Food Service for 1,000 More, Book Store Space Included

By NORMA BEATTY

University officials announced late yesterday afternoon that tentative plans have been made to build a 120-foot extension onto the Lodge which would provide food service for an additional 1,000 students and space for a new student store.

The new addition, which would extend west on University avenue, would look identical to the present student union wing.

President Carl McFarland said the primary purpose of the extension would be to provide dining space for dormitory residents, particularly the additional students to be housed in the forthcoming extensions of Craig and Corbin. The additional main dining facilities would occupy the ground floor.

Plans now indicate that most of the upper level of the proposed extension would be used for a new student store.

Dr. Lendal H. Kotschevar, director of the food service and residence halls, said the extension would be financed out of board and room accounts. He said the food service is in a position to finance such an extension at the present time.

15,000 Square Feet

In the proposed plans, 15,000 square feet have been allotted for the dining room which would provide for cafeteria service only. Seated service would be provided in the Cascade room.

Dr. Kotschevar said the new facilities, combined with those in the Cascade room, would take care of 2,000 students per meal in two sittings and keep four lines instead of two moving at peak periods during the day. As the food service feeds one-third of the student body, Kotschevar said the new facilities should take care of an enrollment up to 6,000 students.

Student Store

Morris McCollum, manager of the student store, said 6,500 feet have been set aside for the new student store. Plans for the store have been drawn up by Nelson Fritz, employee of the store.

Plans indicate that the new store will include 18 book shelves, twice as many as the present store has, nine display cases compared to three in the present store, adequate office space with a cashier's stand, departments for art supplies, mail orders, athletic goods and clothing, a cap and gown dispensing room for spring commencements, one-third more counters for school supplies, candy, tobacco and sundries, and adequate space for storage.

McCollum said more details will be worked out on the new store plan.

McFarland said the student store would fill only part of the second floor. The remaining space would be left as a deck on which further facilities could be built as needed.

McFarland said, "Actual construction must await further planning, financial arrangements and official approvals." He stressed the fact that "the building would be financed and maintained without tax money. It would be a part of the dormitory system, and would be financed as such. Revenues would be pledged, bonds issued, and debt service paid as in the case of the dormitories and the present food service facilities."

University Chapel

The remaining 50 feet of building space along University avenue and the further extension of the building to the south along Arthur avenue should also receive consideration by interested students, President McFarland said. One suggestion has already been made that the corner location, at University and Arthur avenues, be reserved for an attached chapel, funds for which would be solicited.

Additional extensions south along Arthur avenue which would house game rooms and other student union facilities are also possible in the future, the president said.

Committees Meet

A special committee, composed of McFarland, Andrew Cogswell, acting dean of students; T. G. Swearingen, maintenance engineer; and Tommie Lu Middleton, Lodge program director, met with Brinkman and Lenon, Kallispell architects, last Tuesday night to discuss plans for the proposed extension.

Friday Cogswell met with the ASMSU Student Union Planning committee to discuss further plans for the addition. Members of the committee are Kotschevar, Miss Middleton, Harriet Miller, acting associate dean of students; Carl Westby, head resident of Craig hall; Bruce Crippen, Billings; Cherie Fey, Shelby; Betty Raymond and Carol Karr, Great Falls; and Bruce Cook, Butte.

Beatty Moderator For Presbyterians

Norma Beatty, Helena, was elected moderator of Westminster Foundation, Presbyterian youth group, at a meeting of the group Tuesday night.

Miss Beatty served as vice moderator for the group during the past year. She was college delegate to the W.F. National council in Illinois last summer and state W.F. fellowship chairman last year. She is now chairman of the Inter Church council.

Other new officers are: Mary Travis, Havre, vice moderator; Carol Emmerton, Spokane, Wash., stated clerk; Linda Copley, Conrad, program and music chairman; Norman Wyatt and Mary Forbis, Missoula, outreach chairmen; Dorothy Dunbar, Butte, faith chairman; Genell Jackson, Lewistown, fellowship chairman; Nancy Ruckman, Cody, Wyo., and Milt Hansen, Missoula, food chairmen; Anne Thomas, Butte, Inter Church Council delegate; and Lydia Skoblin, Missoula, Religious Emphasis council delegate.

