Two Debaters Win Contests

The debate team of Cathy Doherty and Joan Ward, both of Butte, Missoula High School, won two and lost one at the Christmas tournament in Pullman, Wash. The other MSU team of Joan Gibbons, Butte, and Roxanna Warren, Missoula, forfeited their fourth debate because of the illness of Miss Warren.

Washington State College won the tournament and won the Daggie Memorial trophy with six wins and two losses. MSU was second with a four-four and MSU were tied with three wins and five losses each.

The University of Idaho won the tournament and won the Kappa Kappa Gamma trophy with 11 wins and one loss. Washington Andreasen and Mary Ken Patterson of Butte, and Joan Ward and Joan Gibbons of Missoula, were declared the three best speakers.

The other MSU team of Joan Gibbons, Butte, and Roxanna Warren, Missoula, were declared the second best speakers.

All of the pictures in the living group will be used for the new PSK yearbook. The seniors, sororities, and fraternities will be individual pictures. The book will include a section for each of the classes.

Living Groups Asked to Plan Christmas Serenades

Social news chairmen of all living groups should include the names and the places of each plan to be used during Christmas vacations when Kalispell social news is turned in this Wednesday. The plans of the married and the plans of the married persons should be given. If the plan is not to be used by Jewel Beck, campus editor.

Masquer Tryouts Scheduled Today

For tryouts the coming Masquer’s production, “Macbeth,” will be conducted today and tomorrow in the eighteen living groups. Women from every living group on campus will serenade the men’s dorms and fraternity houses tonight during the Christmas vacation.

Each group will sing to three of the men’s residences. The reason for this change from the former custom of singing to every group is the change in the number of people. It is hoped that the change will make the serenades more enjoyable for both groups.

The Exam Issue...

No one questions the authority of the faculty to demand finals for seniors during fall and winter quarters while they exempt those who will graduate in the spring. However, this does not help those who will graduate in the fall or who graduate in the spring. The ruling gives a favored position to those who will graduate in the fall, and on the surface, of course, goes without question.

The only reason that has been advanced for the inequity is that the commencement exercises interfere with spring quarter finals for graduating seniors. Since the issue was first broached, there has been little word from the faculty. This silence may indicate that no one who backed the partial final plan is now willing to defend his stand. The silence may also mean that the present ruling will be revoked at some future date.

This might be well for those who are the objects of a very unfair ruling.—D.W.

The Letters to the Editor...-

ADMINISTRATION SCORED AGAIN REGARDING FINALS

Dear Editor:

We are willing to admit that the people who are responsible for exempting all graduating seniors from final exams have the right to make changes. The administration gave them the right to make changes. What annoys us is the kind of reasoning employed after the latest change in policy.

The Kaimin was absolutely right when it cited the importance of giving a graduating senior a free hand to settle his personal affairs. No matter when a student plans to leave the University, he has to hunt for a job, and fast. It takes a lot of letter writing, a lot of personal interviewing, a lot of time, and a lot of careful consideration to get a position. The graduate can concentrate on job hunting or on school, but not on both. Students who have enough money to tide them over after graduation, until they can find a spot to land, are mighty rare.

If the administration wants to pay fair, it has only to recognize the fact that there are some things in this red-taped world which are more important than final examinations. But if finals are as important as the administrators seem to think, then let them find a way to carry it out. Something has to be done Friday after finals. Let them fill out the forms at the employment offices, and let them knock on all the doors. Let them explain our parents why students cannot be employed at their normal rate of pay during the first week after finals.

As we remember it, the present policy was to pay the student and give the job to the one who paid it. The present administration is not obligated to defend it. A review of the evidence is plainly necessary, and we hope that more reasonable counsel will be heard. Sincerely,

Pat Solvie Rosalie Slucum

Vandals Edge Montana, 64-58

Fall Idaho Squad Means Short End for Grizzlies

Idaho's tall Vandals overcame a Montana third quarter lead early in the fourth quarter, then shot accurately and stalled the last four minutes for a 64 to 58 win over the Grizzlies. The Grizzlies scored erratically but found a lid on the loop in the closing minutes while Idaho dominated the backboards.

Fouls were many and sometimes mopers got hot. But despite the ups and downs, the game was fast. The Grizzlies, in their first time of the season, looked good at times, but as Vandals height was too much, Idaho outscored Montana by 15 points.

The Grizzlies were led by Hal Sherbeck and Bob Sparks with 15 points each. Sherbeck was the top man in the scoring column, while Idaho's Kruger and Vandal were next with 12.

Despite the12, the game was fast. The Grizzlies and Vandal Krugs were fast, but the Grizzlies got hot. But despite the fast pace, Fouls were many and sometimes mopers got hot. But despite the ups and downs, the game was fast.

Sherbeck started the Grizzlies off on a scoring spree with two quick baskets, then Sparks scored the Grizzlies and Vandal Kruger were fast, but the Grizzlies got hot. But despite the fast pace, Fouls were many and sometimes mopers got hot. But despite the ups and downs, the game was fast.
