Accident Victims

Don Graff, Laurel, and Aletha Bradley, Billings, are in serious condition in a Deer Lodge hospital after an automobile accident which occurred eight miles south of Deer Lodge Friday afternoon. They were enroute to West Yellowstone on a Ski club trip when the car in which they were riding was forced into the ditch by another vehicle. Three other university students riding in the car escaped injury.

News-In Brief

National and Collegiate

Washington—Quarantine officers of all United States ports have been alerted to check everyone entering the country for signs of yellow fever, as a yellowjack epidemic has broken out for the first time in 20 years in Panama.

Milwaukee—Doctors finally told Mrs. William Leahigh, a victim of polio, that she could leave the county hospital for home if her husband would arrange for an iron lung in their apartment. The happy couple located the apparatus and plans were being made to move her when their gracious landlord announced that he would permit no iron lungs in his apartment house. So Mr. Leahigh is looking for a new home—and Mrs. Leahigh is still in the county hospital—waiting.

New York—It was just learned that cheese is still holding steady on the market.

Madison—Attention agnostics, atheists and those who like to sleep on Sunday mornings. Because he sung hymns in his church choir, Marshall Strauss was able to identify the mystery tune on "Stop the Music" and received $13,000 in prizes. The song was entitled, "Kingdom Coming."

More Recognition For Our Patti

Recognition of Patti Luer's outstanding performance as a Miss America contestant is still being received, according to Miss Maurine Clow, associate dean of students.

The latest is an invitation to Miss Montana of 1948 to return to the Atlantic City pageant this year to perform for the 1949 contestants. Auditions with the NBC television circuit, the Metropolitan Opera company, and a Hollywood studio have been offered Patti. In December, the Miss America pageant directors granted her another $1,000 scholarship in addition to the scholarship she was awarded at the close of the pageant.

At the present time Patti feels that the scholarship is the most valuable offer and plans to continue her studies.

Foresters Will Elect Wednesday

Class representatives for the Forestry club will be elected at the next meeting of that organization scheduled for Jan. 19 at 7:30 p.m. in Forestry 106.

A Home Ec-Forestry club party is being planned for this quarter, according to Dave Lane, Deer Lodge, Forestry club president. Tentative plans also call for a forestry-wild life banquet early spring quarter, Lane said.

Forestry club wives will meet Jan. 20 in the community center at 7:30 p.m. Movies will be shown following the general business meeting.

RMIPA To Meet Here in '50

Montana State University will be host next year to the Rocky Mountain Intercollegiate Press association, according to information brought back by Paul Hawkins, Paul Verdon and Joan Smith, Montana delegates who attended the 1949 convention in Logan, Utah, last weekend.

Nominated by representatives from Montana State college, MSU was named by the convention delegates despite a strong lobby on the part of Denver university, backed by Idaho State, to have the 1950 meeting in Denver.

New Officers Elected

Hiram McDonald of Utah State, who acted as temporary chairman of the convention, was elected president of RMIPA, while John Nelson, editor of the Montanan at MSC, was chosen vice president. Directors are Cal Quayle, Utah State, and Ken Pace, Brigham Young. The secretary of the organization and the manager of the 1950 convention will be named by McDonald next fall from students of the MSU journalism school.

Constitution Revised

Delegates from ten schools, including those of the host, Utah State, attended the convention in order to re-vitalize the almost defunct association. (RMIPA has not met since 1940.) During the business meetings the constitution was revised and provisions were made concerning the presentation of annual awards for excellence in various fields of journalism of the member schools.

A speech by Paul Trescott of the Philadelphia Bulletin and clinics on yearbook and college newspaper problems filled out the rest of the program.

Dean Speaks To Scout Frat

Dean of Men Herbert Wunderlich addressed former Boy Scouts at a formation meeting of a scouting service fraternity Wednesday evening.