Omega Epsilon Fraternity, Non-discriminatory to Open

By JIM BERRY

Omega Epsilon, a men's non-discriminatory fraternity, has been given conditional recognition by the dean's office to open on the MSU campus. There is only one other chapter in the United States.

The MSU chapter, Beta, with 18 charter members, must have three quarters of trial work, according to University regulations, to show that it can function and operate successfully as a fraternity.

Heading Beta chapter is Jaime Acosta-Madiedo De Castro, Baraquilla, Columbia, S. A., who started the movement and was elected president by the charter members. Faculty advisers are Arch C. Callaway and Dr. Gordon Browder.

Jaime, who also organized the Alpha chapter on the Clarkson College of Technology campus, Potsdam, New York, said that with the recognition of the Beta chapter here, Omega Epsilon will become a national fraternity.

He said that Omega Epsilon hopes to help the school and also work with other groups on campus. Another aim of the fraternity is expressed in one of its articles which reads: "Any bona fide male student of this University regardless of color, race, nationality and religion, is eligible for membership in this chapter of Omega Epsilon . . ."

During its three quarters colonization, the fraternity will be able to hold functions, and rush like any other of the Greek houses.

First organizational meeting of the Beta chapter was held Feb. 12. Ten days later the first meeting of the charter members was held.

The Alpha chapter in New York started with 22 men in 1953. It now has 55 men and a $40,000 house. Jaime has similar hopes for the chapter here.

"It worked in New York . . . I am very confident of it," he said about the future of the chapter. He said that when he goes on to another school he will set up a chapter there also. He said that this is to be done by all of the members so that the fraternity can expand.

Dr. Browder said that, although the group is just getting started here, the men have good enthusiasm and he thinks it will succeed.

Other charter members are: Jerry Flodin, Plains; Albert Jacobs, Regent, N. D.; William Mansikka, Red Lodge; Mike Harbison, Plains; Will Hart, vice president, Oakland; Bill Gardner, Seattle; Les Parker, treasurer, San Diego; Dave Braach, Hall; Dick Johnson, Chicago; Bruce Switzer, Libby; Negash Gebemariam, Addis Ababa, Ethiopia; Duane Prissen, Miles City; Larry Leach, secretary, Bainville; Richard Terzi, Calgary, Alta.; Bernard Mohler, Sioux City, Ia.; Robin Robins, Glendive; and Ivory Jones, Oakland.

Geologist Speaks On Oil Conditions

N. Wood Bass of the U. S. Geological Survey, spoke Sunday on conditions for the accumulation and migration of oil. His talk in the Chem-Pharm auditorium was one of many that he is giving while on tour. Mr. Bass is sponsored by the American Association of Petroleum Geologists.

Mr. Bass noted that exposed sand bodies along modern shorelines, particularly those of the Atlantic and Gulf coasts, are separated by gaps. He called attention to the arrangement with respect to adjacent sand bodies, of which Cape Henry, Va., is a striking example. He said these are made up of a series of overlapping beaches which are exposed as ridges of sand trending parallel with the coast. These ridges separate lines of beach growth, he said.

Mr. Bass's tour includes talks at Stanford, New Mexico, Texas Tech, Wichita and Tulsa universities, and geological societies at Billings, Casper, Wyo., Salt Lake City, Sacramento, Bakersfield, and Santa Barbara, Calif.

Barristers Select April 7 as Date Of Formal Dance

Saturday, April 7, from 9-12 p.m. has been picked as the time for this year's Barristers ball, according to Byron Robb, Livingston, dance chairman.

A "Law Week End," with visiting lawyers from throughout the state had been planned in conjunction with the dance, but lack of time for planning forced postponement of the idea until a future date.

Robb said that the finals of the "Moot court," in the Law building, will be held on the afternoon of the dance date. Lawyers from off-campus are expected to sit as judges in the court, which is a practice appellate court.

