MSU Will Provide "Miss Montana"

THE MONTANA KAIMIN

Montana State University, Missoula, Montana Z400 Vol. XLVI Tuesday, June 3, 1947 No. 89

24 Years Is a Mighty Long Time—

BY RON RICE

Another tradition vanished from the campus of Montana State University when William C. Hooper retired at 9 p.m. Tuesday evening.

He has worked for the University as a janitor since 1922. He was first assigned to Cook hall, ROTC, and the music rooms. In 1923 he transferred to Main hall and has been there since.

When asked what he considered the outstanding event of the years in Main hall, he answered, "One year, just before Aber day, some of the boys stole the clapper from the bell, and we had to climb the tower and pound the bell to rouse the sleepers. I can remember when the girls weren't allowed to smoke on the campus and they used to smoke in the north and south entrances to Main hall."

When asked what he intended to do with all of his spare time, he said, "Well, I just don't quite know, but I think that I will work in my garden, and I am going to lie in bed until at least six every morning."

"Traditions are not the same anymore. I suppose that it is the automobile and too much gasoline."

'Scientists Have Little Hope For World's Future,' Caraker

"Frankly, very few scientists have any hope for our survival," said George E. Caraker, Missoula, Friday after his return from a lecture tour in the Midwest.

"Great scientists have sentenced New York City to a life of five years. Dr. Brown of the University of Chicago gives us ten years; Dr. Gustarveson gives us five," Caraker stated.

Caraker, an MSU sociology senior last year, has just finished a series of one thousand lectures on "South Africa—Old and New" and "The Atomic Bomb and You" in the Midwest and East. His lectures concerning the atomic bomb were based on his visits to the United Nations conferences, talks with scientists throughout the United States, interviews with leaders in education and religion, and the study of confidential reports on the implications of atomic energy.

"I sensed a great tragedy as I criss-crossed this great country of ours," Caraker said, "... the masses are hopelessly ignorant concerning the atomic bomb. They look to the physical scientists for a solution, whereas the Manhattan project rests squarely in the laps of the social scientists."

"I wish to add that, in my opinion, if the Lillienthal-Baruch plan for international control of atomic energy is a failure, then this country can expect an atomic blitz before 1957. . . . The New York Science editor states quite bluntly that it is the Baruch plan—or destruction for all of us," he said.

Caraker, who lectured under the auspices of the Chicago School Assembly service, plans to return to school at MSU this summer.

Mountaineer Available At Union

Spring quarter's Mountaineer will be distributed today and tomorrow in the Student store fountain, according to Dave Perkins, Harlowton, business manager. Students may secure free copies by calling for them at the student store.

Among the writers appearing on Mountaineer pages for the first time this quarter are Marjorie Boesen, Livingston; Beverly Brink, Miles City; Edna Christopher, Conrad; Dick Darling, Sweetgrass; Wallace Davis, Missoula; Barbara Dockery, Lewistown; Bill Smurr, Sacramento, Calif.; Edward Dolan, Chinook; Herb Jillson, Missoula; and Martin Heerwald, Red Lodge.

A special feature of the issue is an article on the control of the atom bomb by J. H. Rush of the Administrative Committee of the Federation of American Scientists.

Marjorie Karlin, Missoula, editor, says that this issue of the Mountaineer is the largest to date, and that plans for the magazine for next year have already been made.

ROTC Members Receive Awards At Final Review

Four awards for the academic year 1946-47 were given to eight ROTC members at a review on the oval yesterday afternoon.

Richard H. Freed, Cut Bank, received the Military Excellence bar given by the Department of Military Science and Tactics for the greatest progress in riflery, and the Silver cup, presented by the Missoula Mercantile company for outstanding all-around ability as a rifle marksman.

Military Excellence bars, awarded by the Daughters of the American Revolution, Missoula chapter, for military and academic excellence during the school year were awarded to David C. Freeman, Missoula, freshman; and Jerome J. Millon, Chicago, Ill., sophomore, for autumn quarter; Dean H. Albert, Ekalaka, freshman, and Lowell L. Mayfield, Colbert, Wash., sophomore, winter quarter; and Joe F. Richards, Missoula, freshman, and Norman G. Warsinske, Billings, sophomore, spring quarter.

