'Fascist Italy vs. Vatican,' Discussed By Harrington

Not only was the Roman Catholic church among the first organizations to see the dangers of Italian Fascism, it was one of the very first to denounce it, the Rev. Fr. Daniel B. Harrington told the International Relations club Wednesday.

The Montana priest, who attended the North American college in Rome during the days of Mussolini's rise to power, stated that as early as 1924—while the rest of the world was indifferent—the Pope spoke out against Fascist methods.

"And why didn't his Holiness speak out against Mussolini when he first came to power in 1922?" Father Harrington asked.

"The answer is," he said, "that even the Pope didn't know what this Fascism was going to be. You recall that in 1922 we didn't know that totalitarianism was going to be as it later unfolded."

Even Queen Plots

Things had come to such a state in Italy in 1922, he said, that even the queen was plotting to seize power, but was beaten to it by Mussolini. The situation was confusing.

Father Harrington said that the pact between the Pope and Mussolini in 1929 was not a reversal of this earlier policy. In return for a surrender of the Papal states the Pope won sovereignty for Vatican city and privileges for his clergy.

"In 1931," Father Harrington continued, "there was a direct attack upon the Catholic church. The government invaded the social groups in the universities—groups comparable to your sororities and fraternities—and absorbed them."

"On one occasion, during a diplomatic war between the Vatican and Mussolini, and after seizure of the social clubs, church groups were invaded."

Mail Intercepted

The tension reached its pitch, he said, when the government began intercepting mail.

Row House Committees Appointed

Three committees were set up by the newly elected Row house council at its organizational meeting Tuesday evening, Mayor George Sarsfield, Butte, said yesterday.

Mrs. Don Larson, Missoula, and Mrs. Frank Pettinato, Kalispell, were appointed to the house committee; Bert Valentine and Robert Patton, both of Missoula, to the sports committee; and Mrs. Maxine Pierce, Missoula, and Jack Swee, Ronan, to the entertainment committee.

Because of the interest shown in future dances at the clubhouse, the council decided to have one St. Valentine's day. Either the prefabs or Cascade street will sponsor the dance, Sarsfield said.

Facilities at the Community center are now complete and are available to any groups that would care to use them, Owen Neilson, project manager, told the council. "An electric range, electric dish washer, and a refrigerator have been installed and are waiting for use, Neilson said.

"Around $20,000 has been spent by the University to modernize the Community center, so let's take advantage of it. All that is necessary is to let someone in the office know when you will be there," he told the council. Neilson also said the nursery room in the center is available after 4 o'clock every day, except Tuesday, for use as a study room.

Council meetings will be held the last Thursday of each month, Sarsfield said, with the first regular meeting scheduled for Thursday.

Rabbi Talks On Values Of Religion

Rabbi Howard L. Fineberg, B'nai Israel congregation in Butte, gave the fourth speech of the current Religious Emphasis week Wednesday night in the Silver room.

"The definition of the word success is the attainment of our objectives, and therefore, religion and success brought into relation with each other means the attainment of the objectives of being just, merciful and humble to God," said Rabbi Fineberg.

He continued by saying that religion establishes high and difficult ideals as the goals of life, and that we may have many obstacles to meet in order to obtain true success.

"There is the fear of poverty which hurts and warps the soul of man. Now the fear of poverty is the child of insecurity. A saint must have a pillar to be pious and Ghandi must have food to survive."

"We are all, everyone of us, afraid that we shall find ourselves without the necessities of life, food, shelter and clothing. Thus, the individual becomes unjust to his fellow man for fear that someone else may obtain what he himself needs," he said.

Religion, the Rabbi continued, will defend any economic system which practices justice, mercy, and the love of God. Any system will work as long as we are actuated by a concern of our fellow man. There is nothing wrong with the capitalistic system as long as people are obedient to God, he said.

"Let us speak favorably of a person, let us say as supreme compliments that he is just, or he is merciful or he is reverent to God," he declared.

Through a great religious revival of all faiths in America we can, at this late date, attempt to make spiritual values permanent again in our own country," he said.

Dimes Mount As First Week Of Drive Ends

Contributions to the MSU March of Dimes now total $134.66 for the first week of the campaign, according to Martin Farris, Troy, and Dennis Gordon, Coram, co-chairmen of the drive.

The chairmen announced that the following organizations had pledged or donated: Sigma Chi, $34.50; Corbin hall, $25.16; "M" club, $25; Law School association, $25; and the Forestry club, $25.

