Griffith to Speak On Film Medium At Convocation

Richard Griffith, assistant to the director of the Museum of Modern Art film library, New York, will discuss the accomplishments and potentialities of the film in convocation this morning at 9:40 in the Student Union auditorium.

Mr. Griffith will show the silent film, "Sherlock, Jr.," immediately after convocation. Classes will not be excused for the film but students who don't have classes may remain.

The story concerns a small town motion picture projectionist who wishes to become a great detective. His first amateur efforts result in his being accused of the crime he is trying to solve.

The comedy film, directed by and starring Buster Keaton, was produced in 1924 at MGM.

Metal Curtailment Expected Soon on Consumer Goods

Washington, Feb. 8.—(P)—The government is expected to order a cutback soon up to 40 per cent in civilian use of metals during April, May, and June.

The order would also restrict use of steel, copper, and aluminum going into such consumer "durable" goods as stoves and refrigerators. The metals saved will be allocated for guns, planes, and tanks.

Unique Course Offers Administration Work

Monday marked the beginning of a unique course in public and private administration, the sixth of its kind ever offered by MSU.

Thirteen students from nine states are registered for the course officially listed in the University catalog as Forestry 195. It has been designed to give men and women engaged in Natural Resources Management and Use continuing study in areas related to administration.

The course, worth seven university credits, offers cuts across several fields of academic specialization. Staff members, therefore, are drawn from six departments and schools on the basis of their familiarity with and interest in natural resources management problems, as well as their skills at working with the serious adult student.

The seven areas of instruction covered by the course are principles of administration, Dr. Albert T. Helbing, associate professor of business administration; psychology, E. A. Atkinson, professor of psychology; community relations, Dr. Harold Tascher, associate professor of social administration; public relations, R. P. Struckman, assistant professor of journalism; effective writing, Olaf J. Bue, professor of journalism; effective public speaking, Herbert Carson, instructor in English and director of the University Speech clinic; and economics of conservation, Melvin Morris, professor of forestry.

Members of the school's faculty have made annual trips into the field in Montana, Idaho, and Wyoming to acquaint themselves with current problems and procedures. During September 1950, they spent a week touring the Lolo, Clearwater and Nez Perce national forests, where they conferred with managerial personnel of both private industry and the forest service.

Previous trips for similar purposes have been made into the (please see page eight)

Choir to Sing Sacred Music Monday Night

The Concordia choir, under the direction of Paul J. Christiansen, will present a concert Monday at 8:15 p.m. in the Student Union auditorium.

Student tickets cost $1 and are on sale in the Student Union Coke store from 3 to 5 p.m. The choir's appearance on campus is sponsored by the Lutheran Student's association.

The group of 60 voices will present a program of sacred music, ranging from the classics of Palestrina, Bach, and Brahms, to the works of modern composers.

In 1949, the choir toured Norway, and last spring, the group gave concerts throughout the East. The tour for 1951 includes North Dakota, Washington, Oregon, and Montana.

Christiansen is the son of D. F. Melius Christiansen, dean of American choral composers. Dr. Christiansen founded and formerly directed the St. Olaf choir in Northfield, Minn., and at present is continuing his work in choral composition.

Following his graduation from St. Olaf college, Paul Christiansen studied composition at Oberlin conservatory. He was granted a master of music degree at Eastman School of Music. Since 1937, he has been director of the Concordia choir, at Concordia college, Moorhead, Minn., where he is also head of the music department.

Mistaken Importance

Yesterday the fall quarter grade list burst on the campus and caused varying degrees of rejoicing and despair from Gerald avenue to the entrance of the oval. All some 2,500 student souls at MSU were divided neatly into 29 categories ranked according to descending grade-point averages.

Those campus groups ranking in the select top few on the list will be Charlestoning for joy from now until the winter quarter ranking is released in May, while their less fortunate buddies on the short end of the list will spend anguished hours bemoaning their fate and snarling at each other for the poor showing.

This attitude toward the grade list is utterly ridiculous. Only .539 of a grade point separate the No. 1 group for fall quarter—with a 1.706, about a B minus—from the low man—with 1.167, nearly a C plus. Yet the bottom man sees that he is 29 slots below No. 1 and wails and moans because of the imagined catastrophe.

It is about time that campus groups which worship the almighty grade list got out of the habit of directing all attention to the numerical rankings and paid more attention to the actual grade-point average—where as little as .003 of a grade point separate two groups.

