bowl, now than there was four months before the season started. Washington's upset of USC throws the race into an undecidable knot. Speaking of upsets, last Saturday gave the football world the greatest collection of surprises it has ever seen. Once defeated Ohio State dumped undefeated Minnesota; Northwestern defeated the Purdue squad that had run roughshod over Ohio State the previous week; little Rice humbled mighty Texas. It was quite a Saturday.

High School Big Six Finals Here

Montana's Big Six High School Conference race will be settled at Dornblaser Field this Friday night when the defending champions, Missoula Spartans, tangle with the undefeated Anaconda Copperheads. The winner of this mix will go to the state championship game at Great Falls Thanksgiving Day.

The Golden Jubilee:

Fifty years ago a small boy tooted a horn with the band which assisted in the dedication of the campus of the University. Twenty-five years later he purchased this store from Jos. M. Dixon, soon later to be Governor of Montana. During this time student needs have been particularly catered to. Montana is a great State and we are proud of having visited practically every town large or small. New students are invited to make themselves known. You will be given special attention at
