Central Board To Discuss Athletic Financing Means

Three proposals to brace MSU's sagging athletic fund will be aired before Central board today when it meets at 5 p.m. in the Copper room.

ASMSU Business Manager Jim Murphy, Missoula, said the budget and finance committee yesterday recommended these proposals:

1. That store board transfer $5,000 from its profits to the athletic fund.
2. That the athletic fund receive $5,000 from the general reserve fund.
3. That the University provide $5,000 worth of jobs to MSU athletes.

Murphy explained that the measures comprise "a sort of deficit spending plan." If the plan is approved by Central board, the athletic fund will be bolstered by $15,000. This would enable the athletic department to meet a current threat of rising costs and present fund shortages, he said.

The committee also favored a $1 raise of the $7.50 activity fee now charged students. This will receive Central board's consideration some time in the near future, Murphy said.

Three-Year Plan

This plan, the business manager explained, would operate for three years, giving the athletic fund $15,000 each year. The actual funds from store board are not scheduled to be delivered to the fund until the student store tabulates its profits at the school year's end.

"That's where the deficit financing comes in," Murphy said.

He added that the three measures were suggested to underwrite $10,750 worth of gifts promised MSU's athletic coffers from booster clubs and similar organizations outside the campus.

"The students promised to underwrite these gifts if they did not materialize but the committee felt that this would be asking too much," he said.

Post-game Mixer Planned at Butte

A post-game mixer will highlight activities after the Bobcat-Grizzly contest in Butte Oct. 21. W. S. Thompson, manager of the Butte chamber of commerce, announced.

Immediately following the game, the University and state college, in co-operation with the Butte chamber of commerce Athletic committee, will play host to both student bodies in the Masonic Temple ballroom. Students may gain admission simply by the presentation of activity cards at the door.

"These dances have proven very successful in the past," Thompson stated. "It has been a very good place for members of the two student bodies to meet in a friendly atmosphere."

Central Board Gives Okay To Committees

A new list of appointments to ASMSU committees has detailed more students to the varied tasks of campus government.

These appointments, made by Bob Anderson, Missoula, ASMSU president, stand approved by Central board:

Athletic board—John Johnson, Butte.

Student health—Patsy Walker, Scobey.

Library—Bill Donally, Logan; and Marie Krebsbach, Missoula.

Commencement—Boyd Swingle, Heath; and Pat Hennessy, Conrad.

Campus planning and development—Bill Parker, Helena; and Annemarie Beatty, Helena.

Public exercises—Don Lichtwardt, Helena; Bryce Breitenstein, Plains; Glen Patton, Victor; Jack Thomas, Missoula; and Shirley Cunningham, Butte.

Schedule and student employees—Frank Lundberg, Seeley Lake; and Betty Ann Delaney, Missoula.

International education—John Fields, Missoula; and Edna Geary, Missoula.

Student Union Executive committee—Bob Holding, Missoula; George Fox, Laurel; Roscoe Harrington, Missoula; Dick Wohlgenant, Miles City; Jack Thomas, Missoula; and Marilyn Prideaux, Carter.

The students will assist faculty members on these committees, Anderson said.

MSU Staff Members Contest House Seat

McGinnis Sees Past Errors In Far East

"I'm not a politician," Ralph Y. McGinnis, Republican candidate for the house of representatives, said in discussing his candidacy for the Washington seat.

He based his decision to run for the house of representatives on continued study of and growing concern over the policies of the government.

McGinnis favors the pursuit of the Korean Communists right up to the Manchurian border. He expressed strong disapproval of American foreign policy, particularly in the Far East.

"We appeased Russia for five years. Since 1945 we have given Russia everything she has wanted. We turned over 12 countries in eastern Europe to her and now we have turned over the Far East," he said.

McGinnis charged that the 1945 Mansfield report on the Far East

No matter who is the ultimate victor in the race for the house of representative seat from the Western Montana district, a member of the Montana State University faculty will be on hand in Washington following the November 7 election.

The Democratic incumbent, Mike Mansfield, is an assistant professor of history and political science on leave of absence from the University. Mansfield's first term began in 1942 and he has served continuously since that date.

Ralph Y. McGinnis, the challenger on the Republican ticket, is an associate professor of English and coach of the university debate team. His political career began in 1948 when he was a primary election candidate for the Republican nomination for the western district seat in Washington.

The Kaimin was fortunate in contacting both candidates over the week end. Interviews with the two candidates appear in this issue.

