Three Promoted, 15 Appointed As President Fills Out Staff

Three promotions and 15 faculty and staff appointments have been announced by President McFarland.

Three faculty members were promoted from instructor to assistant professor after receiving their doctor's degrees in June. Eleven of the new appointees have received degrees from this university.

The promotions are:

Dr. Agnes Boner, from instructor to assistant professor in English. She received her Ph.D. at the University of Minnesota, where she also earned a B.S. degree in 1935 and an M.A. in 1948.

Dr. Forrest L. Brissey from instructor to assistant professor in psychology and philosophy. He received his Ph.D. from the University of Iowa, where he received his M.A. in 1952. He earned a B.A. degree at MSU in 1950.

Dr. Leland H. Yates, instructor to assistant professor in chemistry. He received his Ph.D. from Washington State college this spring. He earned his B.A. and M.A. degrees at MSU in 1938 and 1940.

The faculty and staff appointments are:

Dr. Sarah (Mrs. Seymour) Betsky, part-time instructor in English. B.S. 1944 and M.A. 1945, Wayne university. Ph.D. 1954, New York university.

William Covey, research fellow in forestry, B.S.F. 1953, MSU.

John Holding, assistant to Dean of Students, B.A. 1950 and M.A. 1951, MSU.

George A. Hockenbery, food supervisor for the Grill room in the Lodge. He has a B.A. in hotel administration, 1952, Michigan State college, and an M.A. in business administration, 1953, University of Chicago.

O. B. Howell, assistant professor of forestry. He has B.S. and M.S. in horticulture 1932 and 1934, and two years work toward Ph.D., all at Michigan State college.

Robert H. Jay, assistant professor of education, B.A. 1941, University of Iowa, M.E. 1950, MSU.

He has been graduate student the past three years at University of Oregon.

Robert Cyrus Noe, television assistant, B.A. 1953, MSU. He is taking graduate work.

Dón T. Stagg, radio programming director, B.M. 1955, MSU.

Robert W. Steele, assistant professor of forestry, B.S.F. 1942, Colorado A&M, M.F. 1949, University of Michigan.

Mrs. M. Pauline White, instructor in home economics, B.S. 1943, MSU.

Five part-time lecturers in the School of Business Administration have been appointed:

Robert K. Ford, B.A. 1952, MSU; Dale Gillespie, B.A. 1948, MSU; Sherman V. Lohn, B.A. in Law 1946 and LL.B. 1947, MSU, and L.L.M. 1949, Harvard Law school; Jack Rimel, LL.B. 1939, MSU; and Sherman Wertz, B.A. 1929, MSU.

Film Society Plans Unusual Showings

Special student cards for membership in the Montana Film society are now available. These cards, costing $1, will admit students to a special program of movies planned for this year at the Roxy theater.

The society will offer a distinguished program of unusual films from all countries of the world, according to Asst. Prof. LeRoy Hinze, president of the society. Theater, art, music, dance, travel, adventure, and many novelty programs not normally available in commercial film features will be shown, he added.

Invitations to premiers, previews, and screenings of new and unusual films will be sent to all members. Morning coffee lectures by visiting film celebrities will be arranged during the year when stars, producers, and critics are available, Mr. Hinze said.

Open Meeting Will Consider Liquor Problem

An open-to-all-students meeting is set for next Wednesday evening at 7, in the Lodge, as a result of action by the student liquor committee that met Wednesday to formulate a general policy regarding the campus drinking problem.

ASMSU Pres. Gary Jystad, Columbia Falls, said that no definite conclusions were reached by the committee but that a tentative plan was proposed.

The committee is composed of Central board members plus a representative from campus living groups. The living groups and their representatives are:

Jumbo hall, Robert Jurovich, Bridger; Corbin, Carol Otthouse, Valier; Panhellenic, Patsy Anderson, Bozeman, and DiAnne Stephens, Billings; South hall, Dean Hellingner, Devon; New hall, Beverly Baumgardner, Belt.

Craig hall has not elected a representative to the committee. Vet's club is represented by Bob Stanley, Helena; Interfraternity has two members, Wayne Linnell, Sunburst, and Bob Isner, Wallace, Ida.

Florence Reynolds To Present Recital

Asst. Prof. Florence Reynolds, cellist, will present another in the series of Montana State University Music school faculty recitals Sunday in the recital hall at 8:15 p.m. She will be accompanied by Rudolph Wendt, pianist.

Selections by Sammartini, Dvorak, Hindemith, Faure, and Rossini-Castelnuovo Tedesco will be included in the program.

Miss Reynolds came to the music school in 1953 from Converse college, Spartansburg, S. C., where she taught cello and theory courses. A graduate of the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N. Y., she spent two seasons with the Rochester Philharmonic orchestra and six seasons with the Lake Placid Sinfonietta.

