Board Picks O'Donnell

While they folded student recruitment letters, Central board voted in favor of Walter O'Donnell, Havre, for business manager for the day.

They also tentatively decided to get Duke Ellington's band for March 27, 1952, and discussed the possibility of making a color movie of MSU. O'Donnell, former student and ASMCU business manager of Northern Montana college at Havre, was recommended for the job by ASMSU business manager Harvey Schleiman, Missouri. His responsibility will be spending the $3,000 for the production of "La Boheme."

National Heart association will probably have a drive in February, providing CS can select a manager to conduct the drive. So far, four other big drives have been given permission to solicit funds: Red Cross, World Student Service, YWCA, and YP.

Duke Ellington Considered

Partly because of a constitutional bylaw and partly because of an interpreted federal tax law, plans to contract Duke Ellington to play at MSU for the first time in three years, are in the planning stage. Ellington, famous for such pieces as Mood Indigo, Solitude, and Sophisticated Lady has several records with his band. The King Cole Trio, Wardell Gray, and Joe Pass are some of the names mentioned.

Law Adds Complications

If the new tax law applies to the entertainment, Bill Reynolds, ASMSU president, said, we will have to pay $30,000 to come out in the clear. About 1,400 persons would have to buy tickets. Today there is only $125 in the buffer fund after the loss was deducted for the Ray Anthony dance, he said.

Ray Hoffman, Helena, said that the poor turnout for Anthony's show was due to the high cost of $5.50, but that Turner's name isn't as well known as Anthony's. "I thought it looked like a good deal," said Turner, who is a candidate for delegate, outlined a plan for Plan Movie on MSU public relations.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

Tomorrow's Convos Features Messiah

The University chorus, orchestra, and seven solos will present the operatic masterpiece Handel's "The Messiah" at a convocation tomorrow morning in the Student Union auditorium.

Several sectional and choral groups and the symphony orchestra will present a program of Christmas music in three parts in lieu of the "Messiah" one day trial. The "Messiah" will be the third and final part.

Beginning the program under the direction of Lloyd Oakland, associate professor of music, will be the Student glee club. Before the first part of the program, the "Messiah" will be the third and final part.

Another Shaggy Dog Story

From the male viewpoint of maintaining a satisfactory appearance, the campus barber shop is one of the most commonly sired as that keeping their unruly coiffures well trimmed at today's prices for haircuts.

Although a lot of planning has been done late on how to improve student services, such as the post office substation and the construction of a year-round ice skating rink, no one has yet hit upon the idea of installing barber shop facilities on campus.

The price of a haircut represents almost two hours work if a student is employed part-time in university work, or to put it in an even more degrading manner, it represents five bottles of beer or a couple of movies—with popcorn.

Yet, an average barber can cut three heads of hair an hour and probably more, depending upon the individual barber. At $1.25 for a haircut, a two-chair hair shop probably grosses about $300 a week. Multiply that by four and it's over $1,000 a month. Take out for salaries, rent, and stock—down—-and it still leaves a profitable margin.

At one of the 1,000 or so campus barber shops, males could be persuaded to switch from their present barbers. In addition to liking the way they cut hair, the trimmer's accompanying fishing stories may be too enticing to risk getting a silent barber in the Student Union. The magazine selection may be better, too, at the student barber shop.

The proposal itself could not be lowered due to local union regulations, it would provide a convenient service to students—Dick Smith

Letters to the Editor

HISTORY PROF WRITES

Dear Editor:

I believe I have a bit to contribute to the controversies on final examinations for graduating seniors and on the honor problem.

Last year the subject of final examinations, one of the grist at least two faculty meetings, was discussed and clarified; and was then passed by a majority vote of the faculty present. Except in its impoliticness, this was exactly what a majority of any faculty committee or of the administration, and it was not adopted without reasonable consideration. When first introduced for discussion the proposal met with objections on the grounds that it would be inequitable.

At the second meeting the protests were again raised and the chairman explained that though the problem of equality of treatment was involved incidentally, the basic issue was of policy.

Basically, all students, regardless of class or status, should take all final examinations. That has been a faculty decision of several years' standing.

