Knights and Spurs Handle Referendum Mailing

Half MSU Enrolled in Arts, Science; Forestry, Biz Ad, Law Lead Schools

Students in the College of Arts and Sciences number more than half of the 3,456 enrolled at the University, it was revealed yesterday by Leo Smith, registrar.

The summary of registration figures released by the registrar's office contains a complete breakdown of enrollment by classes in the various departments and schools.

The pre-business administration department with 464 students, heads the list in the arts and sciences college. The pre-legal department is second with 185; the English, pre-medicine, and health and physical education departments with 119, 113, and 101 respectively are next in order of total students.

Foresters, who have the highest enrollment among the schools, outnumber their traditional law school rivals almost 2 to 1. Enrollment in the law school is third highest; less than that of the business administration school by almost 100.

Enrollment figures for the current quarter are as follows:

Forestry	448
Business Administration	313
Law	229
Journalism	208
Pharmacy	190
Music	122
Education	100

Total enrollment in schools	1,610
Total Arts and sciences	1,809
Unclassified	35
Applied music specials	2
Total university enrollment	3,456

AWS Week-end Ruling Modified

Conflict of AWS and faculty rulings have made necessary a revision of the newly-passed AWS rule regarding women leaving the campus for weekends, according to Dorothy Jean Working, Wilsall, AWS president.

Women who do not have Friday classes may leave Thursday night as stated in the rule passed last week. Women who have Friday classes and who want to leave Thursday must get an approved leave of absence card from the Dean of Students, Miss Working said.

Written excuses from professors to miss classes will not be accepted, she added.

From Bad to Worse Is Carpenter's Tale

It never fails.

A small window above the plate-glass doors leading into the law school was broken in 1941 by a joyful soul throwing snowballs in celebration of his graduation from the University.

Last week a carpenter was dispatched to repair the damage. Said carpenter dropped his hammer and broke the glass in one of the doors. A bill of approximately $35 for the glass is the sad story.

Professor Has Article Printed

The first of a series of articles by Edwin W. Briggs, MSU law professor, appeared in the July, 1948 issue of the Harvard Law Review.

Entitled "Jurisdiction—Choice-of-Law Relation in Conflict Rules," it is the first in a current series of four or five articles planned by Professor Briggs in connection with his study in the conflict of law between states and nations.

"There are two classes of conflict-of-laws rules which have been generally confused by both courts and legal writers," Briggs said Saturday. "This confusion causes several serious problems that are only clarified by carefully distinguishing between the two classes. The study I am engaged in is concerned with making this distinction," he said.

Professor Briggs spent an out-of-residence leave at Harvard University last year collecting material for the project.

After obtaining a bachelor of science degree from Oklahoma A and M's business administration school in Stillwater, Briggs attended the University of Oklahoma, Norman, for the law degree granted him in 1932.

He was then employed as principal of the high school in Jet, Okla., until matriculating at Harvard in pursuit of the M.L. degree which he received in 1935. Along with the degree, Professor Briggs received a research fellowship which kept him at Harvard for another year. Then, in 1936 he came to Montana State University to teach law.

PUBLICATION BEEF TODAY

Central Board today will discuss an amendment to the ASMSU by-laws which will attempt to restrict the distribution on the campus of publications, calendars, circulars, handbills and blotters which compete with authorized ASMSU publications.

Matinee Opens Run Of Passion Play

The Black Hills Passion play appearing today and tomorrow in the Student Union theater is in the 703rd year of continuous performance, according to Ray Woods, president of the Missoula Lions club, sponsoring organization.

Matinees at 2 and evening performances at 8:15 are scheduled for both days of the play's Missoula run.

Freshmen Elections Next Week

Petitions for freshman class officers must be turned in to Bill Anderson, student auditor, at the Student Union business office by Saturday noon, according to Jim Mueller, ASMSU president. Petitions may be obtained in the business office.

Fresh elections will be Tuesday, Nov. 2, the same day as general elections. Polling will be from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 4 p.m.

Each candidate for freshman representative to Central board must be nominated by a petition bearing his own signature and at least 20 other signatures of members of the freshman class, according to the ASMSU constitution. Freshman class elections are within four weeks after the actual beginning of school work, at the call of the ASMSU president. Petitions must be filed with the student auditor not later than noon on the Saturday preceding the election and shall be validated by Central board between this date and the election.