Wendt, associate professor of music, has been a member of the University music faculty since 1939 and has given numerous recitals in Missoula and throughout Montana.

Stephen Cary To Relate Interview With Gromyko

By BARBARA MELLOTT

Speaking on campus Monday afternoon about his recent trip to Russia, Stephen Cary, Philadelphia, will relate his visit with Andrei Gromyko, Soviet acting foreign minister.

Cary and five other Quakers, members of the American Friends Service committee, toured Russia in June. They were free to take pictures, travel alone, and go where they wanted.

The team reports finding good and bad things in Russia.

"One unmistakable impression we got," reports Cary, "is the very deep desire for peace that is to be found among the Russian people. Their knowledge of the outside world is greatly limited, but their deep desire for peace is something that exists quite independently of what they may read."

Gromyko told the visitors their luggage and films need not be examined on departure. He extended the visa of one of the men for a month so he could finish research of a Russian author. The Quakers learned about forced labor camps.

On their last evening, the Quakers attended a Baptist service. They spoke in the course of the service, and a gasp of surprise went up when their nationality was announced.

Cary will speak in LA 203 at 3 p.m. Students with 3 o'clock classes are urged to attend at 4 p.m.

Calling 'U'

Facilities in the game room of the Lodge will be available at no cost to MSU women Monday from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. according to Ralph Rundel, Chicago, chairman of activities committee.

Deseret Club, Sunday, 3:30 p.m. at the L.D.S. church

Freshmen majoring in education have been given a special invitation to inquire about membership in the Future Teachers of America. An information booth will be maintained on the second floor of the Business-Education building all day Monday and Independents, Monday 7:30 p.m., Yellowstone room. Refreshments and entertainment will follow a business meeting.

Tuesday morning.

There will be a meeting of Gamma Delta, Missouri Synod Lutheran students association, 7 p.m. Sunday, First English Lutheran church, corner of Higgins and Daly.

Rosary, 7:50 a.m. and 5:10 p.m., Newman Club room, second floor, Arts and Crafts building.

Lutheran Student association, 5:30 p.m., Lodge conference room 1. Guest speaker will be Carl Westby.

Baptist Youth group, 5 p.m. to 7 p.m., Sunday; worship and dinner. Those desiring rides to the church are asked to meet in front of the Lodge at 4:45 p.m.

OTHELLO NEEDS THREE EXTRAS

Three male extras are needed for the Masquers' production of Othello, the Moor of Venice.

Those interested may try out at Simpkin's Little Theater anytime today except between 1 and 2 p.m. Tryouts will also be held this evening, according to LeRoy Hinze, director.

The play will start Nov. 8 and run through the 12th.

Breen's Efforts Bring Business; Residents Relieved

Family Housing Director Robert Breen had a hot day yesterday when he went into the icebox business.

Two days ago he had 321 surplus iceboxes piled up behind the strip houses. He tried everything to get rid of them but no go. Finally he put up a "come and get 'em sign" and he was kept busy until 1:30 a.m. yesterday helping people load them up.

The boxes originally were equipment of the strip housing units and were abandoned when strip house residents preferred using electric refrigerators. Residents had requested the old boxes be moved since they were such a hazard to children.

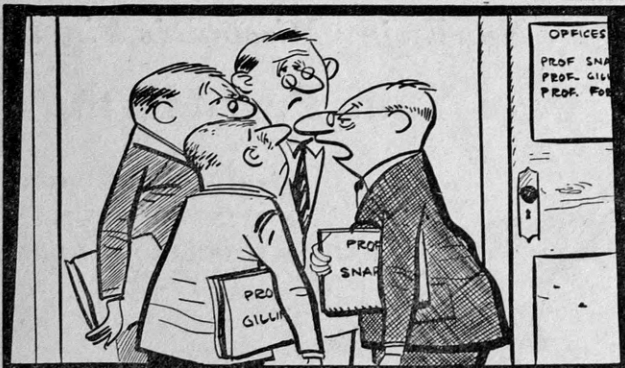

Last Chance for Pics Today Says Hosking

Today from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. is the last chance to get Sentinel pictures taken, according to Editor Dick Hosking, Butte. Anyone who has not made an appointment or has missed an appointment can make it up today in the Activities room of the Lodge.

Hosking also asked that any students still having the Sentinel cards which were handed out during registration to return them to the Sentinel office in the Lodge.

"Thank goodness, it's Friday!"

All for Charity . . .

Enthusiasm for the Charity ball at the Field House tonight is riding high with members of Alpha Phi Omega, fraternity of former Boy Scouts, displaying two of the ten cars to be given away. Left to right are Carl Westby, Eta Omega chapter adviser; Tom Powers, Butte; Dick Fretheim, Plentywood; Bill Barrett, Billings; John Stoppelcamp, Anaconda; and Chapter Pres. Norman Nelson, Anaconda. Four bands and three floor shows will be other features of the ball, which is given annually to finance the physical therapy center at Memorial hospital.

