Convo Speaker To Analyze Nation's Problems

Cary McWilliams, sociologist, author and lecturer, will evaluate various minority groups when he analyzes "America's Problems" at today's convocation.

A graduate of the University of Southern California, Mr. McWilliams has served his native state as commissioner of immigration and housing. He has twice been awarded Guggenheim Fellowships, is appeared four times on the Town Meeting of the Air and once on the Chicago Round Table. Although primarily a lecturer and student in his field, Mr. McWilliams has written 10 widely read volumes, including "Prejudice," "Brothers Under the Skin," and "I'll Fare the Land." Bernard E. Voto, in his review of "Prejudice," said: "This is a shocking, and appealing book—and a public service of inestimable value."

Mr. McWilliams has been on the staff of The Nation as a contributing editor since early 1945. He has contributed to The North American Review, The Atlantic Monthly, Harper's, The New Republic, M, The Saturday Review of Literature, and many other publications.

The University of Minnesota Concert and Lecture Service arranged Mr. McWilliams' lecture engagements in the colleges and universities of the upper midwest.

Eisenhower, Kefauver In Lead in Early N. H. Returns

Concord, N. H., March 11 (9:45 p.m.—UP)—New Hampshire democrats threw the form charts out the window today.

Voters are backing the solo bid of the Tennessee crime-buster, Sen. Estes Kefauver, and they're turning a deaf ear to the strong state machine of President Truman in the state's referential primary.

Republican voters are making the crystal ball predictions of the experts look a little better, but there are GOP surprises, too. General Eisenhower and Senator Taft are waging a slam-bang battle for

Rifle Meet Won By Montana

The Montana State University ROTC rifle team has placed first in the Fourth Air Force intercollegiate rifle competition, according to Maj. D. W. Painter, associate professor of air science.

The ten-man team racked up 358 points out of a possible 8,000. Each man fired 80 rounds over a four-week period. Targets supplied by Fourth Air Force headquarters at Hamilton Air Base, California, were returned there for grading. The victory now places the MSU unit in line for competition in the national meets.

Each competing member of the rifle squad will receive a medal and the unit will receive a trophy.

'Arsenic and Old Lace' Opens Tonight at Simpkins

"Arsenic and Old Lace," a Missoula Community theater production, opens tonight at 8:15 in Simpkins Little theater for a four-night run ending Saturday.

First-nighters will be treated to a coffee social hour in the dayroom nursery immediately after the play. Tickets are $1, and some good seats are still available for each night.

The play is a Joseph Kesserling comedy about two elderly sisters who want to make homeless old men happy. Apparently basing their actions on the belief that homeless old men are lonesome and unhappy, they serve their victims elderberry wine loaded with arsenic, strychnine, and cyanide.

Teddy, their brother, fits nicely into their scheme. He imagines he is Teddy Roosevelt and spends his time digging the Panama canal in the family cellar.

Jo Joyce Dratz and Harriet Pulliam, well-known Missoula women, will play the two sisters. Chuck Luedke will play Teddy. Others in the cast are Virginia Robinson, Clarence Miles, Bill Spahr, Joe Brown, Larry Livingston, and Ira Kittell, all of Missoula.

"Arsenic and Old Lace" is the second play of the Community theater season. The Missoula Community theater is almost a year old and has an active membership of 180 people in and around Missoula. It is a non-profit organization.

Bible Talk Presented by Claire Rauthe

"There is a way out of all the trouble confronting mankind today, and this solution is available in an understanding of the Bible," Claire Rauthe of London, said last night in a lecture on Christian Science.

She described the Bible as containing fundamental spiritual truths, "waiting only to be understood by each one of us and to be put into practice."

A member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, Mrs. Rauthe spoke under the auspices of the Christian Science organization in the Student Union auditorium. Her subject was "Christian Science: The Hope of Mankind."

The secret of the Bible's practical meaning, Mrs. Rauthe said, lies in an approach which will reveal its underlying principle, and provide the laws or rules by which its truths can be applied.

Mrs. Rauthe said Christian Science offers this key to the treasures of the Bible and provides an "entirely new approach—something that will wipe the dust of the ages from its sacred pages and make them live."

Seniors Plan for Banquet During Graduation Week

About 80 to 100 students present at a senior class meeting in the Student Union auditorium yesterday signified their interest in attending a commencement banquet during graduation week in June.