The American Legion medals presented by the Hellgate post No. 27, were awarded to the outstanding freshman, sophomore, and advanced student; Freeman, Millon, and William L. Denend, Centralia, Wash., respectively.

WHALEN WILL BE ABSENT THIS WEEK

Dr. J. T. Whalen, University Health service physician, was called to San Francisco yesterday because of the illness of his father. He is not expected to return until the end of this week.

All appointments with Dr. Whalen will necessarily be postponed until a later date. Any question regarding these appointments can be answered by phoning the Health service or calling there in person.

Candidates for Title Will be Recommended By Co-eds This Week

Candidates for "Miss Montana," who will compete in Atlantic City for the title of "Miss America of 1947," will be chosen from MSU co-eds this week, Miss Maurine Clow announced yesterday.

A campus committee composed of representatives from all women's living groups, is obtaining candidate recommendations from all university women. (This is an editorial—why do co-eds make the choice?—Ed.)

"Miss America of 1947," who will be selected September 15, will be awarded a $5,000 scholarship to continue her education. She will be chosen on intelligence, character, leadership, poise, personality, charm, talent, and beauty of face and figure. All candidates will be given an opportunity to present a five-minute performance of their talents.

Dinner Tickets Available for Seniors at SU

Tickets for the senior commencement dinner must be secured at the Student Union business office today from 1 to 4, or tomorrow from 9 to 4, Anne Platt, faculty dinner chairman, announced yesterday.

Seniors being graduated at the end of summer quarter and those who received their degrees since and including last summer quarter are invited to the dinner Saturday at 6 p.m. in the Florentine Gardens, Miss Platt said.

Prof. Edmund Freeman will be host at the dinner. He will introduce Theodore Jacobs and Alex M. Stepanzoff, MSU board members.

Robert C. Guthrie, '29, who will receive an honorary degree of doctor of science at commencement, will give a talk. Guthrie was commended by the Navy for civilian work on radar research during the war.

Other speakers will be Pres. James A. McCain, Alumni President Carl E. Dragstedt, and Shirley Davis, vice-president of the senior class. Susan Brenner, Glendive, and Earl Dahlstrom, Missoula, will sing.

Una Mae Arras, Cut Bank, is chairman of the senior committee for the dinner. Other committee members are Marion Headley, Missoula; Louise Dreibelbis, Butte; Enid Williams, Butte; Ruth Sackett, Billings; Viola Schuff, Great Falls; Joan Engelking, Kevin; Susan Brenner, Glendive; and Dorothy Kirscher, Townsend.

The faculty dinner committee includes Miss Platt, Cleo Crow, Thora Sorenson, Mrs. Monica B. Swearingen, and Catherine White.

Accounting Majors Due for Aptitude Tests This Week

Aptitude tests will be given in Craig hall at 3 p.m. on Thursday and Friday to students majoring in accounting, Donald J. Emblen, business administration professor, said yesterday.

The tests were recently received from the American Institute of Accountants in New York City, and are the result of three years research into the qualifications of accountants.

The aptitude tests are divided into three phases consisting of the "Strong Vocational Interest Test," "Orientation," and the "Strong" test. The entire test will take about two and a half hours on Thursday and two and a half hours on Friday.

acter, leadership, poise, personality, charm, talent, and beauty of face and figure. All candidates will be given an opportunity to present a five-minute performance of their talents.

Miss Clow stated that the campus committee is now considering four sub-committees to rate the girls in the four divisions. There will be no popular vote by the students on the candidates and all judging will be conducted by outside persons this summer.

The Miss America Pageant began in 1921 as part of a Labor day celebration. Then it was called a Bathers' Revue. Candidates must be enrolled in some specialized training school.

In 1945, a $5,000 educational scholarship was offered to the winner because most of the girls competing in the pageant were college co-eds. Now, under the direction of Executive Director Miss Leonora S. Slaughter, $25,000 in scholarships is given to the top fifteen finalists.

