Over 7,500 textbooks, 4,000 packs of notebook paper, 3,000 pencils, and countless other commodities are sold each quarter at the MSU book store. The present store came into existence simultaneously with the Student Union building in 1936. M. H. McCollum has been manager of the MSU book store since 1921.

MSU Bookstore Has Interesting History

BY HENRY PRATT

Student bookstore sales for the opening day of fall quarter, 1947, were greater than the cash register's receipts during the entire school year of 1931-32.

That's a good reason why ASMSU's store facilities have had to be expanded during the years to meet the needs of an increased enrollment, M. H. McCollum, manager, said yesterday.

The store made its biggest money during the 1947-48 term when GI's back from World War II zoomed the University enrollment to 3,800. Only 1,200 students attended MSU during the depression term, 1931-32. It was the store's worst year, McCollum said.

Bookstore Started in 1919

A group of interested students began the first bookstore on the campus in 1919. It was housed in the machine shop now located at the right of the Men's gym, but which was then located on the present site of the forestry school.

In 1921 the store was incorporated as a campus business, and two years later its services had increased so much that facilities had to be found in the old forestry building, now the state correspondence school in back of Main hall.

That's the year McCollum, or "Mac" as his friends call him, was graduated from the University with an economics major to assume the store's management. He has been manager ever since.

Store Needed

The store was moved to its present location in the Student Union building when it opened its doors to the campus in 1936. Since that time, the ASMSU bookstore and cafeteria has become the most (please see page four)

News in a Nutshell

BY UNITED PRESS

Democratic National Chairman Frank McKinney says President Truman soon will take "drastic action" to clean up his administration. McKinney, following a conference with the President, says Mr. Truman feels he has been "sold down the river by some disloyal" government employees. McKinney did not spell out what kind of "drastic action" the President is contemplating.

Boston—Senator Robert Taft hit at the administration on two fronts yesterday, the tax scandals and spending.

The Ohio Republican said the administration tax scandals "strike at the very fundamentals of our government."

He said the scandals have caused more resentment among the people than any other issue.

Truce negotiators were deadlocked over two key points as they went into session again last night.

Egypt postponed until today an announcement of whether it will break off diplomatic relations with Britain.

Advance Registration Totals 2,036

Two thousand thirty-six students completed advance registration last week by turning in their registration booklets.

Leo Smith, registrar, said that these figures are preliminary and "unofficial" because final figures will not be available until after the start of winter quarter.

"Quite a few probably didn't finish their booklets because of grades this quarter, some being undecided about returning, and some men are no doubt worrying about their draft status," he said.

Last year some 200 students registered after the start of winter quarter, he added.

Students planning to return next quarter and who have not completed registration, should turn in the booklets and other material on the first day of winter quarter, Jan. 7, in the Main hall basement.

Mr. Smith said registration and classes would begin on Monday this year because it was felt there are not enough students registering during winter quarter to warrant the extra day.

The extra day of registration was used when the veteran enrollment was high and many new students registered winter and spring quarters.

Scholarship Selections Slated Today

Two of the eight Montana Rhodes scholarship candidates will be selected here today to appear in the district competition at Spokane on Dec. 15, according to Dr. H. G. Merriam, secretary of the state Rhodes committee.

The eight candidates include five from MSU, one from Montana State college, one from Carroll college, and one, a Montana resident, attending the University of Chicago.

The MSU candidates are Tom Ambrose, Eureka; Don Graff, Laurel; Stanley Spangler, Billings; Thomas Bray and Weldon Niva, Butte.

The Montana Rhodes committee consists of Paul S. Gillespie, Missoula, chairman; J. R. Thomas, Butte, and Dr. Merriam.

Similar committee selections will be conducted throughout the nation during the week, and each state will choose two men to appear before the eight district committees on Dec. 15. Each district will select four men to receive scholarships. Thirty-two are awarded annually in the United States.

Winners in the district competitions receive two years of study at Oxford in any field or toward any degree offered there. The stipend is now 500 pounds per year.

At present, Sterling Soderling, Billings, and Joseph English, Anaconda, are Montana Rhodes scholars.

