Sinfonia Convention Slates American Concert Friday

Phi Mu Alpha, Sinfonia music fraternity of America, will climax its convention in the music school auditorium tomorrow at 8 p.m. with a public concert of contemporary American music played by the students and faculty from the University of Idaho, Washington State College, Eastern Washington College of Education, and MSU. The music presented will be American composed and interpreted in an attempt to prove that music written today is good enough to stand the test of time. During the 1954 national convention of Phi Mu Alpha fraternity, Dr. Walter Welke, University of Washington, and vice president of the fraternity, said that if today's "top hit tune" is dead next month, it was not good. Sinfonia has encouraged the writing of good music both in its national convention and on the province level by playing such compositions in concerts like the one tomorrow. Tomorrow night's selection,

"Three Short Pieces" for flute and piano by Kilford Neely were written especially for Charles Osborne, instructor of music, who will give the first public performance of the work. The piece is written in three movements entitled "Will O' the Wisp," "Nightfall," and "Festival." Osborne said the pieces are an important contribution to flute literature and should enjoy a growing popularity in years to come. He will be accompanied by Rudolph Wendt, assoc. prof. of music. Besides Osborne's selections there will be a brass choir with Richard Ely, Missoula, trumpet; Rudy Domitrovich, Anaconda, trumpet; Leo Musburger, Missoula, trombone. Paul Hartley, a pledge from Billings, will play a piano solo, and last of the MSU entertainers is a woodwind quartet including Osborne, flute; Ray Rom, Roundup, clarinet; Don Hardisty, Butte, bassoon; Glenn Patton, Missoula, French horn; and John Marvin, Missoula, oboe.

Package Ski Deal Offers Extras—Includes Insurance

The annual ski week ends at Whitefish Jan. 21, 22, 23 will offer more than food, transportation, and lodging according to a report last night by Patsy Anderson, Missoula, ski club member. Miss Anderson emphasized that the $19.75 fee for the three-day lift will include use of the T-bar lift on Big Mountain for two days, insurance, ski club membership, lessons at reduced rates, and night skiing, besides the three major costs of food, lodging, and transportation both ways from Missoula. Membership in the Ski club gives skiers a 10 per cent discount on ski equipment at The Sportsman, a shoulder patch, and an opportunity to take future trips. The ski club is considering a trip to the Banff ski run in Alberta this winter. Miss Anderson said that there is still room for several people to sign up for the Whitefish trip. She added that the Ski club is sponsoring an auction on winter sports equipment next Tuesday night in the Student Union. There is a good opportunity for ski enthusiasts to purchase used ski equipment at reduced rates.

ROTC Outstanding Freshman . . .

Lt. Col. Samuel H. Hayes, left, presented David S. Wilson, Helena, far right, with the first place ribbon for highest military academic standing for first year basic ROTC Wednesday, Jan. 5. Second place went to Duane G. Gilkey, Livingston, middle.

No School for Foresters; Work on Ball Progresses

Tickets to the Foresters' ball are going fast, according to Don Williams, Hamilton, chief push. Tickets are on sale in the Student Union canteen from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily. They are no longer on sale in the Forestry school. This year's wood covered tickets, which also serve as dance programs and souvenirs of the ball, are the result of the work of Joanne Golden, Missoula, and her committee. Examples of dances listed are the Buzz Saw Blue, the Log Jam Jump, the Cook Shack Call and the Roaring Rapids Rip. Foresters Excused . . . Forestry classes have been excused today and Friday so that foresters can work on ball decorations. Nearly 300 fir trees will line the Field House floor, according to Arne Royce, Belfrey, gym decoration chairman. Because of the size of the Field House, a false ceiling of cedar boughs will not be constructed, he said. The false ceiling was a feature of the decorations when the ball was staged in the Men's gym. To give the illusion of a low ceiling, the overhead lights in the Field House will not be used; instead, indirect lighting will be from the edges of the dance floor, he explained. Royce's committee will construct a stage for the band and a "chaperones' corral."