Scholarship winners will be those who plan to continue their education. They must submit a statement of the type of education or training they wish to pursue and their qualifications. Scholarships must be expended for tuition, room, board, and supplies. They must be in use within one year from the date of the award.

Porky Pig Voted Convo Queen

BY LOUISE MORRISON

Miss "Porky" Pig was selected queen of the convo last Thursday at the Phi Delta Theta-sponsored "MSU's a-Popping" convocation.

Miss Pig was attired in a gown of brown hog's hair and upon receiving the cup from Master of Ceremonies Buell Felts, Opportunity, Wash., uttered her thanks with these words, "Oink, oink, oink."

It seems a "Spur for the moment" decided to take drastic measures to preserve the grass and added a revolver to her regular equipment. She demonstrated the purpose that this addition might serve—now there is one less grass-trotter.

When the University converted the golf course into a strip-housing project it proved to be a problem for many golfing fans. One fan, namely Bill Andersen, Great Falls, found the solution to his problem Thursday by teeing off from the stage of the Student Union theater. This, however, might be a little hard on the audience if done too often.

Rockwood Brown, Billings, rode through the auditorium on his way to play a game of tennis. As he hobbled across the stage on crutches upon his return, he had but one word to say, "Deplorable."

Through the help of his brothers, Gordon Okerman, Billings, carried out the "doctor's" orders and attended all his classes despite his weakened condition through loss of "blood."

Traditions and Politics

The other day a student told us (he didn't know we had any connection with this paper) that the Kaimin should publish much more information about the traditions of the campus, and leave the outside world alone. About half an hour later another student came into our office, and said, in effect, "I'd like to see more worthwhile news published and less of these relatively unimportant college events."

Traditions are a fine thing, and so is discussion and thought about happenings outside our compact, fast-moving collegiate life. Polls have indicated there is considerable apathy regarding both at MSU, and it is our policy to stimulate and encourage each one.

It's hard to get all fired up and carried away about some hallowed campus event when you've been out of high school for a number of years. There are three reasons though, in our estimation, why campus traditions are a fine thing: (1) many of them are not "high school stuff" but are worthy of, and profitable to, persons of any age. (2) We'll enjoy college life more now, and appreciate it more in later years, if we take part in them, and (3) younger students now entering the University will appreciate and enjoy them no end if they are not allowed to die out.

In considering non-collegiate affairs, let's remember that in a short time most of us will have left school. As college men and women, we will be expected and should be prepared to, take an active part in community and governmental affairs.

How many of us know how the decisions of the state legislature, State Board of Education, State department officials, Congress, and other governmental groups affect US? Ah yes, a new law regarding marriages in this state will go into effect July 1. Proponents of reclamation projects, designed to develop this state and provide cheap power to its inhabitants, are fighting a battle for funds right now in Washington. A bill to establish a Missouri Valley authority, to "stimulate industrial expansion, develop low-cost hydroelectric power, increase recreational possibilities, provide for resource development of the Missouri river, etc.," is now lying in the Senate committee on public works. These and other issues are of vital concern to US, and it is better for us to concern ourselves with them NOW, than to cry in the future because something was or wasn't done.

Secretary of State George Marshall recently made a plea for more persons to enter politics. We believe the word "politics" has a bad connotation, but certainly agree with his idea. We don't have to adopt the bad practices of some politicians to take an interested part in the world about us. We owe it to ourselves as active citizens.

Mountaineers Discuss Press, A-Bomb, Women

BY VIC REINEMER

With stories ranging from the danger of telling a girl too much about yourself and a scientist's views on the A-bomb to a stinging indictment of Montana's company press, plus some well-constructed verse, this quarter's Mountaineer, now being distributed at the Student Union, presents a well-rounded selection of interesting reading.

This quarter's edition is larger than the two previous ones this year, and contains contributions from 18 authors and poets, all but two of them being MSU students. The language and tone of the material in this issue, as a whole, would be much more acceptable to a Sunday School class than would some previous Mountaineers. Noticeable by their absence are the war stories of the past several issues.