George Sarsfield, Butte, mayor at the Veterans' Community center, announced that his group would be canvassed, and that a polio education campaign would be conducted.

Farris said that all groups who wish to contribute or have filled a March of Dimes box should contact him by telephone at 7073. The drive will conclude with jitney dances at all sorority houses on Jan. 30.

BULLETINS AVAILABLE

Bulletins from various universities throughout the country concerning scholarships, fellowships, and graduate assistantships are being received frequently by the dean of the graduate school. Students may obtain such information at Craig hall 211.

Work on Final Plans Begins For New Campus Building

Ten-Cent Java

Jack Fischer, Drummond, (left) and Jack Cuthbert, manager of the Student Union cafeteria, practice pouring ten-cent java from the coffee maker in the Student Union cafeteria. The extra nickel per cup, charged yesterday between 10 and 11, will be donated to the polio drive on the campus.

Final working plans for the proposed business administration and education building will be completed in about ninety days by Fred Brinkman, Kalispell architect. Brinkman spent Wednesday on the campus in conference with President James A. McCain, Dean of Education James W. Maucker, Dean of Business Administration Theodore H. Smith, and Maintenance Engineer Tom G. Swearingen.

Preliminary general plans for the new building, drawn by Bebb and Jones, Seattle architects, were approved Monday by the Montana state board of examiners at Helena.

Functional Design

"The new building will be functional in design," said Mr. Swearingen, "and there will be very little ornamental construction incorporated in it. Outside construction will be of brick."

Offices and other small rooms will be on the south side of the building. These rooms probably will be fitted with windows which will not allow as much heat to pass through as passes through ordinary windows, he stated.

"By putting small rooms on one side and classrooms on the other, we will have our corridors off-center," Swearingen mentioned.

Floors of the hallways and stairs will be of terrazzo, a concrete-like substance like that used in the journalism school; floors of classrooms and offices will be of asphalt tile, also the same as in the journalism school, he explained.

A glazed tile wainscot will finish the hallways and stair wells.

Sound Proof

Office and classroom walls will be of zonolite acoustical plaster. This material is made from hydrated mica from Libby. When the mica, which has a high moisture content, is roasted, Swearingen said, it expands and becomes sound-absorbent.

Typing rooms and business machines rooms will be finished with

Barrister's Ball to Highlight Week-end Social Activities

One of MSU's oldest social events, the annual Barrister's ball, will be held at the Florentine gardens tomorrow night from 9 till 12, Pat McDonough, Shelby, president of the Law School association, reminded students today.

Willis Jones, Bozeman, is chairman of the ball committee and is assisted by Francis Campbell, Missoula, entertainment;

Wayne Davis, Roff, Okla., decorations; Loran Johnson, Billings, tickets; and Ty Robinson, Kalispell, and Jack Mahan, Helena, entertainment and reception.

All tickets were sold by the first part of this week, attesting the popularity of the ball, Johnson said.

The ball, a semi-formal affair, was started 35 years ago and, consequently, has the distinction of being one of the oldest traditions on the campus.

"The ball is a social event planned primarily for the benefit of students of the law school," McDonough said. "Therefore, we had only enough tickets for members of the law school. The purpose of the ball is to provide entertainment for members of the law school and not for the revenue angle as in the case of too many of the usual school functions."

Entertainment will be furnished by Kenny Hansen's band, Campbell said. Honored guests of the evening will be R. V. Bottomly, state attorney-general, and members of the law school faculty and their wives. Also invited were all the justices of the Montana Supreme court.

SPURS HONOR MRS. JAMES MCCAIN

Mrs. James A. McCain became an honorary member of Tanan-of-Spur when Spurs held initiation Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Paul Bischoff, adviser, and Miss Maurine Clow, associate director of student personnel services, also honorary members, were guests at the meeting.

Wendt, Gibson Will Highlight Concert

A new composition by Dr. Daryl Gibson and a piano solo by Rudolph Wendt are the main features of the orchestra concert Sunday at 8:15 in the Student Union, said Eugene Andrie, conductor.

Dr. Gibson, music professor, will conduct the sixty-piece orchestra in his composition, "Passacaglia in D Minor."

Wendt's piano solo is the "Concerto in E Flat" by Liszt. The Liszt concerto, according to Conductor Andrie, is perhaps the most popular of all the virtuoso concertos and is also one of the most spectacular and difficult.

