Eaheart Almost Molested

John Eaheart, Montana guard, and Tom Brown (15), Bobcat guard, are not ballet dancing or saluting. Brown tried to block Eaheart's leaping push shot and failed. The 'Cats failed too as the Grizzlies waltzed to two convincing victories and one-half ownership of the mythical State Collegiate basketball title. Ray Johnson of the Bobcats and Montana's Tom Selstad (51) lurk in the background.

Lincoln Commendatory Speech Honor Goes to Gonzalez

Frank Gonzalez, Helena, will deliver the commendatory speech in honor of Lincoln's birthday before a joint meeting of the two houses in the state legislature Feb. 12, university officials announced Monday.

Andy Cogswell, director of public service, said this is the first time, to his knowledge, an MSU student has delivered the address. As a rule a department head or faculty member has given the speech.

It has been the general procedure that the addresses have been made to the legislature commemorating the birthdays of Washington and Lincoln. Music is furnished on these occasions alternatively by MSU and the state college.

Gonzalez, a senior in speech, was the first undergraduate to deliver a commencement address to a Montana high school when he spoke to the graduating class of Superior high school last spring.

On Washington's birthday, the commemorative address will be

Bank Nite Dance Date Listed for March 5

The annual Bank Nite, sponsored by the Business Administration club, Alpha Kappa Psi, and Phi Chi Theta, was discussed at a special meeting of the Bus Ad club Friday night.

The dance will be March 5, according to Clyde Duncan, Missoula, publicity chairman. The entire third floor of the Student Union has been reserved to accommodate the large attendance the club expects, and twice as many tickets as last year will be put on sale.

Grizzlies Beat Bobcats; Records Set: 83-71, 84-71

By Vin Corwin

The record for total scoring in a Grizzly-Bobcat game was broken and rebroken last week end, as Montana's Grizzlies annexed two wins from the Bobcats, 83-71, and 84-71.

The double win put Montana well on the way to winning the mythical basketball championship of the state.

The 154-point total of the first game surpassed the previous record of 140 points, set in 1946, when the Grizzlies won 80-60.

Grizzlies' Seventh Win

Saturday night the Grizzlies, winning by an almost identical score, broke the previous night's record by one point. The victories brought the Silvertip's record for the season to seven wins and eleven losses.

Bunyan Ball Chaperons Selected

Chaperons for the Foresters' ball were announced yesterday by Ed Bangle, Missoula, and Howard Wessbacher, Lic, N. Y., publicity chairmen for the ball.

Friday night chaperons will be Dean and Mrs. Kenneth P. Davis, Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Diettert, Dr. and Mrs. Ludvig G. Browman, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Kramer, Dr. and Mrs. Wayne R. Lowell, Dr. and Mrs. Phillip L. Wright, Dr. and Mrs. Leroy H. Harvey, Prof. and Mrs. Paul E. Bruns, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Walbridge, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Drummond, extension forester.

Those on the list for Saturday night include Prof. and Mrs. Tom C. Spaulding, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Patten, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Brunson, Prof. and Mrs. Fay Clark, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Waters, Prof. and Mrs. Melvin Morris, Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Castle, Dr. and Mrs. Earl Lory, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Severy, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Moore.

Bangle and Wessbacher hope that this year's costumes will be better than ever. Prizes will be given for the best male, female, and couple costume. A costume borrowed from Latin America won the couple prize last year.

To be judged for the costume prizes, costumes of any type will do and they do not have to correspond to the Paul Bunyan theme, according to the publicity chairmen.

Sullenberger Attends Chicago Conference

The Rev. Dr. Sullenberger left Saturday for Chicago to attend the conference on ministry to students at the Chicago Theological seminary.

The conference, which began yesterday and will end Feb. 4, will be a discussion of methods to achieve campus objectives in the field of religion.

'Cac' to Give Aid In Grid Choice; Forty Men Apply

The new director of athletics at MSU will be Clyde "Cac" Hubbard, former head coach and athletic director at Denver university.

