GRIZZLY LINEBACKER BARRY SACKS
NAMED TO 1979 JEWISH ALL-AMERICAN TEAM

MISSOULA--

University of Montana linebacker Barry Sacks has been named to the 1979 Jewish All-American team. The team is announced in the Jewish publication "The Jewish Post and Opinion."

Sacks, a four-year letterman for the Grizzlies, had 79 tackles this past season, including 10 solo stops. He also had one interception.

There were 16 seniors named on the 24-member team, with nine holdovers from last year's team.

Sacks, a 5-11, 185-pounder from Federal Way, Wash., was an outstanding high school player at Federal Way High School. He was team captain his junior and senior years.

Originally recruited as a defensive back, he was moved to linebacker early his freshman season. He was considered one of the hardest hitters on the UM team this past year.

Sacks started in all 10 Grizzly games this season.