The dance will be held in the Bitterroot room of the Hotel Florence.

Intermission entertainment will be provided, Robb said, but plans for the entertainment are still in the formative stages. The dance will be open to the rest of the students, and Robb wishes to announce that Foresters will be allowed to attend the dance, contingent, of course, upon their behavior and appearance.

'Four Freshmen' May Visit MSU Spring Quarter

There may be a chance that Montana will get a big name entertainment group this year, said Tom Kistle, Philipsburg, chairman of the ASMSU dance committee.

A letter from the General Artists corporation in Beverly Hills, Calif. to the dance committee said that the Four Freshmen, vocal quartet, is touring the Northwest area this spring. However, said Kistle, the group is asking $1500 for a performance.

The dance committee met again yesterday to decide whether to contact the Four Freshmen or not. Kistle said the committee will not make a decision on the matter, but will write to obtain a more specific date and exact cost to MSU. There is also some information on the Four Aces that the committee wants to check into.

The dance committee has been trying all this year to make contacts with big name bands, but has had little success. Ray Anthony was scheduled for April, but winter quarter he cancelled his appearance on the campus.

Local Officials Discuss Problems At Welfare Meet

A public meeting last week of the Montana Child Welfare Advisory committee resulted in recommendations on child welfare problems by representatives of various local agencies.

The meeting opened with a discussion of detention facilities for Missoula juvenile delinquents and the preventative aspects of treatment of certain of these delinquents.

Robert Colville, county department of public welfare, asked the committee to consider the developing and financing of receiving homes for children where their problems could be studied and recommendations for the disposition of their problems could be made.

Prof. Edwin Briggs, of the Law school suggested that the committee work for the adoption of recommendations of the Council of State Governors concerning reciprocal support acts that would require parents who had left the state to support their abandoned children. He spoke of the need for adequate legislation to protect children whose parents do not actually desert them but fail to support them adequately.

ROTC Cadets Tried In Mock Court Martial

Two Army ROTC cadets are being tried before mock general courts martial today and tomorrow on charges of desertion as a part of a course on military law which senior cadets are currently taking.

Cadet captain Byron Hunt, Missoula, a member of the morning section, and cadet First Lieutenant Donald Schessler, Missoula, of the afternoon section are the accused.

These cadets are being tried before mock courts of cadets from their respective sections in the ROTC building.

Speech Tourney Receives Entries From 45 Schools

About 45 colleges and junior colleges have entered the preliminary registration for the tenth annual Tau Kappa Alpha speech tournament, which will be held here April 19, 20, and 21.

According to Ralph Y. McGinnis, chairman of the speech department, this figure is an increase of nearly 15 schools over last year's preliminary registration. He said that around two-thirds of these schools are expected to actually attend the tourney.

Prof. McGinnis said that around 300 students and coaches will probably attend the meet, making it the largest event of its kind ever to be held here.

The judges for the contests, around 100 of them, will be selected from the visiting coaches, MSU faculty, and local townspeople. The schools which have entered so far include the entire Western half of the country.

The two teams which took part in the Northwest Speech tournament at McMinnville, Ore., left the tournament before the awards banquet, in order to get over the passes before weather closed them.

JoAnn Jacobson, Butte, went as far as the finals in the women's oratory division, and each of the two teams entered in the men's debate are believed to have won four and lost two contests.

Final arrangements have been made with the Institute for the appearance of a two-member Scandinavian debate team at MSU on Sunday, April 29. The team will debate with a MSU team on "The Welfare State."

CB Pot Calls Kettle Black

Central board definitely blundered in Thursday's election. Since there was a discrepancy between the number of votes and the number of voters, a new primary should have been run in the faulty precincts.

Instead, ballots were simply tossed out at random. This may have cost the number three man, Cole MacPherson, the election. He decided to let the issue rest but had every legal right to protest. After months of propaganda about the importance of Judicial council, it's not only ironic to approve a faulty election, it's also wrong.

