Liquor Board Asks to Halt Blackfoot Restraining Order

By GEORGE MILLER

In the preliminary action of a "show cause" hearing Friday morning in District Court, the counsel for the Montana Liquor Control Board motioned to "strike certain portions of the Blackfoot Tavern owners' complaint" and to "dissolve the temporary restraining order" which is permitting the tavern to remain open. The owners of the Blackfoot Tavern are seeking to make permanent their district court injunction preventing the liquor board's order re-voicing their liquor license.

Judge C. E. Comer closed the session Friday after giving the tavern's counsel 10 days in which to file a brief of argument in answer to the liquor board's motions.

After the tavern's brief is filed, according to Mrs. Lucille Maties, deputy court clerk, the liquor board will be allowed two days in which to file a reply brief.

Judge's Decision

Judge Comer, she said, will use the briefs as a basis for making his decision. After the briefs are in his hands, she added, he may study them and reach a decision at his leisure.

According to Edward T. Dussault, counsel for the Blackfoot Tavern, it is not necessary for Judge Comer to call both sides back in court for other sessions—either before reaching a decision or in order to announce a decision.

Dussault said Judge Comer would probably write an opinion which would be made public without the counsel of either party being consulted.

If Judge Comer's decision favors the liquor board, Dussault said, the tavern owners may appeal to the Montana Supreme Court as their single recourse. If the decision favors the tavern keepers, he said, the liquor board may either ask that testimony be heard in the District Court or may appeal to the supreme court.

Snow Sculptures Cancelled; Gratton And Peterson Win

Snow sculptures have been cancelled for this year following a meeting of Associated Women students yesterday.

There was some question as to whether the sculptures, scheduled to be constructed during Winter Weekend, would be built later this winter. Construction was postponed because of the extreme cold.

Tim Gratton, Sigma Chi, and Greta Peterson, DG, were crowned Snow King and Queen at the dance Friday night to highlight the Winter Weekend. Crossed skis formed the throne for the royalty.

Skis, crutches, snowshoes and a toboggan decorated the dances both Friday and Saturday night. Music at the dances was furnished by the Serenaders and "the combo."

'Importance of Being Earnest' Opens In Lodge This Evening

Montana Masquers bring "arena" theater to the University campus tonight as they open a five-night run of Oscar Wilde's comedy, "The Importance of Being Earnest."

Curtain time is 7:45 p.m. in the Yellowstone Room of the Lodge.

The production represents a new venture in theater staging for the Masquers. It marks the first time in a decade that a major production has been presented "in-the-round." The Yellowstone Room has been converted into an arena theater by Clemen M. Peck, theater technical director. He and his staff have installed special lighting and ramped the seats around the stage area.

Guests of the cast attended a "sneak preview" of the play Sunday evening. Those attending the preview said they had a feeling of being an intimate part of the play through the effect of the in-the-round presentation. The audience was able to see facial expressions of the actors and did not have to strain to hear the lines of the play.

"A chief concern of myself and the cast, however, is the lack of student interest as evidenced by our slow ticket sales," said Bo Brown, drama director.

"The Masquers have worked extremely hard to make this an outstanding play. This has been due in part to more emphasis placed upon 'acting' as required by this type of arena presentation," said Brown.

The strength of this English play rests on its dialogue. The English dialect presents an expose on the follies of society: the English society with its teas, muffins, cucumber sandwiches, spats, and lineage.

Nine University students will be seen in the three-act comedy. Jack Howell, Bruce Cusker, Heather McLeod, Beth Briggs, and Arlene Jennings carry principal roles.

Other cast members include Sheila Sullivan, Ralph DeLange, John Melton, and Bill Kearns.

Tickets for the production are available at Simpkins Theater box office or at the door of the play. Student admission is 25 cents.

Rodeo Enthusiasts Organize New Club

MSU's new Rodeo club held an organizational meeting Thursday night in the Lodge. Ross Miller, acting director, Public Service Division, discussed the possible goals of a rodeo club with the members, and explained the failure of MSU's previous club in 1950.

Temporary officers were elected, and a constitution drafting committee chosen. Tom Uphill was elected president; Robin Twogood, vice president; and Chuck Stafford, secretary. The committee includes Carl Yeckel, Dick Turner, Tom Kovalick, Jack Povelli, and Twogood. George Larson was appointed publicity chairman.

Controversial Council Issue Comes to CB Vote Tonight

The fate of the controversial Judicial Council will be decided at tonight's Central Board meeting. The Board will vote on whether J-Council should be retained and its problems ironed out, or if it should be done away with altogether.