The show of hands was requested by Bob Smith, Choteau, senior class president, who called this meeting (the first since members of the group were freshmen) to get the ball rolling on commencement activities. Other seniors who were unable to attend the meeting yesterday will be asked to sign up later next quarter if they are interested.

"Seniors may bring any number of guests to the banquet," Smith said, "but each will be charged $1.75 a plate."

Commencement Plans

General commencement week activities were reviewed by O. J. Bue, professor of journalism, who is chairman of the commencement committee. The tentative schedule for the week's activities was presented as follows:

Friday, June 6—Awards and

Winter Quarter Recitals End

The last of a series of winter quarter student recitals was given yesterday afternoon at 3:00 in Main Hall auditorium. Leo Musburger, Missoula, performed a trombone solo, "Sonata in G Major for 'Cello' by Falliard. His accompanist was Virginia Harkins, Butte.

Claire Hallock, Opheim, baritone, sang "Memories of the Past" by Smith, accompanied by Rosalie Space, Grangeville, Ida. Chuck Stone, Butte, accompanied Larry Warn, Helena, who sang "Asleep in the Deep" by Petrie-Lamb.

A clarinet solo, "Second Concerto, Op. 74 (First Movement)" by Weber, was played by Monroe DeJarnette, Missoula. Virginia Rowe, Coeur d'Alene, Ida., accompanied him.

Miss Space played a piano selection, "Capriccio, Op. 116, No. 3" by Brahms. "Fantaisie Italienne," a clarinet solo by Delmas, was performed by Arlene Werle, Billings, with Miss Harkins accompanying.

The final number on the program was a trumpet solo, "Prelude et Ballade" by Balay, which was played by Larry Martinec, Lewistown. Miss Harkins was his accompanist.

The final recital to be presented by the music school this quarter will be held tomorrow when Madison Vick, senior music student from Missoula, presents his senior recital. The concert will be given at 8:15 p.m. in the Student Union auditorium.

prizes convo, morning; Phi Beta Kappa association dinner, evening.

Saturday, June 7—Commencement dinner, 6 p.m.; band concert on the oval, 7:30 p.m.; SOS, 8:30; AWS Lantern parade, 9 p.m.; commencement dance, 9:30 p.m.

Sunday, June 8—Art exhibition by the Women's club in the art building and a display by the museum in the Journalism building, afternoon; baccalaureate exercises, 8 p.m.

Monday, June 9—Commencement exercises, 2 p.m.; reception for seniors, 3:45 p.m.

'All the Tickets They Want'

"I'm going to see that seniors get all the tickets they want for the commencement exercise if we have to hang the people up on the rafters," Mr. Bue assured the seniors. Because only one exercise is being planned this year, several students had expressed concern about obtaining tickets for their relatives and friends.

Graduation announcements have been ordered and will be in the book store between May 10-15, Smith reported. Seniors will be asked to place their own orders at a price of 15 cents each. Names will be optional in the printed cards.

Caps and gowns will be made available for the graduates through the Student Union. The Union already has several for rent, and will make arrangements to rent others next quarter.

Hoffman Heads Dance

Ray Hoffman, Helena, big-name dance promoter, was named to head the commencement dance committee. Assisting him will be Bryce Breitenstein, Plains, and Dirk Larsen, Colville, Wash.

Five senior women volunteered their services to Pat Danielson, Billings, and Beverly Anderson, Conrad, who are heading the banquet committee. They were Marilyn Schuch, Anaconda; Lynn Hestekin, Billings; Joyce Frigaard, Anaconda; Liz Booth, Helena; and Shirley Petesch, Geysers.

Irene Stritch, Missoula, was appointed chairman of the swing-out committee. Dewey Sandvig, Denver, and Don Moe, Great Falls, were also named to the committee.

Letters to the Editor

Music Staff Lauds Enseling Reviews

Dear Editor:

We who are intimately involved in the musical activities of this community, wish to express publicly our appreciation for the worthwhile and stimulating musical criticisms which have appeared recently in the Kaimin and the Missoula papers under the byline of Al Enseling.