However, whenever a commencement program is being set up, with printed lists of graduates, it seems necessary to get a final processing of records of graduating seniors well in advance of the commencement date. The cost could not be done without excusing the graduates from final examinations, but it was the circumstances, not the question of discrimination, which resulted in the final decision.

Two years ago we were able to get the Reverend Wood and his wife to take the job of directing the new student, established in 1924, Mr. Dradgstedt said. "They are both specially trained, in this work and have had several years' teaching experience. They had just completed a relief assignment in Poland, and I have a feeling that this is a great appeal after a bare subsistence in war-torn Poland."

COMEDIAN ESCAPES DEATH

Fort Benning, Ga. Dec. 12.—Comedian Jerry Lewis almost lost his life yesterday. He was caught around with parachute equipment but somehow managed to get the para- chute lines around his neck at a practice platform. He became entangled in a tangle, then barely managed to get to the platform, and ease the ropes from his neck.

The line was cut with a curved razor, and then Lewis was thrown into a holding tank for the night. Episcopalians in the ACHS have worked out one-half years as a special student at the University of Chicago, which is a voluntary group.

This fall, he staked a new gold claim near McBride, B. C., which he is trying to work. He was given a thousand dollars in the late years, but said that he thought he had been rather lucky. He bought a new, three-year-old automobile at a price of $1,000, and has been driving it for three years.

Robert Miller, 58; Montana Collegian

You're never too old to go to MSU. That's the thinking of 58-year-old Robert Ozias Miller, a special student in political science at MSU.

Mr. Miller has a background as unusual as his age. He served in the 58 short years (and he emphatically says he's never short). Miller has been a private secretary, mining engineer, farmer, salmon student, writer, prospector, and a veteran of two world wars.

It all began in Franklin County, Miss., in 1988. Miller was born and raised in the county, the son of a rancher. He was tutored by Fred O. Darling, a claasman of William H. Taft. Then, Miller studied law under the direction of the Reverend Wood and his wife, the Rev. Clara C. Wood, and has been paid since July.

"We are now working on a school year assignment to make up the past, ending June 30," Mr. Dradgstedt said. "This was the board of directors' plan to meet existing and forecasts for the future." It was a decision for the past few months to instructors. The Rev. Wood and his wife, the Rev. Clara C. Wood, have not been paid since July.

A letter written by Carl E. Dradgstedt, local clothing merchant, was sent to parents of religion students, to see if they could afford to pay for the education of their children.

I think your protests are a bit late, Mr. Dradgstedt said. "The problem of equality of treatment has been recognized for years. Though most of us have been your protest. I do not believe the students who have been protesting are the ones who are responsible for the problems.

CORRECTION

Because of some mixup on the copy, last week's letter by the Rev. Dragstedt, local clothing merchant, was added to a sentence in Tom Ambrose's letter yesterday, thereby changing its meaning considerably.

The second paragraph should, of course, have read "Mr. Smith's letter held correct some regrettable errors in Burton Warren's editorial of last Tuesday . . ."

CHIMNEY CORNER

540 Daly Avenue
Grizzly Gab
by LEW KEIM

January 5, 1952, will mark a new chapter in Montana basketball history; the Grizzlies make their first debut in the tough Skyline conference against the Idaho Vandals. A 14 game conference schedule awaits the Grizzlies and some games will provide Grizzly fans with plenty of top notch basketball. The complete Grizzly schedule boasts 26 games—15 away and 11 at home.

Idaho's Vandals provided the first two games of the schedule and also the two defeats. However, the Vandals knew they had played a tough foe. Fourth quarter coldblood and lack of height were the Grizzlies' shortcomings. In the second game of the opening series the Grizzlies tried to make up for their act of height as compared with the Vandals, by constant checking on the Vandals' scholarship centers. But they positively overlooked the hardworking Utah State athletes as the Grizzlies fouled out in the effort.

Utah State Aztecs will have played 37 hoop contests by the end of their season in March. Although their publicity folder lists only a 26 game season, the Aztecs toured Mexico in September and played six 'warm ups' games. They won six and lost one. Before their meet the Grizzlies, they take on 15 teams in preparation for the Skyline challenge.

