Country Surveys New Hydrogen Bomb

BY UNITED PRESS

The nation took a measured and careful look Wednesday at the hydrogen bomb we will build—at what the bomb will do, what it will cost, and what new responsibilities it will give us.

Low Cost

American officials believed the first super-bomb can be made at relatively low cost, in atomic plants we already have. They felt initial expenses can be absorbed out of the present $900,000,000 dollars allotted for atomic energy needs this year.

The first model will be just a pilot bomb, with nowhere near the total destructive power the fully developed hydrogen bomb will have. The initial bomb probably will be only twice to ten times as powerful as the atomic bomb.

Most of the paper work on the hydrogen bomb apparently has been done, and there were indications the Atomic Energy commission is ready to begin the actual engineering work.

American officials seemed confident we are still ahead of Russia in development of the hydrogen weapon. The bomb is a secret in the Iron Curtain countries—none of the newspapers there have even mentioned President Truman's decision to build it.

America's military men already looked forward to how the bomb best fits into our defense plans. The joint chiefs of staff talked over strategy involving the bomb with Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Tokyo today.

Some Americans have doubts about the bomb and whether we have the right to unleash the horrible weapon on the world. Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, Republican foreign policy leader, said the government should declare it is ready to halt work on the superbomb if Russia and other nations will agree to a plan to outlaw such weapons.

Protestant leader Reinhold Niebuhr said the president's decision is filled with "moral complexities." Rabbi Silver of Cleveland said he can't understand "the moral justification" for the bomb. And Father Francis O'Connell of Catholic university said even "a terrible weapon can be used lawfully in a just war."

Irish Humor

But in Ireland, the humor magazine "Dublin Opinion" had some fun with the idea of super-weapons. A cartoon showed two cavemen discussing a crude bow and arrow. Said one, "Of course, the fearful potentialities of this new weapon make war impossible."

Pill Pushers Prepare For Journey

Three nationally known pharmaceutical houses will be hosts to a group of MSU pharmacy students who will make an annual trip east to visit the houses, Feb. 21 through March 5, Dr. Curtis H. Waldon, dean of the pharmacy school, said yesterday.

Students to Travel

Charles Cole, Great Falls; Tony Francisco, Harlowton; Benedict Vicars, Roundup; Robert Fuller, Winifred; Elmer Hotvedt, Fort Benton; Palmer Kronen, Plentywood; William Sullivan, Anaconda; William Gould, Helena; William Fitzgerald, Havre; Michael Naglich, Bearcreek; George Jurovich, Bridger; and Ramanbhai Patel, Bombay, India.

Gordon H. Bryan, assistant professor of pharmacy, will act as adviser and accompany the group on the trip.

To Chicago, Detroit

The students will leave Missoula via the Northern Pacific Feb. 21 and will arrive in Chicago two days later to visit the Abbot Laboratories. From there they will journey to Detroit and will be shown through the Parke-Davis company on Feb. 25. The Eli Lilly company will be their hosts in Indianapolis on Feb. 28. The group will return to Missoula March 5.

The pharmaceutical houses pay the students' lodging, board, and some entertainment expenses while there. The students are subject to train fare and the meals enroute.

The plan to visit these eastern manufacturing plants was started in 1946 and this will be the third trip. In the future, trips will be made every other year. Dean Waldon said.

Guild to Cast Funny Whodunnit

Radio guild members will cast parts for "The Mystery of Mouldy Manor," a burlesque mystery show at 7:30 tonight in Main hall auditorium. The show will be recorded at next week's guild meeting, Ansel Resler, adviser to the organization, said yesterday.

"Studio Spotlight," the new guild series of campus-wide variety broadcasts will be planned tonight, Resler said. Tentative plans for the variety series call for campus groups to present all or part of a half-hour radio program. Representatives of living groups met yesterday afternoon to plan the series.

Sample scripts to be used in a projected radio series by the Jubileers, university vocal group, will be solicited at tonight's guild meeting, Resler said.

Convo Speaker Will Relate Nazi Treatment of Jews

Robert Bradford, a man who lived and was treated as a Jew in pre-war and wartime Europe, will relate his experiences in convocation Friday morning.

Bradford was born of Christian parents but was adopted by a Jewish family at the age of three. This family gave him their faith and traditions as well as family love. He was 20 before he learned he was not a Jew by birth.

The lecture by Bradford tomorrow morning in the Student Union auditorium will be on the subject of "Tolerance and Freedom."

Bradford observed the rise of Hitler during his youth and in 1936 saw his adopted father die as the result of Nazi beatings. As a result of this, his adopted mother made immediate arrangements to leave Germany. Bradford stayed in Paris during the war and his mother went on to Lisbon.