Scientist States Views

The Mountaineer justly presents "Scientists For Survival," by Atom Scientist J. H. Rush, after publishing a critical account of the fissionists last quarter. These two articles, taken together, provide an abundance of food for thought and pose this question—are the internationalism (if it truly is international) of science and our unfortunately nationalistic leanings compatible?

Bill Smurr takes the company press to task in "News Through a Sieve," and in turn parts of his story are challenged by an accompanying article, "A Critic—and the Facts!" Smurr's very readable article brings out a wealth of thought-provoking ideas about Montana newspapers, but he is inclined to get out on a limb and make blanket condemnations. This fault is made the most of by Herb Jillson and Ed Dolan who uphold the weeklies and small dailies in the opposing article. Smurr is at a disadvantage because the other article is based on his.

Agnes Regan, Mountaineer perennial and former editor, maintains her usual high standard in "The Others" a tender story, filled with witty conversation, of a little girl who has just a lot more fun visiting with her dream playmates than with people.

Liberals Urged On

"What's Wrong With Our Liberals?" is the question asked by Alfred Simon. He puts forth the impelling challenge to liberals to stand up and be proud to be called socialistic, and go on to prove the value of socialism instead of spending their time denying nasty names.

You'll turn the page, looking for more of Martin Heerwald's "Returned." But there won't be any more. As a result, he very effectively drives home his point about man's inexplicable hostility toward nature, as it was innocently passed on by a well-meaning doctor to his son.

Sixth Sense Troublesome

A mild-mannered accountant takes a beating when he suddenly acquires the unwanted ability to foretell what will happen in the immediate future, in Wally Davis' entertaining "The Sixth Sense of Joseph Finley."

Edna Christopher's "The New Hat" tells of a girl who loved not wisely, but too well, and "Carol Creek," from the prolific pen of Beverly Brink, relates the story of a "little sister" who quickly matured when her bolder, older sister was suddenly killed. A long-winded Casanova with an inflated ego gets his due in Mary Ellen Fifer's "Anything You Say, Baby."

Poetry Is Well Done

Editor Margie Karlin this quarter turns from prose to poetry, which she handles with equal grace. We suggest the reader draw his own conclusions from her "Interiors" and Dick Darling's "Poem," which warrants a second reading. Barbara Dockery and Marjorie Boesen make interesting observations about goodbyes in "The Station Walk" and "Transitory." Mary B. Clapp's "Survival" portrays, in beautiful style, the wide understanding gained by one who has lost some of the prowess of youth.

Dave Perkins' poignant "Spring Song" and "Here in This Flexible World" cause one to pause and ponder over man's peculiar actions and position in this world. "Rondeau," a sweet-enough little verse about "the petals (that) fall like snow," was not too demanding on the capability of Bob Wylder.

All in all, the spring quarter Mountaineer contains a pleasing variety of well-written, stimulating literature.

Letters to The Editor...

HAIRCUTS ARE TOO HIGH LET'S LET IT GROW

Dear Editor:

The indignation of many of the people of Missoula and especially the 2,100 men attending the University, was aroused recently when the price of haircuts was upped to $1. One thousand, nine hundred eighty of the students affected by this increase are veterans whose incomes even when supplemented by part-time work or working wives, are insufficient to enable them to attain the standard of living enjoyed by the average working man.

When haircuts were $.75, University students kicked in approximately $3,150 per month to Missoula barbers. The increase has tapped us for an additional $1,050 each month.

It is also interesting to note that the increase is not approved by the State Board of Barber Examiners, which felt that $.75 was a fair price. It would seem then that the barbers have taken advantage of a situation which puts them in a position of virtual monopoly as regards their services.

A recent Kaimin editorial (news story—Ed.) quoted a Missoula barber as saying that Missoula was the last of Montana's larger cities to effect this raise. The "village" of Billings has retained their 75-cent haircut.