Although each of us does not necessarily agree with every remark in Mr. Enseling's articles, we are very grateful for his forceful and pointed expression of ideas and opinions. This is not the meaningless pussy-footing of the "safe" journalist afraid to take a stand, nor is it the reckless and unfounded prattle of an irresponsible sensationalist. Mr. Enseling's writing shows the advantages of a suitable background for reference, considerable imaginative thinking, and a charitable and constructive attitude. He has voiced disapproval in the kindest manner and approval in the most enthusiastic manner. The total effect of every criticism has been positive, constructive, and encouraging.

Missoula and the campus in particular have long needed the services of a good critic. The experience of encountering and weighing thoughtful opinions in artistic matters is a valuable educational process. Another valuable educational process is the exercise of the democratic means for communicating such ideas frankly and freely to the public. Specifically, Mr. Enseling has been responsible for a marked increase in the awareness and keen interest shown toward local musical activities, which is extremely gratifying, and the abundance of serious and even heated discussion that we have seen resulting from each of his critical reviews can only be highly beneficial.

Incidentally, of course, we hope the non-committal and non-informative concert report in the Kaimin of March 4 was a one-time venture and not the indication of trend.

Sincerely,

Robert Sutton, Paul Abel, Justin Gray, E. Andrie, J. G. Hummel, Rudolph Wendt, Mrs. DeLoss Smith, Lois Cole, Hasmig Gedickian, Bernice B. Ramskill, Lloyd Oakland, John Lester, O. M. Hartsell

Conferences Scheduled on Arts in State

Three university staff members will travel to Billings, Lewistown, and Great Falls between quarters to conduct conferences on writing, drama, and painting. The conferences are part of the program planned by the Northern Rocky Mountain Roundup of Regional Arts, according to director Henry V. Larom.

LeRoy W. Hinze, director for Simpkins theater, will advise community theater groups or groups who are interested in forming theaters. Assistant professor James E. Dew will discuss painting and Larom will speak about writing as a part time job. He will place special emphasis on radio writing.

The conferences are part of an experiment to see if conferences are good stimulants to interest in the three fields. The idea for the conferences grew out of a successful tour made last July by Hinze and Fred A. Buerki of the Wisconsin Union theater.

In Great Falls, the conference will be sponsored by the Montana Institute of Arts.

RED CROSS MONEY DUE

All campus Red Cross representatives should turn in their collections to the business office in the Student Union by 5 p.m. Thursday, according to Naomi Bach, Sidney, Red Cross chairman.

Mavity Attacks Theater Policy

Dear Editor:

I must take issue with the third excuse advanced by Bob Bothwell, Fox and Roxy theater manager, for the recent price hike in movie admissions.

As stated in the Kaimin, Mr. Bothwell made the blunt explanation that the student rate is a concession, not a right. Whether Mr. Bothwell gave any further explanations, I do not know. It seems that a man in Mr. Bothwell's position in the business world should have been more discerning as to the actual situation.

Granted, that the Fox Theater company was under no obligation to offer a student admission card, but once the offer had been accepted by the students by their purchase of a card for a consideration of fifty cents, it was no longer a concession (a word chosen by the magnanimous Mr. Bothwell).

It was no longer a privilege that the Fox company could continue or discontinue for the enjoyment of the ungrateful objects of their generosity, as the spirit moved them. Yet in effect this is what the Fox company has done.

By moving the student price to within five cents of the full admission price established at the time the courtesy cards were sold, a greater percentage raise than for other admissions, the company has taken away the meat of the agreement.

If we continue to follow Mr. Bothwell's illogical line of reasoning, the student admissions could be raised above the present top admission prices, even though students did pay an added 50 cents at the start of school this fall.

It is hoped, if Mr. Bothwell wishes to justify his unjustifiable action, that he will present a more tenable explanation than he has so far presented, unless, of course, the generosity of Mr. Bothwell is all that he has offer in his defense.

Lovless Wants Work in Peru

Col. Jay B. Lovless '25, serving with Headquarters, XVI Corps in Japan, recently applied for detail as Military Attache to Peru, according to a letter he wrote J. B. Speer, controller and professor of business administration.

Col. Lovless was formerly professor of military science and tactics at the University, serving in that position from August, 1946 till July, 1949.

He said in his letter that if he is successful in getting that detail, he will be required to attend the language school in Monterey, Calif., for a period of from six months to one year, depending upon his proficiency in learning the Spanish language.

Upon completing the school he would spend a period of time in Washington, D. C., receiving State department training.