Wendt came here in 1939 and is assistant professor of music. He did his university work at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester and at Juillard in New York.

Other numbers on the program are: "Prelude, Chorale and Fugue" by J. S. Bach; "Siegfried Idyl," Wagner; Humperdinck's "Children's Prayer," and the "Roumanian Fantasy" by Velska.

Conductor Andrie said the concert is open to the public without charge.

How About a Debate?

We received a number of letters regarding the Mandel talk at convo—too many, in fact, to print them all.

The letters brought out numerous shades of opinion, and indicated a general, consuming interest in Russo-American relations.

Which is good—the interest, that is.

It's difficult to carry on a well-rounded discussion on such a subject in a paper whose space is limited. But the issue certainly demands more thought and discussion.

So—how about a debate on some phase of the issue? Several astute faculty members have expressed definite, conflicting opinions. Perhaps the several politically-conscious organizations could sponsor such a debate, which could be profitably followed by panel discussions.

How about it, IRC, AVC, and Young Republicans?

A Profitable Week

The Rev. Carl L. Sullenberger and his co-workers are to be congratulated for their work in connection with Religious Emphasis week.

Unfortunately, class work and social activities often shove religion into the background. Religious Emphasis week helps revitalize the religious groups on the campus, and helps us integrate our religion with school.

The several visiting lecturers, of varying faiths, have shown us how tolerance works. Their understanding of, and answers to, student problems, have been valuable and appreciated.

Dance for Those Who Can't

Students will be able to play "machines of chance" at the matinee mixer this afternoon. Of course, the "machines of chance" will be March of Dimes boxes showing polio victims instead of oranges and plums, but maybe we can hit the jack-pot and give enough to help some poor kid walk again.

Let the mixer's slogan be, "Take the chance; after all, we can dance!" —Doris Lund

Montana Income, Production Show 1947 Gains in Report

Montana's income is up $114,000,000 over 1945 and the total production in agriculture, mining and lumber is 25 per cent higher than the period of 1935-39, according to the 1947 issue of "Montana Production" prepared by Dr. Roy J. W. Ely, chairman of the department of economics.

The purpose of the bulletin is to provide the people of Montana with factual material on agricultural, industrial, commercial and financial activities in the state.

The publication showed a slight decrease in production during 1946, continuing a downward trend started in 1942. Agricultural production showed a slight decline during 1946, lumber production was greatly increased, but mining, including minerals, oil, and coal, continued a downward trend. Petroleum and natural gas production were at record or near record levels in 1946 on the basis of preliminary reports.

Overall Index High

Using 100 as the figure to represent the 1935-39 comparison period, the report sets the 1946 overall Montana production index at 123, with lumber at 153, agriculture at 148 and mining at 75.

Despite the overall production decrease, income payments for 1946 reached $669 million, far above the 1945 record of $555 million.

Net salaries and wages increased from $274 million in 1945 to $321 million in 1946, with other labor income decreasing slightly.

Farm Marketing

The annual cash income from farm marketings reached a new high of $291,396,000 in 1946, compared with $234,535,000 in 1945. The lowest figure for farm marketings in the 16-year period covered by the report was $46,813,000 in 1932.

The annual income from mining showed a continued decrease from the peak of $96,681,500 in 1942 to $75,816,000 in 1945. The 1946 reports were not yet available.

Lumber Production

The 415,421,000 board feet of lumber produced in Montana in 1946 were valued at $17,204,000, well above the 341,749,000 board feet produced in 1945 but slightly under the totals for the three previous years. The cash value of the 1946 lumber production, however,

Letters to The Editor...

FRATERNITY SELECTIVITY CAUSES UPHELD

Dear Editor:

In reference to Jud Moore's editorial of Jan. 16 "Fraternity-Sorority Discrimination" and also to Ted Hilgenstuhler's more "forceful" letter to the editor of Jan. 21:

I would like to remind both Mr. Moore and Mr. Hilgenstuhler that fraternities and sororities are based on a belief in the Holy Bible and in Jesus Christ—How then could a person of another faith other than Christianity become a member of an organization which requires their belief in something in which they do not profess to believe?

If this is discrimination then are the Catholic and Protestant churches, who require belief, also guilty of discrimination against creed?

Reasons for excluding certain races are as basic as your reasons for picking a roommate for the next four years.

Possibly the following information will enlighten Mr. Moore and Hilgenstuhler. There are Jewish fraternities, Negro fraternities, and countless others—do you think I, being both Christian and white, would be allowed to join such an organization? Tell me—is this also discrimination?

