J-Council, What Lies Ahead?

Judicial Council as it now exists may be on its way out. This is the result of last night's meeting between members of the Council and Central Board.

For some time students and the Council itself have realized the present set-up is inadequate. Council members have been working since Thanksgiving to devise a system for its operation, and at the meeting last night one of these plans was introduced.

Definite progress was made on this plan last night and another meeting has been called for noon today to continue discussion of it. Members of both Central Board and the Council were in agreement that a change was in order, and it appears the change presented last night may well blossom into a new operating procedure for the Council.

Prospects for a better future than the one which befell Judicial Council may be in the offing as evidenced by the complete harmony between the two groups. If present attitudes continue J-Council may be succeeded by an organization that will be more acceptable in the eyes of the "Big Three," the students, faculty and administration.

Judicial Council should not be looked down upon. If the Council disbands it will be a failing in name only. The ideas and principles for a group such as this with a student voice will not be discarded.

Council members have realized from the beginning that the group would be subject to change. J-Council was not organized as a final solution to the liquor problem. Instead, as a stepping stone toward a more perfect counseling body.

'Pilot Schemes' Necessary For Eisenhower Doctrine Says Professor Callaway

(This is the third and last in a series of articles concerning England, Europe, the Anglo-American Alliance and the new American position in the Middle East.)

By RICK CHAMPOUX

If the Eisenhower Doctrine is to succeed in the Middle East the economic aspect of it must start with the peasants through "pilot schemes" and be preceded by enlightened diplomacy, Arch C. Callaway, professor of economics, said yesterday.

Professor Callaway said one of the "pilot schemes" could involve setting up model farms to show the peasants in a practical way how to improve their agricultural output.

Skit Is Scheduled For Convocation

"The typical MSC student getting ready for a basketball game with MSU" will be the theme of the Bobcat-Grizzly pep convocation Friday morning.

The convocation honoring the country cousins from Bozeman is scheduled for 9:30 at the University Theater.

The skit, "Typical Campus Idiots," entertainment for France, and band plus cheerleaders will highlight the entertainment for the convocation.

Friday classes will be scheduled as follows:

8:10 to 8:45
8:55 to 9:30
9:40 to 10:30 convo
10:40 to 11:15
11:25 to 12:00

The Lodge grill will be closed during the convocation.

Doors on Lodge To Be Kept Open

All doors of the Lodge now will be kept open. This was a statement in a memorandum from Dr. Lendal H. Kotschevar, director of food services, to Eleanor MacArthur, food service manager.

The action taken by Kotschevar came as a result of a feature article regarding glass doors which appeared in the January 17 issue of the Kaimin.

"I have always been aware of the problem that a few doors in the Lodge are locked somewhat irregularly, but did nothing about it until the Kaimin story appeared," Kotschevar said.

This also has been a main complaint of Dr. McFarland on the Lodge, Dr. Kotschevar said.

Janitors of the Lodge now will keep all the doors open except when it is impossible to operate them or bad weather forces them to be locked. Last week a sign posted by the janitors one of the doors said, "Save your nose—this door locked!"

Young, Cogswell Given Top Posts, Others Promoted

Rae Young, Billings, has been Appointed Battalion Commander of the MSU Army ROTC cadet battalion and William Cogswell, Missoula, is his Executive Officer, according to Lt. Col. William J. Lewis, professor of military science and tactics.

Newly appointed cadet captains for the cadet battalion staff are John Bansch, Helena, Battalion Adjutant; Donald Ochs, Milwaukee, Wis., Battalion Intelligence Officer; James Beadle, Red Lodge, Battalion Operations Officer; and John Fowler, Missoula, Battalion Supply Officer.

Cadet Captains Donald Mosher, Butte; Earl Lory, Missoula; and Ronald Lundquist, Billings, will command A, B, and C Companies.

Promotions in Army ROTC included Cogswell and Young to major; Bansch, Beadle, Fowler, Lory, Lundquist, Mosher, and Ochs to captain; Otto Bessey, Wellesley, Mass.; Bruce Cusker, Missoula, and Charles Palmer, Billings, to first lieutenant.

All battalion staff members are seniors and were chosen for their positions by their standing in the cadet rating system.