Korean Moves Termed Right By Mansfield

"I think that our actions in Korea have been right," Congressman Mike Mansfield, campaigning for his fifth term in the house of representatives, said when questioned on recent American moves in the Far East. "It must be remembered that our actions in Korea have been under the auspices of the United Nations. What we have done and are doing in Indo-China and Formosa is on our own. But this should be kept in mind, that it has been in our interests and for our own preservation."

Mansfield still sees some possibility of intervention in Korea by Russia or Communist China although he does not believe that Russia will actually take this step.

"I believe that Russia still desires to provoke Red China and the United States into a full-scale war," he said. "I still think that Russia's primary interest is in Western Europe. If Russia can involve us in a war with Red China, she foresees less danger in moving farther into Europe, Western Germany first, because of the industry, raw materials, and skilled workers that is in such abundance, then the rest of Europe."

Mansfield expressed the opinion that what has happened in Korea may be the greatest move

Candidates Must Submit Petitions Saturday Noon

Student politicians who hope to bask in the spotlight of a campus office must file their nominating petitions by noon Saturday.

Primary balloting for one senior delegate to Central board and an entire slate of freshman officers is set for Oct. 19. The run-off election will follow in one week.

Aspirants may get their petitions at the Student Union business office.

Candidates for the senior delegate post must obtain the signatures of 10 other seniors on their petitions. Freshmen seeking nomination as Central board representative must have their petitions signed by 20 classmates. Ten freshmen signatures are required on petitions for frosh offices—president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer.

All candidates must sign their own petitions before submitting them at the business office.

Bill McMaster, Butte, sophomore delegate to Central board, is in charge of the elections. Voting will be supervised by Bear Paw members.

RALPH Y. MCGINNIS

was largely responsible for the course of the United States Far Eastern policy. He favors the continued defense of Formosa and believes that some type of Marshall plan for the Far East, administered by the Red Cross, should have been established.

"It is no use deserting Chiang for something a hundred times worse," he said.

As for Russia's primary interest, McGinnis said that in his opinion it is the domination of the entire

Fiedler Titled Conferee Rep.

MSU will be represented by Dr. Leslie A. Fiedler at the second fall conference for college teachers of languages and literature in the northwest at the University of Minnesota on Friday and Saturday, according to Edmund L. Freeman, chairman of the English department.

Dr. Fiedler will be on a panel which will discuss the organization of survey courses in American literature.

The conference, sponsored by the language department of the University of Minnesota, will be attended by teachers from six states and one Canadian province: Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa, Wisconsin, Montana, and Manitoba.

Fifty-five speakers will lead conference delegates in the discussion of teaching techniques and the place of language and literature studies in the college program. Trends in general education and post-war educational developments in Europe also will be discussed.

South Koreans Hit Wonsan As Yanks Drive North

Tokyo, Oct. 9.—(U)—The South Korean Third division has stormed into Wonsan, big east coast port 108 miles north of the 38th parallel. Front line reported said at least two companies have driven into the city, despite heavy Communist artillery fire. They also said the airfield just outside the city "possibly" had been taken. It is the largest pre-war airfield in Korea.

At the southern end of the curved battle-line, tank-led American infantrymen of the First Cavalry division have rammed nearly two and one-half miles into North Korea. The GI's are reported meeting heavy mortar and machine gun fire from do-or-die Communists who have ignored the second surrender ultimatum of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

U.S. BACKS PEACE FORCE

Lake Success, Oct. 9.—(U)—America has appealed to the U.N. to give the general assembly power to oppose aggression promptly with an international armed force.

Russia surprised Western delegates temporarily by saying it sees some good points in the measure.

But Andrei Vishinsky said he cannot accept the "general tendency" of the resolution. He suggested that the political committee debate the idea, section by section.

However, the group voted, 48 to 5, to have one over-all general debate on the plan.

Touring Company To Present Play

Tickets for the coming theater production, "She Stoops to Conquer," to be presented in the Student Union auditorium on Oct. 20, may be secured at the Simpkins hall box office any afternoon between 2 and 4 o'clock. Student admission price is 75 cents.

The play is being presented to midwestern audiences by the University of Minnesota Touring company. It is sponsored in Missoula by the Montana State University Theater and Montana Masquers.

A Bit Too Late Could Be Fatal

Last spring, just before the 1949-50 academic year curled up its toes and dragged its battered body into oblivion, Central board set a tentative seal of approval on a program for the control of campus traffic. Following the Central board nod, the plan was forwarded to the faculty. As far as we can discover, that is where it rests at the present time.

A good deal of time and thought went into the preparation of that plan and a good deal of discussion took place in Central board before the proposals were finally sent to the faculty committee. It will be a sad, sad fate if a pocket veto kills the traffic plan at this stage of development.

