Phi Delt Collect Ton of Clothing For Service Fund

Phi Delta Theta leads the league in the clothes crusade. More than 2,800 pounds of clothing have been collected by the fraternity. The bulk of clothing was collected Saturday, according to George Boifeuillet, chairman of the Phi Delt collection crew.

Boifeuillet, also co-chairman of the World Student Service Fund, said the drive will end March 28. The clothes crusade is a project of the Service Fund committee. Gloria Tinseth, Billings, helps head the Service Fund and its projects.

The drive has been progressing "very fine," according to Boifeuillet. The group's original goal was 800 pounds of clothing. Now that nearly 3,000 pounds have been collected the group has discarded any attempted goal.

A trophy will be awarded the organization collecting the most pounds of clothing per person. The winner will be announced March 29. The clothes, now being stored at 425 University, will be sorted, cleaned, then sent to the Far East for immediate use.

Governor to Break Ground For New Field House At Thursday Ceremony

BY BILL JONES

Weeks of dickering, months of planning, and years of dreaming will reach a climax Thursday at 11:45 a.m. Gov. J. Hugo Aronson's digging the first shovelful is all that separates MSU from construction of an actual Field House.

The ground-breaking ceremonies will mark the fifth new building to be started on the MSU campus during the last year. Almost a year ago the ground was broken for the new music building. The men's dormitory, classroom building, and women's center followed in chronological order.

Thursday morning's ceremony will originate at the corner of Eddy avenue and South Van Buren. MSU's University band will provide music while students and townspeople assemble for the occasion.

University students will be given the opportunity to attend the ground-breaking. Classes will be cut short to allow ample time for students to reach the ground-breaking scene.

At 11:45 a.m., following the presentation of colors and renditions by the band, Pres. Carl McFarland will introduce Governor Aronson.

Were it not for the sanction given the Field House construction.

President McFarland, in an effort to feel out the opinions of the alumni, Missoula Chamber of Commerce, faculty, and student body, asked for votes from each group signifying their collective opinion of the proposed Field House. Each group responded affirmatively with the student body voting 637-169 for the construction.

Hightower & Lubrecht construction, Missoula, will be responsible for general construction. Two Students Tell About Conditions In Health Center

(Editor's note: The following quotes were taken from letters received by the Kaimin during the past quarter concerning the need for a new Health Center.)

Al Clark, a senior in Business Administration from Missoula, wrote this in a letter to the Kaimin:

"We are very fortunate in having an efficient and competent staff at our Health Center, but how much longer are we going to be able to hold them here when there is no effort made to replace the antiquated structure they must work in? Should it be necessary for a skilled nurse or doctor to expend his or her energy running up and down a flight of stairs 15 to 25 times a day?

"This is a common occurrence when ski accidents are at their peak. X-rays must be taken of the damaged bone, and the sustained march up to the second floor begins. There is no other satisfactory place to put the X-ray equipment. Therefore the State of Montana pays our doctor and nurses for a lot of unnecessary leg exercise. This is not to mention the extra strain on the poor kid whose ankle might be severely fractured. He suffers the most, and no matter how well the cast is applied, there is still that long jaunt downstairs.

"It is very hard to understand why several million dollars are being spent on various buildings throughout the campus, and yet the Health Center gets practically nothing. The building itself is a firetrap, and is it going to have to burn to the ground before a new building is constructed?

"In all fairness, do you not feel that a modern, fire-proof Health Center is of prime importance to this University? Its construction should be immediate and not postponed for another year."

Art Holzweissig, a senior in the Forestry school from Pasadena, Calif., had this to say in a letter to the Kaimin:

"I spent the week end in the infirmary. Luckily, I wasn't quite as sick as some of the others. Here is all this talk about other build-

A Stairway? Or a Bench?

Last Wednesday, the Kaimin, in the campaign for a new Health Center, ran a front page editorial and picture illustrating the steep narrow stairway between the second and third floors of the MSU Health Center. Today, we run this picture to show another problem that confronts the Health Center staff and the students of MSU.

