The News in Brief National and Collegiate

Cincinnati — Benevolent old John L. Lewis told his United Mine Workers Tuesday that President Truman was a man "dangerous not only to the mine workers, but dangerous to the United States." The mine workers cheered wildly.

MSC—The Exponent complains: "A great number of high school letters are to be seen on athletic sweaters. This is Montana State college, not Smithville high school." However, it congratulates the freshmen on their willingness to wear little green hats.

Boston — Bob Feller of the Cleveland Indians and Johnny Sain of the Boston Braves will pitch in the world series opener today at Braves' park in Boston. Weathermen predict cool, cloudy weather for the initial game.

Grand Canyon, Ariz.—Secretary of Interior Julius A. Krug has announced his opposition to the proposed Glacier View dam in northern Flathead county, Montana. Krug claims that the dam would flood 19,000 acres of Glacier National park which contain "the finest winter habitat of abundant big game for which the park is noted."

Seattle—Three Alaskans sped through here Tuesday on their way to the world series game in Boston. The 4300 mile flight from Kodiak and back again is costing the horsehide-happy trio almost $2100.

Flying Aphids Attack . . .

These Not Bugs, Folks, These Is Aphids, Science Rallies As Fighter Units Attack And Temporary Hosts "Dig in"

For those who have been wondering just what those swarms of little winged critters are that have been hovering over the campus for, lo, these past few days, we have investigated and learned that they are aphids, or aphids, however enlightening that may be.

These aphids, not bugs or gnats, are in the process of migrating from their summer to their winter hosts. Although they have four wings they tire easily, which is probably why you find so many of them resting on your collective noses or in your hair.

The unkind prospect is that the aphids may be with us for the next two or three weeks, unless a sudden freeze should intervene.

Although you have probably been spitting them out and wiping them from your clothing as we have, you need have no fear that they plan to attach themselves to you permanently, for they are plant lice, and as such consider the lowly human a highly undesirable roost.

Homecoming Beckons Distinguished Alumni

Carl MacFarland '28, one of MSU's distinguished alumni, will be in Missoula for Homecoming week, the alumni office has announced.

Mr. MacFarland has long been recognized as an outstanding jurist throughout the country and in 1946 was awarded the American Bar association medal. This is the highest honor the association can bestow and has been awarded to only 13 other men, including Elihu Root, Oliver Wendell Holmes, and Charles Evans Hughes.

At the risk of violating the revered resting place of long-departed, but not greatly missed, humor, we call to mind the ancient fable of the man who entered a restaurant and ordered a bowl of soup.

When his soup arrived, and he started to partake of it, he was disconcerted to notice that a fly was languidly paddling about in the lukewarm broth. Quickly he summoned the waiter.

"Waiter," he exclaimed, "there is a fly in this soup."

"What are you complaining about?" retorted the waiter, lifting the fly from the soup between thumb and forefinger. "You're not payin' for it."

So should we nonchalantly regard the aphids. Don't complain. After all, we are all in college to improve ourselves (aren't we?), so who are we to begrudge the lowly aphid his, or her, attempt to raise himself from host to host?

Try to view the situation from the point of view of the second party concerned in the following conversation overheard yesterday in the North Hall dining room.

"Hey, look," cried the party of the first part, "there's a bug on my cake."

"G'wan and eat it," was the unsympathetic reply from the party of the second part. "Today's not Friday."

The above anecdote does not constitute an endorsement by this reporter of the practice of dining on aphids. From experience we can assure you that they are rather flat-tasting. Besides, because of their minute dimensions they probably have very little vitamin content.

Another Queen... This Time for Homecoming

Girls Named Supervisors At North Hall

Corridor chairmen for North hall were elected last week at a general meeting held in the hall lounge.

Chairmen are: Leah MacKenzie, Bigfork, third west; Norma Bell, Kalispell, third east; Donna Persons, Spokane, second west; Nanette Newport, Bonner, second east. Assistant chairmen are Billie Jean Smart, Livingston; Elda Golfi, Red Lodge; Korte Cambern, Spokane; and Mary Stermitz, Helena.

