Last Chance to Nominate Bibler Bounce Candidates

Today is the last day to nominate candidates to represent Professor Snarf, Freida, and Worthal, bibler cartoon characters, at the annual Bibler Bounce, Thursday, April 16.

Qualifications for the candidates were drawn up by Traditions board. Professor Snarf is characterized by favoring pretty-faced girls, selling his own textbooks, and piling assignments on students, telling that his is the only class of importance on the campus.

Worthal is a college boy who came to college for the girls. Freida, full of personality and fun, came for the boys. Logically enough, she wears tight sweaters and dresses to kill.

Traditions board will choose six candidates for each honor from all those nominated. Voting will be in the Coke store April 16, supervised by Arnold Air society and Traditions board.

If weather permits, the Bibler Bounce will be a street dance in back of Main hall, according to Bev Henne, president of Traditions board. The Air Force band from Great Falls will play for the dance.

Blood Donors May Register In Coke Store

Student volunteers will be in the Coke store from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. beginning tomorrow to register students who wish to give blood when the Red Cross mobile unit visits MSU Wednesday and Thursday, April 15 and 16.

Faculty members have been registering at a table set up on the first floor of Main hall since Monday.

Volunteers from fraternities, sororities, and halls, are accepting the names of those students who desire to give blood. Although no prize will be given, living groups are competing with one another to see who can get out the most donors.

Lou Marilyn Vierhus, chairman of the drive, says all blood donated next week by MSU students will be classed as "defense blood." This means it will be processed and prepared for overseas shipment to the fighting areas.

Montana State college has challenged MSU to a "blood letting" contest again this year. Bozeman students gave proportionately more blood last year. About one-third of the University students were donors in the last campaign.

Fee Hike Viewed By McFarland

In answer to questions concerning an increase in the Student Union fee by Peder Hoeness, chairman of the New Student Union committee, President McFarland released the following statement Monday:

"For what it may be worth, it is my impression that an increase of the present fee of $1.66 per quarter should be thought of in terms of at least three objectives:

"First, an increase to $3 per quarter would about balance the present Student Union budget, but the financial situation would remain tight.

"Second, an increase to $4 per quarter would achieve a more comfortable budget to live with and perhaps permit some improvements in services.

"Third, an increase of the fee to $5 per quarter would, in addition, make it possible to begin to consider building plans or expansions.

"However, it should be added," President McFarland said, "that, in my opinion, increasing the fee is only part, and perhaps the lesser part, of the general problem.

"The more important matter to me is the management not only of present resources but any augmented means a fee increase may make possible.

"Indeed, this matter of good management extends not merely to the Student Union setup but to our many and scattered extra-curricular facilities. These things have grown up separately and diversely over the years.

"We shall now soon have a new facility in the Field house; and there is talk of a golf course, a swimming pool, a skating rink, and so on. These will compound the problem if handled without reference to each other. This is not an argument against the proposed Student Union fee increase, but a reminder that just procuring more dollars is not going to solve a situation which is bound to become more acute."

TICK SHOTS GIVEN TO 782 STUDENTS

Seven hundred eighty-two students took advantage of the tick shots given by the Health Service during the five Mondays in March.

Immunity against ticks begins two to three weeks after the last shot is given, Dr. M. P. Wright, director of the Health Service, said.

Tickets went on sale today for the Gershwin Concert orchestra, which will be presented at MSU April 13 and 14. The troupe includes 25 musicians under the direction of Lorin Maazel, with added soloists including pianist Jesus Maria Sanroma, soprano Carolyn Long and baritone Theodor Uppman, announced Ann Fowler, chairman of the ASMSU Outside Entertainment committee.

Student activity cards should be presented when buying a ticket. The student price is $1.50 single admission. Tickets will be sold through Friday and Monday and Tuesday of next week in the SU cove store by the Spurs and Bear Paws. Tickets will also be sold the two nights of the concert from 7:15 until concert time, which is 8:15.

The program will include such selections as "I Got Rhythm," "Summertime," "Lady Be Good," "Biding My Time," "Embraceable You," "An American in Paris," "Rhapsody in Blue," "That Certain Feeling," and "Why Do I Love You."

This program, which has been assembled after a year of involved negotiations with Gershwin family members and various lawyers, is being produced by bandleader-manager Howard Lanin and backed by Columbia Artists.

The contract between Colum-

Dean J. L. C. Ford Studies Education For Committee

Dean James L. C. Ford, of Montana State University's School of Journalism, has been named to the Committee on Foreign Schools of Journalism of the national Association for Education in Journalism.

Dean Ford will work with Roland E. Wolsley, Syracuse University, chairman, and Ralph Nafziger, University of Wisconsin, in determining the status of journalism education for foreign students in the journalism schools of the United States.