Temporary officers were elected at the close of Freshman week. They are Don Lucas, Miles City, president; Don Stanaway, Billings, vice president; and Jane Hannah, Shelby, secretary-treasurer.

Only those members of the freshman class who will be freshmen in credits for two quarters of the regular school year, shall be qualified to vote in the freshman election.

Two Blind Girls Receive Awards

Leila Jensen, Sidney, and Harlene Totten, Billings, MSU sophomores, are recipients of two of 18 national scholarships awarded by the American Foundation for the Blind.

The awards were announced last week by Dr. Robert B. Irwin, sightless executive director of the foundation offices in New York City.

Both women are sophomores in the sociology department. Miss Jensen is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, sophomore women's honorary. She completed her freshman year with a 2.77 grade point average. Miss Totten has attended both Rocky Mountain college and Eastern Montana Normal at Billings.

Movies Call Patti Luer

Patti Luer, Montana's representative in the 1948 Miss America pageant, has been chosen by a motion-picture company as one of five women to participate in a short feature movie.

Miss Luer was chosen along with Miss America, Miss Wyoming, Miss Alabama, and Miss Oklahoma by Vyvyan Donner, director of the film company's fashion features. The picture will be a 10-minute short telling the story of the pageant and of the five contestants.

Miss Luer said that she will do a song from Carmen in Spanish costume. She said that Miss America will probably give a selection on her vibraharp; Miss Wyoming, a piano selection; Miss Alabama, a vocal selection; and Miss Oklahoma will display her art paintings, commenting on each.

University officials indicated permission will be granted Miss Luer to be absent from classes for the one-week trip to New York.

Originating in Luenen, Westphalia, it was presented there for 700 years until it began a world tour after the rise of Hitler. The play was permanently located in South Dakota's Black Hills in 1937 and the largest Passion play setting in the world was constructed for it. The stage exceeds three city blocks in length and the theater seats 8,000.

The script was translated into English and the play is now touring principal American cities.

Large amounts of scenery and electrical equipment make the Passion play one of the largest such productions in the world, according to Woods. Much care was given to the costuming of the characters in order to make them historically correct and yet agree with the popular conception of Biblical dress. The Christus portrayal, Josef Meier, arranged the costuming so that each character would be readily recognized.

A cast of 60 university students will play extra roles in the production in its appearances on the Student Union stage.

Faculty Group To Address MEA Meets

Ten members of the university faculty will attend regional meetings of the Montana Educational association Oct. 28-29 in Kalispell, Great Falls, and Wolf Point.

"International Understanding Through Education," is the 1948 theme for the M.E.A. The program will include section meetings and panel discussions lead by prominent American and Canadian educators.

Dean James L. C. Ford, Dean J. W. Maucker, Dr. Harold D. Fleming, and Asst. Prof. L. J. Carleton, and Asst. Prof. B. R. Frost will address sections and lead panel discussions in journalism and education. Mrs. Brenda Wilson, Mrs. Le Noire Fish and Miss Cleo Crowe of the business administration school will participate in commercial discussions, and Assoc. Prof. E. B. Dugan will speak on "Problems in High School Journalism," at the North Central district convention in Great Falls.

Robert Struckman, assistant professor of journalism, will address journalism section meetings in Wolf Point.

MSU Zoologist To Be Listed In 'Who Knows'

Dr. Royal B. Brunson of the zoology department has been selected by the A. N. Marquis company as an authority on Gastrotricha, for a new Marquis publication entitled, "Who Knows—and What—Among Authorities, Experts and the Specially Informed."

A world authority on Gastrotricha, which is a group of microscopic, multi-cellular invertebrates, Dr. Brunson completed seven years of research work at the University of Michigan, where he received his Ph.D.

The A. N. Marquis company, publishers of "Who's Who in America," will publish "Who Knows" as a biographical reference volume in two distinct sections, a listing of the scientists and their specialties, and a biographical section containing pared-essentials background sketches of those listed in the first section.

Dr. Brunson is continuing his research work at MSU despite his full-time teaching schedule. He recently received page proofs of further research data which he has compiled on the Gastrotricha.

Board Nominates Associate Editor

Publications board Thursday recommended Louise Morrison, Billings, for the position of associate editor of the Kaimin. Central board will act today on the appointment.

Kaimin Editor Paul Hawkins said he would give Miss Morrison the position of women's editor. The new associate is a senior in the journalism school, vice-president of ASMSU, and since last spring has been society editor of the Kaimin. She is a member of Delta Gamma sorority.