Hubbard's appointment came late yesterday afternoon after the joint faculty-student athletic committee and members of the local executive board had made their recommendations to the president.

The new director will report for duty as soon as he can complete arrangements to move to Missoula, which is expected to be around March 1. In the meantime he will maintain close contact with the athletic committee in its consideration of more than 40 applications for head football coach of the Grizzlies.

"We have been greatly impressed with all of the candidates who applied for the directorship," the committee said in a statement to the president. "About a week ago, however, we were able to reduce the field to four men, three of whom visited the campus at our invitation. We feel that the University is fortunate indeed in getting a man of Hubbard's caliber to direct the athletic program."

Big Man

Hubbard, a graduate of Oregon State college, has wide acquaintanceship in the Pacific coast conference, of which Montana is a member, and the Skyline Six, with which it maintains close and important athletic relationships. He comes to Montana with impressive recommendations from athletic officials of both conferences.

The new director has had experience in both coaching and athletic administration. During World War II he served as a major in the army air corps and at the present time holds the rank of lieutenant-colonel in the air corps reserve.

Wide Experience

Before going to the University of Denver, Hubbard served as graduate manager of athletics at his alma mater, Oregon State; head coach and director of adult, juvenile physical education for the Olympic club of San Francisco; director of the physical training program for the army air forces at Lowry field, Denver, and at the (please see page two)

Water Today---Maybe; Swearingen Hopeful

Maintenance Engineer T. G. Swearingen said yesterday he hoped water would be flowing this morning in campus buildings east of the chemistry-pharmacy building.

The water was turned off yesterday afternoon when a main burst behind the prefabs and disrupted service to the chemistry-pharmacy, forestry, and journalism buildings, the men's gym, and the prefabs.

Water service was resumed to other campus buildings by 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon after being shut off earlier in the afternoon.

Maintenance crews have been working overtime the past several days repairing broken water mains and frozen pipes. Craig hall and the art building were frozen Sunday, the health service has been frozen three times, and the music practice house next to the health service has been without water for a week.

Swearingen denied rumors that the University may have to close its doors because of the water situation.

"We will be in serious condition if we get another spell of 15-below weather," he said. "It may be rugged for a while, but we are sure we can hold out."

Blue Babe Gives MSU Once-Over

Judging by the signs (tracks in the snow) it appears that Paul Bunyan and his blue ox, "Babe," made their annual tour of the campus Sunday night. The blue snow must be heavy up north, since the "Babe" left blue tracks wherever he went.

The signs indicate that they inspected every building on the campus. However, the "Babe" must have been displeased when he passed the law building. Apparently he tried to kick it down.

High Scorers
All of Montana's starters scored over 10 points, as Eaheart led all scorers with 19. Carstensen followed with 14 and Curry with 13. (please see page four)

Montana's Youth Migrating

Yes, Governor, it is a shame.

The Treasure State is losing its greatest treasure—youth.

Montana's population has fallen below the 500,000 mark. Migration to other states is responsible and Montana's youth is part of that migration. They seek the opportunities offered in other states because Montana offers them none.

There are no new lands to be homesteaded in Montana.

There are no "diggings" waiting to be found in Montana.

Montana farms have tractors and milking machines.

Power saws sing in Montana's forests.

Technological advances have displaced much of the state's manpower but Montana has not adjusted itself to this change.

"Montana doesn't need a large population," is a common rationalization made by Montanans. But in their next breath they damn high taxes.

"We need government aid," is another cry. But let the Federal government propose aid for Montana's ailing economy, and the outbreak of dormant state righteousness is a sight to behold.

"We need industry before we can support a larger population," others wail, but no shouts of protest were heard about the scrapping of the Mouat and Benbow chrome mines by the War Assets administration until it was too late.

While all this shouting is going on, what does Montana's youth say? A feeble "good-bye" perhaps, because they are leaving Montana.