Grizzlies to Take Rest From League, Entertain MSC Bobcats Saturday

The Montana Grizzlies will take time out from conference play Saturday to entertain their cross state rivals, the Montana State Bobcats.

This year the ancient series has been cut to two games. In the past, a four game series had been conducted between the two clubs.

Plans Formed For Fraternity

Preliminary plans were formed last week to establish a chapter of Kappa Sigma fraternity on campus.

In addition to outlining organizational plans, an invitation was sent to members of Kappa Sigma chapter at Bozeman asking them to attend a meeting here Saturday.

The seven men who attended the meeting are Harry Axeline, Nevada Bonar, Wayne Erickson, Bill Good, Gary Preston, Jim Cernohlavak and Gaylord Jacobson.

Wayne Erickson, spokesman for the group, said the time and place of the Saturday meeting would be announced later this week.

Blackfoot Tavern Issue In District Court Friday

Counsel for the Montana Liquor Control Board will confront the counsel for the managers of the Blackfoot Tavern at 10 a.m. Friday in District Court in the preliminary to a long delayed "show cause" hearing.

The tavern owners, Mr. and Mrs. William Jones, are seeking to make permanent their district court injunction preventing the liquor board from carrying out its order revoking the tavern's liquor license.

No testimony is to be given in the preliminary hearing Friday. The counsel for both sides will present legal arguments which Judge C. E. Comer must decide upon before the actual "show cause" hearing begins.

When the "show cause" hearing begins, the Liquor Board will seek to show cause why the injunction should not be made permanent, which it must do if the revocation order is to be made effective.

The tavern, located about 10 miles northeast of Missoula on the highway to Seeley Lake, has never stopped operating, as the owners secured their injunction before the liquor board's order to revoke their license went into effect.

C and C Days Applications Are Due Today

Applications for students planning to participate in Pub-Travel's College and Career Days must be turned in to living group presidents before 5 p.m. today.

The applications will be picked up at that time by Pub-Travel President Dee Scriven.

Five teams will be organized, Miss Scriven said. The first team will leave Missoula Mar. 10 and return Mar. 16. The second team leaves the 17th and returns the 23rd.

The third team leaves here Mar. 24 and returns Mar. 30. The fourth team leaves Mar. 31 and returns Apr. 6. The fifth team is on the road from Apr. 7 to the 13th.

Applicants will be interviewed from 9 to 12 Saturday morning, Miss Scriven said. The applicants will be notified of their appointment times.

The liquor board's unanimous decision to revoke the tavern's liquor license followed an automobile accident April 29 near Bonner which took the life of Joseph T. Matteucci, a Montana State University student from Great Falls.

Betty Jo Akerson, Bonner; Joan Waite, Billings, and Fred Tilton, Billings, were passengers in the Matteucci car and were seriously injured. Also injured was Adrian Walker, driver of the second car.

Judicial Council subsequently brought action in the court of Justice of the Peace E. W. Ziesemer which resulted in the conviction of a bartender at the Blackfoot Tavern for selling liquor to a minor.

Tavern owners then appealed the case to District Court. On July 13 the appeal was dismissed and the liquor board was notified.

In September the board announced its decision to revoke the tavern's license on the basis of the bartender's conviction in justice court.

Before the revocation order was carried out, the tavern owners secured from District Court the injunction restraining the order pending a "show cause" hearing.

Owners' Contention

The tavern keepers contend that the liquor board is acting "arbitrarily and tyrannically" in revoking their liquor license.

The owners allege the tavern has not been in trouble before and contend that the Liquor Board's usual policy is to suspend rather than revoke licenses of first offenders.

The tavern keepers also maintain that the Board followed improper procedure in notifying them of its action, since the revocation decision was released to the press Sept. 29 but the tavern wasn't notified officially until Oct. 18 when they received the news by certified mail.

The first "show cause" hearing was set by Judge Comer for Nov. 8, but illness forced him to reschedule the hearing several times.

Eversole Says 'No Comment'

James Eversole, director of the varsity band, declined to comment yesterday on rumors the band will not play at the Grizzly-Bobcat game Saturday evening.

Eversole said any information on these rumors will come from Central Board in the near future.

Grass or Semis?

A new light has been thrown on the Maurice avenue problem. The former University thoroughfare may be turned into a truck route.