This is the worthwhile information contained in the grade list and this is where it can be of great value to students and houses. —D.G.

Letters to the Editor . . .

WYLDER FAVORS FEE RAISE

Dear Editor:

It is unfortunate that most students who have written letters about the proposed fee raise have connected the $2.50 per quarter with the grant given the athletic department.

The money awarded to Athletic board was given by Central board on the basis of need that arose from becoming a fledgling member of the Skyline Eight conference. It was felt that only through this additional grant could MSU athletics get a fair test. The first years in a new conference are the most difficult, so the money was given to help the athletic setup over this hump. At the end of the three years a new evaluation will be made. By that time the practicability of carrying on a full program in the Skyline Eight will be determinable.

This grant was investigated thoroughly by Athletic board, Budget and Finance, the administration, and Central board. All decided that it was both necessary and wise to make more funds available.

The money came from the general reserve fund—a kitty, building for many years, to be expended at Central board's discretion for long-term projects such as the buildup of an athletic program. It was never intended to be used for taking up the gap in current expenditures.

We have a completely separate problem in the fee raise. This raise, which would raise total registration costs from $38 to slightly more than $40 per quarter, is designed to maintain the amount of money available for all student activities at approximately the present level despite an expected drop in enrollment. Student money is so thinly distributed that an enrollment drop will have dire effects on organizations benefitting from budget allocations. I'm including everything in this from tidily-winks to football.

The students of MSU have been getting handsome value from paid student fees, but such value cannot continue with dropping enrollment and rising costs.

I think the only solution consistent with our desire to at least maintain our activities at the present level is to vote in favor of the fee raise at the referendum election next Wednesday.

Yours truly,
Jim Wylder

FORESTER VOICES OBJECTION, BALL NOT BRAWL

Dear Editor:

Since Sunday night, I have been hearing a lot of comments about Foresters and their track painting. I would like to say that the Forestry club is by no means proud of what happened Sunday night and that we are working on a plan to prevent this in the future. We also hope that every one concerned will be broadminded enough not to judge the club as a whole by the actions of a few of its members.

Now I would like to ask the editor why it is necessary to always refer to the Foresters' ball as the Brawl? Last week when the lawyers made several such remarks we passed it off as part of their slam campaign to get publicity for their ball, but we feel that the bold type reference to the Brawl in Wednesday's Kaimin was entirely uncalled for. We work hard and try to put on a good, clean dance at which everyone can enjoy themselves, but how are we going to accomplish this if you keep calling it a Brawl?

Sincerely

Russ Drabbs, president
Forestry club

(We are in agreement on the track-painting business, Mr. Drabbs. The remarks in the Kaimin were never intended as a direct slam at Foresters in general or the club in particular, but as an illustration of the excesses to which some people, regardless of whether they are foresters, lawyers, or journalists, can carry a basically legitimate activity. Please accept an apology for the reference to the ball as a Brawl. The term already has been worked to death and no longer is either humorous or appropriate.—Ed.)

EXPLANATION GIVEN BY BAND MEMBERS

Dear Editor:

A very incorrect implication was carried on the front page of last Friday's Kaimin in connection with the student activity fee raise. The article listed the MSU band as being one of the prime sufferers and implied that a fee increase would solve its problem. It should be made clear that the proposed fee raise would not appreciably change the amount the band would receive from the students.

The band receives 1.5 per cent (or one and one-half cents) of each dollar received from student activity fees—this is the lowest budgeted figure of all the university organizations next to the student publication, the Mountaineer, which is allotted 1.0 per cent. (Athletics receive 48.5 per cent.) The band expends the majority of its budget on the Butte trip for the Grizzly-Bobcat football game, and it is true that increased costs are beginning to force the band to cut down on certain activities. However, the proposed increase would probably increase the band budget by about $200. This "bonanza" would hardly spur the band on to great rejoicing.

The band certainly believes a fee increase is highly desirable and its members would like to endorse such a move. However, they do not feel that they should be listed as the main agitators for the cause when a more equitable distribution of the present funds seems to them to be the real solution of their problems.

Sincerely,

J. Justin Gray, director

Kaimin Circulation Reaches Far, Wide

Proof of wide Kaimin circulation was received by Lt. G. A. Lansrud of the military science department recently.