While working with the underground during the war, Bradford was summoned to the headquarters of a Jewish agency and informed that he was not of Jewish birth. His adopted mother had sent information to the agency in order that he might be spared further persecution because of his brand as a Jew.

Bradford decided to remain a Jew because he felt he could not wholeheartedly pass into the Gentile world.

The lecture tour Bradford is making is sponsored by the University of Minnesota.

COLE PUBLISHES ARTICLE IN "PHYSICAL EDUCATOR"

Dave Cole, director of intramural athletics, has an article entitled "The Intramural Manager" in the latest issue of the "Physical Educator," a national physical education fraternity publication.

In the article Cole outlines the duties, qualifications, and importance of the intramural manager's job.

March of Dimes Drive Bogs Down

Montana State University's polo campaign is laying an egg.

That's the gist of the story, Drive Chairman Jim Lucas, Miles City, said yesterday. He said the campus push, which ends Tuesday, Feb. 8, had so far collected about $225 toward a goal of $1,500.

Lucas asked students to return their "banks," paper envelopes with space for five dimes, to designated points in their living groups as soon as possible.

He pointed out the 1950 drive is behind the pace set by the 1949 campaign. The quota this year of $1,500 is based on 50 cents per student, Lucas said.

Kappa Psi Elects McDermed Prexy

Donald McDermed, Pacific Grove, Calif., was elected Thursday night to replace Mike Naglich, Bearcreek, as president of Kappa Psi, campus chapter of the national pharmacy fraternity.

Other new officers are Duane Erickson, Billings, vice-president; Kenneth Bergum, Winifred, secretary; Ted Walter, Billings, treasurer; Elmer Hotvedt, Fort Benton, historian; and Emil Petersen, Cut Bank, chaplain.

J. F. Suchy, professor of pharmaceutical chemistry, will remain as grand council deputy.

Foul Weather Complexes Heating and Maintenance

Return of cold weather to Missoula has brought a marked rise in coal consumption as well as other difficulties to the University maintenance department, T. G. Swearingen, maintenance engineer, said yesterday.

About 30 to 35 tons of coal are being burned every day of the cold wave. An average fall or spring day consumes 8 to 10 tons. But even this summer, when the buildings do not require heating, almost five tons a day are burned for cooking and water heating, Mr. Swearingen said.

Jumbo on Its Own

During the winter all buildings except Jumbo hall, which has its own heating plant, have heat piped in from the central plant.

Coal shovellers aren't the only workers who are working up a sweat during the cold wave, however, Mr. Swearingen said. Men are busy all day trying to keep the walks and streets clear of snow.

Ice

The recent thaw, with the rapid drop in temperature that followed, caused great sheets, and in some spots, large mounds of ice which cannot be moved with the equipment the University has. In other

Mighty Mo No Mo' On Bay Sandbar

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 1.—(UP)—The captain goes down with his ship; he stays with it when it runs aground. In either case, he faces the music, alone.

Flood-tide and 14 tugs have hauled the battleship Missouri from a mudbank off Norfolk, Va. After 15 days the "Mighty Mo" flashed to the Navy and to the world—"The Missouri reports for duty."

But the Navy lives by the book, and the book goes hard with the captain who runs his ship aground. Brown didn't offer any alibis. He isn't passing the buck. He'll tell his story Saturday to a Naval board of inquiry.

Wood Relates Tale of Polish War Ravages

A tale of human suffering, unexplained arrests, and constant suspicion was told by the Rev. Bruce K. Wood Thursday night when he related his three-years experiences in Russian-occupied Poland before a meeting of the International Relations club.

Rev. Wood was one of a party of 14 missionaries recently sent to Poland. He is now director of the Affiliated School of Religion.

Literally reduced to rubble after its Ghetto section was destroyed by the Germans in 1943 Warsaw is even now torn in a conflict between Communist and non-Communist officials, Rev. Wood said. The election of January, 1947, was highly unsettled and dominated by Communist troops, machine guns, and hand grenades, he said.

Foreigners were looked upon as undercover agents, and interpreters were warned not to tell them of pre-election arrests, he said.

Butte 'American' Theater Gutted by Fire

Butte, Feb. 1.—(UP)—The cause of what is believed to be Butte's most costly theater fire in history was still undetermined Wednesday, as investigators continued their probe.

The blaze, which gutted the American theater, and two other establishments in the heart of downtown Butte, has caused an estimated $400,000 damage. Also destroyed in the blaze were Jimmy's Doughnut shop, located just west of the theater, and Golubin's Flower shop on the movie house's east flank.