Fraternities and sororities are selective and what organizations are not? To become a citizen of the United States you must meet certain requirements.

If either Mr. Moore or Mr. Hilgenstuhler really think that fraternities and sororities on this campus are guilty of discrimination please be a little less general and a lot more specific about things that they apparently know so little about.

William D. Dratz

Mr. Editor and Mr. Hilgenstuhler: I do believe in racial and, to a limited extent, religious segregation in the social fraternities and sororities. Mr. Hilgenstuhler has chosen to use the much overworked word "discrimination," which I would not accept.

By the very nature of the word fraternity, which implies brotherhood, there will be selection in membership, as there is in any organization, fraternal, social, professional or honorary. That such selection in the college social fraternities excludes "certain creeds and races" from membership is, however, a fallacy.

Jewish and Negro college students are not excluded from membership in college Greek societies since there are over 30 national was far above any preceding year.

The heavy federal income tax bill for 1944, 1945, and 1946 totaled $150,831,356 while federal income taxes for the preceding 14 years totaled only $64,788,746, the reports reveals.

Tourists

Of the notable phases of Montana's economic life covered by the report, one of the most notable changes from preceding years was the estimated expenditures of tourists traveling by automobile, their total spending in Montana climbing from $16,446,025 in 1945 to $53,861,971 in 1946, far above the peak pre-war peak of $29,737,721 in 1941.

Let's Boost MSU To Its $1200 Polio Goal

Jewish social fraternities and sororities and five Negro organizations.

I believe further that you are laboring under the false assumption that Jews and Negroes wish themselves to belong to Greek orders whose members profess different faiths or are of a different color. Moreover, if there have been cries of discrimination they have not been from the uninterested parties concerned but almost exclusively self-appointed "champions of the cause" like yourself.

Wherever there has been a desire on the part of Jewish or Negro college students to organize into a fraternal group they have been able to do so.

In addition to college social fraternities and sororities, which have always been a favorite target for college editorial writers, you are perhaps familiar with the Masonic lodge, Knights of Columbus, and B'nai B'rith, representing Protestants, Catholics and Jews. The Newman club, Hillel foundation, Westminster fellowship and others are represented on our campus. Further, nearly all denominations sponsor social fraternities, to say nothing of Pi Sigma Eta, the national morticians' fraternity and Upsilon Sigma Alpha, a U. S. army organization.

If the college social fraternities and sororities are "opposing liberty," then do away with the fraternal orders mentioned, the service clubs, golf and country clubs, bridge clubs, afternoon sewing circles and the thousands of other similar groups...

Perhaps, Mr. Hilgenstuhler, now that you have recently been pledged by a national fraternity on this campus you will become cognizant of the fraternity's side, too. As to your woes of other groups' sentiments, there seems to be no answer. The church has failed; the state has failed; and now the United Nations has failed.

What Do You Know About Polio?

Q.—What is "abortive" polio?

A.—The most common type. It is a mild form of polio, with headaches, fevers, vomiting, and upset stomach. No paralysis.

Q.—What is "non-paralytic" polio?

A.—A more serious type. But the nerve cells do not become permanently disabled. Stiffness of neck and back results.

Grizzlies Out To Beat Aggies; Try for 8th, 9th Straight Wins In Games Tonight, Tomorrow

BY GEORGE REMINGTON

Montana's gallopin' Grizzlies will be out to win their eighth and ninth straight victories as they meet a strong Utah State squad tonight and tomorrow night in the university gym.

The games are scheduled to start at 8 o'clock and will be preceded by preliminaries starting at 6:30 both nights. Coach Eddie Chinske's Cubs will meet the SAE intramural team in tonight's prelim and either Marvin's or Dragstead's tomorrow.

Starting Lineups

Probable starting lineups for the Grizzlies, according to Coach Jiggs Dahlberg, will be Cope and Rocheleau or Selstad at forwards, Graham at center, and Cheek and Moses at guards.

Aggie Coach Joe Whitesides is expected to start Done and Child at forwards, Gilmore at center, and Jones and Jorgenson at guards.

The Aggies come to Montana with a record of seven wins to seven losses so far this season. Included in their victory column is a 63-58 win from the Grizzlies in a tournament in Salt Lake City last December. They have lost two and won one game against the Bobcats this season, and two weeks ago won a 44 to 42 victory from the University of Utah, last year's national champions.

