ART EDUCATORS WILL MEET IN GREAT FALLS

The Montana Art Education Association will sponsor an education leadership conference in Great Falls Saturday (April 15) according to Richard B. Reinholtz, chairman of the University of Montana Art Department and president of the association.

The meeting will bring together Montana art educators from all school levels to discuss and plan directions for art education in the state, Prof. Reinholtz said.

The program includes an address by Harriet E. Miller, state superintendent of public instruction, who will speak on curriculum content and teacher preparation.
