Bob Johnson. All are on broncs at the KO ranch of Oral Zumwalt, who is furnishing stock for the rodeo.

Intercollegiate Rodeo Starts Today

The first MSU rodeo since 1950 will start today at the Missoula County Fairgrounds. Eighty-three contestants from 13 colleges and universities will compete for honors in saddle bronc, bareback, and bull riding, calf roping, bulldogging, barrel races and goat tying.

MSU cowboys have been practicing for the past two week ends under the coaching of Oral Zumwalt and Bill Lawrence, both veteran rodeo performers.

Contestants from Colorado A&M,

Utah State, University of Wyoming, BYU, Montana State College, Idaho State College, Western Montana College, College of Great Falls, and Casper Junior College drew for bucking stock in Conference Room 3 of the Lodge last night.

MSU's six man team will consist of Don Bernard, Tonasket, Wash.; Robert Johnson, Savage; Neil Peterson, Choteau; Robin Twogood, Sula; Dick Turner, Kelly Creek, Idaho; and Carl Yeckel, Ennis.

Each school may enter a six-man team to compete for the $50 team trophy. Only the six designated team members may count their points for the team championship and trophy.

All awards except the team trophy are donated by local businessmen. The individuals will vie for a $35 belt buckle to be awarded to the All-Around Cowboy, and for four $25 buckles to be awarded to the champion cowboys in bareback, saddle bronc and bull riding, and in bulldogging and calf roping.

MSU contestants entered in the rodeo events are, bareback: Dick Turner, Don Bernard, Bob Johnson, Neil Peterson, Boyd Jensen, Bob Anderson, Don Robirds, and Jack LaValley; saddle bronc riding: Turner, Bernard, and Robirds; bull riding: Johnson and Twogood; calf roping: Yeckel, Bernard, Twogood and Anderson. Bulldogging for the MSU club are Yeckel and Twogood.

Mary Kay White, Mary Kleinnan, and Janice Baker will compete with five MSC women for awards in barrel racing and goat tying.

Sharon Gibbs, Missoula, will reign over the two-day rodeo. Kay Huffman, Sidney, and Sharon Orr, Missoula, will be her attendants.

Tickets for the rodeo may be purchased at the Field House, or at booths at the Missoula County Fairgrounds. Ticket prices are children 75 cents, students with activity cards $1, general admission $1.50, reserved $2, and special above-the-chute tickets $2.50.

Street Repair Work For University District to Begin

Marcus Bourke, superintendent of Buildings and Grounds, said yesterday that he had been promised help in repairing streets which are used jointly by students and townspeople.

Bourke said he talked with Sam Arek, city street superintendent and Bill Sterling, acting city manager yesterday morning. The men said city equipment would begin work as soon as possible on streets adjacent to the campus.

"They were very cooperative and are as interested in the campus as we are," Bourke said. He added that the maintenance program was hampered by lack of funds. He said new money for street and ground repairs would not be appropriated until next July 1.

Bourke said that one very bad hole between the Music Building and the Business Administration Building would be repaired immediately.

Lack of funds plus a shortage of labor have also hindered the lawn program according to Bourke. Another serious aspect of lawn care, Bourke said, is the fact that students insist on walking on the grass, instead of on the sidewalks. "The grass is weak during this time of the year, and is not strong enough to withstand continual traffic," he explained. He asked students to realize that it is up to them to protect the grass by using the sidewalks.

He added that present plans call for an aerial photograph of the campus to help plan a more convenient network of sidewalks. However he said that if sidewalks were laid everywhere the grass had been beaten down, the whole campus would be surfaced. Therefore, the new sidewalks will be built in areas only where the aerial photograph shows them necessary.

According to Bourke, some repairs will soon be made on the Ennis courts. He said old nets will be replaced and minor surface repairs will be completed in time for spring matches.

ELROD ELECTS OFFICERS

Phil Skelton, Marengo, Ohio, was elected president of Elrod Hall yesterday.

Other officers elected were: Edward Vollmar, vice president; J. C. Hodges, secretary-treasurer; Jack Therrian, social chairman; and David Ruff, athletic chairman.

Board Will Choose Sentinel Leaders

Applicants for Sentinel editor and business manager are to be interviewed Wednesday evening, according to Kay Blaszek, Publications Board chairman.

Students interested in the positions should give written applications to Miss Blaszek or to Natalie Norby, Sentinel editor.