The committee will make recommendations to the Association for Education in Journalism to help satisfy demands of foreign students for education in journalism.

bia and the Gershwins calls for estate and family approval on all matters; it specifies the program to be an "all-Gershwin performance on a 'classical' (as contrasted to a 'jazz' or 'popular') basis; that there be "no dramatic performance of any composition," and the programs to read "by permission of Ira Gershwin and the Rose Gershwin estate."

Also tagged as the Gershwin Festival, the presentation is the brainchild of Andre Mertens. Mertens first suggested the project to his neighbor, Frances Godowsky, George Gershwin's sister, with the idea of using her as one of the soloists. (A soprano, she toured Europe with her brother George, giving concerts.)

The Gershwin family became interested in the project, as Mertens unveiled it. George Gershwin had toured with Paul Whiteman, but aside from isolated programs as Gershwin nights at Lewisohn Stadium, N. Y., there had been no such project as this since the composer-pianist died in 1937. This concert series is being looked on as a Gershwin memorial, with the family, therefore, taking an unusual interest in the event.

"There's never been an all-Gershwin concert on the road before. We're lucky to be one of the first to hear it," says Anne Fowler, chairman of the Community Concerts committee.

EDITOR APPLICATIONS DUE IN BUSINESS OFFICE

Applications for the position of associate editor of the 1954 Sentinel are due in the Student Union business office by Saturday noon, according to Helen Lenhart, Sentinel editor.

Four associate editors will be chosen, and previous experience is desired, according to Miss Lenhart.

Coming Next Week . . .

Soprano Carolyn Long, Director Lorin Maazel, baritone Theodor Uppman, and pianist Jesus Maria Sanroma will be stars of the Gershwin concert orchestra when the troupe plays in the Student Union April 13 and 14. The troupe includes 25 musicians who will combine to play Gershwin favorites like "Rhapsody in Blue," and "Embraceable You."

The Inimitable Art of

The Subtle Hint . .

The Hollywood-like publicity campaigns that accompany a high school athletic star's entrance to college tend at times to obscure the over-all recruitment campaigns of universities. Critics claim that schools do nothing to bolster their non-athletic ranks. Such accusations, as evidenced by MSU's current program, are obviously false.

The fact that MSU's enrollment is the lowest since 1946 coupled with the knowledge that many Korean veterans are ripe for plucking has caused added emphasis on MSU's over-all recruitment drive. Registrar Leo Smith has prophesied that if draft laws remain the same, the enrollment will begin an upward swing next autumn. "We're at the bottom of the trough now," he said.

From Movies to Post Cards . .

Techniques used by MSU to lure students for coming years are varied and sundry. Former AWS president Tommie Lu Middleton, working with the registrar and public service division, has for a year toured the state speaking to high school students.

The publicity travel committee, headed by Doug Bieghle, has helped subsidize Jubilee and debate trips. The public service division under Andy Cogswell has kept the state constantly informed of University occurrences.

The new technicolor movie, "This Is Your University," was shown in its completed form the first time Monday night. Either a convocation or public meeting will soon be arranged for its showing to University students. Four copies of the film will be shown at Montana high schools this spring.

Some 10,000 post cards illustrating the University will be available next spring. The publicity travel committee is considering using the technique employed by Harold's Club, Reno, Nev. That publicity-wise establishment insures a wide dissemination of its cards by selling them pre-stamped at ridiculously low prices.

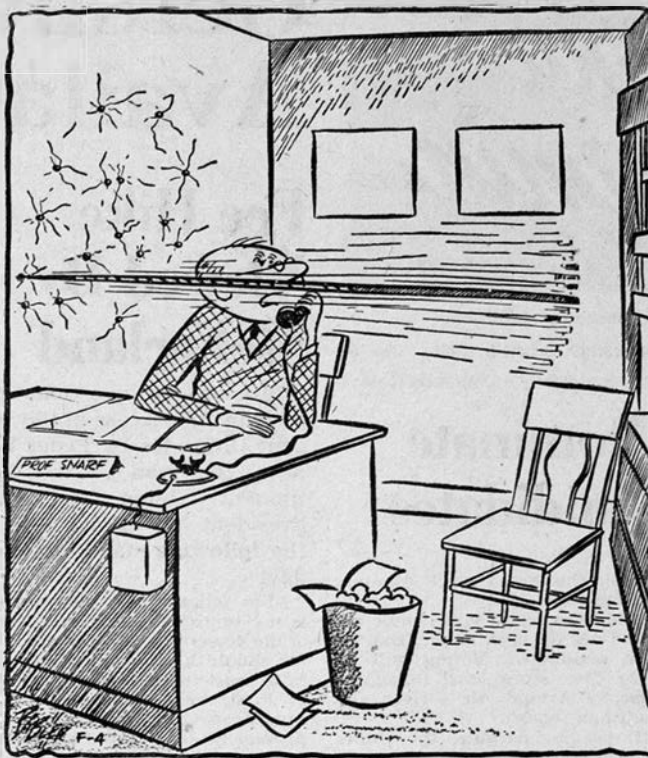

A Bit-Part for Everyone . .