Lt. Col. George Cullison, former member of the MSU ROTC staff, visited him at his base in Sendai, he said in his letter. Lovless said that Cullison recently returned from Korea with the 24th division and that he is now commanding the 2nd Battalion of the 21st Infantry, also located at Sendai.

Lovless said that 1st Lt. William Denend '49, also arrived recently in Japan, and was assigned to the unit in Southwestern Japan. Denend was one of his first ROTC graduates at the University.

Personal Donation Sent to Dr. Loran

The Montana division of the American Cancer society recently received and forwarded a $10 contribution to Dr. Muriel R. Loran, assistant professor of pharmacy, given by the Holm and Bradford families in memory of Mrs. Edna Swan of Livingston.

The money was sent to Dr. Loran by Mrs. Leonard C. Young, chairman of the Lewis and Clark county ACS, as an addition to the $5,000 Hanford Memorial award she recently received for research.

According to the letter accompanying the check, the Holm and Bradford families donated the money in memory of Mrs. Swan, a friend of theirs who died of cancer.

Music Camp Date Set for July 27 Through August 9

The annual High School Music camp for all high school students who play an instrument or sing, will be conducted July 27 to Aug. 9 at the University, according to Stanley M. Teel, acting dean and professor of music.

The orchestra will be under the direction of Eugene Andriano, assistant professor of music. Special string and ensemble groups are planned in addition to the full orchestra. The band will be conducted by Justin Gray and staff.

Lloyd Oakland, associate professor of music and choral director of the camp, said, "While experienced singers will be needed as leaders in each section, it is hoped that many less experienced singers will join the chorus and help to make it the largest and best summer camp choral group on record at MSU."

Piano ensemble will be taught by J. George Hummel, music instructor. In addition to class piano ensemble will attend to master classes conducted by John Crown, head of the piano department at the University of Southern California.

Participating students may take one of the following elective courses: a course in the performance of modern dance, stage arrangements with emphasis on reading; modeling, professional model training for girls only; radio techniques, an over-all picture of producing and directing a radio program. Grizzly Gab

by LEW KEIM

A curtain of confidence surrounds the applications for Montana's next football coach, but that isn't calmed the area of speculation. Many Grizzly sports fans and others have "hot tips" concerning the applications and the progress of the committee. Pres. Carl McFarland and the faculty athletic committee. For the last two weeks, McFarland and the committee have been considering the applications, reaching out for more applicants, and orienting themselves on the University's athletic program.

While the applicants are being viewed from the committee side of the proverbial table, the applicants themselves are doing a lot of deliberating from their side of the table. They are considering the future, the prospect for the future, and the limitations the committee will place on the next coach. The first limitation a prospective football coach considers is what kind of a staff will be set up around him, and if he will be allowed to select his assistants or assistant.

There is more to selecting our next football coach than just finding the man. I ask, "Is there going to be more than a football coach change in the athletic department?"

Montana's present athletic program has been good, the Grizzlies have given ample indication that the Skyline conference is their right field of competition and while the growing stage in the Skyline, the Grizzlies have proved themselves, despite a poor showing in football. To build an athletic program takes time, material, and finances.

This corner has received numerous reports of the names of some of the applicants, but only two are certainties outside of the curtain of confidence. They are Fred Erdause and former Grizzly great Jack Swarthout, who was an assistant football coach here in 1942, 1946, and 1947. Last year, Swarthout was selected Washington's high school coach of the year."

UTAH STATE AGGIES WIN
Utah State, the Skyline entry in the NAIB tourney, took their first journey win last night, 85 to 68, from Clarion, Pennsylvania State.

First Grizzly Skyline Season Entered In Hoop Ledger

The 1951-52 basketball season is in the record books for the Montana Grizzlies. Montana's final record included 12 victories and 14 losses. This was also the finish of Montana's first year in the Skyline conference where they won seven and lost seven. Final conference rankings placed them fifth.

As a team, the Grizzlies scored conference wins over New Mexico, Colorado A and M, Utah university, Denver, and Utah State. In non-conference play the Grizzlies tripped Gonzaga, Washington State, Idaho State, and Montana State.

The Silvertips averaged slightly less than 60 points a game in their 26-game schedule. They massed a total of 1,558 points on 553 field goals and 452 charity tosses. Grizzly opponents hit the basket for a total of 1,643 points and an average of 63.2 points per game. Opponents scored 60 field goals and 428 free throws.