Montana Collegians tangle with the renowned Harlem Globe Trotters in the University gym December 19th. The Collegians, composed mainly of former Grizzlies, are donating proceeds from their games to the Grizzly athletic scholarship fund. The games promised to demonstrate more among the alumni of former Grizzly athletic scholars than the Grizzly hoopsters themselves.

If the Grizzlies are to compete on a par with their Skyline competitors, they need more money. But money raised by the intramural season would be brought into the Grizzly athletic fund, which is so desperately needed for equipment and uniforms.

Cope is Coaching Air Force Squad
Bob Cope '59 has been named coach of the Suffok College at the Idaho State Fair. Cope, a former Grizzly basketball, track, and baseball star, is also filling the center spot on the Suffok five. In 1949 he was chosen for this, All-American basketball team by the Helms Athletic Foundation of Los Angeles.

Now a private first class, Cope entered the air force last spring. During the last game, Cope got the Grizzly hoop squad, Cope scored 1,408 points in four years at Grizzly, and he is eligible for the senior citizen athletic scholarship.

ROTC Rifle Team Seeks First Win
The ROTC rifle team will fire in their fifth match in the Southwestern Montana league when they meet the team from St. Ignatius at the ROTC range tonight.

The ROTC squad has lost all four of their matches with teams in the civilian league. Frenchtown, Victor, Missoula Moose, and Helendale have defeated the ROTC team.

J-School Still Kegler Kings

The Journalism faculty bowling team increased its lead Tuesday night as they rumbled over the Physical Education five for three straight games.

Business Administration kept second place by defeating Liberal Arts in two of the three game series.

Although Military Science kegler walked away with many individual and team honors for the evening, their team dropped two games to the Humanities squad. The Military team hit 8,406 pins for high team series and also collected the high single game team score with 842 pins.

The honor of copping high individual series was closely contested. Prof. R. B. Brunson won out however, by one pin. He edged M/Sgt. E. J. Allen with a 575 score to Allen’s 573.

Prof. J. E. Dew rolled the high game of the night with a 204 score. Allen played second fiddle again with 200 pins.

Administration won two of three games from the Botany-Chemistry team.

Phi Delta Lead Volleyball League

Phi Delta Theta continued to dominate the intramural volleyball competition Tuesday night as they handed Phi Sigma Kappa and their first place hopes a defeat. Sigma Chi moved into second place by dropping Alpha Tau Omega.

Sigma Nu pushed Sigma Alpha Epsilon further down in the standings with a decisive win. The Sooners caught fire and rolled over the Theta Chis and won by forfeit from the Bear Paws.

Wesley foundation and the F.S.K.'s also received forfeits from Bear Paws and Jumbo hall respectively.

Intramural director George Cross has ruled Jumbo hall, Sigma Chi and Wesley ineligible for further competition. The three teams were ruled ineligible because they had forfeited two games.

Light Sessions For Silvertip Cagers Today

Grizzly Coach "Jiggs" Dahlberg put his charges through light workouts yesterday and plans to do the same today. He says the Grizzlies looked even better in the second Idaho game than they did in the first, but that the loss of five men in final quarter proved decisive.

"Ed Anderson and Bud Bellis played their last basketball so far this season in the second game," Dahlberg said. The Grizzlies had trouble at the foul line again as they only connected on 14 of 26 free shots. In the first Vandal tilt they hit only 20 of 41.

The Grizzlies will use the same style of offense they used against the Vandals in trying for their first win against the tail Washington State Cougars. Dahlberg says, "even though the Cougars lost their first three games they have a good potential team. They will compare with Idaho in both height and ability.”

The 1949-50 edition of Grizzly hoopers held 12 of the 20 existing Grizzly hoop records.

J. Paul Sheedy * Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil
Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

POOR PAUL was aggeraporated because every chick on campus gave him the bird. They told him: "We’re all cooped up!" Then one day his roommate said to him: "You avoid you beak-cause your hair’s messy. You douch cluck! I don’t know lather you’ve heard of Wildroot Cream-Oil or not, but you better buy it—or, cry if you want to!" Well, Paul got Wildroot Cream-Oil and now the gals think he’s a good egg! Better lay down a few poultry cents on the nearest drug store counter for a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil. And ask for it on your hair at your favorite barber shop. Then the girlies’ll take off their hatch to you!
