Robert Nelson, visiting artist-in-residence in the University of Montana Art Department, will speak Tuesday (Jan. 22) at the department's monthly "Dialogues in Art" session. The program, open to everyone interested, will start at 7:30 p.m. in room 404E of the Fine Arts building.

Richard B. Reinholtz, department chairman, says the public is invited to meet Nelson at a coffee hour Friday (Jan. 26) from 3 to 4 p.m. in the Fine Arts building.

Nelson, noted printmaker and chairman of the University of North Dakota Art Department, is working intensively with art majors and also meeting informally with graduate students during his stay on the UM campus.