The proposals drawn up last spring included speed control, designated parking areas, patrols to enforce the regulations, and a schedule of fines to take care of violators.

We are not arguing for this plan or any particular plan. Our concern is merely that the campus obviously needs some type of traffic-control plan. Anyone who has witnessed the rush hour jam at the entrance to the oval, the indiscriminate parking, and cavalier disregard for present traffic and parking regulations can see the need for a system that can be enforced.

It is to be hoped that a definite, sensible step will be taken on this matter before too long. It should not be necessary to wait for a serious accident before adopting preventive measures. If the situation dallies along at its present rate, that could easily be the case.—D.G.

Military Club Makes Plans

"Grades up?" and "Are you worth choosin'?" banners posted at the military science building opened the fall orientation program of Co. A, 6th Regiment, of the local Pershing Rifles, military honorary, according to Capt. John Mitchell, Laurel.

Pershing Rifles is a national honorary military society organized to develop the ideals of the military profession and create a closer relation between military men, he said.

Wednesday night there will be an informal meeting for first and second year basic cadets at the military science building. At that time Pershing Riflemen will be on hand to present a program.

Members of Pershing Rifles are selected from the cadets enrolled in their first and second year ROTC and are presented the Rifle's blue and white cord upon the basis of potential military leadership.

Last year, the local Pershing Riflemen were engaged in drill performances here on the campus and for organizations in the Missoula area.

Beside drill performances the riflemen presented a mixer with the sponsors corps, were co-sponsors of the military ball, and went on a conducted tour of the Bong air base at Spokane.

toward a secure peace "yet seen in our time" if Chinese or Russian intervention can be avoided and elections under UN supervision conducted throughout Korea.

"Korea serves notice on Russia that any further aggression will be met by the combined forces of the United Nations," he said.

"Korea is not the first time that we have stood our ground," Mansfield emphasized. "We stood our ground in Berlin when every access but the air was closed and again during the threatened demonstration in the Western sectors of half a million Communist Youth members. Before that we stood firm in Turkey, Greece, and Iran."

On domestic issues, the Democratic representative voiced his support of the McCarran-Kilgore Communist control bill.

"I voted for the so-called McCarran bill and then voted to override the President's veto," he said. "Although I think that the McCarran bill could be better, I believe that any unconstitutional parts of it will soon be brought to the attention of the courts. I would prefer a bill outlawing the Communist party, then what we intended would be quite obvious."

Mansfield said that he will remain in Montana up to and after the election. When questioned about his opponent's campaign, Mansfield said that at present, his plans do not include a meeting between them.

"He can conduct his kind of campaign and I shall campaign as I always have," Mansfield said.

world, not just one locality.

"In the Communist Manifesto of 1848 and in the speeches and writings of Lenin and Stalin, the aim of Communism is evident—world revolution," he said.

McGinnis views possible intervention in Korea by Communist China as the signal to get at the heart of the matter.

"I'm no warmonger; I don't want to see war," he said, "but if war breaks out between us and Red China, we should get at the bear instead of the bear's paw. Why should this country wear itself down by fighting Koreans, Chinese, and others when we have no quarrel with them?"

McGinnis, too, sees a possible stepping stone to peace in Korea. However, in his opinion a line must be drawn at some point, and Communism prevented from advancing "one inch farther."

Advocates Co-operation

"If we want to establish a status quo and let what is Communist remain Communist and what is free remain free, then an uneasy peace might be established that could continue for some time," he said. "However, I don't think this will happen."

Continued co-operation with the United Nations is advocated by McGinnis although he believes that the vitality of that body has been lessened by past mistakes.

"The United Nations is actually getting weaker every day because we have unilateral action and Russia has unilateral action," he stated. "In the end it will die like the old League of Nations died."

Communism Outlawed

Continued investigations by the Un-American Activities committee are favored by McGinnis. But as for outlawing the Communist party, it is a matter for experts to determine what the party stands for, he said.

"It might or might not advocate overthrow of the government by force. If the party is a group of intellectuals believing in philosophical Communism and seeking to attain its goals through the legitimate machinery of our government, it should not be outlawed," McGinnis said. "But if the party consists of proven agents of international Communism, it should be outlawed. There is the line of demarcation as far as I am concerned."

McGinnis expressed himself as basically in favor of the McCarran bill. However, he pointed out that he does not approve that provision of the law that permits anyone to be jailed merely on suspicion of subversion.

UNITY PARTY TO MEET

Plans for the coming student elections will be discussed when the Unity party meets today at 4 p.m. in the Bitterroot room of the Student Union, Jim Wylder, Havre, party chairman, said yesterday.

