MSC Enrollment Tops MSU For Second Straight Term

Effect of controlled enrollment at Montana State University was evident this week in figures released by the registrar's office.

As of Jan. 17, 2,733 students had registered for winter quarter, 1 less than last year.

Meanwhile at Montana State College, enrollment for winter quarter reached an all-time high of 3,117, a 2 per cent increase over last quarter. The Bozeman registrar expects an additional 100 late registrants.

A total of 103 students were dropped at MSU because of poor grades. There were 60 drops at this time last year.

The Academic Standards Committee of the faculty took the action under the new scholarship and enrollment regulations which went into effect in September. Only nine freshmen were dropped for scholarship at this time.

Of the nine freshmen, one was non-resident.

The greater number of scholastic casualties at the end of fall quarter occurred among students who had attended more than one quarter. In this category were 55 of the 103 dropped. Of the 55, 41 were Montana residents.

Two of the Montana students were women. The next highest number of drops was among transfer students, as 39 in this category were dropped.

Out of the total fall quarter enrollment 220 students of 2866 received warning letters concerning their marks, but were not dropped. In addition to these 220, 516 students either finished the quarter with one or more failing grade or had less than a "C" average for fall quarter courses.

Many of the students receiving low grades did not register for Winter Quarter, according to the registrar.

Men continue to outnumber women, nearly three to one. A total of 740 women are enrolled, to 2033 men. New winter quarter students number 122, and former students who did not attend during last quarter, 143.

Six Sororities Pledge 106, After Changes

Many sorority rushees changed their minds after preference dinners Sunday night and decided they wanted another house.

The final tally showed 106 women pledging the six national sororities. Original registration had totaled 138.

Rush week had been deferred one quarter this year. Many of the girls had gathered with friends and decided on one house, which led to the preference night confusion when the cliques were broken.

Panhellenic Council had decided each house would have to take smaller pledge classes this year, (Continued on page two)

Survey Discloses Housing Figures

Only 8 per cent of the faculty lives in University facilities, according to a survey made by the office of the Dean of Students.

Forty-one per cent of the students live in private homes or apartments in Missoula, and 92 percent of the faculty lives in private facilities.

Married students, according to the survey, are about evenly distributed between private homes and University housing. There are 312 living in private homes or apartments and 311 in University housing.

Residence halls accommodate 863 students, or 32 per cent of the total enrolled, and fraternities and sororities house 411, or 15 per cent. University regulations require freshmen under 21 who do not live with their parents to stay in dorms or with approved students living groups.

University employees and staff members who live in University housing include 13 graduate assistants, 15 clerical workers, and 5 others. This does not include nine members of dorm staffs who live in residence halls.

The survey also disclosed that the ratio of students to cars is close to two to one. The latest enrollment figure is 2,733 students, and the number of cars registered is 1,425.

Motley Musicians Welcome Addition To Game Spirit

The Montana State University band members entered into the spirit of a recent "what type music controversy" Saturday night.

Several of the members formed a German combo, dubbing it "Genell's Pep Band." The group marched around the Field House, playing numbers in front of the press box and to the student section.

Observers noted the "peppy band" drew more applause than the regular band, despite the dilapidated instruments and off-key renditions.

MSU Annexation Problem May Be Decided Shortly

By JOHN BANSCH AND JIM BERRY

Annexation problems on whether 300 acres of University property should be annexed to the city of Missoula and the permission to connect the two new housing units to city sewer pipes may be decided within two weeks. That, in essence, is the result of discussion by the city council last night.

What was expected to be a lengthy and possibly heated subject of discussion was in reality a routine order of business at last night's commission meeting.

Mayor James Hart referred the matter to a representative of property owners in Special Improvement District 102 and City Engineer Patrick Whelan. Whelan and the representative will meet some time this week, then turn in their findings to property owners in SID 102.

PROTESTS

Property owners in SID 102 have protested the annexation, questioning whether the existing lateral and sewer pipes could handle the additional load. This group also questioned the price the city charges the University for connecting to the sewer.