If Montana is to keep its youth, it must stop shedding tears and blaming its plight on unjust freight rates, vested interests, geographic isolation, and the thousand and one other rationalizations that have been made.

If Montana is to keep its youth, it must act.

If $500,000 can be appropriated to lure tourists to our national parks and trout streams, why can't an equal amount be spent to lure new industry into Montana?

If wool processing plants are ever going to be built in Montana, it will be done with outside capital. If meat packing is ever to become a major industry in Montana, it will need outside capital. If any industry is ever to be established in Montana, it will need capital that the state doesn't have within its borders.

Unless Montana's potential is exploited in such a manner that will attract the outside capital needed to transform this great potential into reality, Montana will continue to decline.

The Treasure State will continue to lose its greatest treasure—youth.

Yes, Governor, it is a shame.—F.G.L.

Letters to the Editor . . .

FADER FAKING

Dear Editor:

If Mr. Fader is comparing his article to Betty MacDonald's "The Egg and I" why is he still using the term "pigsty" in the present tense? All I did was try to explain why he had no right to do so. My reasons are as follows: The strips are temporary while we finish school and no one asks us to stay here—the rent is low—we have no bossy landlord—we can remodel our houses as we wish—we can have all the lawn and garden we want and children are welcome—and we have an understanding director and maintenance man who are on hand at our every need.

In regards to the pioneering, the Kekichs were the eighth family in the new section. At that time the mud was so thick that the mailman and grocery trucks refused to come out, and when we went out we had to wait for the hourly run of the watchman's weapons carrier to take us. Better get facts before you write any more articles, Mr. Fader—looks like you owe us another apology.

In conclusion, I would like to tell Mr. Fader that, according to the housing office, there are approximately 300 on the waiting list. If he still thinks they are "pigsties" why doesn't he make that figure 299 and let someone who won't complain have a chance.

Thank you,
Mrs. Mike Kekich
50 Ravalli St.

Ed. Note: Speaking of getting the facts, there are only 173 on the waiting list.

Alcoholism is, but drug addiction is not, grounds for divorce in Montana.

Hubbard Named

basic training center at Kearns, Utah; and director of summer playgrounds and recreation, Tacoma, Wash.

While his acceptance of the directorship of athletics puts him in a non-coaching job, Hubbard has had wide coaching experience. He has had more than 15 years experience as a coach of football, basketball, baseball and golf, and more than six years as a coach of track, tennis, and swimming. Members of the athletic committee believe that this experience will be of great value to him in building stronger programs at the University in not only major but minor sports.

The athletic committee has concentrated on finding a highly qualified man for the directorship, feeling that, once selected, he should have a part in the selection of the football coach. In the meantime, however, more than 40 applications for football coach have been received.

Don Woodside Injures Hand On Ski Tow

Don Woodside, Butte, whose right hand was seriously injured Saturday at the Diamond mountain ski run, is still confined to St. Patrick's hospital today. The attending physician said that Woodside's hand was "badly smashed," and he would be confined for about a week. The right thumb, especially, was severely crushed, and the doctor could not say whether it will be saved.

Woodside's accident happened as he was operating the ski tow at Diamond mountain, Saturday afternoon. His hand was injured when it was caught in the ski tow chain drive as he tried to brush snow from the machinery. Woodside is a co-owner of the Diamond mountain run and an instructor for the university ski class.

Wrecked Auto Symbolizes Safety Week

The wrecked car which is on display in front of Main hall was contributed by the Bakke Motor company in conjunction with the Red Cross Accident Prevention week, according to Bob Nicholson, Hamilton, MSU chairman of the accident prevention campaign.

The car will remain on the oval

ACCIDENT PREVENTION WEEK

Missoula had three accidents yesterday.

throughout the campaign which ends Saturday. Nicholson stated that home nursing and first-aid methods will be demonstrated in the display windows of the Missoula Mercantile company today and Thursday of this week.