Soft Drinks at Bar . . .
The familiar saloon with its swinging doors and sawdust floor will again be a feature of the dance, promised Lou Boll, Winona, Minn., chairman of the bar committee. The bar will be located off the dance floor and in the southwest corner of the Field House, he said. It will have a slab wood bar complete with a lodge pole bar rail. The saloon itself will be enclosed with fir trees. Mustached bartenders wearing white shirts, string ties and the old sleeve bands, will serve free soft drinks to the dancers. Bartenders will be Paul Heinz, Showano, Wis.; Dave Owen, Missoula; Arne Royce, and Dick Sandman, Rapid City, S.D.

Budget-Finance Sets Inventory; To Print Booklets

Two recommendations and an inventory of all ASMSU property were resolved at the Budget and Finance committee meeting Tuesday night. "Every year they've stuffed off the inventory," said Joan Bachman, Missoula, chairman of the committee. "It's surprising what the students own." "Tea cups in North hall," commented Jack Chamberlin, Spokane, forestry major, as he read over the inventory sheets. "Moose head in the forestry school? That's not right!" "Hm," said the rest of the committee. The two recommendations to Central board included a $40 loan to the sophomore class and sponsoring a pamphlet on parliamentary procedure. The committee resolved to assemble and staple the parliamentary procedure pamphlets to reduce the cost to $24 for 500 copies and to distribute them for the first time at Leadership camp in the spring. Richard Crist, Missoula, will design a new cover. The question of faculty activity cards and the proposal for new ASMSU activity cards with photographs of students are pending further information.

Off the U.P. Wire . . . Somoza Asks Revolver Duel To Settle War

The President of Nicaragua has challenged the President of Costa Rica to a revolver duel to settle their differences. President Somoza of Nicaragua says Costa Rican President Figueres is a liar for saying Nicaragua is behind the Costa Rican war. In Washington, President Eisenhower said that the United States will have no comment on the war until a special fact-finding commission, sent to both countries, reports back. The Montana Legislature . . . will be entertained today by four Montanans who have recently returned from abroad, Dave Leuthold, Molt, (MSU '54), who has been in France, Frances Brink, Miles City, who has been in Switzerland, and Keith Kimball, Hysham, and Charles Gestring, Creston, who have been in India. The quartet will speak on their experiences while studying conditions and working on farms abroad.

A little bit of hope . . .
is sprouting in Washington that Red China may yet free 11 jailed American flyers. . . the United States has received some encouragement in a report from American Ambassador John Allison in Tokyo . . . (who) . . . conferred briefly yesterday with the man who tried to win the Americans' freedom, U. N. Secretary Hammarskjold.

Wilson Wins ROTC Honor

Ribbons for highest military academic standing in first year basic ROTC were presented to Pfc. David Wilson, Helena, first place; Pfc. Duane Gilkey, Livingston, second place, and Pfc. Lloyd Foster, Harrisonville, Mo., third place. For second year basic ROTC the following ribbons were presented: Sgt. Fred Gray, Missoula, first place; Sgt. William Cogswell, Sgt. Earl Lory, and Sgt. John Fowler, Missoula, all received second place awards; and Sgt. Rae Young, Billings, and Sgt. Don Loscar, Mesa Ariz., both received third place awards. The following men received promotions to higher ranks: M/Sgt. John Smith, Highwood, to Second Lieutenant; Sgt. Byron Hunt, Missoula, to Master Sergeant; Corporals John Bansch, Helena, Loscar, Cogswell, Lory, Fowler, and Young all to Sergeant. William Anderson, Livingston, Ken Calvin, Miles City, Harry Eylar, Butte, Reuben Moss, Dixon, and Don Strauss, Butte were appointed Corporals. John Foster, Springfield, Ohio, Gilkey and Wilson were promoted to private first class.

Skiers to Meet at Gym; Girls' Swim Hours Set

Ski classes making the trip to Diamond mountain are to meet Friday at 1 p.m. in front of the men's gym, according to Mavis M. Lorenz, instructor of health and physical education. Busses will return to the campus at 5:30. Miss Lorenz also announced yesterday that the new hours for women's recreational swimming are Thursday afternoons from 4 to 6 p.m. She added that if requested, instruction will be given to the people who are practicing in order to pass the University swimming test. Because there are no beginner classes offered in swimming this quarter she encourages beginners to take advantage of this opportunity.