Mayor Hart estimated the cost of connection would be approximately $8,400. This is based on $171 per lot, each lot 30x130 feet.

Action should be taken as soon as possible Mayor Hart said, because he understood that one of the housing units would be ready for occupancy Feb. 1. T. G. Swearingen, maintenance engineer, replied, "It will be ready some time in February."

MSU Backers

Although University officials in attendance were mum, other Missoulians spoke on behalf of the University.

John Toole, former president of the Chamber of Commerce, said the Missoula Chamber was "perturbed about the unfortunate publicity the issue has received. This was in reference to stories stating the University did not have to be located in Missoula.

Ted Jacobs, president of the First National Bank, said new industry coming to Missoula will first analyze what "cultural advantages" the city has to offer. One cultural advantage, he asserted, is a university.

If the commission resolves to annex the University and connect the sewer lines at either its regular meeting in two weeks or in a special meeting sometime next week, it will take from 30 to 45 days to complete legal requirements for the annexation, Mayor Hart said.

The annexation will include lands from approximately the mouth of Pattee Canyon on the south and Campbell Park on the west running along the west face of Mt. Sentinel and north to the Milwaukee Railroad.

IFC Imposes Rushing Ban On Sigma Chi

Sigma Chi fraternity was found guilty of two violations of Rush Week rules in an early Saturday morning Interfraternity Council meeting.

In accordance with Article VI, Section 2e, of the Interfraternity Council constitution, the Council imposed on Sigma Chi a 60-day ban on its rushing and pledging activities.

The ruling took effect at midnight Saturday, after Sigma Chi had pledged their men.

Bill Todd, Sigma Chi president, admitted the charges, and said that some members of Sigma Chi were ignorant of the exact Rush Week rules. Rushees were also ignorant of the rules, and had initiated conversations on campus with members of Sigma Chi, he said.

Todd doubted whether any fraternity was absolutely guiltless under the rules governing Rush Week behavior of fraternity men.

This was admitted as probably true by several members of IFC, but the opinion of the Council was that Sigma Chi members had flagrantly violated rules. Action was considered necessary.

The Council also decided that the four smaller fraternities, Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Sigma Kappa, Sigma Phi Epsilon and Theta Chi, would not have to observe the two-week "silent period," and may rush and pledge now.

ATO was given permission also to let two prospective pledges move into the fraternity house. The two men had not been eligible for Rush Week this quarter.

Rodeo Club to Organize To Compete With Others

A rodeo club will be organized Thursday at 7 p.m. in Conference Room three, Robin Twogood has announced.

All students interested in competing in collegiate rodeo events are urged to come, Twogood said. Girls are urged to turn out, as events for women will also be offered.

"If enough interest is shown, we hope to enter into competition with MSC, Colorado A&M, Wyoming, Nebraska and North and South Dakota," Twogood said.

Vandals Welcome Revamped Band, Peppy Repertoire

The University of Idaho students have at last achieved a long-sought goal—peppy music at basketball games.

The Idaho Argonaut, student newspaper, reported: "The pep band, long a sore spot at the University, was reorganized . . . last winter under ASUI. Previously it had been under the direction of the music department and participation was open only to music students."

The new Pep Band is living up to its name. Music from "Man With the Golden Arm" will be featured at the Idaho-WSC game tonight. Some of the band's most popular numbers are "One O'Clock Jump," "720 in the Books," "When the Saints Come Marching In" and "Alexander's Ragtime Band."

"The 30-member band's repertoire varies from marches to Dixieland . . . with tendencies to be jivey," according to the director, a fifth-year chemical engineering major.

The group rehearses one-and-a-half hours each week.

Get That Pledge!

Rush week, 1957 variety, ended yesterday afternoon with sorority pledging. Fraternity rushing ended Saturday morning amid a heated argument on whether or not Sigma Chi was justly penalized for its actions during rush week.