If Central Board votes to disband Judicial Council, discussion will probably resume on the proposal presented last week for a new Judicial Council to operate in the capacity of an appellate board.

Tonight's meeting begins at 7 p.m. in LA 104 and all interested persons are asked to attend, ASMSU President John Fowler said. Everyone will be given the opportunity to speak, Fowler said, but he emphasized that a restriction may have to be placed on the length of speeches if the discussion becomes too long.

Judicial Council's value has been questioned by students since its conception, and recently the Council, with Central Board, has been examining its operation and looking for ways to improve.

New Proposals

Eight points are proposed in the plan for the new Judicial Council, the first giving the board the same name as the old Council.

The second point states the board shall be composed of 13 members. Six of the members will come from the faculty and seven will be students.

The chairman of the board shall be the seventh student member according to point number three. He shall be elected by an all-student vote.

Point four states that the qualifications for the student chairman shall be the same as those for ASMSU president.

The remaining six students will be appointed by Central Board, according to the proposal. Three of these will be juniors and three seniors. The three juniors will serve the following year as senior members.

Central Board will nominate 12 non-administrative faculty members from which the administration will select six for membership on the board, according to point six.

The dean and the associate dean of students shall act as non-voting advisory members to this board point seven states.

The final section of the proposal deals with the functions of the new Council. They are:

1. "A student shall have the right to present his case to either the appropriate dean or the board. A student may appeal his case from the dean to the board, but not from the board to the dean. The board shall be the ultimate authority outside of the President's office."

2. "Cases may be appealed from any lower student judiciary body such as AWS, house councils and dorm councils."

3. "This group shall develop the principles which shall govern the standards of student behavior."

4. "This board shall disseminate throughout the faculty and student body, the reasons which underlie policies formulated to govern the social program."

Judicial Council, Yes or No?

To be or not to be. That is the question that faces Central Board when it discusses the future of Judicial Council in an open meeting this evening. It now appears there are but two choices that can be made. One is to give J-Council a vote of confidence, then let it attempt to solve its problems. The other solution is to vote the Council out, then start over to form a new Council.

Several Judicial Council members have expressed the desire that they hope Central Board will vote the Council out of existence. One members said, "We are just a scape goat of the administration, and if we are voted out it would show students still have some say."

If this attitude is prevalent among the entire Council then it is time to vote it out. However, if enough J-Council members do not feel this way then there is a slight chance something might be done to improve it.

If this attitude is prevalent among the entire Council then Council, but otherwise no. There is little if no love for the Council among students as it now stands. In fact, if Central Board had not taken the present action on its own, petitions would have been circulated asking for a student vote to determine the future of the Council.

As it now stands the Council is not worthwhile, but instead just another committee. If it is to remain in this position its existence is not justified. As it is now nothing except a few minor changes would be made, and those changes are not enough to keep Judicial Council alive.

Indian Art Display Shown This Week

"Handmade in India Today" is the theme of the art exhibit in the Arts and Crafts building and the library this week.

The exhibition includes shawls of silk, wool, and cotton; gold and silver brocades; jewelry; and examples of contemporary folkcraft from rural sections of India.

The exhibit is from the Western Assn. of Art Museum Directors in Seattle.

Students, Faculty Draw Praise For Good Parking Cooperation

The traffic department is pleased with cooperation of students and faculty regarding new traffic regulations, Tom Monahan, assistant to the dean of students, said yesterday.

"With a new policy of this nature, there is always a period of experimentation," Monahan said. "We will try to iron out the weak spots as soon as possible, to the satisfaction of all."

Cars still without stickers are being ticketed by the campus patrolman. Persons with unregistered cars, or whose stickers have been lost, are asked to see the secretary in the Dean's office.

Some Refrain

Monahan reported good response to the payment of fines. A few persons, he said, have overlooked their obligation. The Dean's office has a record of these names, and will call violators into the office unless immediate payment is made.

"If you think you have received a ticket unjustly, which could happen by mistake, come to see me and air your views, Monahan said. "We can always work out a solution."

Leave Driveways Open

Monahan urged drivers to refrain from parking in driveways and loading zones, and from double parking where the inside car is unable to move. The latter regulation is being broken daily in front of the ROTC building.

Last week mail trucks had trouble delivering mail to the library and to residence halls, Monahan said. He asked that driveways behind the Lodge and library be left open.