He received a letter from Jane Ann Jones at Broadus, requesting further information concerning the WAC procurement program.

Miss Jones said that she read of the program through the Jan. 5 issue of the Montana Kaimin.

The communication from Miss Jones had the letter of the Powder River Examiner in Broadus so it may be assumed that she read the article in an exchange issue of the Kaimin with the Examiner.

Bunyan's Boys Use Bow, Arrow

Arrows are flying in the Men's gym today as preparations for the annual Foresters' ball get under way.

Danny On, Red Bluff, Calif., stands at one end of the gym, and shoots wires to the opposite side of the balcony with a bow and arrow. Heavy ropes attached to the wire are then drawn across the ceiling until a wire network is formed. The foresters then toss cedar bows onto the wire, forming an enclosed ceiling effect, according to Chief Push Harry Covey, Missoula.

The foresters began gathering boughs and trees the week before Thanksgiving, and yesterday morning the entire gym floor was covered with evergreens.

A big painted stump is being placed at the doorway, and a tree-filled bar has been made to the side of the dance floor. A dining room has been set up in Forestry 106 where cake, ice cream, and coffee will be served at the time marked on each ticket.

All forestry classes were dismissed yesterday and today to allow the foresters to work on the dance. Approximately 50 men and one woman, Doris Peterson, are working on decorations.

"Anyone may come over to the gym to see the decorations before the dance," Covey said. "Generally, they can get a better effect of the decorations by seeing them during the day."

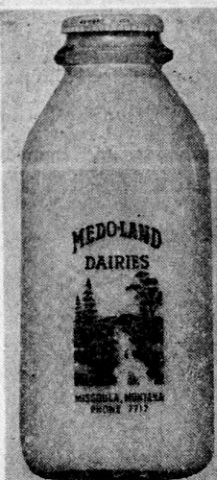

All tickets for Saturday night have been sold, but there are a few left for Friday, according to Covey.

Forestry Female Finds Course Fun, Lot of Opportunity

"Why are you majoring in forestry?" ask the freshman in the forestry school.

"Because I happen to like it. It's fun and interesting, and there are many opportunities for a woman in that field," answers Doris Peterson, Missoula, the only woman in the forestry school.

Miss Peterson said that being the only woman in the forestry school is quite an ordinary thing. "Of course," she said, "the instructors often have difficulty finding an appropriate synonym to insert in their lectures to fill the gaps created by the presence of a woman."

Only three women have been graduated from the forestry school. Miss Peterson's sister, Jean, who graduated in 1947, was among these.

"A woman in forestry is somewhat of a novelty," Miss Peterson said. "Consequently, it is easier for her to get a job if she is good. There is also a greater chance of advancement."

Miss Peterson explained that she is not really the only "girl" in the school. "There is a female moose head in one of the classrooms," she explained.

Butte Residents Take Extension Course

Twenty-one Butte residents are now enrolled in an extension course in social administration offered by the home study and adult education section of the MSU division of public service, according to Mary M. Courtney, section director.

Dr. Harold Tascher, associate professor of sociology and social administration, teaches the course. It is offered at the Garfield school in Butte Friday nights from 7:30 to 9:30 and Saturdays from 9 a.m. to noon.

Law Partners Get Presidencies

Something about Washington attorneys seems to attract Western universities.

Ernest L. Wilkinson, prominent lawyer in Washington, was recently appointed president of Brigham Young University. Our own President Carl McFarland was also a Washington attorney.

An interesting further parallel between the two men is that they were formerly associated as law partners in Washington; and Dr. Wilkinson was assisted in his recent prosecution of the claims of the Ute Indians by President McFarland.

Concert Series To Open Feb. 14; Violinist Featured

The season's first community concert will feature violinist Ricardo Odnoposoff in the Student Union auditorium Feb. 14 and 15 at 8:15 p.m. Tickets for the concert will be on sale in the Student Union business office Monday. Student admission is 75 cents.

Odnoposoff gave his first concert in his native Buenos Aires at the age of 5. Studying in Argentina as a pupil of Leopold Auer, the young violinist gave a concert there each year until he was 12, when he was taken from Buenos Aires to Berlin where he played under the tutelage of Carl Flesch.

While still a student, he was soloist of the Berlin Philharmonic under Conductor Erich Kleiber.