Final Plans To Be Made For Ski Trip

Final plans for the Ski club trip to Big Mountain will be made tonight at 7:30 in the Gold room. Car drivers, who will be allotted $4 per round-trip passenger, will sign up at that time, said Mollie Iler, Missoula, secretary.

Total cost of the trip is $19 per person. Persons who make a $10 deposit before the end of this quarter, said Miss Iler, will be given preference over others who sign up for the trip.

Students may make the deposit today, Thursday, or Friday at a table set up in the Student Union. The remaining $9 must be paid before Jan. 11.

Capital Officials Hopeful But Korean Effort Stalls

Washington, Dec. 11.—(U)—Top officials in Washington are said to feel that there is a 50-50 chance for an early Korean truce.

But, up to this moment, efforts in Panmunjon to reach an honorable cease-fire agreement in the 30-day trial period have proved almost a complete failure.

Grizzlies Lose, Idaho Strong In 4th Quarter

Wallace, Idaho, Dec. 11.—(U)—University of Idaho's undefeated Vandals scored 21 points in a tremendous fourth quarter rally tonight to rout Montana State University's Grizzlies 64 to 54. It was Idaho's seventh straight win of the season.

While Center Hartley Kruger and Guard Sam Jenkins led the uprising, Montana lost control of the backboards and failed to hit more than two tries from the field. Six Grizzlies, including high point man Chuck Davis, left the game on fouls.

The Grizzlies, who led all the way, were ahead 45 to 43 as the fatal fourth quarter started.

Montana Forward Davis tallied 20 points for high point honors. Kruger, who was heavily guarded, hit 18 for the Vandals.

It was the Vandals' second straight win over Montana. They downed the Grizzlies 64 to 58 last night in Missoula.

Law Business Said Crowded

In mid-1950, the legal profession was over-crowded. It appears likely to remain so during the next few years, although competition among new entrants will be reduced by the mobilization program. The United States department of labor estimated in a recent bulletin that about 12 thousand young lawyers passed the bar examinations during 1949. This, it said, is an all-time peak, close to twice as many as in the years just before World War II.

In the next few years, the average graduate may expect considerable competition in looking for a legal position or attempting to start a practice unless new positions are provided through defense production and increased government employment.

Specialists Fare Better

Opportunities for specialists are often better than for lawyers in general practice. The department reports specialties with relatively good prospects in the long run are: tax law (thorough knowledge of accounting is necessary), patent law, administrative law, admiralty law, and international law.

According to a survey made by the United States Department of Commerce, lawyers in independent practice had a median net income of about $5,700 in 1948, nearly twice as much as in 1941. Salaried lawyers, however, had higher median 1947 incomes than independent lawyers—$6,100 compared with $5,300.

PLAY TRYOUTS SCHEDULE

"MacBeth" tryouts are today in Simpkins Little theater:

7:30 to 9 p.m.

Two sub-committees of Allied and Communist negotiators are working separately on the two key issues blocking progress. They return to their bargaining tonight and apparently it is up to the Reds to break the log jam.

The Reds have demanded a "grab bag" swap of prisoners of war. The Allies want a man-for-man exchange. The Allies hold about 125 thousand Communist prisoners. Some 100 thousand Allied troops are missing, but it's not known how many are still alive and imprisoned by the Reds.

The other logjam involves policing an armistice. The Reds asked last night: "Would the Allies be willing to allow neutrals to carry out inspection behind the lines during an armistice if the Reds agreed to Allied demands for troop rotations and a central inspection organization?"

When questioned about the offer, the Reds turned the whole proposition down cold.

Tonight, the negotiators have only 16 days to the Dec. 27 deadline of their 30-day trial period. President Truman and his top military and diplomatic advisers look forward to an honorable truce by that deadline. But a Washington report says that at their meeting yesterday, the President and his advisers also decided that the United States must be ready to fight the war with renewed vigor if the current talks collapse.

Alpha Phi Omega Will Finish Signs

Alpha Phi Omega will meet at 7 tonight in the Makeup room of the Student Union to finish the campus directory signs. These are the signs that are placed in front of the various campus buildings indicating their names and when they were built.