EDITORIALLY ...

Encourage the Grizzlies

Tonight the Grizzlies will be staying in the Hotel Eccles in Logan, Utah awaiting their game with the Utah Aggies at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow.

This is another important, tough game. The Farmers are tied for fourth in the conference with Denver. They want this game as badly as we do.

Editorially the Kaimin urges organizations and individuals to telegraph a word or two of encouragement. Montana can win this contest but determination, spirit, guts—call it what you will—will play an important part.

Dancing at the Charity ball to the music of four orchestras, a campus movie and the Beachcomber mixer, promise to provide University coeds with a chance to show their fashion ingenuity as casual sports clothes and fancy date dresses vie with each other for fashion honors this week end.

Previewing these functions, the estimate of what the clever coed and fashionable fellow will be wearing varies from laces to levis.

Silks and satins, brocades 'n bows are the recommended feminine attire for the Charity Ball tonight. Masculine partners will probably be wearing navy blue serge or gray flannels.

Bermuda shorts, bulky sweaters, and knee sock combinations will intermingle with skirts 'n shirts, plaid slacks and tapered trousers at the SUB movie this evening.

Pedal pushers and blue denims will offer a change of pace as couples "levi down" for the Saturday night Beachcomber mixer. Sneakers 'n saddles will dance with moccasins and loafers at the first of a series of theme mixers at the Lodge.

A report on the rushing period at Montana State college reveals that 182 men were pledged to the eight fraternities and 84 women were pledged to the six sororities last week.

A breakdown of the pledges shows Kappa Sigma fraternity leading with 40 men, Sigma Alpha Epsilon with 34, Sigma Chi with 30, Lambda Chi Alpha with 28, Sigma Nu with 23, Alpha Gamma Rho with 11, and Phi Sigma Kappa and Phi Kappa Alpha with eight each.

Phi Beta Phi and Alpha Omicron Pi sororities were chosen by 19 girls each, while Delta Gamma was the choice of 17, Chi Omega 13, Kappa Delta 11, and Alpha Gamma Delta, five.

Silvertips Depart for Logan; Seek Second Conference Win

By JOHN BANSCH

Montana's Grizzlies will seek their second Skyline victory in four starts when they play the Utah State Aggies tomorrow afternoon in Logan. The game is one of 17 games honoring 25 electees to Football's Hall of Fame.

The honored electee is Skyline Commissioner E. L. "Dick" Romney. Romney, former Utah State coach, will be presented with a plaque during halftime ceremonies. The tilt has also been designated as Utah State's Homecoming game.

Coach Jerry Williams has had his Grizzlies hard at work preparing for their encounter this Saturday. The Silvertips have been holding daily scrimmage sessions with the freshmen in an attempt to tighten up their defense and perfect their offense. "We are working to improve the execution of our defense," Williams said.

There will be some new faces in the Montana starting lineup Saturday. Dick Dzivi will start at center, Don Brant at left half, Roy Bray at quarterback, Milt Wikert at fullback, and Capt. Dale Shupe will be back at his right half position.

Utah State, like Montana, will be after its second conference victory. The Aggies found the right combination last Saturday when they defeated New Mexico, 18-0. Halfback Jack Whatcott scored twice for the Aggies, and Utah State's new find, Jack Hill, tallied once. Other outstanding backs on the Aggie squad include quarterback Kent Harris, a four year veteran, and Co-Capt. John Karnick.

The rugged Utag line, led by tackles Reed Henderson and Larry Sorenson, center Ted Ramsdell, and ends Lou Jones and Jack Horvat, pushed back two Lobo scoring threats. Against Wyoming this Aggie line played a big part in the game that saw the Utags rush for 339 yards against the vaunted Cowboys.

Utah State uses a standard split-T offense, emphasizing the running game. "Utah State will be as tough as any league team we will play," Williams said.

The Grizzlies leave by air early this morning for Logan, and they will hold a light drill in Logan this afternoon. The return flight is scheduled for Saturday night.

Jumbolaya, Fort Win IM Games; SX Tilt Cancelled

A fast-moving Jumbolaya team passed SAE crazy last night to gain their second league win. Bob Hendricks threw three touchdown passes in the 19-6 triumph.

Other Clover Bowl action saw the Fort Falcons defeat a determined Butte Rat team 13-0. The Sigma Chi-Craig hall game was cancelled because Craig hall did not show up.

Sharpshooting Hendricks hit Hal Winterholler in the opening quarter for Jumbolaya's first score. Bork made the extra point. In the second quarter SAE quarterback Dale Schneidmiller connected with Gerald Ashmore on a pass to close the gap, but were unable to get the extra point.

With a pass from Hendricks to Bofito in the second quarter, Jumbolaya went into an undisputed lead.

