Wunderlich Outlines Steps For Student Deferments, Also Welcomes Counseling

Dean of Men Herbert Wunderlich reported yesterday several instances in which students during past years and this year have discontinued study at the University, yet have not gone through the proper formalities of resigning. He said that any student who is having trouble with academic, personal, or other type work is always welcome at his office. The dean expressed a desire to counsel with any student at a convenient time.

Students concerned with their draft status and seeking deferments are also welcome at his office. "According to a Selective Service pamphlet distributed at all Montana colleges," he continued, "there are three deferments possible for college students."

Steps of Deferment

But first, steps must be taken to qualify for a deferment.

1. You should send or present to your local board a written request for a deferment.
2. Request the registrar, Leo Smith, to certify your student status on Form 109.
3. Take the Selective Service college qualification test. With this completed, a student could qualify for one of three deferment possibilities.

Three Classifications

1. Class I-S-C—Any student satisfactorily pursuing a full-time

Students Hear Three GOP Candidates

Young Republicans on the campus heard three Montana Republican candidates ask for the student vote at a meeting yesterday afternoon in the Bitterroot room of the Student Union.

Hugo Aronson, gubernatorial candidate, and George Gosman, candidate for lieutenant governor, stressed Americanism in their short talks. Wellington Rankin, who is running for representative from Montana's western district, gave his views on socialism. Time allowed for the talks was limited so the audience could talk personally with the candidates during the coffee hour that followed.

After the rally the Young Republican executive board met with H. Clay Myers Jr., chairman of the Oregon Young Republicans, who is traveling throughout the Northwest on an organization tour of college Republican groups. Mr. Myers discussed organization and policy. He also encouraged the group to carry on after the election is over and to keep interest alive for future political activity.

MISS GLEASON TO SPEAK AT DISTRICT MEETING

Miss Helen Gleason, chairman of the home economics department, will speak at the district Montana Education Association (MEA) meeting at Great Falls this weekend. Miss Gleason will talk at the home economics section Friday morning. The title of her speech is "Guide to the Future."

course who is ordered for induction shall, if he has never before been deferred as a student, be deferred in Class I-S-C until the end of his academic year. It is statutory law that this classification must be assigned if the student is enrolled and is actually attending classes. This is granted if the student does not qualify for a classification other than 1-A, providing the student has requested a deferment and the college has certified his status. The I-S-C status will be granted only once.

When the I-S-C deferment expires, the student should apply for a new deferment in Class II-S.

Student Ranks

2. Class II-S is an occupational deferment which is given at the discretion of the home town draft board. It may be given to a student who shows the proper rank in his class or who shows the proper score on his college qualification test. To be eligible for consideration for a deferment for the next academic year, students must show the following class rank and or test score. Freshmen, upper half of class and score of 70; sophomores upper two-thirds of class and score of 70; juniors upper three-fourths of class and score of 70; seniors (planning on graduate work) upper half of class and score of 75; graduate students, satisfactory progress in full time course. Students must renew this deferment each year.

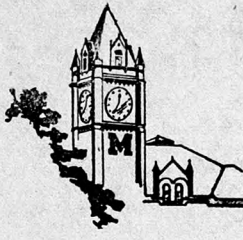

3. Class I-D is assigned to students who are enrolled in an ROTC program and who have signed a valid deferment agreement. Students will retain Class I-D as long as they meet the conditions of the agreement.

Right of Appeal

If, when you are classified by your local board, you feel that you are entitled to a different classification, you have the right to appeal the classification given you. Such appeals must be written to your local board. This appeal automatically places your case in the hands of the state appeal board for decision.

Pool Is Open To Gals Tonight

The pool will be open from 4 to 6 tonight for the first recreational swimming period for women. Those women practicing for the swimming meet must turn in their hours to the lifeguard. Each practice must be at least 30 minutes long. Each swimmer must bring a towel and cap. Suits will be furnished.

Abbott Defeats Slavens; Erickson Wins In Election

James Abbott, Kalispell, defeated Susanne Slavens, Molt, for Central board delegate in yesterday's freshman election. Abbott's victory was by a wide margin of 103 votes. Abbott received 207 and Miss Slavens, 104 votes.

The margins in the other races were also large, with the exception of the treasurer race where only a 14-vote edge separated the two candidates. The largest gap in votes was in the Central board delegate contest.

Erickson Wins

Don Erickson, Billings, topped Lee Bayley, Silverton, Ida., by a vote of 171 to 135 in the presidential race.

With her vote of 134, Bobette Reeder, Whitefish, took the vice-presidency from her two rivals. Her nearest competitor was Jack McGhee with a vote of 93. Ann Crocker, Missoula, received 81 votes.