SCA 'Pop-Corn Forums' Discuss Religious Problems

"Pop-corn forum," at which no popcorn is served, grew out of a series of student-faculty fireside chats started by SCA over a year ago. The forums, which anyone may attend, are for the purpose of discussing current campus or general issues, and have met with favorable attitudes. It is planned to continue these meetings as frequently as there seems to be a desire for them. The group will meet at the home of Associate Prof. Bernice Ramskill, 225 University avenue, at 8 p.m. tonight. Mr. and Mrs. John T. Nohtnagle Jr., foreign language department, will lead the discussion on travel and study in foreign countries.

Today's Meetings

- Social committee, 3 p.m., ASMSU office.
- Royaleers practice at Field house, 7 p.m.
- Christian Science organization, 6:30 p.m., music building 103.

- Arnold Air Society, 8 p.m., ROTC building.
- Venture staff meeting, noon, Makeup room of Student Union.

Free Lunches . . .

A free lunch will be served during the ball to the dancers. The lunch, consisting of sliced meat sandwiches and coffee, will be served in the dining hall, which will be located on the mezzanine. Mary Meagher, Spokane, Wash., is in charge of the lunch. The dining hall will be decorated by the committee headed by Pat Ryan, Trenton, N.J. Judging for the beard contest will be Saturday at 3 p.m. in the Field House. The judging is open to the public. Tom Davis and Howard Tottingham, both Missoula barbers, will judge the beards. Prize for the best "Paul Bunyan-type" beard will be a razor donated by the Schick Razor company. Prizes will also be awarded for the most distinguished, the neatest and the most unusual beard.

Prizes for Costumes . . .

Prizes will also be awarded for the best dressed couple, the best dressed man and the best dressed woman. Costumes should be based on the garb worn by persons in the old logging camps, according to Kelsey Smith, Helena, publicity chairman. Prizes in the beard and costume contests have been donated by the following Missoula business firms: Bob Ward & Sons Inc., Missoula Drug Co., Save On Drug Store, Missoula Mercantile Co., C. R. Dragstedt Co., Westerners Inc., and The Sportsman.

Ike Speaks to You Also

Today, an ex-general now President will outline to the U. S. Congress "a number of measures to increase the attractions of a military career." President Eisenhower predicted in his State of the Union message last week that he will also ask for "civilian reserves immediately capable of effective military service... in lieu of maintaining active duty forces in excess of the nation's immediate need."

Compulsory Training Considered Without waiting for the administration to offer details of its own proposals, two Georgia Democrats, Russell and Vinson, have introduced bills into both the Senate and House calling for compulsory military training for all draft-age youths and for a four-year extension of selective service. Russell in the Senate and Vinson in the House have both received powerful backing.

Although a 400,000 man reduction is planned for the armed services (a year ahead of the original plan) the services are still suffering from "Re-enlistment Blues." The President has told the nation "our standing forces must remain much larger than voluntary methods can sustain."

Ike May Accomplish Two-in-One A double-barreled armed service may result. Congress may give us a new, universal reserve training program which, incidentally, could provide the first defense system in the history of the republic that would be fair to its young manhood. And secondly, we may develop a highly specialized, professional fighting force, especially in the air force which has been the only branch to boost its quotas rather than cut them.

Training one jet bomber pilot costs the government $600,000. It takes $75,000 to turn out a good mechanic or electronics expert. When the pilot or the radar man or the mechanic fails to re-enlist, that much money goes out the window. Many of them have already left military service for better-paying jobs in private industry.

Russian Officers Better Off Our enemy in this war of theories has recognized the problem. A Russian captain, a jet pilot, makes $765 per month, gets free food, cigarettes, and clothing, and a 50 per cent discount in all civilian stores.

An American captain makes $655 per month, a few fringe benefits, and he pays income taxes on top of it.

Of interest to us here at MSU is also the fact that 90 per cent of the nation's second lieutenants come from the ranks of the ROTC programs. These officers administer over half of our federal budget. In 1953 the army spent an estimated $16,574,368. The navy spent $11,616,593,430. The air force spent an even larger sum. Our ROTC classmates will be spending that same money in a few short years. Ike may outline the method this afternoon.