Junior sponsors living in the hall this year will serve as officers during fall quarter. They are Marian Bell, Kalispell, president; Laura Bergh, Froid, chairman of sponsors; Gretchen Rasmussen, Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, program chairman; Margot Luebben, Dillon, secretary; Rhoda Junek, Redig, S. D., financial advisor; and Marion Liggett, Roundup, social advisor. Officers for the remainder of the year will be elected from among the freshmen women winter quarter.

Continuing last year's program, coffee hours will be held each Sunday afternoon for the men from Jumbo hall eating in the women's residence hall.

Health Clinic Has Cold, Flu Remedy

Cold and flu shots are now being given at the health service. These shots will not be included in the student health fee, said Dr. Lyons, director of the health service.

The series of cold shots, 10 or 12 in all, will be spaced over the year and will cost $1.50. The flu series includes one shot per week for two weeks and will cost $.50. Charges for all shots are payable at the business office.

A new machine for taking basal metabolism tests arrived at the health service last week. The first test was given Monday.

Alums to Aid in Variety Show; Queens Parade on Saturday

Homecoming activities will start in full swing on Thursday night with SOS, followed by the Hi-Jinx Variety show at 8:15 at the Student Union auditorium.

The variety show, scheduled for students on Thursday night and for the alumni on Friday at 9 p.m., will feature

IRC to Meet, Elect Officers

The International Relations club will meet at 7:30 tonight in the Bitterroot room of the Student Union to elect officers and schedule activities for the year, according to Norman Greene, acting chairman.

The club's purpose is to study and discuss problems of current world interest. The meetings are open to all new and former students.

Among the guest speakers this year will be the British and French consuls to the United States.

IRC is affiliated with the Carnegie Endowment of International Peace and will send a delegation to the Northwest Conference of International Relations clubs at the University of Oregon in Eugene on December 4th and 5th.

The club meets regularly on Wednesday night of every other week.

Buy Tickets Now Says Culture Chief

The Community Concert outside ticket booths have been removed for the duration of the "unsettled" weather, and sales are now conducted exclusively at a table in the Student Union coffee shop.

Dean Jellison, Kalispell, student chairman, urged prospective buyers to purchase before 4 o'clock, Friday. So far only 400 have been sold, he said, and unless almost all of the expected 1,000 ducats are sold the concert series will take a large financial loss.

University personalities well-known to alumni, according to Harold Hanson, chairman of the Alumni Homecoming committee.

Wilbur Funk, '48, Tannisse Brown, '47, and Joe Sweeney, '24, are among the celebrities who will assist the local talent in the show.

Funk appeared on variety shows and convocations and sang with the university dance band while in school. Miss Brown will do her well-known version of "The Bird in a Gilded Cage," and Sweeney has been requested to present his act, "Alderman of the 13th Ward."

Fraternity and sorority house decorations and street decorations in downtown Missoula are expected to be in place by Friday.

In between halves of the Montana-Washington State football game, C. W. Burns, president of the MSU Alumni association, will present silver cups to the Homecoming queen and the winners of the decorations' contest.

Balloting for Homecoming queen will take place at a student mixer on Friday night after the bonfire rally.

Saturday morning at 10 o'clock participants in the 52nd Homecoming parade will meet at the Northern Pacific depot. Highlighted by the floats of the 10 queen candidates, the parade will proceed down Higgins avenue to the campus and around the oval.

After the parade a barbecue will be given for the alumni and their guests at the west edge of the Clover Bowl on Connell avenue.

As part of Saturday's festivities, the fraternities, sororities, and dormitories will have open house to all students for jitney dances and firesides.

The Wayward Press

Recently Drew Pearson, noted corporation-blasting columnist, had a squib in one of his columns relating the story of how Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas "was barred" from speaking over the air waves in Helena. As the story went it was interesting reading, but however interesting his tale was, it was also slightly inaccurate.