Applications for Rhodes Scholarships Due Oct. 28

Students at Montana State University once again have the opportunity to compete for a possible 3 years of financed education at Oxford university. This has been made possible by a unique scholarship program contained in the will of John Cecil Rhodes, British administrator and financier who died in 1902.

The qualities which Rhodes specified in his will as forming the basis of selection are: (1) literary and scholastic ability and attainments; (2) qualities of manhood, truth, courage, devotion to duty, sympathy, kindness, unselfishness, and fellowship; (3) exhibition of moral force of character and of instincts to lead and to take an interest in his schoolmates; (4) physical vigor as shown by interest in outdoor sports or in other ways.

Qualifications

A candidate to be eligible for scholarship must (1) be a male citizen of the United States and unmarried. (2) Be between the ages of 19 and 25 on Oct. 1, 1951. (3) Have completed at least his sophomore year by the time of application.

The competition for Rhodes scholarships is organized by states and districts. There are eight districts of six states each. Upon recommendation by his college or university, a prospective candidate may apply either in the state in which he resides or in the state in which he has received at least two years of his college education by the time of application.

Montana May Elect Two

Each state committee may nominate two candidates to appear before the district committee, and from the 12 men appearing before it, the district committee will select four scholars to represent their states at Oxford.

The committee representative at MSU is "Burly" Miller, chairman of the history and political science department.

Applications must be in the hands of the secretary of the state committee not later than Oct. 28, 1950. Selections will be made by state committees on Dec. 6 and by district committees on Dec. 9, 1950. Scholars selected in this competition will enter Oxford in October, 1951.

Worth $1,120 Per Year

The basic value of a Rhodes scholarship is $1,120 per year, but this sum is for the present supplemented by a special allowance of $280 per year which is, however, subject to periodic review by the trustees in the light of economic conditions and may be reduced or discontinued. A scholar who qualifies for the benefits under the G.I. Bill of Rights may expect benefits at Oxford equivalent to those he would receive at an American university.

Breaks Go Against MSU As Ducks Grab 21-13 Win

Oregon's Ducks fought off a determined Montana football team Saturday at Eugene to emerge victorious, 21 to 13. The MSU eleven refused to play the role of underdog and had the breaks gone their way would have probably scored their third straight win.

The Grizzlies scored a total of 14 first downs in the tussle while the Ducks racked up 13. The brilliance of Tom Kingsford, MSU quarterback, kept the Silvertips in the ball game all the way.

A fluke pass completion for an Oregon touchdown darkened the Montana victory attempt as did a penalty against the MSU club which called back a Grizzly play that carried the ball to the Oregon six.

Kingsford Scores

Kingsford scored both Grizzly touchdowns and hit his receivers with 16 of 26 passes. This kept the

Vandal Frosh Tumble Cubs In Tight Game

A surprisingly powerful Cub football squad battled on even terms for three quarters with the University of Idaho freshmen at Coeur d'Alene Friday night, before going down in defeat 25 to 13. Dick Heath, quarterback from Miles City, was the freshman sparkplug, as he ran and passed for a number of long gains.

Montana's first touchdown was scored on a run by Heath, after he had set it up with a series of precision passes. Idaho scored twice, failing to convert, and then Ray Logan, Missoula, tied it up with a 30-yard sprint to pay dirt. Ed Anderson, end from Missoula, converted to put the Cubs ahead 13 to 12.

In the final stanza, the Montana freshmen threatened again, moving to the Idaho 40. Heath passed again, but the ball bounced off the fingers of Tom Tidyman, Valier, and an Idaho griddler gathered it in and raced 70 yards for the score. The final tally in the fourth quarter gave Idaho their 12-point margin and the victory.

The Montana squad weakened noticeably as the game progressed, as five men were benched with injuries. Robert Schwandt, Missoula; Ray Erpenbach, Glendive; Don Bartsch, Butte; Loren Southerns, Butte; and Pete Hammond, Los Altos, Calif., were all sidelined and Coach Eddie Chinske had some bad moments trying to find backfield replacements.

The next Cub game will be on Oct. 27, when they will travel to Bozeman to meet the Bobkittens.

Thoughts While Rolling

BY BILL WALKER

Santa Claus came early to Eugene this season—Oregon that is.

Disguised as an official, he appeared with a bag full of duck feathers.

Every time the Grizzlies pulled a few feathers out of the Oregon duck's tail Old Nick would obligingly replace them.

Shortly after the Grizzlies arrived in Eugene half-back Thomas spent a few unhappy minutes in the city jail, and was turned loose by one of the local constabularies.

En route from Portland to Eugene the Grizzly Radio club conducted a sustaining program on the speaker-equipped bus.