Sigma Chi was placed on a 60-day rushing probation at a pre-dawn IFC meeting Saturday after charges were brought against them for illegal rushing. The probation period did not go into effect until midnight Saturday, however, and that is where the complaint lies. Many fraternities believe this penalty was not stiff enough and the probation ruling should have gone into effect before Saturday's pledging period.

Several members of IFC stated at the Saturday meeting that all fraternities were guilty of some illegal rushing and only Sigma Chi was caught. This is the reason given for the "weak" decision. Yet, they were caught and punishment of sufficient character should be handed out to justify the situation.

But, the ruling against the Sigma Chi's and its validity is not the problem that should be bandied about now that rush is over. The question is: Has delayed rush done more damage than it is worth?

Small fraternities suffered from this new system and they will continue to suffer as long as it is in existence. One by one the small houses will be forced to close their doors unless a new method of rushing is devised. Delayed rush is a burden on both the rushees and fraternity and sorority members. Valuable study hours are spent rushing under the new system, while under the old system, no study time was lost.

Prolonged association with non-fraternity members during fall quarter was inducement for many not to go through rush week. This, along with the low grades received by many freshmen, was the reason for the small registration figures for rush week.

It was stated at the State Board of Education meeting this summer that joining a fraternity or sorority would do more harm than good for a new student, especially in scholarship. Yet, the number of students who failed to maintain a C average was as high or higher than in previous years. This could partially stem from delayed rush.

If it was the objective of the Board of Education to eventually place fraternities in a position where they could no longer operate, then the Board is on its way to gaining its objective. It would benefit Pan-Hell and IFC to delve into the delayed rush problem extensively before coming to any decision about next year.

MSC strongly opposed it this year, and plans to do the same next year. Pressure was brought upon the State Board of Education this summer to change its decision and it was done. From all appearances this pressure should be even stronger now and some of it should come from MSU.

Helena Boosters Watch Sheriff Lead Grizzlies to League Win

By JIM BERRY

Helena boosters Saturday night saw a home town lad lead the Grizzlies into a second place tie in Skyline play.

Russ Sheriff, 6-7 junior, paced both the Grizzly and Utah University squads as he hit 15 points. In addition, the big center swept 14 rebounds to completely outclass anyone else in that division.

"They (Montana) were a well-coached team and played their patterns well. We just weren't prepared for that second half flurry, Utah Coach Jack Gardner said regarding the Grizzlies and their surprising 60-48 win.

Gardner's statement was well-founded as the two teams swapped basket for basket throughout the first half, with never more than four points separating them. The second half got off to the same start, then midway through it the Grizzlies began accumulating extra points to build up their margin.

The win moved the Grizzlies into a second place tie with Utah State.

Zip Rhoades, the Grizzlies leading scorer going into the game, was held to 7 points as Utah's Gary Hale followed him around the floor like a Pinkerton.

Nevertheless, Rhoades made one field goal and five free throws, in addition to being instrumental in the Grizzly freeze in the final two minutes.

Utah's highly touted Pearl Pollard, 6-8 center, was held to 5 points, and all were from the free throw line. Hale and Milton Kane scored 12 each for the Utah club to lead their scoring.

Curt Jensen, Ute playmaker and member of last year's All-Skyline team, was held to two field goals. He attempted 10.

Pick Up Lead

Although leading in the first minutes of the second half by four, five and six point margins, the 'Tips' biggest boost came when Jimmy Powell, Clancy Waters, and Sheriff contributed 7 points in less than 1½ minutes. While getting the three paskets and one free throw, Montana held Utah scoreless.

From the floor the 'Tips hit 34.9 per cent and the Redskins 24.9 per cent. At the free throw line the Grizzlies hit for 69.6 per cent and the oppositions totaled 57.1 per cent.

The next home game for the Grizzlies will be Saturday when they entertain the Bobcats of Montana State College.

Reversal, Tight Games, Walk-Aways All Listed in Last Week's I-M Play

A decision was reversed in a game played last Tuesday in intramural basketball, to give the Falcons a win over the Buzzies on a protest. The Buzzies won the game by one point, but were found to be using an ineligible player.

