200 Speakers Arrive For Northwest TKA Tourney

More than 200 contestants, representing 25 colleges and universities, have entered the 11th Annual Northwest Tau Kappa Alpha Intercollegiate Speech Tournament which begins on campus today, Ralph McGinnis, debate director said.

The first round of debate begins this evening at 7:30. Oratory, extemporaneous speaking and oral interpretation will start at 8:30. There will be an informal reception and coffee hour at 10:30.

The speech events will continue all day tomorrow. Tomorrow evening there will be a banquet in the Lodge.

Semi-finals and finals are scheduled for Saturday morning. Trophies will be presented at 11:30 Saturday morning.

Subject for the debates will be whether the United States should discontinue direct economic aid to foreign countries.

Subjects for extemporaneous speeches will be: "The United Nations, 1957," "Problems in American Political Economy," "Problems in American Representative Government."

In the oral interpretation event each contestant is required to read in round one a selection of lyrical poetry and Biblical reading. In round two he must read a selection of dramatic literature of his own choice and a two-minute selection from Shakespeare. In round three the contestant will read a selection of humorous prose and a radio newscast.

Visiting professors will act as judges. Any deficiency in numbers of judges will be made up from University Faculty.

Schools which will be represented in the tournament are: Brigham Young, Cascade College, Carroll College, Colorado A & M, University of Colorado, University of Idaho, Idaho State College, Long Beach State College, Loretto Heights College, Minnesota State Teachers Col-

Music Appreciation Class Helps Win Essay Contest

Justin Gray's music appreciation class yesterday was paid tribute by a former University student.

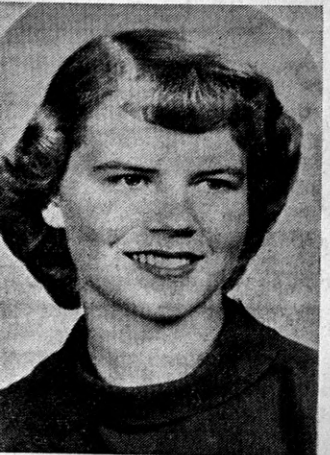

Payton Moncure, recent second place winner in a national essay contest on the advantages of long-playing records, said techniques learned in Gray's class were largely responsible for his success.

Moncure received the first part of his prize, a high-fidelity radio phonograph, yesterday. A color TV set, also part of the prize, has been shipped from New York, he said.

Former Instructor Dies In Germany

The University ROTC department today received word that M. Sgt. Milton Hansen, former staff member and rifle coach, died suddenly in Germany.

Sgt. Hansen came here in November, 1947, and assumed the position of rifle coach. He was here until spring of 1953, and was then transferred to Korea. He was ordered back to MSU in May, 1955. Between May and September he traveled with the Sixth Army rifle team.

Sgt. Hansen had his best rifle team here in 1953. In that year the team had 97 wins and 5 losses and was first in the Sixth Army area. For this they were awarded the Hearst Trophy.

While here, he was awarded a certificate of achievement by the Sixth Army.

Sgt. Hansen's death is attributed to a heart attack.

The funeral is scheduled for today at Ft. Worth, Texas, his home.

Law School Graduates Accepted As Specialists

Qualified persons may apply as law specialists in the Navy Officer Candidate Program, according to C.P.O. Francis Ripel, local Navy recruiter.

This replaces the former program where lawyers were accepted as staff or line officers and later were assigned as law specialists.

Applicants will be selected as law specialists on reporting to Officer Candidate School Ripel said.

City May 31 and return to Montana June 28. Her expenses are paid by the magazine.

Selection of the guest editors was made on a basis of magazine writing, art and fashion assignments. Miss Lund competed in article writing.

While in New York, the guest editors will attend fashion shows, special luncheons, dinners and dances planned for them by the magazine.

Miss Lund is affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. Her home is in Reserve.

Mrs. Arch Callaway, Miss Lund's sister, was chosen one of the Mademoiselle guest editors in 1947, while she was a student at the University of Washington. Mrs. Callaway said the guest editorship gives "good experience in getting into the magazine world."

The last Montana student to receive the honor was Aline Mosby, a 1943 graduate of the School of Journalism. She is now a United Press correspondent, and her syndicated Hollywood column appears in newspapers throughout the United States.

VOTE

Voting Results To Be Given During Dance

Voting will continue in the Grill of the Lodge until five this afternoon. Students wishing to vote must sign their name and present either an activity card or receipt for payment of fees. Activity cards will be validated at the polls.

Ballot counting will begin at five. All interested persons can help count votes, according to Bruce Cook, ASMSU business manager. Results will be announced at the Kenton All Star dance tonight.