Utah State plays the same style of ball as the Grizzlies, and is about as strong as the Grizzlies.

Coach Dahlberg said yesterday. The Aggies have been strengthened in the last few weeks with men who turned out after football season.

With an 11 to 6 margin of victories over defeats, the Montana squad was rated 13th out of 15 teams in the Far West division by the Converse-Dunkel rating. The ratings, which are compiled by Dick Dunkle, an old hand at the game, placed the Grizzlies above St. Mary's and the 1946-47 national champs from Utah university.

Cubs, SAE Will Play

Starting for the Cubs in tonight's preliminary will be Scott and Rednour, forwards; Kulawik, center; and Walsh and Kingsford, guards. SAE will start O'Hern and Souhrada at forwards, Gar Thorsrud at center, and Mowbray and Sullivan at guards.

Three Ex-MSU Men on Rocky Mountain Squad

Three former University students received nation-wide attention this week when the Associated Press listed the Rocky Mountain college basketball team as one of the top six in the nation of the small college group.

John (Bailey) Morrison, Don and Harold Schwend, all of Billings, are members of the first string.

Don Schwend started his college basketball career at MSU, playing with the Grizzlies during the 1945-46 season. Harold Schwend and Morrison played with the Florence hotel team, after a brief turnout with the Grizzly squad.

Women Hoopsters Will Get Instruction

Mrs. Peggy Sarsfield will give special instruction in basketball to women students this afternoon in the women's gym, as part of the new program in the physical education department.

Arrangements have been made so that regular classes take up the first four days of the week. On Fridays women interested in WAA winter tournament sports may practice at any time, with the exception of the convo period, and students who have missed classes may do make-up work.

Mrs. Betty Wylder will help students of modern dance Friday morning, and Mrs. Pritchard will instruct in tumbling in the afternoon.

University Musicians Plan Spokane Trip

Two professors and seven students of the music school will appear in the Spokane club's annual Hi-Jinks program Saturday evening. The group will leave Saturday morning and return Sunday.

The MSU delegation is in charge of John Lester, professor of music, who will sing a baritone solo accompanied by John Crowder, dean of the music school.

Sopranos Heddy Creel, La Canada, Calif.; Patti Luer, Anaconda; and Gayle Davidson, Polson, will present scenes from "Carmen Jones."

Others on the program are Jerry Troyer, violinist, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Coyne Burnett, baritone, Missoula; and George Lewis, tenor, Missoula, accompanied by Jeanne Ballentine Lewis.

BOWLING, BASKETBALL SCHEDULES LISTED

Intramural bowling schedule for Saturday is as follows:

1 p.m.—Row Houses vs. ATO, alleys 1-2; SAE vs. Jumbo, alleys 3-4; PDT vs. TX, alleys 5-6; and SX vs. South hall, alleys 7-8.

3 p.m.—Lambda Chi vs. substitutes, alleys 1-2; OIS vs. PSK, alleys 3-4; SPE vs. SN, alleys 5-6; Foresters vs. Corbin, alleys 7-8.

Monday's intramural basketball schedule is as follows:

Copper league, 7:15 p.m.—Newman club vs. OIS. Silver league, 8:15 p.m.—Pre-fabs vs. Jumbo. Gold league, 9:15 p.m.—PDT vs. SAE.

Intramural Basketball

Intramural's 18 teams have begun play and some of the teams entered this year come under the not-so-hot category. Speaking of hot, Ralph Ripke, Bigford, was red hot Wednesday when he dropped in 30 points for his Sigma Nu quint. Teams showing promise in the league so far seem to be OIS, SN, SX, SAE, and South hall. This year's teams are split into three leagues with six teams in each. The championship will be determined by playoff of the top two teams in each league. Fraternity standing will be decided by an additional tournament following the intramural conclusion.

Intramural Bowling

Lambda Chi entered the University pin fest this week end and will be bowling against makeup teams for the remainder of the first half of bowling. Also the Phi Delt and Theta Chi clubs will bowl Saturday at 1 p.m. on alleys 5-6. The Phi Delt club is presently in first place and the TX crew second so one of the top matches of the year is expected.

Students Plan One-Act Plays

Students in the introduction to the theater class will have a chance to direct a show of their own choice this quarter. LeRoy Hinze, dramatics instructor, said today that several students are now casting and working on one-act plays.

Each student will select a short play he would like to direct and members of the applied acting class and other students will act in them.