The signs for the Student Union and the Strip houses are the only ones remaining to be made.

Swearingen Consults Architects

T. G. Swearingen, university maintenance engineer, spent last Wednesday and Thursday in Kalispell conferring with the architects who are planning MSU's new men's residence hall.

The architects are the Fred Brinkman & Lenon firm in Kalispell. They are now completing the blueprints for the structure, Swearingen said.

The building, a modern campus dormitory for men, will be built on Maurice avenue across from the Women's Club-Art building.

Swearingen said no definite date for beginning the building could be given, since priority on essential construction materials would have to be obtained from Washington, D. C.

Groundbreaking for the university's building program, including three other structures, was previously set for March.

EDITORIAL—

Communist Line . .

Every week the Kaimin and ASMSU offices are deluged with bulletins, information pamphlets, and so-called news from the International Union of Students in Prague, Czechoslovakia.

This organization, Communist-dominated, poses as a student league forging for peace but it actually serves as a powerful prop for the Soviet propaganda line.

Couched in the many pages of reports of education systems and appeals for peace are the contradictory appeals for war and revolution.

And the Communist pamphlets make much propaganda use of the unsavory allies with whom we sometimes find ourselves. Our ally status with Spain and the Chiang government on Formosa are two examples.

In a mimeographed booklet labeled, "Information Bulletin," is this sampling from a story of Spain sent out by the IUS: "The people of Barcelona know the principal cause for the high cost of living, francoism's war policy in the service of the yankee imperialists."

From an IUS publication early this year, this declaration is made: "Taiwan (Formosa) is as much a part of China as Long Island is a part of the United States by virtue of history and international agreements."

"The Chinese students and the people on the mainland have already won their freedom and national independence, which are bringing them a happy life and a bright future under the leadership of their beloved leader, Chairman Mao Tse-tung . . . They always rejoice at each announcement proclaimed by their People's government that the people of China have resolved to liberate Taiwan from the clutches of the utterly shameless American aggressors. We have decided to do so and have the power to do so. The United States government must bear the responsibility for all the consequences arising thereby."

This line of Communist talk changed considerably in a later bulletin which contained a condemnation of the San Francisco treaty dealing with Japan. The line changed from a threatening standpoint to one of being threatened. It read, "China, in particular, is threatened by the close collaboration between the Kuomintang on Taiwan and the Japanese militarists."

Red literature from the IUS had this to say about General Douglas MacArthur before he was dismissed from his command: "The actions of MacArthur in no respects deviate from the pattern of atrocities committed by Nazi generals during their campaigns in the Soviet Union. MacArthur stands guilty as a war criminal in the fullest sense of the word."

These different paragraphs have been printed to acquaint the student with the gist of the Communist line from Prague that is sent to student councils and student newspapers in most U. S. colleges and universities. —D.W.

Letters to Editor . .

AMBROSE LETTER GIVES MAIN EDITORIAL POINTS

Dear Mr. Honkala:

I'd like to raise a point or two in connection with your letter in yesterday's Kaimin.

Mr. Smith's letter did not correct two regrettable errors in Burton Warren's editorial of last Tuesday—one, that Mr. Smith and Mrs. Lommasson were not unaware of the new faculty ruling, even though their office clerks apparently hadn't been informed of it, and, secondly, that contrary to the administration spokesman from whom Warren got his information, the ruling wasn't just "a whim of a faculty committee."

Perhaps, as you say, the answering editorial "continued the confusion," although you fail to expand on that statement. The column's main points, of course, were these:

1. Whatever the reasons, most of the fall quarter graduates were not informed that they would have to take tests until less than two weeks before finals.

2. The faculty has come up with no adequate explanation as to why 10 per cent of the graduating class should be discriminated against under what is obviously an unfair ruling.

No faculty member has as yet come up with an explanation for the first point, nor has there been any further clarification of the second. A few members of the MSU teaching staff have been heard to mumble something about the ruling's making administrative matters easier for them . . . which, of course, is no explanation at all.