The race for secretary was won by Virginia Van Horn, Wallace, Ida. She received 184 votes with the other candidate, Nancy Schilling, Missoula, receiving 123.

Closest Race

In the closest of the five races Mary Helen Pemberton, Broadus, defeated Robert Senner, Richey, for treasurer. Freshmen gave her 158 votes and Senner 144.

The total number of votes cast in the election was 311. This was 17 less than the 328 who voted in the primary election last Wednesday. The figure compares more favorably with the vote of freshmen in last year's final election when only 237 cast their ballots. About 600 freshmen were eligible to vote in this election.

Voting Differs

In last week's primary Abbott received 100 votes and Miss Slavens 75. Erickson's margin was only 10 votes in the primary and 36 in yesterday's balloting.

Ann Crocker was the top contender in the vice-presidential race last week, but lost this week to Bobette Reeder. The treasurer contest last week was taken by Robert Senner with a 29-vote margin over Mary Helen Pemberton.

Virginia Van Horn topped the secretarial race in the primary election and also in the final. In last week's election she edged Nancy Schilling by 41 votes, and in yesterday's by 61.

Bob Newlin, Lewistown, handled both elections.

Exchange Student from Greece Tells of Work, Homeland, Customs

BY LYNN JELINEK

After working in her home town, Athens, Greece, for the past seven years, Doreen Magazain has resumed her education at Montana State University this fall.

Doreen took an examination given by the Institute of International Education and because her paper was satisfactory, she was given the opportunity of attending school in the United States. For the past six years, Doreen has been employed by the Economic Co-operation Administration mission to Greece (Marshall plan).

Doreen is looking forward to a white Christmas because in Athens it snows about once every five years and then just for several hours.

Greek Provinces

In comparing the two countries, Doreen described the provinces of Greece. She told how the peasants of the island of Crete and the island of Myconos wear beautiful elaborate costumes on big holidays, marriages, or national festivities. The inhabitants produce tobacco, olives and grapes, and other agricultural goods for livelihood.

When a baby girl is born, Doreen said, a dowry is prepared so that when she marries she will have the furnishings for her home.

Main Recreation

Their main recreation is going to plays, movies, and concerts. During the summer months, plays and concerts are given at the foot of the Acropolis, in the ancient theatre of Herodotus Atticus. The audience sits on the marble steps in the open air. "The acoustics are excellent," she said.

Doreen, who is short in stature, has dark, naturally wavy hair cut in a short bob, rosy cheeks, brown mischievous eyes that are surrounded with dark eyelashes.

Born in Athens

She was born in Athens in 1926 and has one younger sister who lives at home with their mother. Doreen's father died four years ago.

She arrived in Missoula by plane Sept. 20, after stopping in New York and Washington, D. C. She came to New York by boat and describing her trip, Doreen said, "Hurricanes came from Florida for three or four days and the boat was quite rocky, but still the usual activities continued."

While studying at the University, Doreen is enrolled in humanities, English composition, contemporary literature, literary values and literary composition. For P.E. she is taking riflery.

Compares Expenses

"Just to show you how expensive things are in Athens, a jar of cold cream costs $3.50 there. That includes an import tax and a luxury tax. Here it costs 50 cents," she said.

"Athens is a very modern city. We have the same electrical appliances you have, but they are available only to the higher classes."

Doreen, who is staying at the M. E. Johnson home, 545 Beverly avenue, feels very much at home. She has lunched with the Pete Lambros family several times and has been served Greek pastries by Mrs. Lambros, who used to live in Athens, Greece.

When asked about Greek character, Doreen said, "Most Greeks have a sharp, inquisitive mind and they welcome foreign influences."

Porter Denounces
'New Guard' Pair;
Upholds McCarthy

Dear Editor:

I see where the "New Guard" pair made a statement in the Kaimin concerning that McCarthy man. I would like to do the same. In regard to Time contributors who denounced McCarthy 14 to 7 (isn't that 2 to 1?), I presume reference is made to the deluge of letters that followed the Time article of Oct. 22, 1952. If the "New Guard" pair would like to enlighten themselves in regard to that article, I would recommend that they read the article "McCarthy's Critics" in the February, 1952 issue of American Mercury.

The same prof. who made the remark about the Tums, also stated that Time is a good news-magazine; for those who have the intellect to separate editorial policy from fact.

Could it be that the 20 plus Missoulians, out of a crowd of several hundred, were die-hard Democrats who couldn't take any criticism?

We Montanans don't need anyone to tell us how to vote, but neither did the voters of Wisconsin, when they renominated McCarthy with the greatest majority ever accorded a candidate.