A similar organization at the University of Idaho, where Dean Wunderlich was dean of men, formed a boy's club which curbed a serious juvenile delinquency situation there. Other projects were the construction of a campus outdoor fireplace, barbecue pit, and flooding and management of a campus skating rink. He cited similar projects that could be worked out here.

Temporary officers elected were Bob Nicholson, Hamilton, president; Bob Simkins, St. Ignatius, vice-president; Jack Lawson, Poplar, secretary; and Dick Hansen, Winn, Wis., treasurer.

The organization is open to all scouts and ex-scouts. Meetings are conducted the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month at 7 p.m. in the Eloise Knowles room.

Montana Priest

The Rev. Daniel B. Harrington, a native of Butte, Montana, graduated from Carroll college in Helena in 1928 with A.B. degree in philosophy, and enrolled at the North American college in Rome, Italy, the same year.

There he was awarded an S.T.L. (Licentiate in Sacred Theology) and ordained to the priesthood on Dec. 8, 1932. From Rome he returned to an assistant pastorate in the Immaculate Conception parish in Butte and went after two years, to a similar position in St. Peter's parish in Anaconda.

Since 1942 he has been pastor of the Sacred Heart parish in Roman, and for the last three years, Diocesan Director of the Confraternity of Christain doctrine. Father Harrington has recently returned from several months travel in Europe.

Rabbi Kelson, who belongs to the B'nai Israel Congregation, is addressing classes and groups this week in connection with Religious Emphasis week.

His topic will be "The Republic of Israel." The Rabbi will include in his talk a background of the Palestine situation, problems, and conditions in Israel today. He will also speak on the relations of Israel to the Arab world and to Great Britain.

UNIVERSITY STRING TRIO PLAYS IN DEER LODGE

A string trio from the University School of Music entertained members of the Deer Lodge women's club last night.

The group, playing at the request of the Deer Lodge organization, consisted of Nancy Critelli, Billings, cello; Marian Liggett, Roundup, piano; and Jerry Troyer, Grand Rapids, Mich., violin. Faculty member Eugene Andrie was in charge.

Aletha Bradley, Billings, and Donald Graff, Laurel, who were injured in an automobile accident Friday near Deer Lodge, have been reported to be in serious condition and neither can be moved from St. Joseph hospital in Deer Lodge. This report was given by Dr. C. R. Lyons, of the university health service.

The two were enroute to West Yellowstone last Friday on a skiing trip with three other MSU students when they swerved to avoid colliding with another car, eight miles south of Deer Lodge, and went off the road. Driver of their car was Benjamin Forbes, Billings. Jim Holland and Dave Oxley, both of Butte, were

Zoo Staff Jinxed; Mumps Hit Again

John Arthur Chapman, instructor in zoology, is confined to his home with the mumps.

This is the second time within a year that the dignity of the zoology staff has been shattered by mumps. Dr. Philip L. Wright was the victim last year.

According to Dr. Ludvig G. Browman, professor of zoology and physiology, all cups and dishes used by Dr. Chapman have been boiled with scientific thoroughness to prevent an epidemic of the disease in the zoology department.

Powder River Boy Provides Theme of Nite Club Dance

Strains of music from a tinny piano and bright costumes of pioneer Montana provided entertainment for the Music club's annual Nite Club dance Saturday, in the Gold room.

A half hour floor show was presented at the Powder River saloon when members of the Music club portrayed old Montana during the frontier days. "Seven Beers with the Wrong Woman," one of the first pioneer songs of Montana, was sung by Jim Callihan, Spokane. A barber shop quartet composed of Callihan; Coyne Burnett, Missoula; Neil Dahlstrom, Missoula; and Robert Staffanson, Deer Lodge, sang while Don Stagg, Butte, played on a piano that was "brought clear from St. Louis for $5."