Several other business establishments were damaged by smoke and water. The blaze, which broke out early yesterday morning, is the third major fire and second movie house conflagration in the mining city in less than a year. A September fire destroyed Butte's Park theater, and the Holbrook building, which housed a $74,000 bowling setup, was gutted last month.

EMCE RUNS ROTO EDITION

Billings, Feb. 1.—(UP)—A special anniversary edition of the Eastern Montana College of Education student newspaper will roll off the presses this week.

Editor Dorothy Dusapin said Wednesday that the special edition, celebrating the paper's first birthday, will come complete with its regularly run four pages, plus a rotogravure section. The rotogravure section will feature pictures printed in the school paper during the past year.

MERCHANT SHIP TIRED OF TRYING BLOCKADE RUN

San Francisco, Feb. 1.—(UP)—The Isbrandtsen Steamship line is abandoning further attempts to run the Nationalist blockade into Communist-occupied Shanghai. Agents for the New York line made the announcement at Hong Kong after examining the steamship Flying Independent.

The ship is damaged by a fire that raged below decks for 20 hours before it was brought under control.

Another Isbrandtsen ship, The Flying Arrow, was shelled by Nationalist warships several weeks ago when it tried to run the Nationalist blockade. It finally put into Communist-occupied Tsingtao.

MAYBE HE'S JUST THIRSTY

Baltimore, Feb. 1.—(UP)—A watermelon was today en route by air express from Peru to an American who needs the fruit for medical reasons. Panagra Airlines is flying the watermelon to John Gressit, Baltimore, Md., in response to an urgent cabled request. The message read: "One large, fresh watermelon required for urgent medical case."

WHAT A CROC THIS IS!

Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 1.—(UP)—Cleopatra the crocodile was up and around Wednesday for the first time since her appetite for pop bottles, stones, and sundry indigestible objects landed her on the operating table.

Her keepers at the Cincinnati zoo removed the iron grating that kept her restrained while the incision in her stomach healed, and she flopped contentedly into her swimming pool.

A veterinarian operated on Cleo Jan. 12 and removed six pop bottles, 39 stones and some toys from her stomach.

Ruthless Russian Ruins Reaction

Moscow—Ivan I. Ivanovitch, wartime KP at Stalingrad, was announced the winner of the 1949 Stalin Peace Prize in a front-page story carried on Page 5 of Pravda today.

Ivanovitch suddenly dropped from the lime-light after the Potsdam conference in 1945 and rumors had it at the time that he was in exile in Siberia for being entranced with a capitalistic automatic dishwasher. However, the Pravda story seems to indicate that he was really detailed to head the ATSANAC project.

While this project was known to exist by the rest of the world, exact details were not known until yesterday's story.

The ATSANAC project earned Ivanovitch the top award of the Soviet Union when it was announced that it would, in a matter of weeks, create utter chaos and confusion in the United States—"ring-leader of the imperialistic warmonger nations which seek to overthrow the people's democracy."

Early in 1946, Ivanovitch journeyed to Argentina under the name of Senor C. Anasta. While there, he, with the aid of local communist cells, introduced the game of Canasta—which was picked up by a Pfc. attached to a U. S. Consulate and brought to this country where it is sweeping the nation like Mah Jong did two decades ago.

Quoting Ivanovitch's citation, Pravda said: "The success of the ATSANAC project (Agency of Tactics for Subverting American Nationalistic Aims with Canasta) is revealed in the increasing number of divorces, cases of neglect of children, increased sale of sleeping tablets, and in some cases violence resulting from Canasta.

"Ivanovitch is to be especially commended for his cleverness in drawing up several conflicting sets of rules for the project, which has produced the following results to date:

"1. Further dissension in the Democratic party over the point weighting of natural and mixed canastas.

"2. John L. Lewis has not been able to get the coal miners to work a three-day week, let alone a five-day week.

3. Texas has already laid claim to a better and bigger game by using four decks and jokers.

"4. Bipartisan foreign policy is in danger of being destroyed because of Vandenberg's adherence to "conservative" rules and Senator Connally's preference for a "new deal."

The citation went on to say:

"Ivanovitch is deserving of this honor because he has succeeded in destroying the unity of the American people, without which they cannot continue their reactionary opposition to the true people's peace under the great Generalissimo Stalin."

Ivanovitch was not available for comment. It seems that he has succumbed to a capitalistic ailment and wanted a visa to visit America to collect his royalties. According to last reports, he was a sack counter in Siberia.—Floyd (Monopoly Anyone) Larson.