Four constitutional amendments appear on the ballot. They are to require the following: 2.5 grade average of ASMSU officers, 2.0 average for central board delegates, the equivalent of seven MSU quarters with five at MSU for the president and vice president of ASMSU, and the equivalent of five MSU quarters with three at MSU for the business manager and secretary.

In order for the amendments to pass 40 percent of the students must vote and two-thirds of the vote must be in favor of the amendments.

Sixth Fleet Planes Carry Live Ammo

ABOARD U. S. S. FORRESTAL (P) — Fighter planes aboard this super aircraft carrier are flying interceptor practice missions over the eastern Mediterranean with live ammunition.

The jet planes, which usually fly unarmed, are equipped with live rockets for an emergency in their hastily-called "maneuvers." The needle-nosed rockets tucked under the swept-back wings of the interceptors ordinarily come out of storage only when there is trouble.

The planes have kept an almost constant, 24-hour vigil over the eastern Mediterranean since the U. S. 6th Fleet arrived here in a surprise move last week.

Fiedler, 4 Others Get Nial Award

Dr. Leslie Fiedler has been awarded a grant of $1,000 by the National Institute of Arts and Letters, the institute announced yesterday.

Other awarded grants equal to that of essayist Fiedler's were Mary McCarthy, novelist; Flannery O'Connor, novelist and short story writer; Robert Fitzgerald, poet and translator; W. S. Merwin, poet; and Robert Pack, poet and essayist.

Dr. Fiedler, a professor of English at MSU, is presently on a year's leave of absence to Princeton. From 1951 to 1953 he was a Fulbright Fellow in Italy, lecturing at the Universities of Rome and Bologna. A group of his essays, originally published in literary reviews, has been collected in the volume "An End to Innocence."

British Air Crash Kills 32 Bound For Middle East

BLACKBUSHE, England (P)—A twin-engined British transport plane carrying troops and civilians to the Middle East crashed in flames tonight after it developed engine trouble shortly after take off. Thirty-two persons, including two children were killed.

HERE TONIGHT—Pete Jolly, leader of the Pete Jolly Trio, is one of the leading attractions of tonight's Kenton All Stars concert and dance. The six members of the All Stars each have appeared with Kenton's band in the past.

Tomme Lu Middleton, assistant director of student activities-facilities, emphasized that the band will play dance music for the dance at 9:30 p.m. in the Lodge, and jazz for the concert at 8 p.m. in the University Theater.

University women will have 1 o'clock hours for the dance. Admission is $1 for the concert and $1 for the dance.

Dave Beck Ordered to Testify; Dared to Make Threat Stick

WASHINGTON (P)—Senate labor rackets investigators ordered Teamsters Union President Dave Beck to resume his public testimony May 8 and challenged him to make good his threat to "blow the lid right off the Senate."

Chairman John L. McClellan announced the committee's action shortly after Beck notified the AFL-CIO he would appear at a hearing next Monday to answer union corruption charges leveled against the Teamsters. His date with the Senators is two days later.

McClellan said Beck had been notified by telegram that the committee has received new information "regarding Mr. Beck's activities and the use of the power of the (Teamsters) union to further his own financial interests." He said 8 or 10 witnesses would be heard.

Beck, head of the nation's biggest union, claimed the constitutional protection of the Fifth Amendment 117 times during questioning by the committee last month regarding his financial dealings with the Teamsters.

Beck subsequently was quoted as saying that any further testimony by him would "blow the lid off" the Senate. He later repudiated the statement but McClellan made clear that it still rankled with the rackets investigators.

"In connection with Mr. Beck's alleged statement," McClellan said, Beck will "be given ample opportunity to do so."

In his previous testimony Beck was pressed by the committee to explain what happened to some $320,000 which it said he took from union funds. Counsel Robert G. Kennedy recently said Beck "stole" the money.

Top-Hatted 'Kid' Supports WUS Week

The Kampus Kid arrived on campus yesterday to give his support to World University Service Week. Dressed in a top hat, he made his appearance on the oval at noon, accompanied by a German Band. He will remain on campus through Friday, according to Marcia Smith, WUS chairman.

The following verse advertised his appearance:

A goat on campus, do declare—
What next will there be to pollute the air?
Bozeman's Aggies have nothing on us—

Following another line, the committee indicated that it wanted to question Beck about the relations of companies in which Beck had an interest with the Teamsters union.

There had been indications that Teamsters officials might boycott next Monday's AFL-CIO hearing which was an outgrowth of the Senate inquiry.

Gruenther Orders Red Cross Layoffs

WASHINGTON (P)—Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther said today the American Red Cross is in "very serious financial trouble" and may have to curtail its service to suffering humanity.

