42 ROTC Cadets to Receive Commissions Next Monday

Sixteen senior Army ROTC cadets and 26 AFROTC cadets will receive their commissions into the Army and Air Force next Monday, according to the ROTC detachments at MSU.

Those receiving Air Force commissions include George Boifeuillet, John Dean, Lee Delaney, Bruce Ferguson, Robert Greenan, Gerald Hayes, Val Herman, Ray Ruana, Steve Sanders, and Zane Smith, all of Missoula; Ed Cogswell, John Earl, Bernard Mogstad, and James Rathman, all of Great Falls; Don Chaney, Livingston; Hugh DeMers, Arlee; Roland Grotte, Hamilton; Noel Johnson, Florence; Gerald Lund, Baker; Art Mathison, Deer Lodge; Robert Newlin, Lewistown; Charles Plowman, Joliet; Charles Robbin, Big Fork; Keith Terrell, Billings; and Tom Van Meter, Ogden, Utah.

Ralph Bingham, Frenchtown; Pat Eyer, Billings; John Gilliam, Lincoln; Arthur Jette, Missoula; James Madison, Jefferson City; William Rucker, Geraldine; Melvyn Ryan, Missoula; and John Smith, Highwood, will all receive their commissions after completing their summer camp qualifications.

Three men, Cy Austin, Helena; Doug Delaney, Missoula; and Neil McCurdy, Missoula, will not graduate this quarter but will receive their commissions during commencement.

Three men will be commissioned at Air Force summer camp. Robert Gibson, Missoula, will receive his commission in August at Fairchild Air Base, Spokane. Allen Kelley, Greenfield, Mass., and Jay Lease, Great Falls, will receive their commissions in July, also at Fairchild.

Two cadets will receive their lieutenant bars at the end of summer quarter. They are Fred Stout, Hamilton, and James Uglum, Box Elder.

Senior Solos To Be Given

Don Stagg, Butte; Rosalie Space, Grangeville, Ida.; and Don Hardisty, Butte, will be featured soloists with the MSU Symphonette in the baccalaureate concert to be presented Sunday at 3 p.m. in the Music School Recital hall. Stagg and Miss Space are piano soloists, and Hardisty will play a bassoon solo.

The program will open with a Bach prelude, played on the organ by Assistant Professor Heinz Arnold. The second section of the program will consist of "Alleluia" and "The Cherubic Hymn," sung by the MSU Jubileers under the direction of Professor Lloyd Oakland.

The final feature of the program will be Mozart's "Concerto in B Flat Major, 'Siegfried Idyll,'" by Wagner, and "Carnival of Animals," by Saint-Saens, played by the Symphonette and conducted by Prof. Eugene Andrie.

The concert has been planned as entertainment for graduates and parents who will be visiting the campus for commencement. There will be no admission charge.

ADULT PAINTING CLASS TO EXHIBIT PICTURES TODAY

Thirty-five members of the adult painting class will exhibit paintings today between 2-5 this afternoon and 7-10 tonight, in the lounge of the Arts and Crafts building.

Mrs. Grace Cooper, visiting professor of art, and instructor of the class, said there will be no admission charge. The exhibit will contain paintings of still life, landscapes and portraits.

Central board will not meet today. Meeting is scheduled for Friday, 3 p.m., in the Lodge conference rooms, according to Gary Jystad, Kalispell, ASMSU president.

Student Resolution Seeks Time for Joint Committee

Students Submit Convo Resolutions

We, the students of Montana State University, respectfully submit the following resolution regarding the proposed regulations on student conduct, as outlined by University President Carl McFarland.

1. We feel that the students of any university are vitally concerned in the welfare of their institution. The policies and ideals of that university have a direct influence on all their future conduct and usefulness. It is for this reason that we are presenting this resolution regarding a question of grave concern to the student body of the university as well as to the faculty and the people of the state.

2. We believe that drinking is a nation-wide problem arising from a variety of tensions and stresses. We feel that the problem of Montana State University is no worse than other colleges throughout the nation.

3. It is our firm conviction that as students in a university, we should shoulder responsibility for our own actions. However, it is our belief that the drinking situation on our campus has been greatly exaggerated, resulting in unfavorable publicity for the University and for the State of Montana. As responsible students it is our earnest desire that these unfavorable impressions be corrected.