No Sentinel experience is necessary to apply, but some background experience in yearbook mechanics is desirable for the editor's position, Miss Blaszek said. A knowledge of business will be taken into consideration in selecting the business manager, she said.

Sentinel editor receives a salary of $70 a month for eight months and the business manager receives $40 a month for eight months.

"Competition for the position is wide open, because most of the present staff members are graduating," Miss Blaszek said.

Air Force Will Abandon Hike in B-52 Production

WASHINGTON (P) — The Air Force announced today it has abandoned plans to increase the production rate of B-52 Hydrogen Bombers, partly because it has discovered previous estimates of Soviet air strength were faulty.

It said the overall production goal for the big eight-jet intercontinental bombers will remain at 603 planes but that output will not be increased from 15 to 20-a-month as Congress was told last year during the B-52 controversy.

Easter Sunrise Service, Egg Hunt Climax Lenten Activity

An Easter sunrise service, Easter egg hunt, faculty coffee hour and a musical program will highlight the Easter weekend celebration by MSU.

All University students are invited to the Sunrise Service from 6 a. m. to 7:30 a. m. on McClay's Butte, said Barbara Bednorz, president of Roger Williams Fellowship. Those wishing rides to and from McClay's Butte, west of Ft. Missoula, will meet in front

President OK's Slash in Budget

WASHINGTON (P) — President Eisenhower gave Congress a go-ahead today to slash $1,342,000,000 from his new appropriations requests. Speaker Sam Rayburn promptly predicted that Congress would vote to cut taxes Jan. 1.

The President warned, however, that his proposal probably would result in an actual cut of only about $650,000,000 in next year's record peacetime budget of $71,800,000,000 since some of the money involved was not scheduled to be spent until future years.

But Rayburn forecast that Congress would press ahead with tax cuts anyway, either late this session or early next year. He gave no further details.

Eisenhower made quite clear that he opposes tax reductions now although he gave no indication whether he would veto a tax cut bill.

FRENCH SUBWAY STRIKERS INJURE 20 POLICE IN RIOT

PARIS (P) — An angry crowd of 1,000 Communist-led subway strikers battled police with paving stones and steel barrels here Thursday in the first violent flare-up of the paralyzing French transportation strike.

Republican guards and police reinforcements finally routed the rioters with tear gas, clubs and powerful jets of water from fire hoses.

An estimated 20 police and Republican guardsmen were injured.

Drive Hits Quota With 452 Donating

The MSU blood drive capped its quota by two pints, getting 452. Number of students registered was 554.

Greeks numbered 409; faculty, 5; and independents and townspeople, 145.

Greek trophies for the highest donating house and the chicken house will be based on the percent of the house donating and will be awarded later, Deane Hess, Delta Sig president, said.

Marilyn Shope, KAT, and Walter Thorton, SAE, reached the gallon mark.

Carol Emmerton, co-chairman of the drive, said, "I wish to thank the student body for all the splendid co-operation as donors, helpers, nurses' aides, typists, and canteen workers."

"Thanks especially is due to the Delta Sig men, some of whom put in as much time as the nurses and doctors."

Education Board Studies NMC Construction Bids

HELENA (P) — Three members of the Montana Board of Education today took under advisement bids for constructing foundations for student houses at Northern Montana College.

The college purchased the houses from the Bureau of Reclamation at Timber Dam site. The buildings were moved about 60 miles from the dam site to Havre, but as yet they have no foundations.

Names and amounts of the low bidders were not made public.

Baty Suggests Issues Debate

Roger Baty, candidate for ASMSU presidency, has extended an invitation to Bill Williamson and Dick Riddle, other candidates for president, to discuss with him issues involved in the upcoming ASMSU elections, he announced today.

Baty and others arranged yesterday for a debate Tuesday at 4 o'clock in the Yellowstone Room of the Lodge, and have invited all MSU students to attend the debate.

Those attending will also be given a chance to present opinions on student government, Baty said.

Since the election convo held in past years has been discontinued, Baty said, he feels such a debate is the most advantageous way for the three candidates to discuss campaign issues.

The quartet includes Andrie, Childs, Weigel and Miss Reynolds.

The recital is open to the public according to music school officials.