The former NATO European commander, who became president of the Red Cross early this year, told the United Press he has ordered the dismissal of 300 paid employees and a cut of $2,250,000 in the administrative budget of the national organization.

Unless the American people contribute more liberally to the Red Cross than they have so far this year, he said, he will be forced to make further cuts which will "directly affect" such traditional programs as disaster relief and aid to servicemen.

Gruenther revealed in a two-hour exclusive interview that he has given up hope of reaching the 95 million dollars goal which the Red Cross set for its 1957 fundraising drive. Although the drive has been in progress for two months instead of the customary one, contributions to date total only 78 million dollars. Red Cross chapters have been urged to "keep trying" through May.

But what the heck—it's all for WUS!

In the Ugly Pair contest Delta Gamma and Sigma Chi are still ahead. In the Juke Box contest Elvis Presley is ahead. The winner of this contest will have his records played for a whole day in the Lodge. Students may vote in these contests by pennies in the Lodge.

Living groups who gave up deserts for Hungarian Relief last quarter are reminded to turn in their money to the Field House Business Office.

Parade and Review

Dear Editor:

We wonder if you or any of the other campus leaders have been out on the oval on a Monday evening recently to witness a parade and review of the cadets of the Army and Air Force ROTC units? If so, we wonder also if you have noticed the conduct of some of the spectators?

Too many of them seem to regard the performance as a parade of Boy Scouts (in itself an honorable organization), or at worst, just a big joke. It is far from that. These cadets are not only engaged in fulfilling a requirement of the University for graduation, but are also participating in an honored ceremony with a history as long as that of our country and armed forces.

An integral part of that ceremony is the paying of tribute to the American flag. "Retreat," which is the ceremony of lowering the flag, is played and the entire body of men stands at attention, saluting or presenting arms, during the playing of the "Star Spangled Banner." The Army and Air Force flags and the guidons of the companies and squadrons are also dipped in salute. It is a ceremony which has meaning to all Americans, not just those of us in uniform.

Finally, escorted by the honor squadron or company—that unit which has been adjudged best in the previous review—the flag is passed in review. As it passes, all participants render the appropriate salute. The flag then passes off the field and is escorted back to its normal resting place.

What about the spectators during this ceremony? Have they been entertained? We hope so. Have they had a feeling of pride? We hope so too. Or have they merely been amused? We hope not. Yet from the catcalls, the comments and the actions of some of those on the sidelines, we can only assume that amusement and ridicule has been their object in attending. Most of them stand at attention for the playing of the Star Spangled Banner, but that is the extent of their respect. There is very little response when the flag passes by—they are too busy showing off their wit.

Granted, these actions are by a very small minority. If they have had no military experience—well, they must have witnessed a Memorial Day or Armistice Day parade at some time. If they are former cadets, they should know better; and if they are veterans, their conduct is inexcusable.

We of the Military department welcome spectators at our reviews. In fact, we feel that we do much better with an audience. Our cadets are not perfect in their formations. Due to Montana winter and the lack of indoor drill facilities, they have only been marching since the beginning of Spring quarter. Right now they are practicing for a parade and review to be given on Thursday evening, May 9th, when the Army and Air Force ROTC units are being inspected by their respective higher headquarters. Their performance will reflect on the University as a whole, and we hope they will make a good showing. They are trying hard to do it.

We hope that there will be a big crowd of spectators for that review—students, faculty and townspeople. And we hope that their response to our show will be a credit to the University, to the City of Missoula and to the whole State of Montana. How about it, Grizzlies?

PAULINE HEGGERS works at the IBM key punch producing coded cards.

IBM ACCOUNTING MACHINE—Coded cards are run through this machine which then reproduces their perforations as printed reports. Work of this machine is the end result of the IBM accounting system.

New IBM Set-up to Aid University Bookkeepers

The registration process will be cut down to twenty-four hours by the installation of IBM equipment in the accounting department, according to Drew Routzahn, IBM supervisor.

"The equipment we have installtrar, with other University officials, are studying methods used by other colleges using IBM equipment. They are designing cards and coding systems that will be adaptable to accounting methods now used by the University, Routzahn said.

At present, an accounting machine, two key punches, a verifier, and a sorter have been installed. It is hoped that more equipment will be added in the next two years until the outfit is complete, Routzahn said.

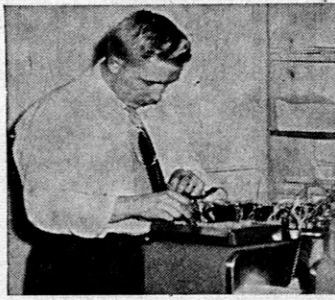

The equipment was installed in late January and early February, according to Routzahn, but the accounting office is still in the process of converting from personnel work to machine work. The changeover involves designing cards and coding systems.