Concert Story
Gets Verbal Axe
From Mr. Dutton

Dear Editor:

How can you possibly allow the article—which appeared in your paper Tuesday—concerning the Longines Symphonette to travel under the heading of a concert review? It contained absolutely no critical analysis whatsoever; in fact, it could have just as well been written by someone last January. We are not concerned whether or not Mrs. Astor was accompanied to the concert by her pet horse; we are concerned with the presentation of the musical fare.

The Longines Symphonette played a completely uninspired concert to an equally uninspired audience in the Student Union on Monday afternoon. Whether this was due to the audience or to the musicians themselves is hard to say. (We are reminded of Oscar Wilde's problem as to whether the London fogs produced the serious people, or whether the serious people produced the fogs.) At any rate, although for the most part the program was well-chosen, it failed to convey any meaning to the listeners. Perhaps the Haydn Symphony was the least offender and offended. We have now heard the Mendelssohn Concerto in about every possible form.

This performance was obviously intended to demonstrate that the orchestra could get along equally well without a conductor as with one. The Suite for Lasse, or whatever it was, served its purpose: a program filler. We have never before been so anxious to hear Bessie Bessie's "Woman Now" which usually ends the Gershwin suite. The Longines Symphonette may serve its purpose and its sponsors well; but its place is not on the concert stage, or so it would seem, judging from its Monday afternoon's performance.

Sincerely yours,

Earl B. Dutton

Graduate Assistant

(Editor's note: Mr. Dutton you make a point of Oscar Wilde's philosophy on fog, now I'd like to make a point towards you concerning fog. When the fog clears around you would you please re-read the Kaimin follow-up story of the concert. It is in no way to be considered a review, it was not intended as such, nor did it carry a by-line. You say it was published under the heading of a review; read the headline again and show me where the word review is used.)

We did not write a review of the concert because the Kaimin staff possesses no one capable of a classical musical review. If you would clear the fog that surrounds you concerning the difference between a news story and a review, then we would welcome you to the columns of the Kaimin to possibly do a review for us.)

Abbott Answers
McCarthy Slam

Dear Mr. Taasevigen:

I have been thinking and fail to grasp the straws so valiantly cast out by such a man of the world as you, sir. I fail to see where "Cops and Robbers" have anything to do with Senator McCarthy's speech, let alone a presidential campaign. If you would be so kind as to enlighten this poor, misguided soul back on the path of righteousness, he would indeed be grateful.

A COZY SPOT TO BRING YOUR DATE

The Coed

BY BETTY SMITH

Women students in a coeducational college don't have as good a chance for marriage as do the students in a women's college. This is the boiled-down gist of an article, "Do Women's Colleges Turn Out Spinsters?" published in the October issue of Harper's.

The author is a man, which may or may not be significant. He is Lynn White Jr., president of Mills college, which you should know is a women's college. At any rate, your "Coed" reporter has a hunch the readers of this column might take issue with Mr. White's arguments.

He dwells at great length on the subject of classroom discussion in a coeducational college. "When a boy asks a question," he says, "he is thinking about the question. When a girl asks a question she is thinking not only about the question, but with equal emphasis, 'What will the boys think of me if I ask this question?' The result is that usually she doesn't ask it."

Several MSU coeds who read the article proclaimed that girls refrain from speaking up in class because they don't want to warp the ego of their male classmates. If boys think a girl is smarter than they are, the fellas are inclined to classify the girl as a "brain" or a "bookworm" or worse. Besides, they say, what boy wants to date a girl with more brains than he has?

This argument seems a little silly to this writer purely on the basis that spouting off in class has little or nothing to do with a person's intelligence. A more logical reason (strictly a biased opinion) might be this: Many questions asked in class could be avoided if the questioner were to think things out for himself.

Girls don't ask as many questions as their men friends because they are more willing to analyze their own problems and come to satisfactory conclusions.

"Despite its claims to sex equality," Mr. White continues, "coeducation as it now operates in America is socially and psychologically designed to produce women who are merely docile."

"On a coeducational campus every relationship seems designed to undermine a girl's self-confidence and sense of autonomy."

"The women's colleges, on the other hand, are set up in such a way as to develop in their students those qualities of self-confidence, directness, and initiative which too many people think of as masculine traits, but which are in fact human."

"And it seems to be this which gives the graduates of the women's colleges their notable advantage in finding husbands. When an American man is looking for a cute date, just something cuddly, he is in one state of mind; when he starts searching for a wife, he is looking for this, but something more."

Your reporter wonders what the men who insist that most husbands are trapped into marriage by scheming women would have to say about it.