Play Wednesday saw Theta Chi defeat Elrod Hall 34-30 in the "C" league. Lance was high point man for Theta Chi and the game with 14 points. Ashcraft scored 13 for Elrod.

In a "B" league game Wednesday, FAF downed Sigma Phi Epsilon 55-24. FAF took an early lead, and at the half they lead 33-7. Roe hit 14 for FAF and De Walt scored 12 for his losing team.

On Thursday, the Sigma Chi B team took a terrific shellacking from the Baboons. They emerged on the short end of a 71-15 score. Dunbar hooped 20 for the victors, while Schatz and Fox lead the losers with 4 each.

The Ringtailed Orangatang edged out Craig 3rd West 30-25 in a "D" league contest Thursday. W. Thompson hit 11 for Craig and was the game's leading scorer. Gallup was good for 10 in the victor's scoring column.

The Sigma Chi A squad made a much better showing Friday than did their second team the day before. They easily defeated an undermanned SAE team 53-27. The Sigs lead all the way, piling up a lead of 23-11 at the halftime. Accurate shooting and a fast break offense combined to give SX the win. Thomas and Vogel were high for SX with 15 and 12 points respectively. Linn and Benton scored 6 apiece for the Sig Alphas.

Forestry downed the Chiefs 38-21 in "B" league play Friday. Laux of Forestry and Sutherland of the Chiefs each hit nine points to lead the game scoring.

The Gulchers swamped Sigma Rhee 50-30 Saturday morning to stay among the leaders in the "D" league. Thompson of Sigma Rhee scored a neat 19 points, while LeBrun of the Gulchers was right behind him with 18.

In the last game of the week, the Left Overs defeated Craig 2nd West 46-38. Mathews of the Left Overs, and McKeever of Craig hit 16 and 17 points to lead their teams.

DOROTHY JOHNSON ATTENDS MEETING OF TRADE GROUP

Dorothy M. Johnson, secretary-manager of the Montana State Press Assn. and a member of the staff of the School of Journalism, met with a group of Montana Trade Association managers in Helena Saturday.

Miss Johnson said she believes the meeting, an "idea trading session," is the first of its kind held in Montana.

What young people are doing at General Electric

Young engineer pioneers new ways to use x-ray

A new x-ray inspection system which intensifies an x-ray image more than 10,000 times in brightness and transmits it to a conventional TV screen has been developed recently by General Electric. When perfected, it may enable medical specialists to perform "long-distance" diagnosis on patients in remote areas.

One of the principal men who developed x-ray television — called TVX for short — is Dr. John E. Jacobs, Manager of the Advanced Development Laboratory of General Electric's X-Ray Department in Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Jacobs' Work Is Important, Responsible

As an electronics specialist, Dr. Jacobs' work in the past has been devoted to the study of photoconductors—substances whose properties change under the influence of radiation — and the use of x-ray in industrial inspection. This in turn led to his development of the x-ray-sensitive camera tube used in TVX.

His present administrative duties with the Advanced Development Lab allow him more time for teaching others what he has learned. He now teaches the second-year graduate course at Northwestern in vacuum-tube networks, and has recently been named McKay Visiting Professor for 1957 by the University of California at Berkeley, where he will give a two-week series of lectures on photoconduction.

27,000 College Graduates at General Electric

Since his youth, when he was a licensed radio "ham," John Jacobs has been devoted to the study of electricity and electronics. Like each of our 27,000 college graduates, he is being given the chance to grow and realize his full potential. For General Electric has long believed this: when fresh young minds are given the freedom to develop, everybody benefits — the individual, the Company, and the country.

Educational Relations, General Electric Company, Schenectady 5, New York

DR. JOHN E. JACOBS joined General Electric full time in 1950, after receiving his B.S. in electrical engineering in '47, his M.S. in '48, and his Ph.D. in '50, all at Northwestern Univ. He served in the Navy in World War II, and worked part time at General Electric while in college.