While the student body certainly concedes that the faculty has the power to rule in matters such as this, the students have a right to expect the faculty to be both fair and responsible in its use of that power. And they have the right to protest any faculty ruling which does not take their feelings into account, but which also, as in this case, is in itself both unfair and irresponsible.

Sincerely,
Tom Ambrose.

JV Team Will Enter Intramurals

The Junior Varsity basketball team will enter the intramural basketball league, although not for intramural points, Coach Jiggs Dahlberg said yesterday.

Coach Dahlberg said the intramural league would give the younger hoopsters better competition than the teams in the city league. He added that the Junior Varsity squad may play a four-game series with the Bobkittens of MSC but definite plans have not been made.

At the present every member of the JV team is a freshman, but Coach Dahlberg said "Because freshmen are now eligible for varsity competition, some of the better freshmen players may replace sophomores on the varsity squad, thus bringing some of the sophomores into the junior varsity status."

Coach Dahlberg said the junior varsity club is "looking better than average, because this year we have height to our advantage."

Twelve or thirteen men will compose the traveling squad, the Grizzly coach said, but which of the freshmen who appeared against the Idaho Vandals last night will make the trips has not been definitely decided.

"Suiing up" from the freshman stable for last night's battle were Dick Trinastich, Frank Nickel, Don Chaney, and Mike Granbois.

Wyoming Picked Top Team On Skyline Totem Pole

BY BUD SCOTTEN

According to predictions advanced by Tim Cohane, Look magazine sports editor, Wyoming will be the team to beat in the Skyline basketball conference.

Coach Ev Shelton's Cowboys trimmed the MSC Bobcats last week end to celebrate the opening of their 1952 season. However, Coach Shelton picks his team as third best in the conference. This may be just another coach's-eye view of his own team.

Shelton has material galore, many of his first-liners being returning lettermen. The only letterman lost through graduation from the Poke squad of 1950 was Ed Varden, a big scorer in past seasons.

High-scoring Moe Radovich, who was picked for many of the all-conference teams last year, will lead the fast, race-horse segment of Shelton's two-platoon club. This year, Shelton is attempting to combine the merits of fast and controlled playing.

Dick Haag, another stalwart of the Wyoming hardwood crew, will also get in his licks in offensive play. Haag finished last season with a shot average of 47 per cent.

Tuff Samuelson, who completes Shelton's stable of three 40-minute men, will haunt the backboards for his special meat, the rebounds.

The nucleus of Shelton's starting lineup, Radovich, Haag, and Samuelson, will be supplemented by Bob Burns, John Hughes, 6 foot, 8½ inch Joe Orschanski, and Bob Clements, another tall center.

The reserve section offers little to be desired in depth. Returning veterans Leroy Esau and Roy Rutz and rookies Ron Rivers and Pete Fowler will add to the speed and ball control panel of experts.

Fifteen men made the Bozeman trip. The starters against the Bobcats were Radovich, Haag, Samuelson, Burns, and Hughes.

The Cowboys will meet the Grizzlies here Jan. 19 and again in Laramie Jan. 25.

Stanky Signs As Cardinal Manager

St. Louis, Dec. 11.—(P)—Eddie Stanky, the peppercorn second baseman, is the new manager of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Stanky signed a two-year contract at St. Louis tonight to manage the Cards. His salary was not disclosed but it is believed to be in the neighborhood of $35,000 a year.

The signing of Stanky completed a double deal in which the New York Giants agreed to trade Stanky to the Cards if the Cardinal owner could come to terms with Stanky. In return, the Giants will get southpaw hurler Max Lanier and outfielder Chuck Diering.

DIMAGGIO WILL RETIRE

New York, Dec. 11.—(P)—Joe DiMaggio, the famed New York Yankee, announced his retirement after 13 seasons in the major leagues. The 37-year-old "Yankee Clipper" listed "physical injuries" as the chief reason for calling it quits.

Pratt Praises SU Bookstore

heavily trafficked spot at the University.

Mac said the store is busiest during the first day of classes each quarter when students flock in to buy textbooks and supplies. Three bookstore employees are now getting ready for winter quarter's buying rush after New Year's, he said.