Monopoly price can be combated by a decrease in demand for the commodity. If the students here at MSU would cooperate to the extent of refusing to patronize shops where the $1 price is in effect, it would chop $2,400 per month from their income. This might prove effective in reducing the price to $.75. Let a shaggy head be your badge of protest against the unfairness of the recent increase in the price of haircuts.

Walt Nunley.

manager; and Rukin Jelks, Greenough, guard.

Prof. Frederick Scheuch, past national head of Sigma Chi and president emeritus of Montana State University; J. Russell Easton, national executive secretary; and Burns Crookston, traveling secretary, were guests at a dinner at the Florence Wednesday night.

About 15 members of Beta Delta attended the state Sigma Chi convention in Great Falls over the week end.

Prof. Scheuch was a dinner guest Tuesday night.

Sigma Delta Chi

Sigma Delta Chi's Busy Bee Clipping club met Thursday evening in the basement of the Journalism building. Between clippings the members drank cokes and Pres. Dick Wright told jokes. The club will have another clipping bee Thursday at 7:30, Wright said.

Whitman Takes Twin Bill From Grizzlies, 11-1, 11-3

BY BILL BARBOUR

The Whitman Missionaries brought their Indian sign to Missoula over the holidays, and waved it with much success over the luckless Grizzlies. Whitman took both ends of Friday's double header.

Inclement weather erased the MSU nine's only chance for revenge when both of Saturday's games were cancelled. The Missionaries went home boasting a 5 to 1 edge over Montana for the season.

Whitman opened the first game with a three-run first inning that put the game on ice and allowed them to coast home easy winners behind the five-hit pitching of Forsyth. The Whitman batters pounded Grizzly pitchers Holding and Lucas for 17 hits, five of them extra base blows.

Second Game

Ted Tabaracci worked well for the Grizzlies in the nightcap, and for seven innings it looked like a real ball game. In their half of the eighth, when the score tied at 3-all, the Missionaries exploded with seven hits. The seven hits, coupled with three Montana errors, produced eight runs—and the ball game was for Whitman.

Whitman duplicated the 17 hits

Intramural Track Slated Wednesday

University intramural track contestants meet Wednesday afternoon for the yearly intramural track meet. The meet time is set for 3:30 p.m. and not 1:30 p.m. as previously announced.

Nine organizations have contestants entered for the meet, which will include the following events: Hundred-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 440-yard dash, low and high hurdles, javelin, pole vault, shot put, discus, broad jump, high jump, and half-mile relay.

Teams entering contestants are Jumbo hall, SAE, PSK, Independents, SN, SPE, SX, PDT, and TX.

Paul Szakash, intramural supervisor, stated that the meet would allow only the contestants listed by the team managers to compete.

Sarsfield Leads Golfers To State Intercollegiate Crown

Paced by George Sarsfield, Butte, MSU's golf team won the state intercollegiate crown by defeating Montana State college in the Missoula Memorial invitational tournament Saturday.

The Grizzly team placed third in the tournament, which was won by the Missoula Country club's No. 1 team in a heavy rain.

Sarsfield, Grizzly captain, was high college man in the tournament and placed second to Dr. Charles Wagner, Great Falls, medalist winner. Wagner finished with a three-round total of 231 and Sarsfield was a stroke over

The top four teams from the intramural conference were paired by drawing to play for the intramural title. The two winners from Tuesday's games will meet Thursday for the championship play-off game.

Guy Fox Receives Michigan Position

Guy Fox, instructor in political science and tennis coach at Montana State University about eight years ago, has been appointed professor of political science at Michigan State college, Dr. Paul C. Phillips of the University reported Monday.

SN Defeats All-Stars In Extra Inning

Sigma Nu crashed through with another victory last night as they beat an All-Star team, 5 to 4, in a fast extra-inning game played at the Clover bowl.

The All-Stars obtained an early lead by scoring twice from Sigma Nu pitcher Dick Kern in the third inning. Sigma Nu retaliated with one run in the fourth and scored twice more in the fifth to take the lead.

Two walks and a single loaded the bases in the sixth for the All-Stars. Johnson then stole home on an error at home to tie the score three all. Kern put on the pressure then and not another man reached first.