The young violinist has played with practically every major orchestra and conductor of Europe and South America. Among these are Toscanini, Walter, Weingartner, and Mengelberg.

Odnoposoff has toured Scandinavia, Holland, Denmark, Belgium, France, Great Britain, Switzerland, Italy, Spain, Portugal, the United States, and Canada.

The Last Word

BY JOHN OWEN

Many of the MSU student fans could be heard muttering in their beers, last Friday and Saturday nights, after viewing the Grizzlies in action against Idaho State. The controlled style of play used by Dahlberg's proteges simply bored some of them and made others downright mad. "If they have to lose games, they could at least do it a little faster," one disheartened fan said.

If these fair-weather patriots would look a little closer, they would see that the Silvertip hoop squad is not merely forstalling doom by their methodical tactics. In the games last week, they split with the Bengals and, Wednesday night, took the measure of Willamette by playing controlled basketball. It should be obvious that if a team can't win with one system of play, they should seek another.

The switch to controlled basketball is not localized. All over the country, coaches are seeing the advantages that can be gained by setting up workable plays and shooting only when a break is seen in the defenses. The number of teams now using the "race horse" fast break is rapidly diminishing. Subsequently, the number of wild passes and off-balance shots is also decreasing.

A few weeks ago, two professional teams were censured for playing a game that ended in the low twenties. According to league officials, the fan's didn't like it. But, if a college mentor does not win his share of games, he is in danger of losing more than the public's esteem.

Controlled basketball does not have to be boring from the public's viewpoint. However, precision playing in any sport can bring more enjoyment to the fan than a rough, helter-skelter type of ball.

It may take MSU fans some time to get accustomed to controlled basketball but, after watching a few games, I think they will see its advantages.

WILLIAMS GETS $100,000

Boston, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Outfielder Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox has agreed to a contract calling for the same salary as last season, some $100,000. Williams reports that the left elbow he broke last year is in perfect shape.

Intramural Play Hits Mid-point

The mid-point in intramural basketball play came to an end Wednesday night when the Phi Deltas rambled by the Independents by 16 points, and the Sooners took a close 32-to-27 game from the Kappa Psi cagers.

Fired up by Darky White's 14 counters, the Phi Deltas led in points the entire game for their 49-to-33 win. Robbins and Stanaway of the Phi Delt quint tossed in 9 and 6 points, respectively, to bolster the team's scoring.

In the Sooner-Kappa Psi game, Luoma, backbone of the Sooner squad, whipped in 14 points to make nearly half the team's total score. Kappa Psi staged a comeback in the fourth quarter, but it wasn't strong enough for a victory.

Grizzly Paddlers Meet Utah Teams on Road

BY RAY SORUM

This week end will see the MSU swimming team face two opponents away from home. The Grizzly squad hits the road today to travel to Logan for its first divisional conference meet with Utah State college Saturday. Monday the Bears will bare their fangs for a revenge return meet with the University of Utah at Salt Lake City. The Utes drowned the Grizzlies in a 51-to-23 meet Jan. 30.

In the meet with the University of Utah in January, team captain Bob Ziegler, Columbus, Ohio, established a conference record in the 200-yard backstroke. He is considered a sure first again for the Grizzlies and is a powerful man in the relays.

Times Have Improved

Another top performer on the Grizzly squad is diver Ralph Harmsen, Bismarck, N. D., who took an easy first from the Utes in the last meet. Other men on the team have improved their times considerably and the outlook for the Grizzlies is much improved over two weeks ago.

Events in the meets this week end will be run off as in the previous match with the Utes. Men on the MSU squad will probably hold down the same positions as they have in the past, though there may be some switching of places, depending on where Swimming Coach Fred Erdhaus feels they will be able to do their best for the Grizzly win.

Relay Team Entered

Besides Ziegler, Bob Cooney, San Diego, Calif.; Denzil Young, Baker; Ronald Daniels, San Carlos, Calif.; and John Jardine, Missoula, will hold the fort in the two relay events. These are the 300-yard medley and the 400-yard four-man relays.

Cooney, Young, Daniels, and Pete Hammond, Los Angeles, Calif., will enter the 60, 100, and 200-yard sprints. George Harpole, Arcadia, Calif., who gave the Utes a hard time two weeks ago, will be the big push in the 200 and 400-yard distance runs. Jardine will also breaststroke for the Grizzlies and dive along with Harmsen.