A daily report of accidents in Missoula and on the campus will appear in the Kaimin.

The MSU chapter of the American Red Cross sponsors accident prevention week annually. Nicholson said that the chapter at the present time has a strength of approximately 20 members.

A half-hour movie on accident prevention will be shown in the Student Union auditorium during the noon hour tomorrow.

Scout Fraternity To Have Banquet

First project undertaken by Alpha Phi Omega, scouting service fraternity, is a father and son banquet Feb. 9 at the Florence hotel. The dinner is an annual get-together for scouts from all parts of western Montana and their fathers.

Group advisers are Dean Wunderlich, Profs. B. B. Hansen, T. C. Spaulding, Assoc. Prof. Harold Tascher, and Instructor R. M. Oswald.

Faltering Polio Drive Extended One Week

The lagging March of Dimes drive got a new lease on life Friday when Ray Hildebrand, state director of the Polio drive, extended the campus effort one week. Bud Arras, Cutbank, chairman of the MSU committee, said he fears receipts to-date are not up to more than 75 per cent of the 1948 level.

"This is rather unhappy news for the committee," Arras said, "especially since our goal was 50 per cent higher this year than last. But we know that with one week to go the students won't let us down." Arras added that if the goal of last year is to be surpassed each student would have to invest at least three dimes in the drive.

Arras Urges Sacrifice

The chairman once again urged everyone to forego a soft drink, a package of cigarettes, or some other trifle that could be sacrificed for the Infantile Paralysis drive. He reminded basketball fans of the three-for-ten-special offered in the men's gym tonight. Bear Paws will collect 10 cents from fans who will see three separate intramural games, beginning at 7 o'clock.

Money continued to come in late last week, some of it from unexpected sources. Frank Bernatz, Hamilton, chose the aims of the Polio drive for his subject in speech class last week. When he finished his impassioned oration, John Sheppard, the instructor, advised him to pass the hat. He did. Result: $1.20 for the Polio drive.

Iron Lung Profitable

The M club donated $25 last week, and the committee is still counting money donated during the two days the iron lung was on display. Bill Anderson, ASMSU auditor, said he had noted a surprising number of personal checks among the dimes.

Jack Cuthbert sold more than 500 cups of coffee at 10 cents a cup during the two Polio Coffee hours last week. He presented the committee with $50.80 Wednesday.

Line To Discuss German Recovery At IRC Meeting

Professor Robert C. Line of the business administration school will speak to the International Relations club on "The Recovery Program in Germany", at 7:30 tonight in the Bitterroot room of the Student Union.

According to Bob Zibell, IRC president, all members and interested students are cordially invited.

Line will examine German recovery from three viewpoints: "The extent of recovery; controls placed on recovery by the military government; and the importance of Germany in the recovery program and the Marshall plan."

During 1946 Line was employed by the information and education department of the United States army in Germany. In this capacity he lectured with other college professors to army troops on how Germany should be controlled.

Board Selects Top Twenty

Twenty contestants have been chosen for the Miss Montana pageant on April 1. The Miss Montana Selection board interviewed the women nominated and checked their qualifications as to grades and legal residence.

The qualifications were set up by the Miss Montana committee, and the selection board checked only qualifications but did not choose the contestants.

The dates April 1 and 2 for the pageant and Coronation ball have been approved by the social calendar committee.

The names of the contestants will be released next week with their pictures.

Independents, Sigma Nu, Phi Sigs, Victors

Intramural basketball moves well into round four tonight when the Foresters meet the Phi Sigs at 7. At 8:15 Theta Chi is matched against Sigma Chi, while at 9:15 the Sig Eps will play Wesley Foundation. There are no more games this week.

Sigma Nu remained in the undefeated class Thursday night as it had no trouble over Kappa Psi 51-28. The Sigma Nu quint grabbed an early lead and never had its lead questioned. O'Loughlin again paced the Sigma Nus with 12 points, while teammate Walterskirchen bucketed 10. Naglich and Petlin each counted 4 for the losers.