Mr. White continues with this: "American men have increasingly been looking for wives endowed with that essential quality which our women's colleges, because of the way they are organized, are best able to encourage and develop in their students: self-confidence based on self-respect."

This writer doubts that daily contact with male students would cause any coed to lose her self-confidence or her self-respect. Boys, after all, aren't that unnerving to a girl's equilibrium.

Grizzlies Meet Old Foes Saturday; Oregon Boasts Powerful Passing Attack

BY BOB CHESNOVER

The Grizzlies will be bucking their old foes from the Pacific Coast conference this week end when they meet the University of Oregon on Hayward Field at Eugene. It will be the first appearance for the Webfoots on the Eugene field this season, and the renewal of the Grizzly-Webfeet football series.

Oregon is definitely a passing team and depends mainly on the passing arms of George Shaw and Hal Dunham. Shaw, a sophomore, is a very accurate passer and should bomb the Montana defense with many passes Saturday.

Shaw Sets Record

Shaw completed 23 of 50 pass attempts two weeks ago against California. This set a new Pacific Coast conference record formerly held by Don Heinrich of the Washington Huskies. In the California game the Ducks stopped California in the first half, but fell apart because of lack of strength and were tromped, 41-7.

Last week end the University of Washington waltzed over the Oregon team, 49-0. It was Don Heinrich that broke the Ducks' back as he threw three touchdown passes to boost his touchdown total to 27 for his career, and set a Pacific Coast record at the same time. Nine of Shaw's passes were intercepted by Washington defenders last week end; however, it was Shaw's passing that kept the Ducks in the game at all.

Many Injuries

Coach Len Casanova of Oregon has been worried most of the season about the rash of injuries that has plagued his team. The Ducks are in third place in the Pacific Coast race, however. Three teams are tied for first and two for second in the coast league.

Defensively for the Ducks, Emery Barnes, end, Jack Patera and Emmett Williams, a pair of guards, and tackles Len Berrie, Hal Simmons, and Hal Reeve bolt down the center of the Duck forward wall. Coach Lynn Waldorf of the California Bears had much praise for the defensive patterns the Ducks threw up against his team.

Played in 1950

The last time the Webfeet and the Grizzlies met was at Eugene in 1950. The Ducks dropped Montana, 21-13 that year. That was in the days when Tommy Kingsford was ravaging the gridiron for the Grizzlies with his passes, and end Ray Bauer was on the receiving end.

The Grizzlies have yet to win a game from the Oregon team. In five meetings of the two teams the Ducks have emerged on the long end of the score, and averaged over 27 points per game against the Grizzlies.

Faculty Teams Struggle for League Lead

The Faculty Bowling league tightened up this week as four teams ended up tied in games won and lost as a result of games Tuesday night. Business Administration lost two games, but retained their lead in the pin averages.

Botany-Chemistry won three games from Liberal Arts, Journalism won two and lost one to Air Science, Humanities won two and lost one to Business Administration, and Physical Education won two and lost one to Administration.

The Botany-Chemistry team bowled the highest series with a 2,332 score, while Business Administration captured high game honors with 834.

Prof. B. Hansen of the Liberal Arts team barely nosed out Dean T. H. Smith of Business Administration for high individual series. Hansen bowled 536 and Smith 535.

Hansen also bowled the highest game of the evening with a 233 score. Dean J. E. Orr of Botany-Chemistry bowled a 218 game, while Prof. G. Marsaglia of Humanities bowled 212 and Prof. A. T. Helbing of Business Administration had 200.

In Retraction: Sigma Chi 19, Sigma Nu 2

(Ed. note: The Kaimin made a serious error yesterday when a headline on the sports page indicated that the Sigma Chi touchball team had lost to the Sigma Nus. It was clear in the story, however, that the Sigma Chis had beaten the Sigma Nus. But another error was made here—the score wasn't 13-2, it actually was 19-2 in favor of the Sigma Chis. Following is a corrected account of the game, which, we hope, rectifies any damages incurred from yesterday's story.—F.N.)

The Sigma Chis defeated the Sigma Nus, 19-2, in an intramural touchball game Tuesday on the Clover bowl.

The Sigma Nus scored first when their hard-charging line caught Winston Tustison behind his own goal line for a safety. The Sigma Chis came right back when Tustison connected with a pass to end Don Clark for a touchdown. Tustison kicked the extra point and the Sigma Chis led, 7-2.

Tustison completed a pass to Hollis McCrea in the third quarter to put the Sigma Chis out in front, 13-2. Tustison again displayed his supreme passing ability in the fourth quarter when he threw a beautiful 40-yard pass to Don Olson, who went over from the 20. The final score again, Sigma Chi 19, Sigma Nu 2.