Joyce Degenhart, Granite, took the part of a broken hearted "Lady in Red." Songs were also sung by a can-can chorus, "Matinee Idol," Neil Dahlstrom, and the "Nightingale," Pat Selway, Grant, accompanied by Betty Bee Young, Lewistown, on the flute. The Fort Keough band played several selections and Grant Mundy, Moore, and Jay Burchak, Stanford, played a trumpet duet.

The Nite club dance is an annual affair given to raise money for the Music foundation. Proceeds of the dance go toward loans, scholarships, equipment, and music libraries for the campus and music organizations throughout the state.

Stanaway's Gripes Get Results

The band and twirlers will provide half-time entertainment when the Grizzlies meet the Bobcats here Jan. 28 and 29, according to Howie Hunter, Missoula, head of Traditions board.

Don Stanaway, Gripe board representative, attended Traditions board meeting last Thursday and asked that something be done to increase attendance at SOS. He also asked members of the board to plan better half-time entertainment for basketball games.

The Deer Lodge physician attending both Graff and Miss Bradley told Scotty MacLeod, Hardin, Ski club president, by phone late yesterday afternoon that he is optimistic as to the recovery of both accident victims. X-rays taken this afternoon revealed that Miss Bradley also has spinal injuries. She, too, has been confined to a body cast. Both patients are conscious and Graff is reported to be resting "much better."

the other passengers. None of these three were injured. Driver of the other car, an Anaconda youth, was charged with reckless driving and released on $100 bail, according to Edward C. Ellsworth, sheriff of Powell county.

Sheriff Ellsworth told Dr. Lyons that the students were in no way at fault and were traveling on an ice-free road at a moderate rate of speed when the other party drove directly in front of them from a side road near Race Track junction.

Students Unable to Return

Miss Bradley has chest and spinal injuries in addition to a severe concussion, according to the report submitted by Dr. Lyons. Graff suffered internal injuries and fractures of three vertebrae. He will be confined to a body cast temporarily. It is not likely that either student will be able to return to school for three to six months, Dr. Lyons said.

Miss Bradley, a sophomore, is a member of Delta Gamma sorority and secretary of the MSU Ski club, as well as a Tanan-of-Spur. Graff, a junior at the University, is an SAE, and a Kaimin staff writer. Forbes, Holland, and Oxley are all freshmen.

Tax on Gas?

In his message to the 31st legislature last week, Gov. John W. Bonner said that the state of Montana has reached a crisis as far as its highway program is concerned.

He then proposed six methods by which additional revenue may be obtained "if we are to save what highways we have and to have an adequate program of highway construction in this state."

These proposals are:

- (1) Increased gasoline tax.
- (2) Increased tax on diesel fuel.
- (3) Imposition of a tax in proportion to the gasoline tax on propane, butane and all other fuels excepting gasoline by rating of pounds per-horsepower hour, used for propelling vehicles of any kind upon the highway.
- (4) An annual tax on trucks determined by tonnage.
- (5) An annual tonnage tax on trailers and semi-trailers.
- (6) A caravan law providing that a fee be paid on each vehicle transported for hire on our highways, which fees would go to the building and maintenance of our highways.

Governor Bonner next stated that any further tax or license on private passenger vehicles would be inequitable.

Would an increased gasoline tax constitute an equitable levy on private passenger vehicles?

The state gasoline tax in Montana is five cents per gallon. Eight states have a three-cent tax, three states have a seven-cent tax. Missouri's two-cent gasoline tax is the lowest; Oklahoma's seven and one-half-cent tax, the highest. Many states have a six-cent levy.

On the other hand, the average retail cost of gasoline in Montana is as high as in any other state in the country today. In some sections, notably the East and Middle West, the average price is four or five cents a gallon less than it is in this state.

Rates charged for automobile license plates are high in comparison to other states. It cost $5 to purchase plates for a 1948 Plymouth in Idaho. The same plates cost $50 in Montana.

