MSU to Celebrate 58th Anniversary

Charter Day Convocation To Feature Gov. Bonner

Montana State University is celebrating its 58th anniversary today at a Charter day convocation. The University received its charter Feb. 17, 1893.

Gov. John W. Bonner '28 will speak on "The Tradition of Responsible Education," at the 11 a.m. convocation in the Student Union auditorium. The university symphonic band under the direction of J. Justin Gray will also participate.

The University has grown, since its beginning, from a faculty of six, including Pres. Oscar Craig, and an eight-room school building, to its present-day faculty and clerical staff of 364, and an enrollment graduate school, and an affiliated school of region. In addition to the campus itself, the University owns nearly 20,000 acres of experimental forest land, extensive athletic fields, and a golf course.

Among the outstanding University graduates have been Dr. Harold Urey, Nobel prize winner; Clarence Streit, author of "Union Now," who served for many years as foreign correspondent for the New York Times; Jeannette Rankin, first woman representative in Congress; Carl McFarland, first assistant attorney-general of the United States, and now university president; Raymond Fuson, one of America's leading scientists between 1928 and 1933; Justin Miller, associate justice of the United States court of appeals; Dr. Cornelius Bol, chemist and inventor; and Governor Bonner, first university alumnus to head our state government.

Maugham Film Is Earthy, Unsullied

"Quartet," a film released in the United States in April, 1949 by Eagle Lion company, will be shown at Simpkins hall on Sunday at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. Admission will be 50 cents.

Virginia Bulen, Missoula, University Film society manager, said "Quartet" is based on four short stories by R. C. Sheriff. The film was originally planned to be a tribute to Maugham on his 75th birthday.

Each Story an Entity

Each story is an entity in itself. The first one, "Facts of Life," is a story of a young Englishman and his adventures in Monte Carlo. The second story, "Alien Corn," is about a young country gentleman who renounces his life of leisure to become a concert pianist.

"The Kite," the third story, is about a man who has always been dominated by his mother. In the story a kite is the symbol of the "drifting apart" of the man and his wife.

"The Colonel's Lady" tells a story about Colonel Blimp, whose wife writes a book of passionate verse which makes her a literary celebrity.

Reviewed by Brown

John Mason Brown reviewed "Quartet" in the April 23, 1949 issue of the Saturday Review of Literature. He said, "Maugham, the supreme technician, is allowed to have his own say as a writer without having his technique blurred or altered. The camera adopts itself to his work. His speeches remain unsimplified; his stories unpurified. They are neither prettied up nor tuned down."

Brown said all of the stories' worldliness and their unawareness of lower, upper, and middle class mores, morals, sophistication, and cynicism are preserved on the screen.

Different Directors

"Although all of these short films are blessed with the same quiet and informed values, each of them is the work of a different director," Brown said.

"The actors' skill individually and collectively is of a very high order. Their play is of that polished, truthful kind which we have come to expect in the better British films," Brown said.

Brown concluded, "Whether humorous or tense, whether portraying upper or lower classes, it is informed and perceptive and seems basted in the juices of life."

Frat Council To Study Rush System

A revision of the fraternity rushing system will be considered at the next meeting of the Interfraternity council, Pres. Bob Moore, Sigma Nu, said yesterday. Preliminary plans were set up at the bi-monthly meeting at the Sigma Nu house Wednesday.

Interfraternity council is attempting to set up a record of fraternity trophies so that a central record will be available to determine where lost, strayed, or stolen trophies belong.

The council has purchased 10 new trophies for this season's interfraternity sports. Three large trophies for basketball, touchball, and softball are now available and will be traveling trophies until one organization has won them three times, at which time the trophy will be retired to that group.

Moore announced he will retire as president of the organization at the next meeting, Feb. 28. He will be replaced by vice-president Bob Smith of Phi Sigma Kappa.

The next meeting of the council will be at the Phi Delta Theta house.

He was a band leader in the army in the last war and directed bands in England, Germany, and the United States. He had professional trumpet experience in New York City. This is his first year as an instructor at the University.

Mr. Hummel's program will include Prelude and Fugue in G Minor, Bach; Sonata, Opus 28, Beethoven; Etudes, Opus 10, Nos. 1 and 12, Chopin; Rhapsody in C Minor, Opus 79, No. 2, and Intermezzo, Opus 76, No. 4, Brahms; Minstrels, La Terrasse de audences du clair de lune, and First Arabesque, Debussy; and Passacaglia, Copeland.

Faculty Speakers At Psi Chi Meet

Psi Chi, national honor society in psychology, held open house Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Student Union Bitterroot room. Ted Crawford, Billings, was master of ceremonies for the discussions which were held after talks given by the members of MSU's psychology department.