INSTRUCTOR OFFERS SPEECH ADVISEMENT

Students needing help or advice on any speech disorders may see Herbert Carson, instructor in speech and speech correctionist, in TC-109 at 3 p.m. every day of this and next week.

"Students with children who have developed or are developing speech defects, should feel free to come to see me," said Carson.

Posies

The Intercollegiate Knights and Spurs are extended thanks from the Kaimin for the job they did so well last Friday. We think the Referendums Day Kaimin was successful, at least from the mailing standpoint. Mailing figures from the stamp machine indicate 1,828 papers were mailed. Some students mailed their own, so total figures should reach 2,000, a good percentage.—P.A.H.

Garbage

While several local sports scribes were trying out their usual rationalization procedures on the Montana-Idaho fracas; while numerous fans were still crying in their beer; while others were busy collecting their bets, and while some anti-fans were yelling what was wrong but still resting on their do-nothing bottoms, the beaten but valiant Grizzlies came into town from Moscow. A small crowd of 25, and a small band of four or five, met them at the gym.—P.A.H.

Ideas Are Welcomed

Numerous events that happen on our campus sometimes are overlooked by Kaimin reporters. We're not making excuses for the reporters because they have specific beats to cover and regular assignments designated to them, but still there are little scraps of news that escape us.

If you happen to be a person with a little scoop on some activity, some feature angle, or some good ideas, drop around to the Kaimin office. We welcome with open arms good suggestions, feature stories, cartoons, and pictures.

Behind the Scenes

BY JOAN SMITH

Sorority members outside Panhellenic council itself are living either in the past or in the future when attempts are made to enforce the rules of their organization.

While members of the council are reputed to have more of the "old Panhell spirit," as it is sometimes called, than their predecessors, the rank and file of Greek women are forgetting that rules must be enforced fairly and impartially in order to be rules at all.

During the past rush week an out-of-town alum belonging to a sorority on the campus appeared in Missoula and invited four rush-ees to dinner at a local hotel. Later she turned up at her house with the story that she hadn't realized it was silence period. The girls, so they say, were aghast. Then Panhell found out about it and members of the six other sororities went into a slow burn. Action wasn't taken, however, until after rush week, and after it had developed that none of the four girls pledged the offending sorority.

Recently Panhellenic representatives stated the case to the members of their groups and asked if the sorority should be penalized. (In this case it would have meant the third and final violation, and the group would not have been able to pledge next quarter.)

This was the reaction. Instead of going about the whole thing on principle, members of the houses either thought, "Maybe they'll find out about the time we broke a rule and give us the same treatment" or "Maybe we'll be in the same boat one of these days, so we'd better not get tough now." Result—the penalty was voted down in house meetings.

This doesn't mean that in this particular case the decision was a wrong one, it just means that in arriving at the result the Greek women weren't thinking straight. They were thinking of themselves and not of Panhellenic rules.

Members of the council itself managed to forget their own hides during the past rush week and imposed penalties on several sororities. If it had been left up to the all-too-tender mercies of Greek women as a whole, it is doubtful whether any of the offenses would have been punished.

In enforcing Panhellenic rules it should be remembered that the offense, with or without extenuating circumstances, should be judged by whether it is right or wrong, not by the attitude, "If we get tough with Phi Phi Phi, maybe they'll get tough with us."

NEW HALL, KAPPAS WIN

New hall defeated the Tri Delt pledge team, 31 to 24, in a game played Thursday afternoon in the women's gym, and Kappa Kappa Gamma won over Women's Co-op, 43 to 6, ending the first week of the WAA volleyball tournament. The tournament will continue throughout this week and next with teams competing as scheduled.

Vote for 51 and 52.

Campus Briefs

Bear Paws and Spurs who are ushering for the Passion Play matinee today will meet with Cyrille Van Duser at 1 p.m. in the Student Union auditorium lobby.

Intercollegiate Knights will not meet tonight because of the members ushering for the Passion Play.

Social committee members for the Jimmy Zito dance are asked to turn the tickets and money in at the Student Union business office today.

Students who have signed up for work with the Masquers are asked to check the assignment sheet on the bulletin board in Simpkins hall.

Horseshoe tourney schedules have been posted in the women's gym, according to Betty Mae Bays, Missoula, WAA horseshoe manager. Horseshoe contenders should arrange their matches soon, she said. Eight tournament or practice hours are needed to earn a participation credit.