All-Star pitcher Schwab singled in the seventh and scored on Swarthout's bunt and Wilson's hit to put his team in the lead once more.

Tabaracci, Sigma Nu third sacker, scored in the seventh to tie the score four all and the game went into an extra inning.

The All-Stars led off in the eighth with three men up and three men down. For Sigma Nu it was a different story. Don Kern went out on a fly but was followed by hits from Pospisil and Gillette. Hall got on first on an error and Walsh's hit scored Pospisil to end the game.

Yovetich Wins Top Honors At Northern Division Meet

Capt. Dan Yovetich starred for the Grizzly track squad in the Northern division meet last Saturday by scoring 10 out of the 17½ Montana points and tying for top individual honors. The Washington Huskies won the meet with 52 points, Washington State was second with 35½ points, Oregon third with 33, Oregon State fourth with 20, Montana fifth with 17½, and Idaho sixth with 7.

Other Grizzlies picking up points were Lou Rocheleau, two; Warren Crosby, two; Jim Mayes, one-and-a-half; Hank Purdy, one, and Dick Doyle, one.

Big Dan's 14:5 seconds for the high hurdles was the best time run in the nation last Saturday and his 23:5 for the lows was second best. Fraizer of USC, who ran the country's best lows for Saturday, was aided by a 13 mile-per-hour tail wind.

Yovetich's times Saturday were only one-tenth of a second above the conference record for the highs and two-tenths of a second above the lows. He also set an all-time Montana record by one-tenth of a second in the highs and one-half a second in the lows.

Placing second in both hurdle races Saturday was Lyle Clark of Washington, whom the dopsters had picked as an Olympic hurdle contender before the meet. Clark trailed Yovetich by only a foot in the highs, but was about two-and-a-half yards behind in the lows.

Rocheleau took third place in the high hurdles; Crosby took third in the shot-put with a heave of 46 feet 6½ inches; Mayes got a fourth place in the broad jump with 21 feet, 11¼ inches, and tied for fourth in the pole vault with 13 feet. Purdy was fourth in the javelin with a 175 feet, 7 inch throw; and Doyle won a fourth place with a discus toss of 137 feet.

Tying for top individual honors with Yovetich were Henathorne of Oregon and Wold of Washington.

Over the Fence

BY BILL COONEY

Tall, slender Mel Patton grabbed the national track spotlight recently, twice equaling the world record for the 100-yard dash. Patton, who has been running the century at 9.5 all season, sped past a group of outstanding entries in the Coliseum relays to be clocked at 9.4. This feat put him with Frank Wykoff, Southern California; Jesse Owens, Ohio State; and Clyde Jeffrey, Stanford, who jointly hold the record.

Other notable marks set up at the huge meet were set by burly Bob Fitch, national champion discus thrower from Minnesota, who hurled the platter 171' 8¾", and Bill Porter, Ohio State, who upset Harrison Dillard in the low hurdles.

Buddy Knerr, sensational short-stop for the New York Giants, broke his string of 69 errorless games recently when he bobbled one of Bob Elliot's grounders.

The question in the boxing world is—who will Louis fight next? Melio Bettina was a formidable candidate for the task until his bout with Gus Lesnevich. Gus, who was at a decided weight disadvantage, clocked Bettina in 59 seconds at Madison Square garden yet Lesnevich hadn't been considered as a challenger.

Musicians Hold Last Student Recital Today

Eighteen music students, featuring a piano duet, a brass quintet, and 13 solos, will present the last student recital of the year in Main hall auditorium tonight at 7 p.m.

Betty Hespen, Belgrade, opens the recital with Bach's "Partita in B flat major," in six time sequences. With Mozart, Bach, and Chopin works recurring, other composers represented are Ketelbey, Fitzgerald, Schumann, Arensky, Chasins, and Schultt.

The brass quintet, featuring two cornets, one horn, and two trombones, will play Schumtz's "Rondo in F." This group stemmed from the band earlier in the year, and has played during several concerts.