4. We, as students, are aware of the existence of a difficult problem. We regret the method of presenting a student problem without any previous consultation with student leaders. We feel that the solutions presented are honest attempts to meet the situation, but that their severity is unwarranted and that by their very nature, they appear unworkable.

5. We do not wish to be placed in the position of supporting immorality and illegality. We are fully conscious of our responsibilities and feel that we have a solemn obligation to the people of Montana to offer a sound, constructive solution to the existing problem through the combined efforts of students, faculty, and the administration.

6. Therefore, WE RESOLVE: That a committee composed of students, faculty, and administration be set up to study and present to the administration a workable solution to this problem before the end of fall quarter.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That the present rules continue in effect until that time.

C-B Adopts New Loan Fund Policy; Checks Grill Help

A new ASMSU student loan fund was adopted with one change at Thursday's Central board meeting.

Under the provisions of this loan fund students may borrow up to $100 as a regular loan, and up to $25 as an emergency loan. As originally proposed, the emergency loans, as well as the regular loans, would have required the approval of the loan fund committee. Now emergency loans may be obtained with the approval of the dean of men and the comptroller.

Central board also heard a report on student help in the Grill. According to Lee Bayley, Kalispell, who made the investigation for Central board, said students working in the grill make 75 cents an hour, but are required to keep busy all the time.

A full time cashier was hired by the Grill because of shortages in receipts. The shortages have been greatly reduced since then.

A recommendation that Dr. Lenard Kotschevar, director of food service and residence halls, explain his policies to the board was approved.

Approximately 1,500 students packed the University theater at 11 a.m. yesterday to adopt the resolution printed to the left and to make suggestions about President McFarland's proposed social regulations. The following speech was delivered by Gary Jystad, Kalispell, ASMSU president, at the convocation.

Fellow students of MSU:

We are gathered here today at the expressed desire of the student body to face a situation which has received banner headlines concerning the problem of drinking on our campus. This public announcement only confirms what was before only intimated. It is no longer laughed and snickered at that we are the "dancing academy," it is seemingly a proven fact.

Our pride as a University, our pride as students has been struck a devastating blow. We have a problem to face, a challenge to face. If we are to cast off our present reputation, we must face it, and face it in a manner indicative of college students.

Problem Exists

Yes, we will admit there exists on our campus a liquor problem, but we admit it only in the sense that there is also a liquor problem on almost every other college campus in our country. Not only is the problem concerned with colleges, but it is concerned with almost every faction within our country. —We have just faced two World Wars, we now face another with the no longer scoffed at possibility of the total destruction of the human race. Drinking has become one of the many outlets for the fears, frustrations, and anxieties of the people. Yes, we will admit a drinking problem, but we will not admit that we alone are guilty of this infraction of social behavior and we do not desire to be the focal point at which all fingers are pointed. However, it is too late to crawl in a hole and hide for we have been labeled and we must either wear the label or find a means by which we may erase it.

Make Law Needless

Today we are confronted with the hard strict procedure of law in which apparently no smatterings of mercy have been placed. We find ourselves socially, morally, and legally in the wrong. It is therefore not our right to oppose this law, it is only our right to prove the law needless, thereby making it invalid.

Your student body officers have just recently attended two leadership training camps, the Leadership Training camp on Flathead Lake, and the Pacific Student's President's Association at San Diego. The fundamental concept of both conferences is that student leaders are to guide and aid their fellow students to attain a desired goal and to help solve the problems which they face. It is apparent to me that the responsibility of helping find solutions to problems was jerked out of our hands when it should have been a primary concern of ours. Student government does not have the right to infringe upon the duties and problems of the administration unless they vitally concern the student's reputation and welfare. One of the speakers at PSPA was a renowned educator who, during the course of his speech, constantly referred to the student leaders as the "salt of the earth." It would appear that on the MSU campus your student leaders are often considered the "pepper."

Reputation at Stake

Student government, which should be considered as a vital element in the training of conscientious citizens, cannot function without an atmosphere of complete cooperation between all the existing governing bodies on a campus.

The main purpose of this meeting is for the restoration of our reputation as an excellent institution of learning, to the people of the State of Montana. We, as students must show by our word and action that we are proud of our university and set about it in a constructive way to remedy the stigma which has been placed upon it or we shall remain the "Dancing Academy." In facing this problem, we should not put on public demonstrations or react in any manner which would only stamp our adolescence further into the minds of the people of this state. We are not opposing our President for the stand he has taken, we only disapprove of the manner and severity in which it was presented. It is our moral obligation to conduct ourselves in a manner normally expected of college students and make an honest attempt to solve any drinking problem which does exist on our campus. We must make it known throughout the state of Montana and anywhere else where we are now held in disrepute, that we are not the moral shirkers as it has been intimated.