At present the IBM office handles payrolls and related reports such as retirement reports, and budget ledgers. They hope to start registration next fall, according to Routzahn. Much of the work which will eventually be done on the machines has not been started now because many of the books will not be closed until June, he said.

"IBM machines are nearly 100 percent accurate," Routzahn said. "nearly twice as accurate as personnel work. The work is done on the key puncher and then punched through the verifier. If there is a mistake the verifier catches it."

"We hope to eliminate advance registration," Routzahn said. With the method we are attempting to set up the students would register the first day of the quarter and class cards would be in instructors' mailboxes within twenty-four hours. Those assisting Routzahn are Martena Rice and Pauline Heggars.

ed is only a shell," Routzahn said. With increased registration we'll need more equipment. Also we hope eventually to take over some of the work of the Student Union and other departments of the University."

Western Division Records Fall As Grizzlies Outstep Utah State

Montana track squad defeated Utah State 73½-57½, in a dual meet on Dornblaser Field yesterday.

Utah State's L. J. Sylvester set a new Western Division record in both the shotput and discus. He put the shot 52 ft. 7 in. and threw the discus 166 ft. 1½ in.

Montana had only a four point lead going into the last two events, but took first and second in the 220 yard low hurdles, and won the mile relay.

Sophomore Ken Nelson of Montana showed well in running a close second to veteran Ezra Smith of Utah in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Nelson was a stride behind Smith at the tape in both events.

Another Montana sophomore, Hank Mohland broke a dual meet record in the 120 yard high hurdles, stepping them off in :14.7.

Rifle Team Wins Invitational Meet

The MSU Rifle Team outshot the rifle teams from Utah State University, University of Utah and Brigham Young University to take top honors in the team events of the Intermountain Invitational Meet, held April 26-27 at Logan, Utah.

MSU's riflemen stacked up a total of 4130 points out of a possible 5000. Utah State University came in second with 4069. Larry David and Frank Tetrault, both from Kalispell, took first and second place respectively, in aggregate scores, with Allan Hedman, Whitefish, placing fifth.

In the individual events, David was first in the standing position. Tetrault placed second in the prone position.

Observer Says Red Strength Shows Decline

By EUGENE McLOUGHLIN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Soviet Russia led the Communist camp today in celebrating May Day with military displays, worker parades and a barrage of anti-western denunciations. In the free world, the observances of International Labor Day were marked by rival rallies which indicated the decline in Communist strength since the Soviet military intervention in Hungary.

In Italy, where the Communists once boasted the biggest Red organization outside of the iron curtain, religious and anti-Communist rallies surpassed those of the Communists. Some 30,000 Roman Catholic workers and pilgrims attended the celebration of the Feast of St. Joseph the worker, "proclaimed by Pope Pius XII two years ago to counter the traditional Communist May Day meetings. The Communist rally in Rome drew only some 20,000.

Another 20,000 Reds turned out for the rally in Milan, once known as the heart of "Red" Italy. In Naples, 10,000 Communists attended a rally while the rival Christian Democrat Union Workers drew some 30,000.

The Communist demonstration in Naples was marked by violence in which scores of Reds and police were injured and a number of arrests made. Police used tear gas and clubs to disperse the Reds.

In Moscow, Soviet Defense Minister Marshal Georgi Zhukov called on Russia's armed forces to be prepared for the "danger of a new war."

Speaking to the huge crowds massed in Red Square, Zhukov said American policy "brings nearer the danger of atomic war." The theme was echoed by Communist speakers on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

All foreign embassies in Moscow scanned the parade for new weapons but no foreigners were permitted to take photographs.

Sabine River Drives 300 From Homes

DALLAS, TEX., (UP)—The Sabine River surged a mile out of its banks in east Texas and western Louisiana yesterday, driving at least 300 persons from their homes and flooding perhaps 1,000 oil wells.

The yellow water of the Sabine crept into Longview, an east Texas city of about 50,000 persons. In northwestern Louisiana, the Red, Little, Sulphur and Cypress rivers all surged over their banks.

Additional highways were cut by the water, making a total of 37 broken in Texas. A siege of deluges and tornadoes that began in Texas April 19 flooded nearly every major stream in the state east of the Pecos River.

A total of 18 persons have been killed by the weather, most of them drowned, in Texas since the floods started. An automobile ran into a bridge in the rain late last night in east Texas and killed four more, but state police blamed that on speed rather than weather.

In most of Texas, where flood damage on two rivers alone was estimated at $15,500,000, the flood danger was subsiding. The crest in Texas rivers—except the Sabine—were near the coast.

But the Sabine was out of its banks almost to the Gulf of Mexico, where the crest is not expected for 10 days.