Pearson stated that the Douglas speech before the convention of the Montana Bar association was to be broadcast from the Civic auditorium before 4,000 people. Pearson went on to relate that when the Justice arrived he learned that the scheduled broadcast had been canceled and the site of the talk had been switched to a hotel dining room seating 250. The reason, according to Pearson, was "the ACM had served notice that it would withdraw a $500 donation to the Montana Bar association if the speech went out over the air." The ACM apparently thought the talk was to be of a political caliber.

This reported squelch of free speech in Montana was slightly contorted, although the Kaimin learned that a company lawyer had hotly disapproved of the plans and had taken it upon himself to attempt a stymie. In reality, according to a reliable source in the bar association, the money had already been spent. This source also disclosed that the site of the speech had never been scheduled for the Civic auditorium. The broadcast had been intended as a public service program, but radio time was supposedly not available at the time the association needed it.

Well, Douglas gave his speech anyhow. What the circumstances were that confused the issue over in Helena can be told from two sides. What political significance the speech would have had to dent the all-mighty ACM is another unpredictable factor. Nevertheless, as we pointed out, Douglas didn't go on the air but he did speak. The topic?—The responsibility of the legal profession to uphold the constitutional freedoms of press and speech guaranteed in the Bill of Rights. This must have been of interest to a few papers within the state. P.A.H.

NROTC Tests To Be Given

The third annual competitive examination for NROTC candidates will take place in Missoula and six other Montana cities on Dec. 11, Benjamin A. Frost, acting dean of men, announced yesterday.

The program offers to young men between the ages of 17 and 21 an opportunity to obtain an expense paid college education in one of 52 colleges and universities throughout the country. A monthly allowance of $50 is also paid to successful applicants.

In addition to passing the aptitude examination, successful applicants must be unmarried, United States citizens, and able to pass the standard physical examination required of midshipmen.

Further details on this program can be obtained from Grace Johnson in Room 106 in Craig hall.

OOPS! SORRY!

The Radio Guild will meet in the auditorium of Main hall Thursday evening at 8 instead of Tuesday evening as announced by the Kaimin yesterday.

Foresters Plan Sunday Hike

The Forestry club will hold its annual fall hike Sunday at Council Groves, Dave Lane, president, announced yesterday. Lane said that club members will be required to show membership cards and non-members will be charged 25 cents per person. The hike will feature games and prizes, Lane said.

Louise Writes . . .

The closing of rush week, pledging, initiations, and pin hangings seem to highlight the social calendar of the past week.

The sword and shield now adorns the chests of B. J. Smith, Jim Snow and Jim White, Butte; Jim Corning and Tom O'Donnell, Billings; Chuck Little, Helena; Keith Nelstead, Miles City; Jim Clinkingbeard, Missoula, and "Tag" Markle, Glasgow. They became active members of Montana Alpha of Phi Delta Theta Sunday.

The Sigma Phi Epsilon chapter house was the scene Sunday of another initiation ceremony. Those taking the oath of loyalty to the ideals set down by the organization were Robert Holmstrom and Carl Henrikson, Missoula; Charles Gray and Al DeVeber, Darby, and Roman Losleben, Malta. Following the ceremony the new actives and pledges were honored by a banquet at the Montmarte.

The SAE's got off to an early start by formally initiating eight of their members the Sunday preceding the opening of rush week. New names now appearing on the chapter roll include Bruce Helming, Wisdom; Pat McLatchy, Helena; Bob Adams and George Scott, Columbus; Bill Wrixon, Choteau; Don Graff, Laurel; and Jack Kiely and Guy Bennett, Butte.

Two brethren, Jim Hanson from the "cow" college at Bozeman and Ted Lacklen from the University of Wyoming, have affiliated with the SAE chapter here. Please forgive the reference to your old alma mater, Jim, but I'm sure you appreciate the feeling that burns high at the present time.

From the PSK house we hear that Tom Johnson has transferred to Washington university pre-dental school and Lennie O'Neill has stepped out into the "cold, cruel world" to work as secretary for the Dillon Chamber of Commerce. Good luck to you both.