Injuries May Halt I-M Touchball Tilts

Intramural touchball may be stopped, intramural director George Cross said yesterday. If the number of injuries caused by touchball continues, the administration may not permit touchball in the future, he said.

Cross said that a large number of injuries have occurred this year, five of them since Monday. He said that injuries would be kept to a minimum if the players would stick to the rules set up by the intramural department.

None of the injuries have been serious, he said. They have consisted of broken toes, cracked ribs, dislocated shoulders and knees, etc. Cross said that the Dean of Students has indicated to him that touchball may not be permitted in the future if the injuries continue.

The touchball play-offs this year will be between the top team of each league, he said, instead of the two top teams from each league as was done previously, and as was reported earlier.

A protest by the Phi Delt on a ruling by referee Dave Crossman was disqualified by the sports board, because the protest was not placed during the time of the game. The sports board will also hear a protest launched by Theta Chi on a ruling by referee Neil Eliason in the Theta Chi-Forestry game Tuesday.

Sigma Chi, SAE Lead Touchball Murray Top Man

Sigma Chi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon, each with three wins and no losses, lead the touchball leagues.

Sigma Chi, league A leaders have racked up 25 points to their three opponents' 2 points. SAE has come up with 32, holding the opposition to 8 points.

Here is how the teams stand:

League A
	Won	Lost	Points
SX	3	0	25	— 2
Foresters	3	1	20	— 12
SN	2	1	34	— 19
TX	2	2	45	— 40
ATO	1	2	0	— 26

Corbin - Out after forfeiting two games.

League B
	Won	Lost	Points
SAE	3	0	32	— 8
PDT	2	1	73	— 19
Jumbo	2	2	67	— 39
SPE	2	1	45	— 37
PSK	0	3	6	— 59
South	0	2	0	— 41

In the individual record column, Bob Murray of Jumbo is the top scorer. Murray has racked up 36 points for the cardboard castle. Nick Wood has picked up 27 of Theta Chi's points. Jack McGhee, lanky Phi Delt end has 26, and his equally long partner, Dick Trinastich has made three touchdowns and a conversion.

SENTINEL AD MANAGER APPLICATIONS DUE TODAY

Applications for Sentinel advertising manager must be turned in by Thursday, Oct. 23. Turn in applications at the Sentinel office.

SAE, Phi Delt Winners in Touchball

With the passing of little Bob Hendricks, the Phi Delt beat Jumbo 22-0. SAE out-passed the Sig Eps 15-6 in the other league B touchball game.

In the first quarter, Jumbo out-rushed the Phis with the combination of Jack Zygmund to Bob Murray clicking well. With the second quarter it was another story with the Blue wave going on the offense. Durwood Johnson set up the first touchdown, taking a 30-yard pass from Hendricks on the Jumbo ten. Hendricks passed to Dick Trinastich in the end zone. The conversion was made with a pass from Jack McGhee to Trinastich.

In the third period, Trinastich took another Hendricks pass and went down the sideline for the touchdown. Matt Mulligan caught a Hendricks pass for the extra point.

Hal Snippen relieved Hendricks in the last quarter and connected with Trinastich again for the last TD. The Phis caught up their last two points when Don Smading and H. P. Brown caught Jack Zygmund in the Phi Delt end zone.

The SAEs relied on their regulars, Vince Kovacich and Byron

Bayers, for their passing. Bayers connected in the first quarter with Don Erickson for the first score in the game.

Carl Rhonke was caught in the SPE end zone by Don Welch, giving the SAEs another two points, ending the first half.

George Paul snagged Kovacich's pass in the third quarter for another TD. Bayers' conversion kick was good.

The Sig Eps came back strong in the last period and ended the game when Don Halvorson took Gene Jurovich's pass for a touchdown.

TOUCHBALL

Thursday, Oct. 23—

SX vs. TX No. 1

SN vs. ATO No. 2

Corbin vs. Forestry No. 3

FOR A LONG TIME we've suspected that today's college man would no longer "gladly die for dear old Siwash." Neither does he play ukuleles and sing "Alma Mater" at the drop of a beanie.

We believe, too, that when it comes to sportshirts the college man is no different from his older brother in town. He doesn't go for fads and screwball styles. But he does go for smartness, good workmanship . . . and above all, value.

That is why we believe you'll like the new selection of sportshirts by Manhattan®. For they have all these qualities, plus a distinctive air that sets them above the ordinary shirt.

So ask for Manhattan . . . the college man's sportshirt.