The stairway pictured above leads from the first floor to the second. The students seated on that stairway are forced to sit there because the lobby of our Health Center does not provide adequate seating facilities. The girl pictured coming down the stairs has to weave her way through students on the stairs.

This is just one of the many problems of our Health Center as the story below and the letters in the next column describe.

We need a new Health Center. It definitely should be the next building in MSU's construction plans.—L.K. ings on the campus, and not once has there been mention of a new Health Center. The Health Center has a very efficient and competent staff, but it does not have the building or equipment to insure the optimum efficiency of operation.

"The building itself is far from being a good medical center. The annex is far from being a satisfactory infirmary. The heating system is very poor. The patient directly across from the ventilator alternately roasts and cools as the system operates. The whole building is very poor, all the facilities are meager."

You have seen pictures recently revealing the deplorable conditions that exist at the Health Center.

Unless you've been there you probably can't imagine how bad these conditions really are. Just talk to someone who was unfortunate enough to have been there and let them describe their experiences.

I talked to Ted Hewett, Kaimin photographer, yesterday. Ted wrenched his knee at the beginning of fall quarter when he fell on the ice. When he went to the Health Center he had to go up to the second floor just to get an X-ray, and then walk back down again. Ted said "it hurt," but I'll bet it hurt bad.

"The building just isn't satisfactory as a health center to begin with," Ted said, "because there isn't adequate space on the first floor for the necessary facilities." He was referring mainly to the X-ray machine.

"Later when I went over for treatments," he went on, "I sometimes had to wait nearly an hour because of the shortage of help.

"I also noticed that you have to go through four doors to get to the Infirmary." The doors lead "through two treatment rooms and the kitchen," he said.

Ted also mentioned the trouble he had just getting to the door from the outside when he was on crutches. "I could have damaged the other leg," he said, "going up those icy stairs." The door should definitely be "on ground level."

Ted mentioned, aside from a few of the other observations he made, that "upstairs in the room for girls, the ends of two beds were within less than one foot of each other." I didn't bother to ask what he was doing in the girls' room.

Wood Would Put On an Aber Day Worth Attending

Dear Editor:

Where Are The Responsible Males? In the March 4 issue of the Kaimin, the lead paragraph on Aber Day Committee thinking read, "The consensus of Aber Day Committee members, meeting Tuesday in the Eloise Knowles room, was that if the girls would insist on remaining on campus for afternoon and evening festivities, the boys would do so."

Why project the responsibility? Don't the fellows have just as much responsibility to remain on campus for afternoon and evening festivities as do the girls? Wouldn't the taking of this responsibility show some of the school spirit which is so often belabored but not shown? For entirely too long, many men have been trying to put the major responsibility on women, especially in the areas of morals and standards. Don't let them do it, girls. Let's grow up, fellows, and take our responsibilities like men. Let's help put on an Aber Day that is worth attending, and then give it our support.

Sincerely,
Bruce K. Wood

The team also selected an all-opponent squad from the Skyline conference. They are: Forwards—Don Rivers, Wyoming; and Darrell Tucker, Utah State; Center—Bill Hull, Utah State; Guards—Bill Harp, Wyoming; and Joe Richey, Brigham Young.

Chuck Davis, Montana's stellar forward, was placed on the Associated Press all-conference second team along with Danny Darrow, New Mexico; Bill Hull, Utah State; Bruce Goodrich, Utah; and Nick Mateljan, Brig-

MSU Takes Third In Swim Meet

Montana State University's three-man swim team garnered 30 points last week end at Fort Collins, Colo., to take fourth place in the Skyline conference swimming meet.

Last year Montana placed fifth in the Skyline swimming meet.