Saturday night. Dr. and Mrs. John A. Chapman chaperoned.

A chili supper was served to South hall residents Sunday evening. Jack Bennett, Deer Lodge, poured.

Residents of the hall have been informed of the engagement of Edward Rogan '49, Oak Park, Ill., and Isabelle Goldthorpe, Sheboygan, Wis.

Herb Peterson, San Diego, has been appointed athletic director.

MSU Holds Franchise

(A short while ago in our anemic sister at the state agricultural school, the Montana Exponent, a column appeared which asked why MSU should have an exclusive franchise on Missoula. The weekly opinion sheet wants to know why it is not a state-wide contest. We feel sure that the following story by Marge Hunter will explain the reason why MSU has the franchise and why the state college might just as well stick to stock shows and forget about beauty and talent shows.—Ed.)

The question of MSU's "Miss Montana" franchise arose again this week—asked this time by a staff member of the state college's Montana Exponent.

Associate Dean of Students Maurine Clow, who has chaperoned Montana's candidates to Atlantic City for three years and is adviser to AWS, sponsor of the campus selection program, answers:

"Each year Atlantic City pageant officials issue franchise contracts to organizations throughout the country. These contracts stipulate the selection of candidates for specific areas.

"Pageant officials contacted the University this fall, and a contract was signed in December. The contract provides that MSU is the official franchise holder for the selection of a candidate to represent the area of Montana at Atlantic City.

"Thus acting as a private organization, the pageant officials arrange for the delegates to their national contest and acting under their own authority select specific organizations to represent designated territories."

HIGH SERIES BOWLER TO GET FREE FAGS

Bill Walterskirchen and Chuck Yates, campus Chesterfield representatives, announced yesterday they will give a carton of cigarettes to the student who bowls the high series each week in the intramural bowling league. The winner will be announced Tuesday or Wednesday of each week and may pick up his smokes at the Kaimin office.

Richard Leicht was last week's winner with a high series of 555.

Letters to the Editor . . .

THANKS, PAL

Dear Editor:

I'd like to thank the guy who swiped my shoes in the gym Tuesday for leaving my trousers, shirt, and sweater.

I'd have felt silly and even a little cool running home in a pair of gym trunks.

In view of the above consideration he gave me, I feel it is only fair to inform him that I have had athletes' foot recurrently for the past 15 years and would advise a little caution.

Ben Vicars.

Radio Guild Lists Contest

To promote interest in radio writing among students at MSU, the Radio Guild is sponsoring a script-writing contest, Pat McDonald, Missoula, contest committee chairman, announced yesterday.

Prizes of $5 and $2.50 each will be awarded to first and second place winners, she said. The Guild will air the winning script over a local radio station and will award its writer a recording of the broadcast.

The contest opens immediately and will extend until 4 p.m., Feb. 28; winners will be announced in the Kaimin March 14. Contest rules are as follows:

1. Any student enrolled in MSU is eligible to participate.
2. Any subject used must lend itself to effective dramatic production.
3. Cast may run between 3 and 12 characters; a large number should be avoided. Bit parts can be doubled.
4. A short description of each character should be included.
5. Scripts must be submitted to Ansel Resler, Guild adviser, in Room TO-108 before 4 p.m., Feb. 28.
6. Authors' names should not appear on their scripts. Each author will be assigned a number upon receipt of his script.
7. Scripts will be judged by an impartial committee of three.

The group will make final plans for the district conference in Seattle Feb. 17 and 18. Prospective pledges are asked to attend tonight's meeting.

NIGHT TICKETS STILL AVAILABLE

About 80 tickets remained unsold at the Simpkins hall box office yesterday afternoon for "There Shall Be No Night," winter quarter Masquer production, Bob Moran, Red Lodge, ticket manager, said.

The show runs nightly through Saturday in the Simpkins Little theater at 8:15. Tickets are nearly sold out for tomorrow night's performance, Moran said.

STAMP CLUB TO MEET

The Stamp club will meet tonight at 7:30 in Room 309 of the journalism building. Non-students and student stamp collectors may attend the meeting, V. C. Anderson, Billings, club president, said yesterday.

Campus Librarian Attends Meeting

Miss Kathleen Campbell, university librarian, is now in Chicago attending the annual midwinter meeting of the Council of the American Library association, of which she is a member. Meetings are being held at the Edgewater Beach hotel.

While in Chicago, Miss Campbell will also attend meetings pertaining to the work of the Montana State Library Extension commission. Miss Campbell is chairman of this organization.