A pass from the two-yard line by Rich Fevold to Bob Stanley in the end zone gave the Fort Falcons their opening TD. Fevold kicked the extra point. Butte Rats quarterback Mike Sullivan couldn't seem to hit his ends, as the Falcons' fast-charging line kept him too busy. Falcon Jim Groeser threw a pass to Ken Dupuis and the final score was 13-0.

the year, Montana over Utah State 14-7, and San Jose over New Mexico by three touchdowns.

As for the Montana State homecoming, the Bobcats are plenty powerful, and should rack up a four TD victory.

Norm Kampschorr, sophomore quarterback, has risen to the number 20 position among the nations' passers, having completed 20 out of 58 completions for 329 yards gained.

One of the hardest things to leave behind is a nickname, as several Grizzly athletes will testify. One, Rudy "Zip" Rhoades picked up his nickname in Baltimore and "now I hardly ever hear my own name," the MSU hoopster commented.

He earned "Zip" when he was about 11 years old and spent many hours practicing on the outdoor basketball courts in Baltimore. "Kids would always hang around and watch me shoot," Rhoades reflected. "Everytime the ball would swish through the nets, they would yell zip. It wasn't long before they started calling me "Zip," and it's stuck—all the way to Montana."

"Kansas" Ken Byerly's nickname grew out of the alliteration rage of a couple of years ago. Everyone was "Joplin Joe," "Saco Sam" and so on. "Kansas" Ken must have been catchier than most, because the Lewistown lad has been "Kansas" ever since.

Coaches also pick up nicknames. For example, few people ever call "Jiggs" Dahlberg George. "Jiggs" was something they hung on me when I was a little shaver, and I've been 'Jiggs' ever since," the MSU athletic director commented.

A couple of MSU greats of last year, Dick "Penguin" Imer and Joe DeLuca, have had their pro football careers cut short. Imer has been offered a position as athletic director at the State Industrial school at Miles City, but is now at his father's ranch near Coalstrip. DeLuca is scheduled to enter the service soon and is reported to be at his parents' home in Weed, Calif.

John Bansch has gazed deep into his proverbial crystal ball and come up with the following Skyline picks for this weekend: Wyoming 28, Tulsa 13; Utah 20, Denver 14; Utah State 20, Montana 7; San Jose 27, New Mexico 6. He also picked the MSC Bobcats to win their homecoming 26-7 over Colorado State.

And this scribe picks Wyoming over Tulsa by two TD's, Utah over Denver 14-13 in what should be one of the best Skyline games of

Homecoming Queen Candidates Model Fashionable Formals

By KAY FALLON

In the fashion spotlight last week end the formals worn by the Homecoming Queen candidates shone brightly.

Queen Sue Garlington, Delta Gamma, Missoula, took top honors in a glamorous black velvet formal. The full-length strapless gown which was accented by sequin-trimmed petals on the bodice, was especially made for the occasion.

Miles City Candidate

Barbara Bartels, candidate from New hall, Miles City, wore a gown of red net over satin. It was fashioned with a strapless bodice and full-length skirt ruffled in tiny rows.

Corbin hall candidate, Betty Barovich, Miles City, was attired in net over satin gown of white in the new waltz-length. Trimmed with silver sequins, the dress featured a large net bow centered with a red carnation at the side of the bodice.

A dress of yellow net over satin was worn by Marcia Brown, Butte, Alpha Phi candidate. Styled with a ruffle at the top of the bodice and one at the bottom of the full-length skirt, the dress was trimmed with silver sequins.

In Ballerina Length

Teresa Drivdahl, Synadelphic candidate from Big Timber, was dressed in a ballerina length gown of red velvet. The dress made by Teresa herself, was plain except for a white net insert at the top of the bodice.

Kappa Kappa Gamma candidate Barbara Eastlick, Billings, was also attired in a red gown. Full-length and strapless, the dress was trimmed with black velvet ribbon which ended in long streamers at the back of the bodice.

Sigma Kappa's candidate, Mary Ann Kocar, Hingham, wore a velvet and net formal of emerald green. Velvet formed the bodice with a pleated net insert at the top and the full skirt had six layers of tiered net.

White lace over satin was combined in the ballerina-length formal worn by Adrienne Mills, Delta Delta Delta candidate from Kalispell. Full-skirted with a lowered waistline, it was trimmed with scattered rhinestones.

Attired in White

Thea Williams, Kappa Alpha Theta candidate from Billings was attired in a dress of white net with a white brocaded bodice. Extending down the back of her full-length skirt were long sashes of purple satin which fell from the back of a purple cummerbund.

Rows and rows of tiny ruffles from the top to the bottom were on the lavender ballerina length dress worn by Greta Peterson, North hall candidate from Billings. A strapless bodice topped the full skirt of nylon net.