No Delay in the Schedule

John Fowler pointed this out to Central board Saturday when there would have been time to modify the schedule. He got nowhere.

Central board's approval of haphazard, improper procedure is indicative first, of unconcern on the part of the board members, and second, of CB distrust of the rest of the student body. It was felt that a delay of a month would kill all interest.

...Could Kill Student Interest

If anything could have killed interest in liquor control and Judicial council, the past months of marshmallow oratory would have done it. Thursday's turnout, however, is testimony that interest is not dead.

Even more should vote in the general election tomorrow. Whoever wins ultimately, should know that he has the student body behind him, that his election is legitimate in every way. It's inconvenient but necessary.

Four Amendments Up For Approval

These are the constitutional amendments to be voted on in the election Thursday:

- (1) Delete Article V, Section 3, Part 3, which reads, "A member of the Alumni association selected by that association provided that such member will not be one of the two faculty representatives; in the event that the Alumni association fails to appoint a representative by the first meeting of Central Board in the fall, the alumni member shall be chosen by the remaining members of the board."
- (2) Replace Article V, Section 3, Part 4, with "Eleven class representatives, to be elected as follows: (a) In the spring elections, members of the junior class will elect two delegates, each to serve a one year term. Members of the freshman and sophomore classes will elect two delegates. The delegate receiving the highest vote will serve a two-year term, and the other delegate will serve a one-year term. (b) In the fall elections following, members of the new freshman class will elect two delegates. The delegate receiving the highest vote will serve a two-year term, and the other delegate will serve a one-year term."
- (3) Change Article V, Section 5 from "Seven voting members" to "two-thirds of the voting members of the board shall constitute a quorum."
- (4) Delete all class officer positions.

Dr. Urey, Nobel Prize Chemist, Found MSU Before Heavy Water

One of the country's foremost atomic scientists received his bachelor of science degree in chemistry at MSU in 1917 and an honorary doctor of science degree in 1935. This distinguished man is Dr. Harold C. Urey, winner of science's highest award, the 1934 Nobel Prize.

Dr. Urey's work on the separation of isotopes, the "twins" of atomic elements, resulted in discovery of heavy hydrogen and through it, "heavy water." Heavy hydrogen, known as deuterium, has proved important in nuclear research and in the study of living processes. He also discovered the hydrogen atom of atomic weight two.

In his first two years at the University, Dr. Urey wanted to be a biologist, but definitely cast his lot with chemistry in his junior year. He was an instructor of chemistry at MSU from 1919-21 and received his Ph.D. at the University of California in 1923.

Dr. Urey, after receiving his Ph.D., went to the University of Copenhagen from 1923-24 as an American Scandinavian Foundation fellow. Since then he has served on the faculties of John Hopkins university, Columbia university, and the University of Chicago. He was recently named Eastman Professor at Oxford university for the 1956-57 academic year.

In addition to the Nobel Prize, Dr. Urey has won the highest Award in American science, the Willard Gibbs medal, the Davy medal from the Royal Society of London, and the Franklin medal from the Franklin Institute. He has also received an honorary doctor of science degree from Princeton university in 1935, and from the University of Newark in 1939.

At the present Dr. Urey is working on an "atomic thermometer" to measure temperatures of ancient climates, and developing new theories on the origin of the earth and the planets.

He is co-author with A. E. Ruark of the book, "Atoms, Molecules and Quanta," and a contributor to "Treatise on Physical Chemistry" and other scientific journals.

Johnson Will Seek Memorial Award In M Club Fights

Howard Johnson seeks to win the Billy Merritt Memorial award for the second consecutive year in the Field House Friday night as the M Club sponsors its annual fights.

The trophy, given to the outstanding boxer of the evening, is in memory of Billy Merritt, former MSU student. Merritt, who competed in the M Club fights, was killed in action in Korea as a member of the United Nations forces in December, 1952.

This is the fourth year the award has been presented to the outstanding fighter. George Tarant, Butte, won the first Merritt award in 1953. The second award went to Marsten Holben, Spearfish, S.D. Johnson is the first fighter to attempt to win the award two years in succession.