First To Participate

The swimming team is the first MSU varsity crew to begin full participation in the Skyline conference.

Montana has one more divisional meet after the week-end contests in Utah. It is scheduled for Feb. 24 with the Utah State Aggies at the time the all-conference schools at Logan March 5 and 6 will feature the all conference schools paddling it out for the Skyline championship.

Doyle to Compete In P-A Olympics

MSU discus champion Dick Doyle, Missoula, has been elected to represent the United States in the Pan-American Olympic games scheduled to get underway in Buenos Aires, Argentina, Feb. 25.

The announcement of Doyle's election to the discus-throw spot came from New York this week when Pinky Sober, chairman of the United States Olympic track and field committee addressed the weekly luncheon of New York track writers. Doyle is one of the final seven selected to complete the 23-man team.

"To me this is more of an honor than being elected to the regular four-year team," Doyle said. "In choosing the four-year team to compete internationally, three men are picked to enter each event, but in the Pan-American games only one man is chosen from the country to represent it in an event," he said.

Presents No Mystery

The reason for Doyle's election to represent the United States in the games, which have participants from most of the countries in the Western hemisphere, is no mystery to Grizzly track fans.

A three-year letterman and member of the M club, Doyle has always been a winner in the MSU intercollegiate meets. In 1950, he won the discus throw in the Pacific Coast conference and later in the season went to Minneapolis to take the national collegiate discus championship with a throw of 171 feet 5 inches.

Won Big 10

Doyle won the Pacific coast Big 10 for the PCC and placed third in the AAU senior division. He also holds the Dornblaser stadium discus record with a toss of over 166 feet.

Last summer, after being picked to represent the United States on an all-star team, Doyle competed in 10 meets in Finland.

Doyle said he expects to leave Missoula Feb. 17 or 18. He will fly with the rest of the team from the east coast to Argentina on the Pan-American airways.

To Tour South America

After the all-hemisphere games in Buenos Aires, Doyle said, the team will tour several countries before returning to the United States.

Doyle, no longer eligible for collegiate sports participation, is finishing his senior year as a physical education major. He is affiliated with Sigma Nu and belongs to Phi Epsilon Kappa, men's physical education fraternity.

Top Scorer

Bob Hasquet, Shelby, top scorer on the Grizzly roster, will start at one of the forward positions tonight when MSU faces the Portland Pilots in the first of two games at the coast city. Hasquet has dumped 111 field goals and 72 free throws in 23 games for a total of 294 points. The Shelby sharpshooter is a junior in business administration, stands 6 feet 2 inches and is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

S.N. Keglers Win Over K.S.

Sigma Nu dumped the Kappa Sigs, two-to-one, last week in intramural bowling to take high team series, high team single, and high single game honors.

The ATO's remained top team on the totem pole, when they took two from the Phi Deltas. Smith was high man for the winners with 508 pins.

In other games played, Sigma Alpha Epsilon took two from South hall, the Phi Sigs won two from Corbin hall, Sigma Chi beat Geology two out of three, the Sig Eps took a forfeit from Jumbo, Lambda Chi forfeited to the Law school, and the Theta Chi keglers boosted their wins by dumping the Foresters three games.

Grizzlies Overcome Leads To Beat Willamette 64-52; Play in Portland Tonight

Montana State University raced past the Willamette Bearcats Wednesday night to win their ninth game of the season, 64 to 52. In winning, the Grizzlies were forced to overcome substantial leads twice during the game.

The coast team took an early lead over the Montana Grizzlies, but lost it late in the first half when Montana caught up to the Bearcats. Willamette managed to leave the floor at halftime with a 30-to-26 lead.

In the second half the Grizzlies were cold and the Bearcats took advantage of Montana's raggedness and pulled into another lead. Willamette was ahead, 41 to 32, when the Grizzlies finally found the range, and behind the aggressive floor play and rebound work of Mick Luckman, the Grizzlies again overcame the deficit by going ahead, 52 to 51.

A moment later Hugh Bellinger of the Bearcats tied the score at 52 to 52 with a free throw, but that was the last point Willamette made as the Grizzlies went on to win, 64 to 52.

Loder of Willamette was high scorer in the game, with 15 points, followed by teammate Logue with 14. For the Grizzlies, Bob Hasquet dropped in 14 points to lead the Montana team. Mick Luckman hit 12 points and Don Lucas tallied 11 for the Grizzlies.