Although the President's message today will be addressed to the House and Senate, he will be speaking to us, too.—K.F.

Students Relate Experiences Of Foreign Living

Four young people, one a Montana University graduate and three former Montana State college students, told members of the International club and other interested students and faculty members of their trips abroad under the International Farm Youth Exchange program.

Dave Leuthold, Molt, who graduated from MSU last spring, led off the talks by showing slides he took while in France and briefly described his impressions and experiences while there. Frances Brink, a Montana State college graduate from Miles City, visited Switzerland, which she called the land of mountains, cheese, Swiss watches, and happiness. She also had many interesting and colorful slides of the tiny European nation.

The other two, Charles Gestrung, Creston, and Keith Kimball, Hysham, also '54 graduates of MSC, were sent to India. "We went to India expecting a land of snake charmers and elephants," one said. "Were we surprised when we had to hunt all day trying to find just one snake charmer."

Aquamaid's Plan For Water Show

Aquamaid's are beginning preparations for the annual water pageant to be presented the first week of Spring quarter.

"The Sea" is the theme for this year's pageant, but no title has been decided upon yet, according to Virginia Wyman, Billings, president. The pageant will consist of 13 routines, instead of 15, as in past years.

The routines haven't been completely decided upon yet, but men will swim in some of the numbers, Miss Wyman said.

New officers elected at a meeting Tuesday night were Miss Wyman, president; and Mary Meagher, Spokane, vice-president.

Grizzlies Travel South Today to Meet Brigham Young, Utah

The Montana State University Grizzlies are heading south today for their first conference road trip of the season to play the league-leading BYU Cougars and Utah Redskins over the weekend. Brigham Young and Utah are expected for first place in the conference with records of two victories and no defeats, though the Redskins have a season record of 9-2 and rank ninth in the nation. The Cougars' over-all record is 6-6. Montana is in a third place tie in the conference race and has a season mark of 6-4.

BYU Starts Slow

Brigham Young started off the season on the wrong foot, dropping its first four games, then rebounding with a 78-66 victory over Baylor and a 70-60 win over Michigan. The Cougars ended their pre-conference schedule by losing a close game to Manhattan at Madison Square Garden.

New Mexico was the first to fall before the Cougars in conference play, 92-62, followed by Denver whom BYU defeated 90-68. Terry Tebbbs, 5'8" guard led the assault against Denver by scoring 30 points.

BYU's attack is headed by Dave Lewis at guard and Max Anderson at forward. Nick Mateljan, the Cougars' starting center, has been dropped from the squad. His replacement is Herschel Pedersen. The Grizzlies challenge the Cougars Friday night at Provo.

Saturday night the Grizzlies meet the Redskins at Salt Lake City. Utah's only two defeats were at the hands of Kentucky, 70-65, and Southern California, 54-52. Its most notable victory was over the LaSalle Explorers during the Christmas vacation.

With these exceptions, the Redskins have been rolling in high gear and hold conference victories over New Mexico and Denver. New Mexico gave the pre-season favorites a battle before bowing 69-59, while the Utes defeated Denver, 90-68.

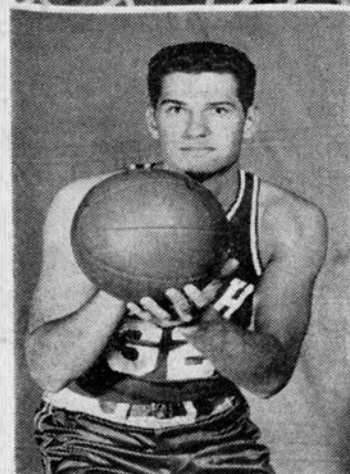

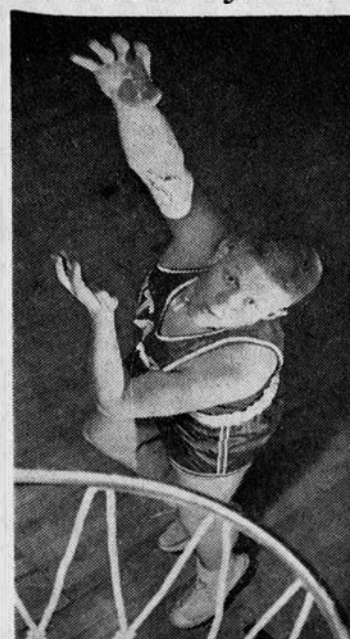

Redskins Show Depth

The rambling Redskins' offense is headed by the three B's—Garry Bergen, Art Bunte, and Morris Buckwalter, plus enough reserves to run all night if the occasion presents itself.