Last Friday's Meeting

A student committee composed of every faction on our campus and a representative from the alumni met in a five-hour meeting last Friday night and discussed the various methods in which we could constructively meet the present situation. It was the whole-hearted conviction of the committee that (1) we must present an honest and fair resolution to the people of the state which would lessen the degradation of our school's present reputation; (2) we must request that a committee composed of faculty, students, and the administration be set up to discuss the possibility of more effective regulations than those now pending; and (3) we must request that President McFarland give this committee ample time to work out an effective and

Oil Company Picks Helbing to Attend Educator Meeting

Dr. Albert T. Helbing, professor of business administration, has been chosen to take part in the eighth annual Educators conference in New York, June 8-23, by the Esso Standard Oil company.

Dr. Helbing is one of 12 educators selected to participate in the conference this year. After the conference, Dr. Helbing will spend the rest of the summer as management consultant for Chance Vought Aircraft, Inc., Dallas, Tex.

The first four days of the conference will be in New York. Then each of the 12 educators will select a subsidiary company of Esso Standard and study its employee relations program.

'bout the Size of It

Twirlers must turn in their uniforms to Hubert P. Henderson, instructor in the music school, by Friday afternoon, Betty Faurot, twirling adviser, announced.

Off-campus women are again urged to pick up and fill out activity record cards. Very little response has been noted from the off-campus women. These cards are in Room 104, Main hall. The cards are needed for future permanent records.

Printing on the 1955 Sentinel will begin Monday morning. All seniors who wish their Sentinels sent to them must leave 50 cents and a permanent mailing address at the General Accounting office in the Arts and Crafts building.

Much Accomplished But More Remains as Public Relations

Three objectives were the targets aimed for in planning the student convocation yesterday. These three were accomplished in good order—a compliment to the student body—and their future now rests with Pres. Carl McFarland.

The approximately 1,500 students who filled the University theater adopted ASMSU President Gary Jystad's following statement of the most pressing factors:

1. We must present an honest and fair resolution to the people of the state of Montana which will lessen the degradation of our school's present reputation.

2. We must request that a committee composed of faculty, students, and administration be set up to discuss the possibility of more effective regulations than those which are now pending.

3. We must request that President McFarland give this committee ample time to work out an effective and useful method of alleviating our problem before imposing his regulations.

It seems only reasonable that President McFarland will grant the requests made in points two and three. But if he grants these or not the students must continue to carry forward the aims of point one.

Central board will consider the possibility of sending letters to parents of MSU students during their Friday meeting. Student objections to the president's proposed regulations vitally need publicity.

The Great Falls Tribune, the Livingston Enterprise, and perhaps others, have carried editorials commending the president's "firm stand on drinking." We also applaud his attempt to eliminate infractions of law, but his proposed regulations do not end there. So far, the papers of the state have carried only one side of a many-sided problem.

And this one side has been exaggerated. The Enterprise commented, "Conditions must have been critical for the president of the school to have invoked the rules which he has suggested."

Conditions aren't "critical," this University is not a "party school," or a "dancing academy," and President McFarland will need student cooperation to dispel this impression.

Jumbolaya Seems Assured Of Second IM Crown

With only softball playoff totals to be added to total intramural points, Jumbolaya apparently has cinched its second straight intramural championship.

Jumbolaya has 3,210 points, while runner-up Phi Delta Theta has 2,900. Even if the Phi Deltas cop the softball trophy, they will have only 3,200 points. Jumbolaya figures to pick up from 200 to 250 points from softball participation.

With unofficial results from football; swimming, bowling, volleyball, horseshoes, track, tennis, and golf tabulated, the top six teams in intramural competition are:

Jumbolaya — 3,210; Phi Delta Theta — 2,900, Sigma Chi — 2,880, Sigma Nu — 2,665, Forestry Club — 2,275, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon — 2,085.

Steam Valve . . .

Dear Sir:

It is, perhaps, a trite and outworn practice at this date to make comments or complaints on Dr. McFarland's proposed changes of regulations, more particularly those concerning campus drinking habits, however there are a few things pertaining to "operation dry" that may be worth recording.

