Grizzlies Face Denver U Hilltoppers In Quest of Third Homcoming Victory

By JOHN BANSCH

Tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 when the Montana Grizzlies take the field against the Denver Pioneers, the Silvertips will be in quest of their third consecutive Homecoming victory.

Two years ago the Grizzlies defeated Colorado A&M 32-31 and last year they defeated Utah State 20-13. John Roning, who is at the helm of this year's Denver club, was the head coach at Utah State last year. This will mark his second consecutive year as the coach of Montana's Homecoming foe.

In Denver, the Grizzlies will meet a strong aggregation of gridders, including 14 lettermen, from last year's Skyline championship ball club.

The Hilltoppers will show Montana fans a shifty array of running backs, along with a strong defense. Coach John Roning's Pioneers are currently the offensive power in the Skyline, gaining 927 yards in three games. On the defensive side of the picture, the Denver line, anchored by Ed Horvat all-conference tackle, has held their opponents to 565 in the first three contests of the 1955 season.

Montana has been working diligently on their offense this week, in an effort to penetrate Denver's 5-4-2 defense, and yesterday, the Silvertips worked on defensive patterns, while the freshmen ran through Denver's offensive formations.

"The spirit is pretty good, and I don't believe the boys are afraid of Denver by any means," Williams said yesterday. The squad is in tip-top shape with the exception of Captain Dale Shupe who is expected to be ready to go Williams added.

The Grizzlies will stick to their new roving T that was presented to the fans last Saturday against BYU, while Denver will operate from a standard split T, somewhat similar to the type of offense that Brigham Young used last Saturday.

There will be three new faces in the Denver lineup Saturday. On the basis of their play last week end against Colorado A&M, Joe Strasser will get the nod over Ernie Pitts at left end, and Willie Frank will open at left half in place of Max Willsey. Dick Gup-ton will be the starting fullback instead of Bill Korn.

The new gold leather helmets that were ordered last summer have arrived, and they will be used for tomorrow's game Williams said.

Officials for tomorrow's contest are: Lee Buttle, Provo, Utah, referee; Bob Howard, Salt Lake City, umpire; T. J. Black, Great Falls, head linesman; and R. B. Murray, Great Falls, field judge.

A new lighting effect has been created in the Field House for the Homecoming dance. The ceiling fixtures are connected, so that when they are turned on a large

The banquet will be held again in the Yellowstone room of the Lodge. Guests are limited to 500, and will be chosen on the basis of their contributions to campus or community life.

Highlight of the banquet each year is the presentation of awards to the outstanding woman of each class, and four women of the community. Winners last year were

Take Prof. Sibley For a Model

A plaque is presented at the last "Singing On the Steps" each year, "in recognition of highest loyalty and constructive imagination in forwarding the traditions and inspirations of Montana State University. This plaque is termed the "Sibley award."

Paradoxical as it may seem, there is one man, above all others, who most deserves the Sibley award—he is Prof. Robert Sibley, the man for whom it was named.

Sibley came to MSU from California in 1903. He was a member of this faculty for only four years but he was dean of the engineering school, founded the SOS tradition, and later wrote the words to "Old College Chums."

Sibley Was Internationally Recognized...

He was a Phi Beta Kappa and the western delegate to the World Power conferences in London in 1924, in Berlin in 1930, and in Stockholm in 1933.

September's issue of the American Alumni Council magazine carries a cover story on the presentation of another "Robert Sibley award," which is given to the "most distinguished alumni magazine of the year." Most of the nation's colleges are members of the AAC. Sibley was national president from 1942 to 1944.

Professor Sibley has been the mold for all others who have given themselves to creating and preserving MSU traditions. It will surely give this 74-year-old professor great pleasure when he arrives in Missoula this afternoon, to see that what he gave is still here—and will remain here for many years to come.

... Let's Recognize Him Here

Creation, it seems, is one of the most satisfying of all human activities, whether it is by a professor, a musician, a writer, a skilled artist, a common laborer, or a father creating a home.

We'd like to nominate Robert Sibley to receive the Sibley award, and yet we know that a big turnout for the SOS tonight in his honor would please him even more. Try to make it.

Printing Finished; Yearbooks Leave For Bindery Soon

By BARBARA MELLOTT

The 1955 Sentinels will be sent to Walla Walla, Wash., for binding within the next few days, according to Claud E. Lord, University Press superintendent. The last press run will be done today.

The books will be back on campus for distribution in about two weeks.

The 276 pages are contained in a light blue cover. The cover design, drawn by Charles Jacoby '55, Helena, business manager, has simple but effective artwork.

Over 7,000 pounds of 100-pound enamel, a heavy book paper, were used for the 1,800 Sentinels.

This is the first time the Sentinel has been published on the campus. Printing began in July. The printing involved a color process of four press runs to print the picture of Main hall in the opening section of the book.

All-Pro Grid Staff Will Make MSU Homecoming Debut Saturday

By GENELL JACKSON

Alums returning to MSU this week end will be introduced to four men new at Montana, and these four hold the distinction as collectively being the most publicized men on campus.

They are the new Grizzly football coaches—Jerry Williams, Bob Zimmy, Fred Naumetz, and Jack Zilly.

On the football side, all have gained considerable recognition for their own athletic ability—both on a college and professional level. Williams began his undergraduate athletic career while at Washington State, and he was selected to play on the West team in the 1949 East-West Shrine game.

But Williams wasn't ready to pack his football togs in mothballs, so he entered professional football. In all, he has played six years of pro ball with the Philadelphia Eagles and Los Angeles Rams. One of his biggest sports thrills came when he was named to start at halfback in the Chicago All-Star game.

Another of the Montana coaches, Bob Zimmy, appeared in the Chicago All-star games four times, three times as a starter. Zimmy earned his college football fame while tackling for the University of Indiana, where he was named to the All-Big Ten squad. After playing five seasons of pro ball for the Chicago Cardinals, Zimmy returned to Indiana for his diploma, which he earned in 1951.

He then went to Washburn university at Topeka, Kans., as head line coach, where he guided his team to a spot among the "top ten" small college teams," defensively speaking, in the nation.

Naumetz has earned more all-star titles than any of his colleagues. He was an All-American at Boston college in 1943, then an All-Professional linebacker with the Los Angeles Rams in '48 and '49.

He also holds the distinction of being the only Montana coach to perform in three bowl games—the Cotton, Orange, and Sugar bowls. Before joining the MSU coaching staff this year, Naumetz worked as an FBI agent.

A bit more philosophical than many coaches, Jack Zilly considers an invitation to try out for football at Notre Dame the turning point of his life. He had been prepping for Yale, and had planned to follow in his brother's footsteps. But he chose Notre Dame and earned All-American mention there in 1947. He scored one of the TD's that helped the College All-Stars down the pros in Chicago that year.

A teammate of Williams, he played five years for the Rams and one season for the Philadelphia Eagles. "This is the first time I've actually had the job of building a team," Zilly said. "But then this is sort of a 'baptismal' for all of us."

STUDENTS MAY BUY TICKETS

University students will be admitted to the Missoula Spartan football games for 50 cents plus their activity tickets, school officials announced. Activity tickets may be presented at the box office near Dornblaser this year.