The probable lineup for Coach Jiggs Dahlberg's Grizzlies include guards Eddie Argenbright and Dave Adams, center Ray Howard, and forwards Zip Rhoades and either Al Dunham or Eddie Bergquist.

The rest of the traveling squad consists of Dave Burton, Maury Colberg, co-captain Fuzz Fine, Jerry Johnson, George Samuelson, and Hal Winterholter.

Utah's B-Boys . . .

Utah's sudden splurge into basketball's big 10 is due largely to Art Bunte (top) and Gary Bergen (bottom) and Coach Jack Gardner's proselytizing. Bunte, a 6'3" pivot with a wide repertoire of shots, played freshman and sophomore basketball for Colorado, where he was one of the leading scorers in the Big Seven conference. When the Utes defeated LaSalle and All-American Tom Gola in Madison Square Garden Dec. 18, Bunte topped all scorers with 23 points. He currently is averaging 16.3 points per game. Coach Gardner rates 6'8" Bergen, who competed for Kansas State during his freshman and sophomore years, as one of the finest basketball players he has coached.

Journalism Leads Faculty Bowling

Natural Science keglers chalked up individual honors in Faculty bowling Tuesday night, but the Journalism team regained an undisputed lead with a three-game sweep from Air Science.

Administration and NS remain tied for second place after taking 2-1 series from Chemistry-Pharmacy and Business Administration, respectively. Physical Education dropped two of three to Forestry to cap action.

Royal Brunson, NS, rolled a 214 game and a 551 series for top individual honors, while teammate R. A. Diettert banged a 510 series. Chem-Pharm tallied the high team series, 2310, with a 785 game. The Air Science team knocked down 802 pins in the top single game.

Skyline Grid Gate Soars; MSU Attendance Climbs

Skyline conference football attendance in 1954 increased 21.1 per cent over the 1953 season to lead the nation in percentage of attendance increase, according to an Associated Press survey of major college football attendance.

The Big Seven followed with an 11.8 per cent gain, with the midland independents showing an increase of 11.2 per cent. However, national attendance dropped off three-tenths of one per cent from the 1953 season. The Southeastern conference suffered a loss of 18.5 per cent, the biggest drop.

Montana State University's 1954 football attendance increased 60 per cent over the previous year with a total of 25,526 attending four Grizzly games at Dornblaser stadium compared with 15,903 for a like number during 1953. The Montana-Montana State clash drew a season high of 8,000 fans, followed by the Utah State game with 7,400, Ft. Lewis with 5,126, and Utah with 5,000, an average of 6,381 per game.

Butte Rats, Forestry Win

By JOE CROSS

Intramural basketball got underway Tuesday night as Forestry beat Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 35-25 and the Butte Rats dumped Phi Delta Theta 40-32. Both games were in the "A" division of the intramural league.

Butte Rats, led by John Frankino who was high point man for the evening with 16 points, won their game in the third quarter when they outscored the Phi Deltas, 17-2. In the other game, Forestry also won in the second half as they trailed 15-11 at the half.

Graduates' Wives Club Active This Year

The club formed by the wives of graduate students has had considerable success, having had several speakers attend meetings to discuss things of interest to women, such as hair styling, and to give other demonstrations.

The officers of the Wives' club are Mrs. Wes Morrison, Lincoln, Neb., president; Mrs. Vernon Hawley, Townsend, vice president; Mrs. Paul Hudson, Great Falls, treasurer; Mrs. John Elliot, Golconda, Nev., secretary; and Mrs. John Green, Helena, program chairman.