These techniques are but a few of the organized methods used to recruit students. They are fine—yet none approach the optimum of student recruitment. That optimum is friend-to-friend conversation. This is where the inimitable art of the subtle hint enters.

If MSU is to maintain its status as the leading Montana school and to increase its prestige in the Northwest, it must have the personnel needed to attain those goals. Every student has a bit-part to play. Through the coming spring and summer a few words, unassuming yet direct, may clinch the college choice of a friend. It's up to you if that choice is MSU—B.J.

ion were presented on discriminatory clauses in fraternity and sorority constitutions. These figures showed that the northern students are overwhelmingly against such discriminatory policies; however, it's always been easier to preach than to practice.

From the Chronicle also comes news of the Spur group at Salt Lake. They have set up an orientation program which affects students interested in becoming Spurs. The program includes a series of interviews, parties, and a sifting of applications before the girls are tapped.

The April 1 copy of the Rocky Mountain Collegian sets forth a new stand on athletics in which some fantastic character (Suzybelle Zilch or otherwise) said, "Henceforth, hop-scotch, jump-rope, marbles, toy balloons, and jacks will be the only sports concentrated on." Perhaps if MSU experts are still considering dropping football, a few of the above sports could be substituted. They would certainly draw record crowds!

History Honorary Qualifies Seven

Seven students who qualified for membership in Beta Psi chapter of Phi Alpha Theta, history honorary, will be guests at the chapter meeting in the Eloise Knowles room, Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Members of the MSU debate squad will talk at the meeting. Three of the debaters are members of Phi Alpha Theta.

On the Skyline

BY JERE LEE RIVENES

An Aber day vote will decide whether a new Student Union for MSU is possible or not. If the Union fees are raised enough to provide funds for a new building, the resulting Union should be one of the best in the Skyline area. Care must be taken not to have as a complaint one which "The Student Life," paper from Logan, Utah, lodged in an editorial recently. The trouble arose when student snoozers spoiled the "fabulous and beautiful setting" that was created in their SUB lounge. Planners of MSU's building will just have to be careful about those comfortable couches!

"Legislative Leanings," column in the BYU paper, reports more and more hats have been tossed into the election ring for student body officers. With ASMSU elections just around the corner, hopeful politicians from MSU should soon make an appearance.

More than one western university is concerned with fraternity discrimination, as the March 30 issue of the Daily Utah Chronicle shows. In an editorial entitled "Fraternity Discrimination, What Do You Think?", figures from a National Poll of Student Opin-

BYU Is First Opponent On Grizzlies' Utah Trip

BY J. D. COLEMAN

The Montana Grizzly baseball team left by car this morning at 10 for Utah where they will play games with Skyline conference schools. They open with Brigham Young university in a double-header at Provo, April 10, then drive on to Salt Lake to tangle with the Utah Redskins in a single game, April 11. After a four-day sojourn in Salt Lake, the Grizzlies will play their second game with the Utes, and go on to Logan for a double-header with the Utah Aggies.

Brigham Young, Montana's first opponent, will field an experienced club, backed by a powerful mound trio. Ray Lish and Gary Johnson, the Cat's No. 1 and 2 pitching men of last year, will be on hand for the '53 season. Morris Johnson, a capable performer last year, is a probable choice for the No. 3 position of the pitching staff. The Cougars have had several pre-season games with junior colleges and Air Force bases near Provo, and should be in tip-top shape. The warm southern weather plus the extra game experience will give BYU a definite advantage over the Grizzlies, who have been hampered by a cold spring.

The probable BYU lineup will be Darrell Crawford, c; Bud Bagley, 1b; Mick Eggertson, 2b; Merrill Hardy, 3b; Larry Bean, ss; Lavon Satterfield, lf; Gerry Van Vliet, cf; Walt Kelley, rf.

General Milburn took 17 players with him on the trip. They are Anderson, Graff, Clark, Olson, Nicol, Kisling, Humble, Davis, Rohnke, Swearingen, Murray, Luoma, Carlson, Hansen, Marshall, Johnston, and Roots. Hansen, Marshall, and Carlson are slated to pitch against BYU.

Badgley Home On Leave From Army

John Badgley, former Grizzly track star, returned home yesterday for a two-weeks leave from Fort Lewis, Wash., where he was stationed as a second lieutenant in the infantry. From here the 1952 MSU graduate will be sent to Japan.