Non-Loop Tilts Dominate Play

Only two Skyline games are on schedule for this weekend. Brigham Young will be out for revenge when they entertain Utah State Friday night at Provo. The other conference game matches Wyoming and Colorado A&M at Fort Collins Saturday night.

In non-conference action Utah plays host to Oklahoma City University and St. Mary's of California is at Brigham Young. Both games will be played Saturday.

Two other non-conference games Saturday find Colorado College at Denver and Montana State at Montana. Colorado College and Montana State are members of the Rocky Mountain Conference.

Macmillan Man to Strengthen Anglo-US Relations: Callaway

(This is the second of a series of articles dealing with the probable future attitudes England may have toward Europe, the Anglo-American Alliance and the Middle East in view of the recent elevation of Harold Macmillan to the prime ministry.)

By Richard Champoux

The future effectiveness of the Anglo-American Alliance will depend on Britain's economic position since this underlies her political strength, Arch C. Callaway, professor of economics said yesterday in an interview.

"Though relations with the United States at the moment are a bit abnormal, Macmillan should be a good man in the role of broker of Anglo-American relations," Callaway said.

Immorality in Inaction

"Some British people at present we doubt are thinking there is immorality in inaction as well as action: we should remember Edmund Burke's statement 'All that is needed for the triumph of evil is that good men do nothing.' We should add nothing," Callaway said.

Callaway went on to say the major difference between the United States and British is their misunderstanding of each others policies.

"The United States must realize Britain has to maintain an activist policy because of her interests all over the free world and to note that she doesn't have the Atlantic Ocean between her and her political enemies," he said.

In regard to the economic effects of the Suez problem on the British economy Callaway said they would be short-term.

Policy Terms

"These will consist of higher freight rates, higher costs of dollar oil and the problem of obtaining the dollars to pay for this oil," Callaway said.

Professor Callaway mentioned a dollar a gallon for gasoline and is the British motorist is now paying limited to 50 miles of travel a week.

He also said the dollars Britain has secured are not gifts but loans from the Expore-Import Bank and credit from the International Monetary Fund.

"These don't cost the American taxpayer anything though I should add there is a projected waiver on the interest payments for one year due under the Anglo-American Loan Agreement of 1945," he said.

Nothing Odd

"There was nothing odd about this request since such a contingency was provided for in the original agreement.

"The confidential sterling currency, which accounts for almost three-fourths of the world trade, has been strengthened as a result of the dollar loans," he pointed out.

The question of Britain's capacity to play her full role in world affairs depends on her economic strength.

"The new government is faced with the question of 'Why should Britain, the most heavily taxed country in the world, find more, relatively, from its peoples' incomes for defence than America?'" Callaway said.

Britain Pays Most

"No other NATO country is called on to pay anything like the contributions Britain makes for the common defence of Europe.

Professor mentioned two further signs of Britain's determination to heighten her economic strength.

"First, the hopes for the proposed free market of Europe which would bring benefits only after several years, and, second the application of nuclear energy to industry," Callaway said.

"Britain is presently the foremost nation in the world in the application of atomic energy to industry," he added.

"This could conceivably mean a complete new line of progress for Britain in the year ahead.

"In the meantime Britain is dependent on the Middle East for oil, in which with coal, her economy must largely be run until atomic energy is fully developed," he concluded.

Play Tryouts Set For Wednesday

Tryouts for four one-act plays will be held in Simpkins Theater Wednesday from 1 to 4 p.m. and from 7 to 10 p.m.

Tryouts are open to all students, Bo Brown, drama director, said.

The plays will be "Hello Out There," a tragedy of a man's fight for freedom, by William Saroyan; "The Sisters McTavish," a comedy concerning two old maids and their cat, by Richard Corson; "Salome," a skillful retelling of the Biblical story, by Oscar Wilde. The title of the fourth play has not been announced.

"The Sisters McTavish" will be directed by Sheila Sullivan and "Hello Out There," by Richard Howell. Gordon Rognlien will direct "Salome." The fourth play will be directed by Dee Scriven. All students are in the advanced direction class taught by Brown.