Candidates for Varsity Baseball Team to Meet; Sixteen Games on Schedule

Tryouts for Grizzly varsity baseball will begin today with a meeting of all interested prospects at the men's gymnasium, Room 304, this afternoon at 3. In the absence of Coach Milburn, co-captains Don Olson, Butte, and Gene Carlson, Great Falls, will conduct practice until Milburn returns. Milburn, now visiting in Missouri, is expected back on the campus by March 15.

The Grizzly baseball club will team with the golf and tennis squads on their schedule against conference foes. The three teams open season play with Brigham Young at Provo, April 10, with the baseball club playing a doubleheader.

Twelve of last year's lettermen will be on hand for the 1953 season. They are Ed Anderson, Missoula; Jack Streeter, Billings; Hal Snippen, Great Falls; Sam Davis, Dillon; Carl Rohnke, Helena; Jim Murray, Anaconda; Dick Hansen, Oskosh, Wis.; Don Clark, Billings; Roger Marshall, Nutley, N. Murray Chosen Most Outstanding Jim Murray, 6-foot 2-inch 200-pound Grizzly linebacker and tackle was awarded the trophy as the outstanding Grizzly gridiron performer last season by Phi Epsilon Kappa, men's physical education fraternity.

A three-year letterman in the sport, Murray was chosen to the Skyline all star football team for 1952. He graduates this spring.

He was awarded the trophy during the halftime of the Utah State-Montana basketball game.

Grizzlies Display Accuracy In Downing Aggies 76-61

A changed Grizzly basketball team defeated Utah State college 76-61 Friday night in the final game of the season for both teams.

Displaying a new ball-control offense for the first time this year, the Grizzlies jumped into an opening 7-0 lead and were never headed.

Chuck Davis was switched to guard and Ed Anderson to forward in this final contest and both fared well in their new positions.

Davis weaved his way into the jump circle many times to score, and Anderson was accurate on shots from far out. He hit 100 per cent of his field goals and free throws in the final half.

The Silvertips shot exceptionally well in the first half. They scored on 59 per cent of their shots in the first quarter and ended the half with a 51 per cent score.

Chuck Davis was high for Montana with 24 points making a total of 1,214 points for his college career. Ed Anderson was close behind Davis with 21 points.

Utah's 6-foot 6-inch center, Bill Hull, did some remarkable shooting from the post position as he equalled Davis' 24 points. Utah's all-conference forward, Darrell Tucker, netted 16 for the evening and set a new Skyline scoring average per game.

U of Illinois Is Nation's Largest

MSU, which registered 2,139 students autumn quarter, has a long way to go to match the enrollment of the largest campus in the United States. The University of Illinois led the nation in fall quarter enrollment with 18,592 students.

The University of Minnesota, which was on top in 1951, had the second largest number of students, and Michigan was third. Ohio State college was in fourth place, followed by the University of California, Berkeley campus, with 16,136.

The Society for the Advancement of Education reports that 1,293,524 full-time students attended 830 universities and four-year colleges last autumn.

The report indicates that widespread publicity given to the nation's need for scientific, technical, and educational professions was responsible for the rise in college enrollment. Comparatively few Korean veterans have used the new GI bill to attend college. However, the policy of deferring men with good grades has kept many in college who would not otherwise have remained four years.

Male students have decreased by 2.9 per cent, while women have gained 1.5 per cent, according to the report.

SCA to Discuss Discrimination

Instructor Bob Dwyer will lead a discussion, "Discrimination at MSU," in the Bitterroot room tonight at 7:30. The discussion is sponsored by the Student Christian association.

A short film, "A Picture in Your Mind," will precede the discussion. The animated film will present different aspects of the discrimination problem in the United States.

Dick Fletcher, Billings, said Jim Musgrave, Cleveland, Ohio, will assist in leading the discussion. Fletcher said the business meeting would include selection of committees.

Members of the SCA cabinet met at the home of Dean H. J. Wunderlich Saturday morning for an evaluation of the year's program and the purposes of SCA.