Dr. Holme Replaces Dr. Wilder at Clinic

Dr. Gladys V. Holme, clinical director of the state hospital at Warm Springs, will conduct the mental hygiene clinic at Simpkins hall in the absence of Dr. Winfield F. Wilder, regular director of the clinic.

Dr. Wilder departed Friday for Miles City, where he plans to investigate the possibilities of establishing a mental clinic for that city.

Dr. Holme, who is also director of the in-residence training program at Montana State hospital for students of the University, was unofficial representative of Montana at the international conference on mental health which met in London in August.

The decorations committee for the Ski club dance will meet at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the Copper room.

Interfraternity council will meet Nov. 3 to discuss financial arrangements for the Newman club sponsored Mardi Gras, Bob Stermitz, Helena, president, said yesterday.

The University Christian Fellowship will hold a Vesper service today at 5:20 p.m. in the Methodist church. Those desiring transportation should meet on the corner north of the Health Service at 5:10 p.m.

Lt. W. A. Wright, USCG, will show a color motion picture today at 3 p.m. in J-304 to all men interested in the Coast Guard.

Intramural bowling rosters are due in the office of the director of intramurals today at 4 p.m.

The Student Christian association will not conduct Bible study or vespers this week.

Grizzlies Befuddled by Vandals, 39-0

Seek Third Victory At Provo Saturday

Montana's bedraggled Grizzlies hit the road again this week for a junket to Provo, Utah, where they meet Brigham Young university Saturday.

Still smarting from the 39-to-0 pasting they took from Idaho Saturday, the Grizzlies will be in quest of victory No. 3 as opposed to four setbacks. By dropping their second conference tilt, the Grizzlies are confined to the PCC cellar.

At Idaho's Neale stadium last Saturday, the Grizzlies hardly knew what hit them. On the Vandal's first offensive play, Left Half Bob Mays found a hole through center, sprinted into the Montana secondary, and appeared headed for a touchdown before being dragged down by Jack O'Loughlin and Jack Malone after a 38-yard gain. From then on, the Vandals seemed to gain at will while containing the Grizzlies on land and in the air.

Statistics give a graphic account of how one-sided the affair was. In the first half, Idaho had 12 first downs to Montana's two, and ran up a total of 300 yards by rushing and passing to 56 for Montana. Although the Vandals scored only six points in the second half, they ran their total offensive to 468 yards as compared with 89 for Montana. The first downs stood at 19 to 3.

The only department Montana dominated was passing. It completed three of five attempts for 38 yards, 42 per cent of its total offensive. With one exception, the Grizzlies played the whole game in their own territory. A Holding-to-Reynolds aerial carried to the Idaho 46-yard line in the second period.

The Grizzlies were in hot water deep in their own territory twice in the opening minute of play. Thirty seconds later, Idaho's Mays went off right tackle and ran 36 yards for the Vandal's first score.

In the hectic second period, the Vandals scored four times. Three tallies came on the strength of their powerful ground game, and they converted a Montana fumble for the fourth. The rest of the game, Montana fought a complex. Seldom during the afternoon did Montana's line open holes.

One of Idaho's key offensive weapons in the first half was the execution of long kickoffs that precluded any threat of a sizeable return. The Vandals' chief asset was depth. Coach Millard (Dixie) Howell had men three deep in every position. At one time, nine of the 11 Vandals on the field were sophomores.

Grizzly tackling was up to par when they managed to catch Idaho's elusive backs. Captain O'Loughlin was kicked in the head on the opening kickoff, left the game in the first stanza, and was dazed until late afternoon. Roy Malcolm sustained a rib injury that kept him out of the game much of the second half.

In one of two freak plays, Malcolm tried to punt, was forced to run behind scrimmage, and finally punted on the run. His kick travelled 55 yards. In the day's other oddity, two Grizzly backs collided on their 6-yard line while trying to field a kickoff, and the receiver fell to the turf at that point.

Cubs Point Toward Kit Game After Close Tilt at Pullman

Defeated in their opener, 19-13, by the Washington State Couababes, Eddie Chinske's Grizzly Cubs are pointing toward their first home game with the Bobkittens of Montana State college Friday on Dornblaser field.

"It was a tough one to lose," Chinske told his Cubs in the dressing room following the game in Pullman Friday, "but when we leave this room we'll be pointing toward our game with the Bobkittens; that game out there is over and forgotten. Next week we'll be on our home field and we are going to have that extra punch to carry us through the second half."