"All the thousands of worries of a director are now in the hands of the students," Mr. Hinze said. "Four plays have been chosen and will be cast during the coming week. A number of students have not selected a play yet, but before long we expect to have at least seven plays in production."

Virginia Risch, Omaha, Neb., one of the student directors, said she was glad that the time had come when she can tell the cast just what to do, and then see that it is done.

Miss Risch will direct "The Wonder Hat," a satirical fantasy with a Harlequin-Punchinello theme. Patty Mager, Ronan, has chosen a comedy, "Raisin' the Devil."

Bob Haight, Bozeman, will present "The Monkey's Paw," a mystery drama; and John C. Stevens, Great Falls, has chosen "A Question of Morality."

The three best plays will be presented for the public Feb. 26 and 27 in the Simpkins hall Little theater.

Harrington Speaks On Wartime Italy

gan to intercept Vatican mail. The Pope wrote a strong letter condemning Fascism, but couldn't get it out of Italy. The late Cardinal Spellman first gained fame by smuggling it out.

"I have no doubt that if Cardinal Spellman had returned to Italy he would have been shot down," Father Harrington asserted.

Pessimism for Italy

Father Harrington was pessimistic about immediate success for democracy in Italy. He said the Italians understood pure democracy well enough, but couldn't grasp the principles of representative government.

"Emotionally and intellectually they were prepared through their whole history for a monarchy. To my mind it would have been far wiser to have retained the monarchy, and to have worked out of that towards a representative government," he said.

Father Harrington said the church played a major role in defeating Fascism by its championship of the rights of the individual. Mussolini, he asserted, couldn't overcome this idea.

Pointing out that very few in the army, navy, or middle-class belonged to the Fascist party, and practically none in the working class, he asked:

"How could a totalitarianism, which debased the individual, hope to take over a state where the individual was everything?"

Father Harrington was introduced by President Joe McCracken, Dillon, at the special afternoon meeting of IRC in the Silver room. The priest was born in Butte, was graduated from Carroll college in Helena in 1928, and from the Italian university in 1932. He is participating in Religious Emphasis week here.

ETHICS CLASS HEARS RELIGIOUS LEADERS

The Rev. Fr. Daniel B. Harrington and the Rev. Fr. Emmet P. O'Neill were guest speakers in Dr. Edwin L. Marvin's ethics class yesterday. They answered questions which the students raised concerning religion in the present day.

Both Father Harrington and Father O'Neill are Catholic representatives visiting MSU during Religious Emphasis week.

acoustical tile, the same material as was used in fixing Main hall auditorium.

The university maintenance department will do the preliminary site plan, Swearingen said.

"We will be responsible for preparing drawings showing the surrounding buildings, checking the elevation of the ground, bringing in sewer, electric, telephone, and heating facilities," he explained.

Will Need Boiler

Construction of the building will necessitate the addition of another boiler to the heating plant. The present plant, he said, was constructed in 1921, and since that time several buildings have been added to the campus: Corbin hall, Student Union, journalism, chemistry-pharmacy, New hall, women's club-art, natural science addition, and the temporary buildings.

"Our present heating plant," said Swearingen, "is big enough to double our present output by addition of new boilers. The number of boilers we have now, however, is not sufficient to provide heat for the new building."

Site of the proposed structure is the clover bowl north of the library, he said. Plans had been made to seed the lot north of North hall last summer, in order to have it ready for intramural sports this coming spring, Swearingen stated, but no work was done there.

Time Waits

For Rabbi

BY DOROTHY FRANCIS

The proverbial absent-mindedness of professors seems to extend to church leaders too.

Rabbi Howard L. Fineberg of Butte was talking to a 10 o'clock class. In order to finish in his allotted time, he used his pocket watch to keep track of the time.

Later in the day, Rabbi Fineberg had occasion to look at his watch again. Reaching into his vest pocket, the usual resting place of the watch, he found it empty. He tried his coat pockets with no luck.

Rabbi Fineberg and the Rev. Carl L. Sullenberger, director of the affiliated School of Religion, spent several hours searching for the watch but couldn't find a trace of it.

Finally Rabbi Fineberg happened to feel in the watch pocket of his pants. Resting in this unusual place was the missing watch.

DEADLINE TODAY FOR SENTINEL PIX

Freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior class pictures, now being taken at Catlin's studio will not be taken after today, according to Doris Lund, Reserve, Sentinel File editor.

Miss Lund stated that those who failed to have their picture taken will not have another chance to be represented in the class pages of the yearbook.