Students taking part in this last recital are pianists: Betty Hespen, Belgrade; Donna Lee Hunter, Lewistown; Norma Jean Burris, Helena; Corine Heyen, Valier; Miriam Evans, Colstrip; Dorothy Jacobsen, Missoula; Xenia Anton, Billings; Nina Borgen, Anaconda; Robert Ruppel, Twin Bridges; Lois Cole, instructor in piano; and Lois Ibsen, Somers; violin, Norma Daniels Hartse, Billings; trumpet, Jim McGray, Garrison, N. D.; soprano vocalists, Donna Lee Hunter, Lewistown, and Ramona Meagher, Great Falls.

Quintet members are Donna Harlan, Columbus, and Grant Mundy, Moore, trumpets; Norma Hartse, Billings, horn; Bruce Grimes, Dillon, and Joe Estes, Moore, trombones.

At the conclusion of the recital, moving pictures of the action of vocal chords in singing will be shown through the courtesy of Mr. R. E. Coy.

Senior Mixer Will Be Saturday From 9:30 to 12 p.m.

All seniors and their families and guests are invited to the commencement mixer Saturday from 9:30 to 12 in the Student Union Gold room according to Robert Wylder, Havre, committee chairman.

"Representatives from each school and department will greet the seniors and their guests," Wylder said. "We hope that all graduating seniors will bring their parents and friends to the dance so that they can meet the faculty."

Al Merriam's band will furnish the music. There is no admission charge.

Advanced Registration Total Is 666 Students

Advanced summer session registration was completed last week by 666 students, Registrar Leo Smith said yesterday. Approximately 1,200 students are expected to attend summer school this year. Last summer, 1,066 attended here.

Use of Cosmetics Demonstrated

Use and application of cosmetics was demonstrated at the Pharmacy club's final meeting last week in the Bitterroot room, Pres. Frank Orlando, Havre, said Wednesday.

Lois Peterson '40, Missoula, gave the demonstration. Miss Peterson did graduate work at a cosmetics school in the east, and at present is a cosmetician in a local drug store.

Prof. C. E. Mollett spoke about the convention of National Associations of Schools of Pharmacy which he and three other university faculty members attended at the University of Washington.

STUDENTS SHOULD FINISH COURSES

Students who have attended MSU this year and who were previously registered in a correspondence course should resume work on the course immediately after spring quarter and complete the course this summer. Further information can be obtained at Law 8.

Central board meeting is today at 5 p.m. Did you know everyone is welcome?

Bulletin Omits Summer Session Language Outline

Dr. W. P. Clark, professor of classical languages, pointed out yesterday that the outline of classical language courses to be offered during summer session was erroneously omitted from the summer session bulletin.

He added that courses in both Greek and Latin will be offered on a tutorial basis from beginning courses to graduate work. Mrs. Marguerite H. Ephron, instructor in Latin and humanities, will assist Dr. Clark in teaching the summer classes.

Dr. Clark asked that any students interested in classical languages see him in Science 210 for details of the schedule and course requirements.

MARION HEADLEY ALSO HONOR GRAD

In Thursday's story on seniors graduating with honors the name of Marion Headley, Missoula, was omitted. She is graduating with honors in bacteriology.

Martin Heads SCA; Winship, Taylor Elected to Office

Guilford Martin, Kalispell, was unanimously re-elected president of the Student Christian association last Wednesday at the final meeting of the quarter.

Serving with him for the coming school year will be Vice President Irvin Winship, Victor, and Secretary-Treasurer Erma Lea Taylor, Missoula.

Plans for various projects to be carried out next fall include freshman week activities to acquaint new students with the religious groups on the campus and in the city.

Gene Kallgren, Butte, proposed a joint meeting of the several church groups at regular intervals to better acquaint the religious denominations.

The Worship committee, represented by Marilyn Strong, Missoula, plans a final Vesper service Thursday at which the Rev. Carl L. Sullenberger will speak. Miss Strong stated that arrangements are being made to secure a sanctuary on the campus for student meditation.