Prof. E. A. Atkinson, chairman of the psychology department, spoke on the over-all picture of psychology and its value in application to jobs. Assoc. Prof. B. R. Sappenfield covered the field of clinical psychology in its value to the layman. Refreshments were served after the open house, according to Pres. Louetta Riggs, Missoula.

Instructors Pen Stories

For each of the last four months a member of the journalism school faculty has written an article for the Montana Press Bulletin, official monthly publication of the Montana State Press association.

First of the contributors to the monthly publication, of which Asst. Prof. W. L. "Din" Alcorn of the journalism school is the editor, was James L. C. Ford, dean of the school. Dean Ford wrote on "Truth to a Free People" in the October issue as a theme for National Newspaper week. The dean emphasized the positive correlation the newspaper man of today places upon truth and accuracy.

In the November issue, Prof. Olaf J. Bue in his article, "Is Our Slip Showing," said, "The primary function of newspapers, according to the American Society of Newspaper Editors, is to communicate to the human race what its members do, feel, and think."

Assoc. Prof. E. B. Dugan gave an armchair inventory of the newspaper as an advertising medium in the December issue.

Instructor Parker B. Lusk wrote "Something for the Girls" in the January issue. Mr. Lusk described the importance of editing the newspaper for women as well as men.

For the February issue, Asst. Prof. Robert P. Struckman has written an article on the country correspondent, in which he said, "... the country correspondent usually knows her local agriculture so well that she can't see any possible news in it unless there is a catastrophe or an oddity."

Mansfield Quotes Suchy Articles

Two journalism senior seminar articles by John Suchy, Missoula, are quoted in the Congressional Record for Feb. 8.

The stories, which first appeared in the Jan. 24 and Jan. 31 issues of the Missoula Mirror, a seminar laboratory paper, were inserted by Rep. Mike Mansfield, Democrat, Montana, in support of his House speech demanding a price rollback.

Suchy's articles analyzed the price-index situation in Missoula, comparing prices in January, 1939, with those in January, 1951. Missoula basic commodity prices have risen from 14 to 144 per cent in the 12-year period, with the average rise being about 120 per cent.

EDITORIAL

More Thought
Before Action

Tuesday Central board took action that can do much to place ASMSU's tangled finances on a more orderly basis. The student governors put into effect a three-part plan aimed at instilling more careful thought and detailed investigation into the periodic doles from the common treasury.

First, the board members steeled themselves to enforce an existing by-law requiring that money pleas be presented to the budget and finance committee before Central board will consider them.

Second, such requests must be presented by students. Faculty members are to appear only when specifically invited to do so by Central board.

Third and most important, there is now a mandatory delay of one week between the presentation of a financial matter before Central board and the actual vote.

These measures are designed to husband the dwindling supply of kale available in the general fund and to ensure that what cash there is will go to the most deserving supplicants, not to those who can talk loudest, longest, and most persuasively. The one-week lag between request and vote will outlaw those last-minute, desperate pleas that have stampeded the board in the past.

Central board gets a large, daintily tinted Kaimin orchid for at last writing into campus law these measures long necessary to efficient student government.—D.G.

Letters to the Editor . . .

ROREX, A POOR DEMOCRAT,
CRITICIZED FOR CRITICISM

Dear Editor:

I have been called a Communist several times in the past few weeks because I criticize the government. It has been most often, incidentally, (or coincidentally) by Republicans.

I don't mind especially, but I do think it is a bit unfair—after all, the Republicans have been doing the same thing very severely for the past 19 years and no one has called them Communists. After all, I'm just a poor Democrat trying to work my way through college and my feelings are hurt.

Sincerely,

Tom Rorex

COLLEGE OF ARTS, SCIENCES
NEEDS MORE RECOGNITION

Dear Editor:

The Tuesday edition of the Kaimin contains an error. It is an error, even though sustained by a long series of illustrious precedents. The Kaimin asserts, "The business administration school will graduate the largest class." Thereafter it mentions that 83 men and 25 women will complete their work on the north side of the campus.

In the next paragraph, the Kaimin reports, "Applications for degrees in arts and sciences total 69 men and 60 women." Apparently, it did not occur to anyone that the latter group is graduating from the College of Arts and Sciences. The figures for the latter school definitely exceed the respectable total from the business administration building.

The error again illustrates the fact that the best informed students on the campus are unaware of the existence of the College of Arts and Sciences, the core of this institution. It is easy to conceive of a university without the schools of business administration, journalism, et cetera. Few would claim that a university could exist without the arts and sciences. The student need not maintain an embarrassed and apologetic silence regarding the College of Arts and Sciences. It can boast of a staff which does not fall behind the professional competence shown in the other fields.

Of course, one cannot be too severe with the Kaimin or the students. They have heard much of the wares which the various schools offer. Perhaps too little has been said regarding the place, not to mention the existence, of the arts and sciences. We stress the virtues of general education; time is consumed trying to determine the necessary ingredients and minimum dosage of such general education. At the same time, it seems that we have failed to let the student know of the presence of the College of Arts and Sciences and its central role in a university.

