

Winter 2009

cafe society

Cara Benson

Let us know how access to this document benefits you.

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarworks.umt.edu/cutbank>

 Part of the Creative Writing Commons

---

Recommended Citation

Benson, Cara (2009) "cafe society," CutBank: Vol. 1 : Iss. 70 , Article 22.
Available at: <https://scholarworks.umt.edu/cutbank/vol1/iss70/22>

This Poetry is brought to you for free and open access by ScholarWorks at University of Montana. It has been accepted for inclusion in CutBank by an authorized editor of ScholarWorks at University of Montana. For more information, please contact scholarworks@mso.umt.edu.

---

CARA BENSON

The kettle was boiling above and the baskets were underfilled. Yarn. We wanted to knit but there was no yarn to use. To use the yarn was what we wanted. It became a picture in our collective consciousness which also leaked into the moments we were not paying attention. No insisting that this was the only thing we desired, desires being what they are – ubiquitous and sneaky. For an instant, though. Which by day was enough but.

Relevance in numbers and sweaters. Uncle hamstring. The cross-country mile. The tea was had roadside while semis and cycles hurt us with their dusty abandonments minute minute minute. An interlocked figurine, infrastructure. We're just the suit-makers.

café society