Tonight and tomorrow night the Grizzlies meet the strong Portland university Pilots in the coast city. The two teams have not met this year, but each have played Whitworth and Gonzaga. The Pilots downed the Gonzaga Bulldogs four straight games and lost once to Whitworth. The Portland team won 15 of its first 16 games this season.

Last year Montana played the Pilots twice in Missoula and defeated the Portland team both times by substantial scores. However, in the NAIB tournament in Kansas City last spring, Montana went down to defeat at the hands of the Pilots, 49 to 48.

Dean Carleton To Leave Soon For Convention

Linus J. Carleton, acting dean of the education school, will leave Monday for Atlantic City, N. J., where he will attend the annual national convention of the American Association of Colleges of Teacher Education, and the American Association of School Administrators.

MSU is a member of the AACTE which is an accrediting agency. Dean Carleton is representing MSU at the organization's Atlantic City meeting. The main discussion at this meeting will be the improvement of teacher education programs at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

"Schools to keep us free" is the motto of the AASA meeting. With this motto, the theme of the meet will be the role played by school in American democracy.

Dean Carleton will return to MSU Feb. 22.

Here and There . . .

With the Social Set

There should be a good time in store for MSU students this week end. Throngs of people will push their way through the thick shrubbery that will decorate the gym to the annual Foresters' ball, tonight and tomorrow night. Presented in honor of "the patron saint of all lumberjacks," this is the 34th Foresters' ball at MSU.

The bearded men on campus have been waiting eagerly for this affair, because one of them will be awarded a prize for his efforts in trying to grow the "best beard." A prize will also be awarded to the "best dressed man and woman."

Back in 1920 the Kaimin called the Foresters' ball the "order of the day and the disorder of the night." The "chief push" of the ball in 1920 said this was a chance to bring a little "wild life" to MSU, but that the artillery of the wild and woolly gents who take in the ball would be collected at the door. If the boys want to "shoot 'er up" they must do it "in the big out-doors," he said.

Male Student Is First Invited

Not every campus male is invited to Mortar Board's Smarty-party, which is given each year to honor the 10 women with the highest scholastic averages in each class.

In fact, Jewell Osterholm, Lewistown, holds the enviable distinction of being the first male to have gained this honor.

Although Osterholm valiantly regretted the invitation, he was quite thrilled to see his name in print in the Kaimin the following day as one of Mortar board's "feted forty."

This isn't the first time confusion has brought interesting mail to the Osterholm household. Jewell is married and has a 3-month-old daughter.

Panhellenic and AWS were hot on his trail this summer. Panhel invited him to go through sorority rush week, and AWS assigned him an upperclass woman counselor.

Adding to the dilemma at the dean's office and registrar's office, Osterholm's middle name, LaVerne, is no help whatsoever.

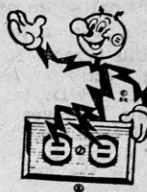

"I'm thinking of adopting some more distinctive name such as 'Joe Shmoe,'" he said, "for the situations are not only embarrassing, but very wearisome at times."

Osterholm is a freshman pre-med major.

AWS ENTERTAINS COEDS WITH COKE DATE DAY

Feb. 14 is to be counselor-counselor coke date day for university women, according to AWS representative Gloria Johnson, Milltown. AWS is sponsoring the program, which is designed to have big sisters take their little sisters for cokes, Miss Johnson said.

All new women students are invited to attend the AWS meeting Wednesday at 4:30 p.m. in the Eloise Knowles room of the Student Union, she added. Refreshments will be served, and the meeting will be a get-together for all new women.

P.E. Department
To Offer Course
In Water Safety

The physical education department will offer an instructors' course in water safety and life saving for spring quarter, department chairman, C. F. Hertler, said yesterday.

Hertler said anyone who completes the course satisfactorily will receive an advanced swimming instructor's certificate. This certificate is usually required for life saving or swimming instruction positions.

Students wishing to enter the course should have a senior life saving certificate which is equivalent to the completion of the advanced swimming course here at the University.

The course is open to both men and women and the mixed class will meet on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 4 to 6 p.m. The instructor will be John Harsymczuk who took training in Red Cross Aquatic schools.

The instructors' course in first aid, which is usually offered, has been cancelled for spring quarter because Instructor Robert Oswald will be on leave of absence.