Seen around the school after a considerable lapse of time are the familiar faces of SAE's Dale Adams and Chet Hall. Nice to have you around again fellows.

Two new personalities on the campus are Siu Tung, Hangchow, China, and Imogene Zuercher, Louisville, Ky. Both are graduate assistants and are living with the Co-op girls.

Speaking of visitors to the campus brings to mind several other former students, parents and relatives who spent the week end at MSU.

Several former Co-op girls who visited the house during the past week were Ann Cobbledick, Helen Johnson, B. J. Smith, and Connie Gordon.

Mary Jo Donahue, Anaconda,

"CUTE JOURNALISM" GRIPES AVID READER SIMKINS

Dear Editor:

Last year I was an avid reader of the Kaimin, reading every word of every article. If you continue with the Kaimin as you have done in the first four issues I can assure you my enthusiasm will soon give out.

Your "cute" journalism gripes me. Your headline in the last issue is very entertaining, but is it necessary to waste all that space on such a small part of campus doings? Also I might add that I could do without some of your "Staff Comments by the Rover Boys" and about half of Bill Smurr's "Anarchiana" columns. The Kaimin is not supposed to be a humor magazine but Smurr's first column was the biggest joke I've ever heard. If it was just supposed to be filler material you could have left the space blank and raised your reputation in my point of view.

That covers the gripes but I really expect to find more in your Tuesday issue.

Sincerely,

Robert J. Simkins
Education major.

P. S. You might tell Bill Smurr that I think "Inaneia" would be a better name for his column. The word inane may be found in most any dictionary.

Ed. Note: I'm glad we had your support last quarter as the same staff edited the paper during that time as now. As a typical college daily we are attempting to satisfy everyone which is hard to do. Humor has its place along with the more educational reading matter—we certainly don't want the paper any drier than it is. Yes, Smurr's education article was a big joke.

Grizzly Netmen Open Autumn Practice with Daily Drills

Grizzly netmen have begun their fall practice and are working out daily on the outdoor courts. Coach Jules Karlin is placing emphasis on stroking and service.

This year's team will consist of four returning lettermen and four candidates from the freshman and junior varsity ranks. Returning lettermen are:

Bill Jardine, Missoula, captain, and two-year letterman; Wayne Cumming, Helena, ex-captain, and two-year letterman; Bob Holmstrom, Redmond, Ore., one-year letterman; and Bill Robinson, Mandan, N. D., one-year letterman.

This year's team will be minus two strong team members lost to graduation. They are Gene Bottomly and Gene Annas, both of Helena.

Otto Ost, 1945 and 1946 letterman, will not be able to start practice due to a back injury incurred this summer. However, he may be able to turn out this spring.

Coach Karlin stated this year's

Radio Guild On Air With Kid Shows

The MSU Radio Guild, in cooperation with a local radio station, will present its first in a series of 10 weekly programs on Saturday, Oct. 9.

The University Players will portray many make-believe characters on their 15-minute morning broadcasts.

Students who would like to participate in guild activities and receive practical radio experience may attend the meetings on Thursdays at 7:30 in Main hall 204, Director John Shepherd said yesterday.

Long-underwear season started last night—SNOW!

season is going to be a very active one with 16 matches scheduled plus the Northern Division tournament at Corvallis, Ore. Among this year's major objectives will be Utah State and Washington State, Karlin said. Grizzly teams have not defeated them since the war.

Last year the Grizzlies placed third in the Northern Division tournament and won over Idaho in team match play. In scheduled matches they won 9 out of 11 matches.

The team at present plans to practice outdoors until snow and then conduct practice in the gym until spring.

Wet Weather Holds Up Tennis Tourney

The first round of the MSU all-men's tennis tourney was postponed yesterday because of rain. With weather permitting the tourney will continue today with Wayne Cumming, Helena, and Dale Forbes, Great Falls, scheduled to meet in the best two of three sets.

Also scheduled to meet on the asphalt this afternoon are Bill Jardine, Missoula, and Al Simon, Bronx, New York.