One is that the student body has an almost unanimous unfavorable opinion of the methods used to prepare and present the proposed legislation. We have become incensed by an attempt to snatch away, in dictatorial fashion, previous privileges. But however questionable that may be, the student government has become very much alive and apparent to the student body. This is a good thing. Perhaps a shocking revelation such as Dr. McFarland's ultimatum was a necessity, but now the spirit that was there is working.

On Wednesday we went to an open meeting to discuss something among ourselves and with any who happen to be present. Our approach to the situation was to be of mature citizens of a community of learning. The president of the University has not seen fit to do things that way. Instead, he has resorted to under-cover methods, involving the use of motion pictures, voice recordings and unnamed witnesses. He is satisfied that he has sufficient evidence to indict us all. In fact, he says—I have sprung the trap! Give me reason why you should get out.

With all his evidence and investigation, he cannot know or understand the problem as fully as we. Why he did not consult us in quest of a solution, remains obscure. We, further, are those to benefit by a solution satisfactory to all.

The proposed legislation, the way it stands today, has the stiffest opposition from the very people he could affect.

The Kaimin pointed out the other day, quoting President Eisenhower, that laws and regulations dictated in the tyrant fashion or forced upon a group, do not last and will not operate satisfactorily, whether for the advancement of democracy or not. The classic example was prohibition.

I do not say this is the same as prohibition, with clandestine hideouts and moonshine whiskey, but like that prohibition, the McFarland-proposed legislation cannot hope to solve the problem.

VICEROYS
than any other filter cigarette?

BECAUSE ONLY VICEROY GIVES YOU A PURE, NON-MINERAL,
NON-TOXIC FILTER WITH
20,000 FILTER TRAPS
IN EVERY FILTER TIP!

1. Yes, only Viceroy has this filter composed of 20,000 tiny filter traps. You cannot obtain the same filtering action in any other cigarette.
2. Besides being non-mineral and non-toxic, this cellulose-acetate filter never shreds or crumbles.
3. The Viceroy filter wasn't just whipped up and rushed to market to meet the new and skyrocketing demand for filtered cigarettes. Viceroy pioneered. Started research more than 20 years ago to create the pure and perfect filter.
4. Smokers en masse report that filtered Viceroy's have a finer flavor even than cigarettes without filters. Rich, satisfying, yet pleasantly mild.
5. Viceroy draws so easily that you wouldn't know, without looking, that it even had a filter tip... and Viceroy's cost only a penny or two more than cigarettes without filters!

That's why more college men and women smoke VICEROYS than any other filter cigarette... that's why VICEROY is the largest-selling filter cigarette in the world!

Burke Gets Extra Year of Eligibility

Grizzly football guard Howard Burke has been awarded another year of football eligibility. Athletic director Jiggs Dahlberg announced this week after returning from a conference of Skyline officials in Salt Lake City last week-end.

Dahlberg said that Burke's case was classified as one of "manifest hardship." Burke played only two minutes of his sophomore year against Wyoming before being injured.

Whether or not Burke will return for another year of football is still undecided.

Ross Miller, Grizzly publicity director, said that if Dick Imer had not signed a Canadian pro contract earlier, the Grizzly backfield great might also have been awarded another year to play.

Imer kicked two extra points against Montana in 1951 while playing for the University of Washington. He was injured a week later.

Law School Gains New Professor

Oscar A. Provost, 46, manager of the General Legal division for DuPont, Wilmington, Del., will become a professor of law at MSU next September, according to the president's office.

Provost was born in Anaconda, Mont., and took his B.A. at Carroll college, Helena. He received his LL.B. at Georgetown university, Washington, D. C. He worked his way through college as a newspaper reporter.

His first law experience was a clerk in the office of the attorney general of Montana in 1933. In 1935-37 he was assistant attorney general of Montana.

Provost is experienced in anti-trust litigation. He supervised the major anti-trust cases in which DuPont has been involved during the past several years. One of his former associates on anti-trust work is John M. Harlan, who was recently appointed to a seat as an associate justice of the U. S. Supreme Court.

Seedorf Plans Trip to Europe This Summer

Dr. Evelyn H. Seedorf, assistant professor of speech, will leave late this month for an extended summer tour abroad.

The tour is an academic trip, and not entirely for pleasure, according to Dr. Seedorf, and will include visits to the Netherlands, France, Italy, Germany and England. She says one reason for the trip is that she wishes to redevelop her office with new playbills. Dr. Seedorf will attend a large number of plays and productions all over Europe.