And yet there are many miles of Montana highways to maintain and a small population to pay for the job. A state with the population of New York or California need not tax heavily for highway maintenance funds.

In the light of these facts, would an increased gasoline tax constitute an equitable levy on private passenger vehicles?—A.P.

STRIP RESIDENT DEFENDS 'PIGSTY'

Dear Editor:

The article "Strip Divots" by Mr. Fader hits a very sore spot with me and my husband. That "spot" being his definition of the houses and what the townspeople in general already think of them. I was very sorry to see you print that definition because it gives these places—and after all, they are what we call home—such a bad name.

Do you know what people think of the strip houses? I will tell you of one opinion we got one day. We were in a shoe store buying shoes for our two young sons (first of the month, of course) when the clerk, an elderly gentleman, asked, "Where do you people live?"

"Out in the strip houses," we replied. Upon hearing this all the life seemed to leave his face and he looked at us very pathetically and said, "Oh, I feel s-o-o-o sorry for you folks." I was embarrassed and my husband was angry. But right there we proceeded to let him in on a few things until his opinion was changed.

In other words, I want you and your readers to know that Mr. Fader's opinion of the strips is not everyone's. We, and many others, are very grateful for the strip houses and could not make ends meet or go to school if it weren't for them.

I did, however, enjoy the rest of the article on how Bill and Dorothy Reynolds have fixed up their house. They are a fine couple and have had their share of tough breaks and I take my hat off to them. I have not been fortunate enough to see their house but I would like to say that hundreds of other people living out here have done some fine work on their places in what little time is available between part-time working and school and with the same tools which the Reynolds had—hard work, hope, originality, and ingenuity.

Thank you,
Mrs. Mike Kekich

COMMUNISM BY COLLEGE PROFS?

Dear Editor:

I wish to take issue with your $64 question editorial on Jan. 12.

In the first place let's make a distinction between Communism and Socialism. Socialism is a theory of government which is not at all in opposition to Democracy.

While I am not a Socialist, I have a high regard for "honest" Socialists such as Norman Thomas. Communism is to the dreamers also a theory of government, but in reality it is a totalitarian system of slavery directly and completely opposed to our form of government.

Now any professor who teaches Communism is to my mind either a fool or a traitor, and few college professors are fools. If universities such as ours are to depend for their subsistence on the mill levies from the people is it fair for those same colleges to employ professors who preach the sort of garbage that would make these peoples slaves to a Communist dictator?

Let us not be so blind as to believe that those who support Communism are in reality good citizens of the United States. They may be good citizens of Russia, but not of our country.

Academic freedom should not be made a shield for propaganda from a dictatorship as rotten as the world has ever known.

Yours truly,
Jack Patterson
Law student

Ed. Note: We should also make a distinction between those who teach Communism as an educational topic so that all may understand it from those who preach it because they actually believe it.

Library Has New Books

New books received by the library this quarter are being displayed in the library reading room, Arliss M. Heiss, acting circulation librarian, said yesterday.

The new books are displayed a few at a time on the book shelf in the center of the library reading room. A number of books are selected from various fields and placed on the shelf each Saturday and students are free to examine the new books for one week. The books cannot be checked out during the week they are displayed but are put in circulation immediately after display, Miss Heiss said.

There is a wide variety of the newest books available in many fields, including philosophy, education, history, sociology, economics and mathematics, biography, religion, fiction, and a number of books written in foreign languages.

KAIMIN ERRS

Thursday's Kaimin erroneously stated that (1) all the residence halls were filled beyond capacity, and that (2) the Corbin hall kitchen received three new Steam Chef compartment steamers.

Miss Edith Ames, director of residence halls, has informed us that there is room for a few students at Jumbo but none at any of the other halls. However, it is still impossible for students not living in the halls to board at them.

North, South, and Corbin hall kitchens each received one of the steamers instead of Corbin's getting all three.