Speeches and Meetings Keep Eight Faculty Members Busy

Dr. Albert T. Helbing, professor of business administration, spoke before two area meetings last week, Thursday, Jan. 24, he gave an address before a meeting of managers and directors of the Western Montana Electric Cooperatives at Kalispell. The subject of his Kalispell talk was "Management Problems."

On Friday, Jan. 25, Dr. Helbing also spoke at the annual installation meeting of the Salmon, Ida., Chamber of Commerce.

His topic for the Salmon meeting was "The Role of the Local Chamber of Commerce."

Arrangements for Dr. Helbing's address in Salmon were made by Charles Herndon of Salmon and Ross Miller, director of the MSU public service division.

Dr. Yu Speaks at Bozeman

Dr. Frederick T. C. Yu, associate professor of journalism, spoke Sunday and Monday at Bozeman, during observance of Religious Emphasis Week at Montana State College.

Dr. Yu gave two talks, "The Christian Reply to Communism," and "Christian Higher Education in Asia." He also led a seminar and gave informal talks before various groups.

Halpin Guest Lecturer

Dr. Andrew W. Halpin, professor of education, was scheduled as lecturer in education at the University of Chicago yesterday, today and tomorrow.

Dr. Halpin is discussing the implications of his recently published monograph, "The Leadership Behavior of School Superintendents."

Dr. Halpin will go from Chicago to Ohio State University at Columbus, Ohio, where he will serve as consultant to the university's department of education, Thursday through Saturday.

At Ohio State he will describe "A Paradigm for Research on Administrator Behavior," which he has written as a chapter for a book on school administration, soon to be published.

Howard Chairman

Joseph W. Howard, professor of chemistry, was elected 1957 chairman of the Montana section of the American Chemical Society at the January meeting of the society in Butte.

Others elected at the same meeting were Prof. E. C. Koch, Montana School of Mines, vice chairman; Leland M. Yates, assistant professor of chemistry, MSU, treasurer; and Instructor G. Baker, Montana State College, secretary.

Faculty Members at Helena

Three faculty members attended a meeting of the board of directors and committee chairmen of the Montana Conservation Council held in Helena Friday and Saturday.

Attending were Dr. J. W. Severy, professor of botany, member of the board of directors; Arnold W. Bolle, associate professor of forestry, chairman of the membership committee; and James W. Gebhart, assistant professor of education, chairman of Conservation Week.

Grizzlies Grab Win No. 7; Beat 'Cats in Tepid Game

The Montana Grizzlies continued to prove they are a "home team" Saturday by coming from behind in the second half to defeat their cross-state rivals, the Bobcats of MSC.

Nearly 6,000 fans watched the Grizzlies make their seventh conquest, 60-46, in the Field House this season. They have yet to win on the road.

Frosty Cox's quint appeared a bit over-confident during the first half. Hustle evident in the Utah and Denver games was lacking.

Neither team played brilliant basketball and the fans drew more excitement from bum official calls than from the game itself.

Tied at Half

Although Montana took an early lead, play was even during the first half.

Larry Chanay put the visitors out front for the first time. Then sharp-shooting Clancy Waters hit a long jump, fouling Jack Tilly in the process. Tilly dumped both gift shots.

Montana gained possession with seven seconds remaining in the half. Al Dunham scored a desperation jump shot simultaneously with the buzzer and the half-time scoreboard read 27-27.

Spearheaded by Waters on both offense and defense, the Grizzlies showed a bit more spirit during the second half. The 'Cats ran up a three-point lead, but this was soon overcome and the Grizzlies were never headed.

Even though behind several points, the Bobcats continued to play control ball. Both teams employed a zone throughout, explaining in part the lack-luster style of play.

Bobcats Green

Inexperience showed often in five were all sophomores.

The Grizzlies tallied 35.9 per cent of their field goal attempts the Bobcats' game. Their start-as compared with 33.3 per cent for the Bobcats. Both teams scored 60.9 per cent from the free throw line.

Al Dunham, hustling Montana forward, led in the backboard department, taking 16 rebounds. Grizzlies out-rebounded the visitors 55 to 42.

The 'Tips will entertain the University of Wyoming Thursday and Colorado A&M Saturday, ending their current homestand.

Favored Intramural Teams Post Wins In Last Week's Basketball Games

Favored teams claimed wins in all five games played in the intramural basketball leagues Thursday.

The heavily favored Fort Falcons came the closest to getting upset in the "A" league, but they finally eked out a win over Sigma Alpha Epsilon 36-33. Gear took high point honors for the Falcons with 13 points. Linn hit 11 for SAE.