On Enrollment

Editor Kaimin:

I do not wish to define myself as a diehard, but I do admit to being something of a sceptic about some of the statements in the editorial of Wednesday's Kaimin. You remark "University enrollment is down this quarter, but even the diehards are beginning to admit that they like it this way . . . The going is getting tougher. Caliber of students is getting higher."

The evidence does not seem decisive. Are we getting a higher percentage of students from the top of high school classes? Are students putting in more time on study and less on outside jobs? Is there better attendance at concerts, lectures, library? You report that 51 students were felled by the grade curve last quarter. How does that compare with past years? You report that 341 students made less than a C average last quarter. I would have supposed that the number would have been higher in many past years. But of course a smaller number like 341 could mean either harder study or easier grading. You report that 328 students who were eligible to enroll dropped from school, and then add "How many of these had less than a C average is not shown, but it is safe to assume that there were a good many." It seems to me the evidence should be examined on this point.

Are there other reasons than poor grades for students leaving school? Is it becoming harder to meet the costs of education? Is it married or unmarried students who are dropping out? Is it upper or underclassmen? Is it students with high, low, average aptitude marks? Do they drop out and go to work, or do they drop here and go to some other institution for one or another reason?

I would salute the various new intellectual and artistic activities that are enriching our campus life, but I still doubt if exciting the fear of failure has much to do with the advancement we are making, and if a decreasing enrollment is either evidence or means of improvement.

Fort Excavation to Begin Saturday; Ruins May Reveal Early History

By ANNE THOMAS

Anthropology and history students hope to find new information about the early history of Montana during the excavations at Fort Owen, scheduled to begin Saturday.

Fort Owen is one of three state monuments administered by the State Parks Division. The excavations are a preliminary step in the division's long-range plan of development of the fort as a state monument, according to Ashley C. Roberts, division director.

The division hopes to restore the fort to its original condition and to set up a museum at its site.

"The present project might be termed a 'pilot operation' because if it is successful, we plan to use similar methods in developing other historical landmarks in Montana," Roberts said.

The archaeology class under the supervision of Prof. Carling I. Malouf, assistant professor of anthropology, will examine the original part of the fort which is now in ruins. The group will look for post holes that will show where the boundaries of the original stockade were. A later fort was constructed of adobe bricks.

St. Mary Location

"In excavating at Fort Owen, we may possibly find evidence of the location of the original St. Mary's mission, established by Father DeSmet in 1841," Malouf said.

John W. Smurr, history instructor, and a group of graduate students will do research into the historical background of the area. Prof. George F. Weisel, associate professor of zoology, found a ledger kept by a free trader of the Rocky Mountain Northwest in a barn on the McCormick estate in Missoula. The ledger had presumably been in the attic of the barn for 70 years. It has been an important source of knowledge of Fort Owen.

The fort was a trading spot set up by Maj. John Owen on land purchased from the Jesuits at St. Mary's Mission. The ledger's record of this land transaction indicates that the first St. Mary's Mission, founded by Father DeSmet among the Flathead Indians, was located in the immediate vicinity of the fort. The mission was probably started about 1841, Dr. Malouf said.

Dear Editor:

Because the election convo has been discontinued, I feel that it would be advantageous to the students for the three presidential candidates to discuss the campaign issues at an open meeting Tuesday afternoon at 4:00 in the Yellowstone Room of the Lodge.

I therefore invite Dick Riddle and Bill Williamson to join me in a debate at that time. All students are invited to attend and present any opinions they might have concerning student government.

Sincerely,
Roger Baty
Candidate for ASMSU
President

'Fair Lady' Sets Look for Summer

By United Press

Designers blame the black-and-white stage setting of "My Fair Lady" for the black-and-white look this summer. One color compliments the other with no other color accent. The effect—in checks, stripes, plaids and plains—is startling.

Every "look" has its style this summer. The shepherdess, the empire, the baby doll, the sissy, even the belted back. The latest in the belted back is found in summer nightwear. The belt-in-back is on calf-skimmer pajamas.

It is predicted by Herman Hyman, St. Louis hat maker, that women will buy hand-sewn straw. They will wear the big parasol hat with a floppy brim, or the so-called peach basket that covers the head and nearly hides the face. He recommends still a third style, the off-the-face cloche (bell-shaped close-fitting hat) popular in the 1920's.

A new favorite for the lady-like sportswoman is pleated shorts. Looking like a ballet dancer, the wearer tops panties with a permanent-pleated skirt just the length of shorts.