Intramural League Underway; Jumbo, South, Phi D, SN Win

This week's intramural basketball schedule is full to the brim with three games being played each night. The league is well underway with two games being played Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday nights.

Thursday night saw the SAE's fizzle out in the last half to drop their first game to a strong Jumbo team, led by Pfeffer's 19, by the score of 43 to 35. The Sigma Nu team won by forfeit from the new Bus. Ad. club team.

South hall and the Phi Delt took easy games from the Forestry club and the Sig Eps. South hall downed the Foresters, 55 to 24, behind the dead eye of Harry Christensen, Lewistown, who netted 15 points. The Phi Delt hit off easily a 46-29 win against the Sig Eps under the spirited play of little Jimmy Corning, Billings, and lanky Tag Markle, Glasgow, who pushed through 11 and 10 respectively to lead the scoring.

This week's schedule brings in to play all the teams in the two leagues.

Monday:

7:00 Wesley foundation vs. Sigma Chi.

8:15 Phi Sigma Kappa vs. Kappa Psi.

9:15 ATO vs. Row Houses.

Tuesday:

7:00 Kappa Sigma vs. Forestry.

8:15 Theta Chi vs. Independents.

9:15 Ski club vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Wednesday:

7:00 SAE vs. Sigma Chi.

8:15 Bus. Ad. vs. Kappa Psi.

9:15 South hall vs. Phi Sigma Kappa.

Thursday:

7:00 ATO vs. Sigma Nu.

8:15 PDT vs. Wesley foundation.

9:15 Theta Chi vs. Jumbo.

Friday:

GRID SCHEDULE ALTERED BY POSTPONED GAME

Montana's scheduled football game with College of Pacific at Stockton, Calif., Sept. 17 has been postponed until 1950.

The change leaves eight games on the Grizzly schedule including three on their home field and one at Butte with Montana State. College of Pacific defeated Montana last season, 32 to 14, on Dornblaser field.

Cougars Fate Sadly Stated

By STERLING SODERLIND

Have the Grizzlies been libeled? Lawyers, journalists, and basketball fans may well wonder after reading the following excerpt from the Brigham Young university newspaper, the Universe, of Jan. 7.

This account was inspired by Montana's victory over BYU, 76 to 74, at the recent Los Angeles Invitational tournament.

"The Y's first game with Montana looked like a set-up, but the Grizzlies were playing over their heads and making it pay off. They were shooting from anywhere on the floor and hitting. Even if they would have been blindfolded and worn boxing gloves, they would have scored. It was their night.

Grizzlies Freeze

"With one minute to go the Monties elected to freeze the ball with a 76-74 lead in their favor. With 15 seconds to go, Joe Nelson stole the ball and raced down the floor for a lay-up shot that would have tied the score and forced the game into an overtime. But just as he was in the act of shooting, two Montana men—in the true spirit of the game—hipped Joe into the grandstands.

"In the excitement that followed, the officials (and we use the term loosely) awarded two free throws to Jack Whipple and then took one of his shots away from him for taking too long at the foul line."

If this is fair comment and criticism rather than libel, the Kaimin has not re-libeled the Grizzlies by reprinting it. Otherwise, we have. So go easy on the journalists, Jiggs.

PDT Leads League After Downing Sigs

The Phi Delt maintained their torrid pace in the intramural bowling league by taking two out of a three-game series from the Sigma Chi Saturday at Liberty bowling alleys.

South hall, by virtue of their three wins over the Phi Sigs, moved from seventh to fifth place, and Sigma Chi, Theta Chi, and the Foresters knotted the standings by tying it up for sixth place.

The Independents took two from the ATOs, the Sig Eps made it a clean sweep against the Kappa Sigs, and Jumbo downed Theta Chi twice. The SAEs and the Foresters took two from Corbin hall and Sigma Nu respectively.

Freddy Bourdeau and William Brandt took the honors for the day. Bourdeau had a high game of 221, and Brandt had high series with 577.