FAF downed Alpha Tau Omega 39-30 in "B" league play Thursday. FAF got off to a fast start and lead 23-14 at the half. ATO couldn't narrow the gap and the nine point spread remained. McKerlick hit 14 points to lead FAF. Cahill and Rose each scored 6 for ATO.

Jumbo Downs Geese

Jumbo Hall defeated the Galloping Geese 34-22 in a "C" loop game between two previously unbeaten teams. Jumbo led 20-11 at the half. Wood of Jumbo was the game's leading scorer with 10 points. Hart hooped 8 for the Geese.

The Blue Wave won their first game of the season 40-24, at the expense of the Hermits. The Wave now has a record of one win and two losses in "D" league play while the Hermits have lost two straight. Bessey scored 13 for the winners and Christian led the losers with 10.

New Team Wins

A new team in the "E" loop, the Corsairs, downed Craig Ground West 45-36 in a hard fought game.

Orangutangs, FAF Win

In an "E" loop game played Friday, the Ringtailed Orangutangs trounced the Tomahawks 57-29. Nyquest was the big gun for the winners with 18 points. Marcillo hit 11 to lead the losers.

On Saturday, Fi Alpha Falda downed the Chiefs 53-33 in "B" league play. Basolo scored 21 points to pace FAF. Sutherland hooped 11 for the Chiefs.

The Buzzies won over the Pogo Pups by a forfeit in the only other game scheduled Saturday.

MSU Delegation Visits Range Meet

Three MSU professors and five students will be members of the Missoula delegation to the tenth national meeting of the American Society of Range Management in Great Falls today through Friday.

Faculty members attending are: Melvin S. Moris, professor of forestry; Dr. Richard D. Taber, assistant professor of forestry; and Dr. Joseph Kramer, professor of botany.

The students, who will present an exhibit of western Montana grasses, are John Johnson, John Davis, and Hubert Humes, Malcolm Miller, and Gary Seitz.

The program is designed to cover all aspects of the range-management field, Morris said. There will be sections on range improvement, management methods, wildlife and range, ranching in the Great Plains, and current problems.

Meet the Cast

JACK HOWELL

Jack Howell will play a leading role in the Masquers production of "The Importance of Being Earnest" tonight in the Yellowstone Room.

Howell plays John Worthing, or Earnest, his name depending upon the situation.

Earnest, or John, is a carefree sort of fellow, that is until he falls in love with Gwendolen Fairfax. Then Earnest's life becomes more complicated by the minute.

Howell, a senior majoring in music, played in "Crime and Punishment," "Taming of the Shrew," "Carousel," and this fall worked in "The Skin of Our Teeth."

HEATHER McLEOD

Heather McLeod will portray Lady Bracknell, a leading character in tonight's performance of "The Importance of Being Earnest."

According to Miss McLeod, Lady Bracknell is "an extremely difficult person to try to please, with her views on education and health. She attempts to dominate everyone's life, especially that of her daughter, Gwendolen Fairfax."

Miss McLeod played Edith, the maid, in "Blithe Spirit," and Ivy in "Skin of Our Teeth." She also was First Fury in the student reading of "Electra."

She is a sophomore from Helena majoring in drama.

TRIO RECITAL PRESENTED

The music school presented a trio recital Sunday. Featured were Justin Gray, clarinet; Charles Osborne, flute; and Miss Florence Reynolds, cello. Rudolph Wendt accompanied on the piano.

The program included selections from Haydn's "Trio No. 1 in C Major," Brahms' "Trio in A Minor," Haydn's "Trio No. III in C Major," and Norman Dello Jois' "Trio for Flute, Cello, and Piano."

dents, disagrees with the idea of limiting the President's appointments to the board.

"Central Board would not only appoint its own members, but definitely would limit the President," Cogswell said.

The present Judicial Council has done a "good job," Cogswell said, and he would like to see them continue and work out certain organizational problems.

"If Judicial Council is voted out, we will go back to what we had before," he said. The administration and others connected with the new proposal would then have to work over the new plan, according to Cogswell.

When asked what could be done to improve the present Council, Cogswell said that it needs faculty assistance. The Council was originally set up for one of the associate deans to sit on both boards. This has not been done, Cogswell said, and it is "as much my fault" as anyone else's.

gives you the break on flavor!

Time out for flavor!—and what flavor! This filter cigarette tastes rich and full. And its pure, snowy-white filter does the job so well the flavor really comes through. Winston is the filter cigarette you enjoy—that's why it's America's favorite!

Smoke WINSTON...enjoy the snow-white filter in the cork-smooth tip!