The possibility was brought to public attention for the first time at a State Highway Dept. hearing in Missoula this month. One employee of the Bureau of Public Roads reported this agency favored running a truck route along Maurice avenue to "aid traffic flow to and from the Madison Avenue bridge." State highway officials pointed out the Federal Bureau has no jurisdiction here. City officials admitted the truck route through the campus is a "possibility."

Another interesting fact has been revealed. University officials have known of the truck route idea for over a year, but they are just now bringing it into the open. They have opposed the plan, but so far, have attempted to sound the opposition alone.

Many suspected more was behind the closure than homecoming traffic last fall. Had it been announced then that the Bureau of Public Roads contemplated a truck route, which would endanger not only University foot traffic, but children living in the housing areas as well, opposition to the closure would undoubtedly have been stilled.

This is an example of secretive administration action to accomplish a desired end. Pres. Carl McFarland first appealed for closure of the street over a year ago, claiming the University could not afford to keep it in repair, a job the city refused. The matter was discussed at several City Commission meetings, then tabled. Had it been brought out then that the real reason for closure was a truck route cutting through campus, protests might have been loud enough to result in action. As it was, nothing was done until this fall when McFarland won a temporary closure after showing cause in District Court.

What will happen to the disputed avenue now is anyone's guess. City officials insist the Bureau of Public Roads has no authority in the case. Nonetheless, a truck route is looked upon with favor in the Highway Dept.'s higher reaches. An organized protest could squelch the plan before steps can be taken to carry it out.

Remember, grass is better than semis or logging trucks!

Dear Editor:

It is unfortunate that Miss Jackson chose to use the Band as a "whipping boy" to attract public interest and controversy, for the Band's accomplishments and services for the University as a whole is so well known and appreciated. So, this letter is not intended as a defense of the Band, even though such criticism does dampen the spirits of the many students who constitute it.

This letter represents the feelings and thoughts of many of the Kaimin readers who would like to have their paper represent a thoughtful, mature appraisal of the experiences of life on and off the campus. A university newspaper, no less than any other newspaper, has the responsibility of representing integrity, maturity, impartiality, and awareness of good or evil toward one's fellow men.

Sooner or later in life, each of us has to decide whether he is a builder or a person who tears down the efforts of others. A campus newspaper can be a fine medium for influencing its student body in the habit of intelligent, fact-gathering type of appraisals, or it can be a child's game of sticking out one's tongue at "teacher" and the traditional, ethical principles of life.

These are days of national and international turmoil and unrest and perhaps many unkindnesses and hostility can be attributed to tensions. However, now, as since the beginning of civilization, the greatest battle and the greatest victory is still over our individual selves, our motives and our actions.

Let us not play a child's game of life at the University. This should be a cross-section of the world at its best. It is to our individual and joint discredit to make it anything less than that.

Our paper is a reflection of not only the "news," but the people who write it, and the attitude of those who read it. It's ridiculous

Rhoades Continues To Lead in Points, Sheriff Takes Over First in Rebounds

Rudy (Zip) Rhoades continues to lead the Montana scoring parade although he was held to seven points by Utah's Gary Hale last weekend. Rhoades has scored 164 points in 11 games for a 14.9 average.

Clancy Waters ranks second with 108 points in 10 games. Waters scored 13 points in the Utah game to move into fourth place in the Skyline scoring race. Hal Erickson is still in third place with 92 points for an 8.4 average. Russ Sheriff, playing his best game of the season against Utah, has tallied 84 points in nine games for a 9.3 average.

Sheriff has moved into first place in rebounding with 14 rebounds against Utah and a season total of 97. Ray Howard holds second place in rebounding with 91.

Howard still leads in shooting among 'Tips who have played regularly with a percentage of .411. Sheriff hit 50 per cent against the Redskins to make his percentage .390.

The Grizzlies have scored 696 points against their opponents 678. Skyline statistics show the Silver tips in first place in defense, allowing 62.4 points per game.

A protest reversed a third decision in as many days in the intramural basketball leagues.

This protest in the "C" league gave a win to Craig Hall 2nd. West. Left Overs had won the original game, but were using an ineligible player from the MSU freshman team.