The walls of her office are now covered with about 60 playbills of productions she has seen since 1951.

After her return from Europe, Dr. Seedorf plans to spend some time in New York and hopes to see about 10 Broadway shows at that time.

She will return this fall prior to resuming classes at MSU.

H. P. Sickler, MSU's Oldest Student Finds Plenty to Learn, Even at 70

By DAVE OLSTAD

There are two old proverbs that are widely quoted by a lot of people, "You can't teach an old dog new tricks," and, "You're never too old to learn." These may seem to contradict each other but there is a man on this campus that would say that they are both correct.

Harry P. Sickler was born Oct. 13, 1885, in Grandtower, Ill., almost 70 years ago. Although there aren't too many tricks he can be taught there's plenty to learn, said Sickler.

Sickler started his education process at Southern Illinois Normal university in 1905, lasting three quarters before he quit. He then worked around Illinois at different jobs until 1907 when he joined the army. The first three years of his six-year hitch he served with the 22 Infantry division, the last three with the Signal corps.

After his discharge in 1913 he worked for another 10 years at various jobs throughout the Midwest, taking time out to get in another quarter at SINU.

The year 1924 found Sickler in Montana and at MSU. He took the Montana short course in forestry, the last course of its kind to be offered at MSU. In 1925 he started to work for the Forest service as a lookout near Thompson Falls, where he spent the next 25 years of his life.

While working for the Forestry service, Sickler managed to attend two winter quarters at MSU forestry school in the years 1927-28 and again in 1948.

In 1950, after 25 years with the government, Sickler retired and began his academic life at MSU.

He has been attending since as a special student and during the past two years has gone straight through, including summer sessions.

Sickler has become interested in Far-Eastern history because he believes it is the most progressive of modern day occurrences.

But it's not all history that attracts Sickler. He takes what appeals to him, and right now he is working on his piano lessons. In fact, that is where he was cornered for this information. He spends two hours a day in one of the practice rooms at the Music building lightly fingering the Minuet by Bach. "If I learn how to play this piano, I think I will have gotten enough for my efforts," said Sickler.

When asked why he decided to come back to school after so many years absence he pondered a minute and said:

"When I was working I never had time to read, not even the paper. When I retired I figured it would be just as inexpensive for me to go to school and catch up on my reading as it would to spend my time visiting my friends around the country."

"I am happy I have had the opportunity to add some knowledge of literature and history to my life here at the University," said Sickler.

When asked about future plans, Sickler said, "Oh, I suppose I will stay here through summer—unless I feel I've had enough schooling and decide to quit."

"You're never too old to learn," sounds logical, "Can't teach an old dog new tricks,"—probably not.

Jystad Speech

useful method of alleviating our problem before imposing his regulations.

I honestly believe that this is a sincere desire by the students to help in the solution of a problem which vitally concerns them. When we become alumni of this institution, we want to be proud of the fact that we received our college education in a school whose social and scholastic standards were beyond public scrutiny, and not that we received our education in a well-renowned "party" school.

Won't Rival Dante
In closing, I would like to recite a little poem I have written in my spare moments. Having little poetic nature, I realize that it will never rival the Inferno by Dante, but somehow in its simple and crude way, I think it portrays the manner and attitude in which we must face this situation. I have entitled it, "The Student's Faith."

Faith, the premise of our land
Faith in God, ourselves, and man.
A student's faith must not consist

Of arrogance and prejudice
But rather Faith in our college day

Must be expressed in a constructive way.
Problems and tensions may around us abide
And yet with strength must we decide

To show our Faith and keep our Pride."

Lost Anything?—Check Campus Lost-Founds

By GENELL JACKSON

In addition to cramming for finals and making fond farewells, this week is also a time for inventory of personal belongings.

If you have lost many things, and room mates and pals fail to produce, perhaps they are in the Women's Center, Liberal Arts building, or at one of the many other lost-found desks on campus.

"We have collected more than our share of lost items," Miss Agnes Stoodley, head of the women's physical education department, asserted. "I have a wrist watch, numerous ear rings, bracelets, pens, belts, gloves, and many, many more. All these things will be auctioned off if not claimed."

She also warned all items left in lockers will be classified as "lost" and auctioned at a later date.

Similar stories are told at other lost and found offices. Pens, girls' head scarves, books, and notes are the most popular items collected after classes. So heed this warning, and collect your "lost" items.