Does Good Business

Over 7,500 text books are sold to university students each quarter along with 4,000 packs of notebook paper and 3,000 pencils, Mac estimates. He also does a land-office business in cigarettes, candy, drug supplies, athletic goods, and novelties. These are his most-asked-for items, he said.

A general mark-up policy from 10 to 30 per cent has kept the bookstore out of the red since 1923. Text books have about a 15 per cent mark-up, Mac explained. It is higher for general supplies.

Rush Hours

The busiest hours for the store are from 9 to 11 in the morning and 2 to 4 in the afternoon. These rush periods coincide with the busiest hours of the cafeteria, Mac said. The store is open weekdays from 8:30 to 5 and 8:30 to 1 on Saturday.

A check for $5,000 was turned over to ASMSU last spring as surplus profit of the 1950-51 campus store operation. This included profit of the cafeteria, bookstore, and extension departments, all under the administration of the Store board.

First Profit

The cafeteria made its first profit entry in two years during October this fall. This department had been under subsidization of the bookstore under Store board authority during the "red" period. Store board is composed of five students and two faculty members, who are all voting delegates, and Kirk Badgley, campus financial advisor. The part of the building used for the three departments is rented annually from the Student Union.

Members Listed

Student members of Store board this year are Doug Kuster, Hamilton; Robert Lamley, Kenton, Ohio; George Harpole, Arcadia, Calif.; Ann Kugler, Missoula; and Joan Arnold, Malta. They were elected in the annual ASMSU balloting last spring.

The store's extension department is a business in itself. It furnishes text books and supplies for the extension and state correspondence courses given to hundreds of students each year in isolated sections of the Treasure state.

Books Will Be Returned

Students will soon be returning their used text books to the store. They will get from 50 to 60 per cent of the book's original price. This is 10 per cent more than most bookstores throughout the country pay, Mac said.

Don Ritter '46, is manager of the book department. He was graduated from the University in business administration. Four other full-time employees and seven part-time student employees make up the bookstore's staff.

Group Holds Annual Hunt

An annual Christmas tree hunt was staged last Sunday by the Christian Science organization of the University. The group spent approximately three hours in Pattee canyon where they cut about thirty trees under the guidance of K. D. Swan of the U. S. Forest Service.

Following the hunt, a buffet supper was served at the home of Gordon Montgomery, 341 Eddy avenue, in Missoula. The group spent the evening singing Christmas carols to the accompaniment of Gib Leibinger, Miles City, and Mrs. Gertrude Johnson, 1801 South Fifth West, who also aided Mrs. Montgomery with the supper.

Betty Russell, Missoula, organization president, announced that the next function will be the Twelfth night party, which will be held Jan. 7.

WAA to Award Honors Tonight

Letters, "M" pins, and participation credits will be awarded to more than 145 women at the WAA Santa party tonight at 7:30 in the women's gym.

Women who have played eight hours or more during the volleyball season have earned participation credits. Of the 179 women who participated in the games, 93 have played the required time.

Ten coeds earned credits in interseasonal sports, and 40 earned credits in swimming.

"M" pins will be awarded to 12 women. Names of those who will receive M club letters will be announced tonight.

Among the special guests invited to the party are Pres. and Mrs. Carl McFarland, Dr. and Mrs. R. H. Jesse, Dr. Maurine Clow, Dean and Mrs. Herbert Wunderlich, Mr. Kirk Badgley, the physical education faculty, campus house mothers, and ASMSU officers.

All women students are also invited to the party. There will be entertainment and refreshments.

RED CROSS MEETS TODAY

The Red Cross executive committee will meet today at 4 p.m. in the makeup room of the Student Union, Betty Troxel, Billings, said.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 30...THE SQUIRREL

This nimble-minded nutcracker almost tumbled for those tricky cigarette mildness tests. But he worked himself out of a tight spot when he suddenly realized that cigarette mildness just can't be judged by a mere puff or one single sniff. Smokers everywhere have reached this conclusion—there's just one real way to prove the flavor and mildness of a cigarette.

It's the sensible test . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke—on a pack-after-pack, day-after-day basis. No snap judgments. Once you've enjoyed Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why . . .

After all the Mildness Tests . . .