In Tuesday's play, the Nesters defeated the Buzzies 28-27 in a real clubfest. The Buzzies had taken an early lead in the "A" league contest, and were ahead 19-10 at the half, but the Nesters bounced back in the second half and won on two baskets by Henry in the last minute of play. Renning led the Nesters with 8 points and Brant made a like number for the Buzzies.

Phi Alpha Falfa trounced the Olympians 83-21 in a "B" league game. FAF had three men who scored in double figures, and led 35-5 at the half. Graham dumped in 24 points for the winners, and Romeck hit 7 for the Olympians. Elrod Hall had too much class

Chairmen Named For Annual Fights

Committee chairmen for the annual "M" Club fights Feb. 14 were named yesterday by John Boyle, fight promoter.

Boyle announced the chairmen at the monthly "M" Club luncheon.

Bob Small and Doug Dasinger were named chairmen of the ring committee. Jim Lee was placed in charge of publicity and Tom Roe and Gus Pastos were picked as fight trainers.

Pete Rhinehart and John Dixon were named by Boyle to be in charge of equipment for the fights. Jim Black and Ivory Jones were placed in charge of ticket sales.

In other business Pat Monno was named cheer king for the game with the Bobcats Saturday night. Monno has not selected the other cheerleaders for the contest, but said he will do so sometime today.

March 15 has been set as the date for M Club's winter function. The function will be a western style dance. No name has been selected for the affair.

Howls of protest rose during preference dinner at Delta Delta Delta Sunday night. A black kitten, thrown in the entrance hall, wanted to return to its home at the city pound.

The kitten had been slipped inside the front door by a couple of Sig Eps who wanted to add some excitement to the party. Only they didn't notice the entrance hall door was closed.

Swimmers Defeat Idaho State 59-27

The swimming team won its first meet of the year from the Idaho State swimming team 59-27.

The Grizzlies took eight first places in the meet held in Pocatello last Friday night. They also swept the second and third places in the other events. The firsts were taken in the 220 yard free-style, 220 yard medley relay, 200 yard backstroke, 440 yard free-style, 200 yard free-style relay, 50 yard free-style and diving.

Members of the team who made the trip were Joe Aboaf, Ken Cardwell, Charles Day, Walter Jones, Cole MacPherson, Paul Nordstrom, Jim Hardy, John Ritter, John Stipe, Ken Travis and Bud Wallace, coach.

This weekend the team has two meets scheduled. On Friday night they will meet the University of Idaho at Moscow, and on Saturday Washington State at Pullman.

The only home meet scheduled is with Wyoming Feb. 9. This should be a good meet, Coach Wallace said, because Wyoming already has beaten Denver, last year's Skyline champ.

Wallace said that the Grizzly team has also tentatively entered the Skyline Western Division meet and the Skyline Conference meet.

Neat Solution Found for Veterans: Just Make a Few Budget Changes

By RICK CHAMPOUX

A bill to give ex-GI's a raise in school pay died in committee during the last session of the House of Representatives so it will have to be introduced again this year. But, what is the veteran to do in the meantime?

Well, all vets on campus are faced with this problem every twenty first of the month when they find they have to make the $110 stretch a little further for the coming 30 days.

A student reporter on the University of Washington Daily has acknowledged this problem and come up with somewhat of a solution which is presented below.

Average budget before revision:

Rent (one room with bath and hot plate, two blocks from campus)	$ 40
Food (cheeseburgers, fries and occasional pizza)	20
Gas (for field trips)	10
Laundry (including two dress shirts and a 1949 sport coat)	10
Tuition (divided by three)	21
Amusements (skiing, dances, etc. etc. etc.)	50
Books (steal them from the library)	00
Total	$181

As anyone can see this doesn't equal $110, but is $71 over, so a new budget has to be worked out.

Average budget after revision:

Rent (still one room with bath and hot plate, but now 18 blocks from campus)	$ 15
Food (breakfast: cornflakes,

lunch: Lodge coffee, dinner: hamburger and macaroni casserole)	24
Payments on car (refinanced for two more years)	15
Gas (forget the field trips as you now have to drive 18 blocks a day)	15
Laundry (don't change so often)	5
Tuition (nothing can be done about this)	21
Amusement (cut out the etc.'s)	40
Books (erase numbers and library name and sell to bookstore)	+20
Write home for money	+ 5
Total	$110