Eisenhower Golfs Despite Showers

AUGUSTA, GA., (AP)—President Eisenhower flew here for a vacation today and began playing golf barely an hour after he arrived.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower landed in the presidential plane Columbine III after a one-hour and 55-minute flight from Washington.

They drove immediately to the Augusta National Golf Club, where they planned to remain for a week to 10 days.

Despite intermittent showers, Eisenhower started out on a round of golf a few minutes after he reached the club.

Lee Nye's Portraits of Montanans Published in European Magazine

By LEE DE VORE

While Dr. Leslie Fiedler's article "The Montana Face" is again being discussed on campus, it is appropriate to mention other faces familiar to Montana that have recently come to international attention.

Through an article and series of photographs by Lee Nye, photographer and former MSU student, published in Europe's leading photography magazine, Montana and her "faces" have made news.

Nye's article "Elective Patronage" and the portraits appeared in the April issue of "Photography," published in London. The article deals with Nye's portraiture techniques and his beliefs that a photographer should be entitled "to individual and free expression of his ideas."

A face familiar to freshmen last year led the article. Miss Elizabeth Morris, who taught freshmen English last year as a graduate assistant, is thoughtfully portrayed by Nye in her scholarly pursuits. Miss Morris is now working on her doctorate at the University of Washington.

The face of Louie Vaczek will be readily recognized by last summer's attendants of the MSU Writers' Conference. Vaczek, visiting staff member of the conference's fiction department, has written the novels "River and Empty Sea," "The Hidden Grave" and "The Golden Calf."

In Vaczek's portrait, Nye illustrates the same unusual techniques that he has employed in the portrait of Prof. Robert Bowen—natural lighting and setting, and the portrayal of the personality and feeling of the patron.

Miss Mika Viga (Mrs. Lee Nye), a Fulbright scholar from Greece who received here B. A. here in 1955, may also be recognized in the article.

The portrait of Margaret Stuber, Delta Delta Delta, closes the article. She was a student here until last quarter when she began attending Eastern Montana College of Education.

NEW YORK (AP)—George Metesky, the Mad Bomber of Manhattan, was ordered committed today at Mateawan Hospital for the criminally insane. He was committed by Kings County Judge Samuel Leibowitz.

Lt. Jack T. Daniels, captain of the 1954 Grizzly Swimming team, as the outstanding candidate for the U.S. team will compete in a five-nation modern pentathlon meet at Ft. Sam Houston, May 21-25.

Teams from Sweden, Switzerland, Mexico and Brazil have been invited by the United States to compete in this meet. The European nations, expected to enter strong teams, will be appearing at Ft. Sam Houston for the first time. The meet is in preparation for the coming world championships, scheduled at Mexico City in November.

Lt. Daniels was on the Olympic team at Melbourne in 1956. He finished 25th in the modern pentathlon and surprised everyone by taking second place in the horse-ship event. Up until the Olympic tryouts, Daniels had never been on a horse.

Lt. Daniels graduated from MSU in 1955 and immediately entered the service. While at MSU Daniels established himself as an outstanding swimmer. In 1953 he won the 100 yard Skyline Crown in a near-record time of 1:06.8. In 1954 he was instrumental in helping Montana defeat Utah here.

Fights Scheduled, Fighters Needed To Fill Out Card

Preparations for the 31st annual M Club fights, to be held at the Field House May 17, are being made by Tom Jensen, fight manager. Fighters wishing to sign up for this years bouts may do so at the athletic department.

Jensen says the fights are being held during interscholastic to enable high school students see a fine card. The bouts are usually held winter quarter, but a lack of response to an earlier call caused the delay. Jensen says the University living groups have promised to provide enough fighters for a ten bout card.

Last year the team trophy went to Jumbolaya who had six winners out of 13 fast-moving bouts. Sigma Nu was second with two winners. Jumbolaya will be seeking the team trophy for the fourth straight year.

The Billy Merritt Award will be given to the outstanding boxer of the evening. Merritt, a former MSU student, who competed in the M Club fights, was killed in action in Korea as a member of the United Nations forces in December, 1952.

George Tarrant, Butte, won the first Merritt award in 1953. The second award went to Marsten Halben, Spearfish, S. D. Howard Johnson won the award in 1955, and Montana Bockman was last years winner.

Tips Meet Utah, Schulz Injured

The Montana Grizzlies invade Utah today for a double-header against Utah University after sweeping both ends of a double-header from Idaho State Wednesday.