Prior to 1953, the outstanding boxer was named for the event, but no definite award was given. In 1953 the M Club decided to dedicate an award to Merritt. Bill McFarland, a former fighter who aids the M Club every year with the fights, won the first outstanding boxer award in 1926.

Besides the Billy Merritt award, fighters will be out to capture the team trophy for their intramural squad. Points will be given towards the intramural championship, and a trophy will be given to the team with the most points.

Jumbolaya, with four winners last year, will be seeking the team title for the third straight year. The Phi Delt and the Sigma Nus tied for second and third with two victories apiece.

Proceeds from the fights go towards furnishing the athletic department's training room in the Field House. The training room is open to all students, and they are welcome to use the facilities.

Much of the new equipment in the training room was purchased with money raised by the M Club. Without the proceeds from the fights, Montana would not have the modern training room that it does.

Prospects For Silvertip Spring Sports Not Bright

Prospects for a good season for the Grizzlies in spring sports of baseball and track are not too bright due to graduation losses. Both coach Sherbeck and coach Adams, baseball and track, pin their hopes on an early spring and top practice conditions in order to compete on even terms with the southern teams in the Skyline conference.

According to Adams, the University lost 17 of our 31 points of last year's conference track meet through graduation, leaving the Grizzlies weak in some events. Last May, the University cindermen took second place in the Skyline conference, trailing BYU by a large margin.

The Grizzly track schedule is as follows: April 21, MSC at Missoula; April 28, BYU at Provo; May 1, Utah State at Logan; May 12, Utah at Salt Lake City; May 19, Western Division conference meet at Salt Lake City; May 25 and 26, Skyline conference meet at Denver; and June 2, Montana AAU meet at Missoula.

A senior letterman from Butte, Walt Lonner, will lead the 1956 squad as captain. Other returning lettermen are: Jim Black, shotput; Lloyd Boozer, pole vault; Al Bradshaw, two mile; Jim Lee, 1/4 mile relay; Lonner, sprints; Ron Lundquist, javelin; Pete Rhinehart, hurdles; Tom Roe, high jump; Jim Rowland, 1/4 mile relay and discus; Russ Sheriff, discus; Don Williamson, 1/4 mile relay; Ray Howard, relay and javelin; Dick Lindsay, hurdles; and Rudy Weishaar, pole vault.

The 1956 Grizzly baseball schedule begins with an extended road trip through Utah, and is climaxed by a four game series with the rival Bobcats from MSC.

The schedule is as follows: April 13, BYU at Provo; April 17, Utah at Salt Lake City; April 20, Utah State at Logan; April 27, Utah university at Missoula; May 4, Utah state at Missoula; May 17, Gonzaga university at Missoula; May 25, MSC at Bozeman; and June 1, MSC at Missoula. The Silvertips will play double headers each date of the schedule.

Podres Will View '56 World Series From Sidelines

by United Press

The hero of the 1955 World Series will be just a fan at the 1956 Series. Even to get to the games, southpaw Johnny Podres will need a furlough, for, the 23-year-old two-time conqueror of the Yankees last year is going into the army next week.

Podres got his notice yesterday at Vero Beach, Florida. Johnny is to report for induction one week from Thursday at Ticonderoga, New York.

There is a chance the induction may be delayed. A New York draft official says Podres could request induction in Florida, but that would mean a postponement of only one month. Podres says he will discuss that possibility with Dodger officials.

Meanwhile, Manager Walt Alston is faced with the job of replacing the man who gave Brooklyn its first World Series championship. Alston says the loss of Podres "will put more of a burden on our pitching."

That puts the spotlight on left handers like Karl Spooner, Sandy Koufax and Ken Lehman. However, Alston says he isn't concentrating on a left-hander to replace Podres. The Dodger manager says, "I'm not going to keep a pitcher just because he's a left-hander, if I think I have a right-hander who is better."

Peewee Reese, was up and around today for the first time since hurting his back last Friday. However, Reese says he doesn't expect to get back into training until next week.