Smiles, Quizzes
Confuse Officers

Men calling out for a square dance in the Student Union Gold room is commonplace, but it is something else when they are calling out military commands to a bevy of smiling and confused girls. Yet that is what happens for an hour each Monday and Wednesday afternoons on the MSU campus.

What gives? Are WAC reservists being trained? Not exactly. You see, it is the ROTC Sponsor Corps getting their coaching for the spring quarter ROTC parades. Their instructors are members of Scabbard and Blade, advanced ROTC honor society—lucky fellows!

Still not all is sunshine for the boys. Frequently, they take for granted certain basic steps when giving orders, and then the girls ask questions, lots of them. Those advanced students who are veterans sometimes begin stock service replies which they choke down hastily.

These snatches of conversation are typical:

Phyllis Treweek, Kalispell: "What's 'by the numbers' anyhow?" Martha Smithers, Butte: "Why are we supposed to pinch salt?"

Gerald Wright, Salmon, Ida.: "Remember you doughfoots—girls that I mean—at attention your thumbs are along your outer trouser seams." Barbara Long, Houston, Texas: "But my slacks don't have seams there."

Jim Hanson, Kalispell: "Well, that's how to take interval from the right."

Jackie Weiss, Billings: "What'll I do? I'm lefthanded."

Elmer Midthun, Froid: "When you do that column movement again, I want to see you hit that pivot point, understand?" Ginny Vincent, Missoula: "Wait a minute! You better show me where it is first and get me something to hit it with, too."

No, the army never was like this.

Western Tragedy
Is Next Feature
Of Film Society

"The Oxbow Incident," starring Henry Fonda and Dana Andrews, will be the University Film society's presentation Sunday, Virginia Bulen, Missoula, Film society manager, said yesterday.

"This is a realistic and brutal study of lynching and the tragedy of mob hysteria," Miss Bulen said. "The story concerns two men who are hunted down and lynched on the assumption that they are cattle rustlers. No sooner have they been hanged than the real rustlers are caught."

The movie was released in 1947, and was named one of the "best pictures" of the year. It is based on Walter Clark's novel of the same name, which has its setting in Montana.

The film will be shown at 7 and 9 p.m. Sunday in Simpkins Little theater. Admission is 50 cents.

Current Events
Gets 35 J-Majors

Destiny and the journalism school faculty have decreed that 35 journalism majors will have their Wednesday evenings' entertainment cut out for them next quarter.

All journalism majors were required to take the current events test put out by Time magazine. The lower third of the students are required to take the course next quarter.

Don Graff, Laurel, was high in the test with 97 of the 105 questions right. David Leuthold, Molt, freshman, was second with 94.

The seniors had the highest class average, 67.4, the juniors were second with 64.5, and the freshmen were third with 60.2. The sophomores' average was 56.9.

All the students who hit 57 or less on the test will spend their Wednesday evenings next quarter in current events.

Offices in the Associated Women Students' organization are now open for application. Another position open is that of editor of the AWS handbook which is sent out each summer to entering freshmen.

Women interested in holding one of the offices of either president, vice-president, secretary, or treasurer should write a letter to AWS stating their qualifications for and interest in holding that office. The letters should be given to Doris Peterson, secretary, Missoula, before Wednesday.

Wednesday at the AWS meeting, the board will hold a primary election to choose two candidates for each office. Any woman who is enrolled at MSU is qualified to apply for an office. Junior women are the only ones qualified for president.

Editor of the AWS handbook doesn't have to be a journalism major. Women interested in this editorship should also write letters of qualification and interest. These letters should be given to Miss Peterson before Wednesday.

The Central board room is open again to students and organizations for meeting purposes, Cyrille Van Duser, Student Union director, announced yesterday.

Infantile Paralysis Funds Continue Toward Set Goal

Slightly more than three-fifths of the $500 goal for the infantile paralysis drive has been reached, Jim Lucas, campus chairman, said yesterday.

Lucas said that about $335 had been collected Monday and that this figure did not include the donations by the fraternities and sororities.

Sigma Chi and Sigma Nu fraternity were the first houses on Greek row to contribute 100 per cent, that is, 25 cents from each member.

Monday night, members of the polio campus committee spoke to the fraternities and sororities.

Lucas said six graduates of this school are continuing work in physical therapy under scholarships made available by the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis.