While at MSU Badgley was a constant point winner in the high and low hurdles and the broad jump. Badgley won both the high and low hurdles in dual meets with BYU, Utah State, and Montana State last year. He also won the low hurdle event in the division meet and placed second in the high hurdles. In the conference meet at Denver, Badgley ran second in the low hurdles.

As a junior in 1951, Badgley placed fourth in the high hurdles and second in the lows in the conference meet. In the division that year he won both high and low hurdle events.

Frats Will Play Two Games In Clover Bowl

This afternoon at 4:15 Sigma Phi Epsilon meets Alpha Tau Omega on Field No. 1 and Theta Chi is matched against the Foresters on Field No. 2 of the Clover bowl in the opening intramural softball games. Curt Milne and Kieth Bradshaw will officiate the SPE-ATO game and Jack Zygmund and Ray Frank will run the Theta Chi-Forester contest.

Games scheduled in women's softball this afternoon are Kappa Alpha Theta and Synadelphic, and Delta Gamma vs. North hall No. 2.

Women's intramural softball was scheduled to start Monday and men's Tuesday, but bad weather forced the cancellation of all games so far.

George Cross, intramural director, said the cancelled games in men's softball will be played off at the end of the season. Games cancelled Tuesday afternoon were Phi Sigma Kappa vs. Jumbolaya and SAE vs. Education club.

In 1950, 11,062 books were published in the United States.

Zeger Sends Football Team Through Spring Sessions Despite Snow, Cold Weather

Despite the snow and cold weather, Coach John Zeger held spring football practice yesterday afternoon. Zeger ran the squad through blocking, tackling, and passing drill. He also added a few new plays in a dummy scrimmage.

Zeger said, "The whole ball club has picked up very well considering the fact that lots of the key boys are out for other sports." The first contact scrimmage of spring practice was held last Thursday afternoon. Since then the coaches have stressed blocking assignments in the line and perfection of ball handling and timing in the backfield. They have also been working over the rough spots resulting from the first scrimmages.

Walt Laird hurt his wrist in last Saturday's scrimmage and will not have any contact for a couple of weeks. Mar Jensen and Doug Dasinger are out of spring drill with split hip muscles.

Head coach Ed Chinske was scheduled to arrive in Missoula late last night from his trip to Glasgow where he spoke at a high school booster banquet.

Possible Language Class Announced

W. P. Clark, professor emeritus of the University language department, has announced that if townspeople and students show enough interest, he will again instruct an evening class in French and German.

Anyone interested should see Mr. Clark at his office in Old Science hall. The course, which would meet once a week for two hours, will be designed to teach a reading knowledge of French and German. Students will "learn by reading," said Clark, "because I have had good results in the past from this method." A class was held last year.

A small fee will be charged those who wish to enter the course.

Home Study Unit Represents U In States, Nation

BY JEAN HERBERT

Although little is heard about MSU's home study unit, it represents the school in practically every city in Montana, and at one time or another, it has been sent to every state in the Union, according to Mary Margaret Courtney, secretary.

"Persons who take the course are often teachers and students who have had to leave the University for financial or credit reasons," Miss Courtney said. "It's been my experience that those who take the course are exceptionally fine students."

Students from foreign countries, including France and Arabia, have been enrolled, and members of the United States armed forces are eligible. At present, states having the heaviest enrollment are Iowa, Washington, California, Illinois, and Canada.

The courses offered may count toward bachelor's degrees for up to 45 credits. The grading system is the same as for a regular University course, but only one course may be taken at a time. Each course is developed by a member of the faculty so that it parallels the regular University course, and the student receives equal credit.

A certificate indicating the grade and credit received is issued when a course is completed. Home study courses offered are bacteriology and hygiene, business administration, education, economics, history and political science, home economics, journalism, mathematics, music, psychology and philosophy, religion, social work, and sociology and anthropology.

"Land of Make Believe," a children's program, based on familiar children's stories, is heard on Wednesday at 5:15. This 15-minute program is mailed to 11 Montana stations weekly under an exchange arrangement with Oregon State college.

"Land of Enchantment," heard each Tuesday night over KGVO at 10:35, is a poetry series produced by the University English department.

"Treasures Off the Shelf," a series based on American history and received under an exchange arrangement with the University of Michigan, is heard Saturday at 4 over KXLL.

The School of Journalism will add two 15-minute news interview programs this week, directed by Prof. O. J. Bue.

Bill Spahr, radio publicity director for the Public Service division, said that over 350 hours of radio time had been given to University programs by Montana stations since the first of July, 1952 and that the total for the year ending in June 1953 should approximate over 500 hours of public service time.