Lastly, it is remotely possible that a few of the young people who go elsewhere to get a B.A. might come to Missoula if they heard that we have a College of Arts and Sciences which grants a recognized B.A.

Bulldogs to Meet Grizzlies

BY TOM ANDERSON

The Bulldogs from Gonzaga invade the realm of the Montana State University Grizzlies tonight and tomorrow night for a final two-game series between the two clubs. In two earlier games this season, the Gonzagans defeated the Montana team, 56 to 52, in an overtime game, and 63 to 55 the second night in Spokane.

The Bulldogs come to Missoula with a rapidly improving squad, a team that has progressed greatly from their early season form. Both Gonzaga and Montana are in a period of rebuilding this year, but the Bulldogs have a better over-all season average in games won and lost than do the Grizzlies.

The strong "G-Whiz Kids" from last season's Bulldog team have gone the way of all good athletes—run out of eligibility. For four seasons Rich Evans, Frank Walter, and Jack Curran, along with Joe Brasch, Pat Sweeney, and Bill Schauble have romped the courts for Gonzaga and brought basketball fame to Gonzaga university.

Four Lettermen

Gonzaga Coach Bill Underwood has six lettermen on this year's Bulldog team. Diminutive Jim McCaughey is back to be a constant thorn in the side of his taller opposition. McCaughey is a former Butte Central high school standout. Rollin Schauble, a 5 foot, 9 inch junior, is in his second year of competition with the Blue and White. Dave Hammermeister and Dick Hire are the other two lettermen.

However, two sophomores are leading the Gonzaga team this year. Ironically enough, these two are both Montana products. Hal Van Riper, 6 feet, 4 inches, and Kay Mihalovich, 6 feet, 3 inches, are from Kalispell and Roundup, respectively. This isn't the whole story as far as Montana players on the Gonzaga team is concerned. Art Previs, Thompson Falls, and Jack Heffernan, from Butte, are also on the Bulldog roster.

Probable starters for the Gonzaga Bulldogs are Kay Mihalovich and Nick Puhich at forwards, Van Riper at center, and McCaughey and Schauble at the guard positions.

No Jack Sparks

The Montana Grizzlies will be without the services of their tall forward and second highest scorer, Jack Sparks, in the week-end series with the Bulldogs. Sparks injured his foot in the first minute of the Willamette game in Salem last Wednesday and will be lost to the Grizzlies for at least two weeks.

To replace Sparks in the starting lineup, Coach Jiggs Dahlberg will probably start Don Lucas, whose playing has steadily improved since the beginning of the season. Lucas will team at the forward position with Bob Hasquet, the team's leading scorer. At center will be sophomore Mick Luckman, who has been outstanding on rebound work for the Grizzlies. The guard positions will be filled by Dick Anderson and Hal Sherbeck, both aggressive floormen.

Hal Maus and Bob Byrne, who missed the Oregon trip, due to injuries, will be in the lineup for the Grizzlies this week end.

Four Teams Cop Wins Wednesday

Four teams copped wins Wednesday night at the Men's gym, as the end of the sixth week of intramural cage play moved in on the intramural basketball season.

In the first game, the Independents rolled to a decisive 57-to-28 victory over the Wesley foundation. Taylor, Independent forward, rallied his team to their win with 16 points, while Kinzle backed up the squad with 15 counters.

In the second game, the Ski club won a slim 42-to-36 game, to make a total of 7 wins and 1 loss in intramural league standings for their team. Bush, Ski club center, tossed in 23 points to cop individual high score honors this season.

In the third game played, the Sooners beat the Sig Ep quint by 20 points. Stewart of the winners made 13 points to lead the team to their 44-to-24 win. The Rodeo club trampled over South hall by a score of 50 to 30, as Boifeuillet of the winners hit the hoop for 14 points to pace the squad.

Attorneys Chosen To Officiate In Grudge Game

The Law School association basketball team and the Woodchopper's Quintet will settle a long standing feud in a preliminary game to the Montana-Gonzaga contest Saturday night. Bill Walterskirchen, Missoula, publicity chairman for the barristers, announced that the battle will be waged to reclaim all trophies, lost, strayed, or stolen from each school during the past year.

As evidence of the growing unrest within the Forestry school, a moose named Bertha, the prize trophy of the forestry school, is said to have saddled up late Wednesday night, placed all the forestry trophies on her back, and enrolled as a member of the law school.

It is rumored that Bertha, in preparation for the season's highlight, is to undergo a Toni wave, a shave, and general beauty treatment. Clifford Schleusner, Forks, barrister president, could not be reached for comment, but a spokesman for the foresters said
