UM WOMEN'S CROSS COUNTRY TEAM
TO COMPETE IN WEST YELLOWSTONE
RUN

MISSOULA

The University of Montana Women's cross country team is training at UM's Lubrecht Experimental Forest Camp near Greenough this week in preparation for the first meet of the season on Saturday.

The Grizzlies will participate in the West Yellowstone Run at West Yellowstone, Mont. Coach Dick Koontz says the competition will be strong. Among the schools competing will be Montana St., Brigham Young, Utah St., Utah, Idaho St., Weber St., and Wyoming. Koontz said he will use the meet to "find out where we are, what we need to do and what shape we're in." He also said he hopes to get an idea of what direction the team needs to take in preparation for the regionals later this fall.

Following the West Yellowstone run, the Grizzly runners will return home for the UM Invitational Sept. 27.