Cubs Score Twice

The outweighted, outmanned, and outlucked Cubs scored twice in the second period, amassing an offensive of 169 yards to 49 to take a convincing 13-0 half-time lead.

The Babes bounced back in the second half with three touchdowns. Their quality and depth in the backfield and line was too much for a game but tired Cub squad.

The game was sprinkled with numerous fumbles, penalties, and long runs. Paul Wold, reserve Cub fullback from Laurel, went wide around his right end midway in the second period and galloped 67 yards for the Cub's second score.

Keith Wright, Havre, was probably the most outstanding back on the field. He did everything but kick for the Cubs. Wright, running from left half scored the first touchdown on a five yard drive through center after Jerry Shandorf, tackle, had recovered a fumble on WSC's 14-yard line to put the Cubs in striking distance. Midway in the third period the tired Wright tore through tackle for 58 yards before being hauled down from behind on WSC's 28-yard line.

Couababe Stars

Outstanding among the WSC fleet backs were Bud Roffler and Dan Fackrell. Roffler passed for two touchdowns but both were nullified because of offside penalties. He started the Babes scoring with an 82-yard touchdown run on an intercepted pass. Fackrell was the chief thorn in the Cubs side. He overcame a bad case of fumbleitis in the second half, scored once on a 44-yard run off tackle, and set up the final score with his hammering cut-back runs.

Vote for 51 and 52.

PCC Official Rules LeClaire, Moses Ineligible

Laurie LeClaire, Anaconda, and Timer Moses, Midwest, Wyo., were declared ineligible for athletic competition this year, by Vic Schmidt, Commissioner of the Pacific Coast conference.

Schmidt ruled that LeClaire, who this year had attended the University of Michigan, was ineligible for frosh ball on the basis that no athlete who has established residence at a school can transfer to a conference school and play ball that same school year.

Moses was ruled ineligible in that he officially spent his frosh year at Wyoming university despite the fact that he never saw action because of ill health. Moses has already played three years of basketball for the University and because of this decision is automatically retired.

Biz Ad Cops Second in Test

First year MSU accounting students ranked second among representatives of 63 leading universities in national tests of the American Institute of Accounting. Second and third year students also "made a good showing," according to Dean Theodore H. Smith of the business administration school.

A new management course is being developed in the school under the direction of Prof. A. T. Helbing, and a Bureau of Business Research by Dr. H. T. Hofflich, former economist at the Federal Reserve bank of San Francisco.

Final plans for the Spotlight ball will be discussed tonight at a 7:15 Masquer meeting in Simpkins hall. The continuing sale of season tickets to Masquer productions also will be discussed.

Officials Predict Better Parking

Because of a broken electric cable and resulting short circuit, university maintenance officials this week predicted fewer creased fenders on the campus.

The cable conveying power to the street lights around the university oval developed a break just before the fall quarter began. Instead of repairing the break and leaving the lighting system as it has been since its installation in 1917, officials decided to relocate the poles on the other side of the sidewalk.

According to T. G. Swearingen, maintenance engineer, this will have two desirable results: first, the sidewalk around the oval will be better illuminated at night and second, parallel parkers will be much less likely to back into the poles.

Mid-quarters next week.

Pill Slingers Plan Annual Pharmacy Ball

Preparations for the Pharmacy ball were discussed at the Pharmacy club meeting Wednesday night, according to Dick Graham. The ball is scheduled for Nov. 5, in the Florentine Gardens.

Tickets went on sale yesterday in the Student Union. They are available from 9 to 11 and from 1 to 3. The price per couple is $2.40. Graham pointed out that this year there will be only 160 tickets sold for the ball.

Committees were appointed to take care of decorations and refreshments. The decorations committee is working on elaborate moving decorations and have designed the programs as prescription bottles.

The refreshments committee hopes to use the unique percolator-type punch bowl which was used last year.

Work on New Campus Structure Progressing

Work on the combined business administration-education building is progressing "very satisfactorily," Maintenance Engineer T. G. Swearingen said yesterday.

If the good weather and the cement hold out, the outside walls and roof may be completed before winter, he said.

Swearingen explained that the contractors have been experiencing some difficulty obtaining an adequate supply of cement.

Workmen are completing the third-story frame. The supporting columns and floors are built of concrete and then bricks are laid to form the walls. If the building can be closed in before the arrival of bad weather, workmen will be able to continue with the inside during the winter.