The first match of the tourney was played off last Saturday when Bruce Beatty, Billings, assistant coach of the varsity squad last year, downed Don Stanaway, also of Billings, 6-0, 6-4.

Remaining games to be played are: Jim Parent, Butte, and Bill Robinson, Mandan, N. D.; Gene Annas, Helena, vs. Paul Rigg,

Cubs Acquire Ex-Wolverine Frosh Back

An MSU freshman gave up a job as first-string fullback on the University of Michigan frosh grid squad in favor of the same position on the Grizzly Cubs.

Laurie LeClaire, 18-year-old pre-law major from Anaconda, seldom made football headlines until he was elected the outstanding back to compete in the East-West Shrine all-star game in Great Falls in August. Like most Montana prep stars, LeClaire got an offer from a football mecca.

Reporting to the Ann Arbor, Mich., campus Sept. 9, LeClaire made a successful bid for a backfield position on the 100-man yearling squad. He lived for two weeks in a fraternity house with 1947 all-American Chalmers (Bump) Elliot and Bump's brother, Pete. His athletic scholarship called for tuition plus employment for board and room.

LeClaire later moved to a private home 18 blocks from the Wolverine campus. He worked in a student book store for his room and washed dishes in a fraternity house for his board. The congestion of a large campus, and the absence of an opportunity for personal contact with the faculty moved LeClaire to return to Montana.

An athletic scholarship of tuition and a job with the athletic department was LeClaire's when he enrolled here a week from Monday. Coach Ed Chinske welcomed him to the frosh fold. The 180-pounder will also be a candidate for the frosh basketball quint this winter. He captained Anaconda high last spring when it won the state hoop crown.

Kalipell; Jim Wylder, Havre, and Jack Burnett of Billings.

The play-offs will continue through the week.

Positions Open For Assistant Football Manager

Men students interested in becoming assistant varsity football managers are requested to report to freshman manager Hank DiRe at the men's gym. There are at present six openings for freshmen football managers.

The duties of an assistant manager vary from checking equipment for players to assisting the coaching staff in matters pertaining to the organizing and operating of the team. According to DiRe, "A manager's position is an ideal place for a man to work with football players and learn to understand the coaching side of the game."

To qualify, a man must have an average scholastic standing and be able to devote an average of two hours a day to the job.

Freshman students working as managers this year would have an opportunity to start with the freshman team and work up with it during the next few years, DiRe also stated.

Awards for service are based on years of service. The first award is given at the end of the first two years of active work with the team.

Sen. Alben W. Barkley, champion of the Democratic side of the election disputes, appears at Convocation Friday at 9:40.

Sentinel Staff To Hold First Meeting Today

The first meeting of the 1949 Sentinel staff will be held Wednesday night at 8 o'clock in the Copper room of the Student Union building. All students desiring to work on the yearbook are invited to attend and submit an application, according to Marge Hunter, Libby, editor.

"A number of staff openings are available and experience, although helpful, is not requisite," she said.

The editorial department needs volunteers for the layout, art, photographic, copy, and file staffs; the business department would like advertising salesmen and layout men, and general office workers.

The Sentinel is an ASMSU publication and is produced entirely by undergraduate effort. "Students can gain valuable experience as well as contribute a real service to the University," said Miss Hunter. This service is recognized by campus honoraries.

Work on the Sentinel is performed during the fall and winter quarters, with copy deadline at the end of winter quarter. Yearbooks will be distributed in the early part of June.

Council Discusses New Constitution For Interfraternity

To accept or not to accept, was the question that faced members of the seven MSU fraternities Monday night, Oct. 5. The subject of question was the new Interfraternity Council constitution submitted to the council Monday afternoon by Bill Sethre, Theta Chi, and Ted Burton, Sigma Chi.

According to Bob Stermitz, Phi Delta Theta, president of the council, "The new constitution is designed to give the council more power in organization and a means of making its decisions stick." He also stated that part of the constitution has been taken from an older one that was drawn up before the war.

Final discussion and debate on acceptance and modification of the document will take place Wednesday night.