The Row Houses dropped out of the unbeaten class, losing to the Phi Sigs, 40-43. At half time the game was in a deadlock, 20-20, but the Phi Sigs won the edge to keep their perfect no-loss record. White and Koon led the victors with 13 and 12 respectively, and Berger poured 15 through for the Row Houses.

The Independents had their first taste of victory to break a 3-game losing streak when they dumped Wesley Foundation 51-40. An early lead and Peffer setting a new record for points in one game, told the story. Peffer accounted for 19 points. Robbins made 10 and Stellmon accounted for 9 for Wesley.

Tie for Third In Pin League

Third place in the intramural bowling league came into a three-way tie Saturday when Sigma Chi took two games from the Sigma Nu team, and the Independents captured two from Phi Sigma Kappa.

At the 30-game mark the Phi Dels are still out in front with a count of 24 wins to six losses, which puts them four games in front of second-place SPE, who have a record of 20 and 10.

Jim Edwards, Sigma Chi, rolled a hot line of 233 to take the honors for high game. Carl Hendrickson, SPE, captured the high series for the day with a total of 549. Dick Stegner, PDT, was second with a total of 542.

Swimmer Beats Record; Team Looks Good

Unofficially, a new record was broken at the University swimming pool last week. Bruce Ingersoll, Miles City, swimming the 150-yard backstroke event, was timed at 1:54.7, which bettered Dale Gillespie's previous record by four and a half seconds. Gillespie captained the '47 team. Since the former event was not swum during competition, it does not stand as a pool record.

Bob Oswald, MSU swimming coach, said that standing times were threatened by several members of the swimming team. John Harasymczuk, Charles Simpson, Norm Warsinske and Denzil Young are all bettering their previous times by margins wide enough to indicate new records this season.

The first swimming meet of this year is scheduled with Montana State college, to be held at the Bozeman tank, Saturday, Feb. 12.

Only six states had higher per capita incomes than Montana in 1946.

ATO Bowlers Tie Phi Dels

By a smashing three game win over the SPEs the ATO pledges brought the league into a two-way tie with the Phi Dels, who won two games from the SAEs.

Last week the league's second and third places were tied up with six of the eight teams in the league claiming the honor of being in those seats. Sigma Chi took two games from Sigma Nu to assume undisputed second place.

Folle Nelson, ATO, took home the two blue ribbons for the day with high game of 214 and a series total of 529.

Curry led MSC scoring with 18, while Johnson garnered 16, and Kelly, 10.

Both games featured fire-truck style basketball. The shooting of both sides was particularly good. The Grizzlies better floor and backboard play, coupled with their shooting, was the deciding factor.

Grizzly Cubs Drop Games To Kittens

The Grizzly Cubs will be after their first Western Montana league win tonight when they tangle with Yandt's men's store at 7:30 in the Fort Missoula gym. In their first league tilt, the Cubs were washed out, 39 to 45, by the City Cleaners.

Over the week end in Bozeman, the Cubs dropped a two-game series to the MSC Kittens while their varsity elders were sweeping two games from the 'Cat varsity here. With a comfortable 31-22 halftime lead, the Kittens sailed into a 69-53 victory in the first game of the series Friday night.

In Saturday night's March of Dimes benefit game, the Kittens made a clean sweep of the series by edging out the Cubs, 72 to 68, in a close battle. Neither team was able to hold a substantial margin at any time during the game. At the half the MSC frosh led, 39 to 37. With less than two minutes to go, the Kittens came from behind and whipped in two fast buckets to clinch the lead and hold it.

Red-headed Joe McKethen paced the Kittens Friday night by hitting 24 points. Bob Hasquet led the Cubs with 23 points. Perry McCahill, Kitten forward, was high point man Saturday night with 22 markers. Walter Stockoff and Joe Luckman shared Cub point honors with 17 each.