Kingsford announced and Ken Campbell handled the running commentary.

The first portion of the program was devoted to a quiz show concerning home-making. Bob Hanson won it hands down.

The concluding portion of the program was taken up with an extemporaneous poem contest. Interested participants penned their efforts and handed them in to censors Kingsford and Vucurovich.

First reactions indicated a clean sweep for Jim Murray's potent stuff; then Hanson's offerings pulled into contention.

At the last moment Hank Watt, center, submitted one about brass and stormy weather.

It sure connected.
According to the applause meter, ably operated by "Hap," our tour driver, Watt's work brought down the house.

During the trip down, "Dome-head" Antonich went to sleep. Elaine "baby" was seen from time to time oggling the mighty Grizzly football team.

At the pre-game meal in the Osburn hotel in Eugene, Coach Shipkey read a telegram from Governor Bonner congratulating the Grizzlies on their victory over Idaho, and offering best wishes for the Oregon game.

Sunday's sad sight: Watching "Chick" Murphy trying to forget the unfortunate pass deflection he took part in—allowing Oregon to score a fluke touchdown.

Kaimin, Sentinel Staff Applications Due Wednesday

Applications for associate editor of the Kaimin and Sentinel must be turned in to the Student Union business office by noon Wednesday according to Shirley McKown, board chairman.

Kaimin vacancies include three associate editorships. Applicants must have served on the Kaimin staff, and must have a C average. They must have attended the University for at least two quarters including the one in which they are selected. The salary for Kaimin associates is $10 per month for an eight-month period starting Oct. 1.

Sentinel vacancies also include positions for three associate editors. The only requirement for applicants is junior or senior standing. All applicants will be interviewed by Publications board at its meeting Wednesday night.

New Program Gets Support

Delegates to the conference on conservation education pledged full support to a new program that will place a great deal more responsibility on MSU and MSC public service divisions for adult education in wildlife and land resource management, Andrew C. Cogswell, director of public service division said yesterday.

Twenty representatives of states and national agencies spent parts of last Saturday and Sunday at the forestry remount station west of Missoula. They were engaged in analyzing the proposal made by the Montana Wildlife federation which is sponsored by the public service divisions of MSU and MSC.

Faculty members who are concerned with any phase of conservation will share in a good deal of the responsibility, Mr. Cogswell said. In carrying out programs outlined by the public service divisions of MSU and MSC, faculty members will be called on to conduct forums and deliver lectures throughout the state.

The University's representatives at the conference were J. W. Severy, chairman division of biological sciences; Melvin Morris, associate professor of forestry; E. L. Cheatum, director of the wildlife research unit; and Mr. Cogswell.

Young Democrats Will Feature Pierson

Dalton T. Pierson is the featured speaker at the first meeting of the Young Democrats club tonight at 8 o'clock in the Missoula county Democratic headquarters in the Priess hotel, according to Vic Dahl, Missoula, chairman.

Mr. Pierson, a local attorney, was recently recommended for the post of United States attorney by Sen. James E. Murray.

"Reorganization plans will also be discussed at the meeting and several candidates for county offices may be introduced," Dahl said.

COMMITTEE TO PLAN RELIGIOUS EMPHASIS WEEK

The Student Religious council will meet in the Eloise Knowles room of the Student Union at 4 o'clock this afternoon, according to Jordis Krohn, co-chairman of the program committee. Plans for religious emphasis week will be completed, Krohn said.

Air Force Team at MSU To Select Future Officers

An air force officer team will arrive here Thursday and Friday to interview college men and women interested in careers as officers in the United States Air Force, it was announced recently by the military science department.

The visit is a part of a nationwide program being conducted by the air force to build up an officer corps composed largely of college graduates, said Maj. J. W. Hardy, here to make advance arrangements.

Students will have the opportunity, he said, to learn about the various officer training programs, the requirements, and processing procedure. Those qualified may submit applications and be examined by the air force officer team so that they can begin training soon after they finish college.

Qualifications Explained

The team members, with local headquarters at ROTC Room 22, will explain the following types of training:

1. Aviation cadet pilot training. Men selected receive one year of flying, academic, and military training. Graduates are commissioned as second lieutenants in the air force reserve.

To be eligible for pilot training men must be single, between the ages of 20 and 26, citizens, and must have completed two years or more of college, and meet high physical and moral qualifications.

2. Aviation cadet navigator training. Men are trained for one year in the latest techniques of radar navigation. Graduates receive reserve commissions as second lieutenants, with aeronautical ratings as navigator.

Eligibility requirements are the same, except for the physical examination, which is less stringent for those seeking careers as navigators.