Individual Scoring

In individual scoring Chuck Davis, who led throughout the season, ended the season with a total of 369 points in 25 games. Davis averaged 14.8 points per game on 127 field goals and 115 free throws.

Second-place honors in scoring went to sophomore guard Eddie Anderson, who tossed for 236 points and an 9.1 average per game. Anderson hit 94 field goals and 48 free throws.

Jack Sparks, who gained first-place honors last year with 274 points, ranked third in individual scoring this season with 214 points. He averaged 8.2 points per game.

MSU Swims Fifth in Meet

With only a two-man squad the Montana Grizzly swimmers took fifth place in the Skyline conference championships at Laramie last week end. Montana, with only George Harpole and Jack Daniels, edged New Mexico and Utah State, who entered nine and twelve respectively men in the two-day meet.

Montana scored 23 points as Daniels took second in the 100-yard back stroke and sixth in the 100-yard individual medley, and second in the 200-yard backstroke. Harpole was fourth in the 440-yard free style race and third in 200-yard fre style.

Denver university, winning three of the first four places in diving, edged defending champion Colorado A&M. Denver scored 75 points to A&M's 74. Utah was third with 70 points. Other team scores besides Montana were Wyoming with 52, Utah State 18, and New Mexico, 10.

on 71 field goals and 72 free throws. Hal Sherbeck, who won his second letter as a basketball player this year, scored 206 points in 26 games for eight points per game.

Johnson and Luckman

Dale Johnson and Jack Luckman, who alternated in the center post during the season, each scored 139 points. Luckman, however, had a slightly better average, 6.9 to 5.4, per game because he played in only 21 games. Johnson played in 26 games and scored 54 field goals and 31 free throws. Luckman hooped 41 field goals and 57 free throws.

Rounding out the scoring picture, Jim McNaney scored 60 points, Ritch Johnson 48, Bob Byrne 37, Dick Trinastich 33, and Frank Nickel 25. Other players who played in only one or two games during the season scored 52 points.

Davis gained the honor of having committed the most fouls during the season, 91. He was followed by Sparks and Sherbeck with 83 each, and Luckman with 77.

Rebound honors go to Jack Sparks. He grabbed 197 off the backboards. Anderson was second with 126 rebounds. Davis was third with 119.

In assists, meaning the player who passes the ball to another player who scores, Sparks again led the Silvertips. He assisted 66 times, twice the number of any other player on the squad. Sherbeck, Davis, and Luckman followed with 33, 32, and 31, respectively.

Dahlberg Praises Squad

Grizzly Coach Jiggs Dahlberg, who ended his thirteenth season as basketball mentor, praised his squad for their showing this season. While at Montana Dahlberg has a record of 196 wins and 198 losses.

Although the 1951-52 hoop squad will not go down in the record books as the greatest team in Montana's history, it can be given considerable credit for its hustle and ambition. This was undoubtedly one of Montana's hardest fighting squads. Montana lost several games by wide margins, but were never denied the determination to win.

With only two returning regulars from the 1950-51 squad, Dahlberg worked his cagers into a smooth working aggregation that received praise and respect in the Skyline conference.

Davis, Sparks On Kaimin Second Team

Two Grizzlies were picked on the Kaimin all-Skyline basketball team yesterday. Bob Sparks was selected as a forward and Chuck Davis as a guard on the second team.

The Kaimin sports staff, Athletic Publicity Director Fred Cunningham, Coach Jiggs Dahlberg, and the majority of the Grizzly basketball team did the voting.

Two players were picked as unanimous members of the team, but otherwise, the votes were well scattered out among 21 players. Utah State's Bert Cook, the conference high scorer for two seasons, and Wyoming's mighty Moe

Radovich were the only players to receive first-team votes on all the ballots.

The Kaimin all-Skyline first team: Bert Cook, Utah State, and Dick Haag, Wyoming, at forwards; Glen Smith, Utah, at center; and Moe Radovich, Wyoming, and Joe Richey, Brigham Young, at guards.

The second team: Bob Sparks, Montana, and Larry Tuttle, New Mexico, at forwards; Kent Bates, Utah, at center; and Chuck Davis, Montana, and Keith Sewell, Utah State, at guards.