The Grizzlies may be without the services of their top pitcher last year Larry Schulz. Schulz suffered a dislocated left thumb in the first game against Idaho while tagging a runner at first base. X-rays showed that the thumb wasn't broken but Coach Hal Sherbeck said that the left-hander was a doubtful starter against the "Utes" today.

With Schulz sidelined Doug LeBrun will probably pitch the first game today and either Montgomery or Stoleson the second. The Grizzlies next travel to Logan where they met Utah State for two games on Tuesday.

Utah University has played two conference games this year splitting with the BYU Cougars. Last year Missoula and Utah split four games.

Candidates for Junior C-B Seats Discuss Election

Sophomores petitioning for the office of junior delegate to Central Board are Greta Peterson, Bill Crawford, Bruce Swarens, Dick Josephson, John Dixon, Steve Gerdes, Merrill Evanson, Howard Vollmar and Toby Armstrong. Following are their platforms for the primary election April 25.

GRETA PETERSON

Greta Peterson, Billings, stated, "It seems to be the opinion around campus that Central Board isn't doing what the students feel it should be doing and I feel this may be due to a lack of direct communication between the Board and the living groups. I believe that CB members should fully explain all decisions they make concerning the student body. Perhaps this could be facilitated by having CB members speak to each living group about the more vital issues under consideration to make CB a more genuine reflection of student opinion."

BILL CRAWFORD

Bill Crawford, Missoula, stated, "The ultimate aim of Central Board is to promote student welfare. In order to achieve this goal we must have interested and capable personnel. I am very interested in the affairs of the organization and if elected will strive to maintain its standards."

BRUCE SWARENS

Bruce Swarens, Whitefish, said, "Student government is the backbone of our campus. I emphatically assure my classmates that I will carefully study each and every issue which is brought to my attention so as to vote in a manner most beneficial to all. My knowledge of and interest in campus affairs, I believe, qualifies me to represent the junior class."

STEVE GERDES

Following is Steve Gerdes' statement. "I believe that there is a misunderstanding between Central Board and the student body which is due to the lack of interest on the part of students and insufficient coverage of CB activities. I would like to see a renewed interest in all aspects of MSU student government and activities."

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the following amendments to the ASMSU constitution will appear on the primary election ballot April 25:

Add to Article IV, Section 6, clause (4), under qualifications: "(4) candidates for the above four offices must have maintained a 2.5 grade index prior to their election."

In Article IV, Section 6, (1) delete the words "Montana State University seven quarters" and amend to read, "resident and vice president must have attended the equivalent of seven quarters at Montana State University, five of these at Montana State University and must have at least 90 quarter credit hours at the time of election," and also in Article IV, Section 6, (2) delete the words "Montana State University five quarters" and amend to read, "business manager and secretary must have attended the equivalent of five quarters at Montana State University and must have at least 60 quarter credit hours at the time of election."

Add to Article V, Central Board, as Section 4: "Qualifications. Candidates for Central Board must have maintained a 2.0 grade index prior to their election."

Secretary, ASMSU

HOWARD VOLLMAR

Howard Vollmar, Bowling Green, Ohio, said, "I have long felt that the position of any member of Central Board is that of a public trust and a responsibility that must be considered every bit as important as our higher trusted offices in the country."

TOBY ARMSTRONG

Toby Armstrong, Kalispell, said, "I see as the purpose of student government the fostering of academic achievement and the coordination of extracurricular activities. The concept should be broader than just a concern for 'busy work' — it should extend to a concern for the entire University. The present issues where this could be applied best are the disincorporation of the store, the effect of J-Council, and the construction of recreational facilities, and whether or not more emphasis should be placed on academic growth."

DICK JOSEPHSON

Dick Josephson, Billings, said, "The two main problems as I see them are communication and clarity of issues. Unless something is done to promote better support and cooperation in student government, it may become stagnant, and the students will lose all voice in crucial situations. If the students take part in this election and support their officers, we should have the things, that effect us most."

Merrill Evanson and John Dixon were unavailable for comment.

Grade indexes for the candidates are: Greta Peterson, 2.4; Bill Crawford, 3.1; Bruce Swarens, 2.8; Dick Josephson, 2.4; Steve Gerdes, 2.3; Howard Vollmar, 2.4; and Toby Armstrong, 2.2.
