C-B Invites Living Groups To Select Representatives

Non-voting representatives to Central Board from all campus living groups will be selected by next week, Central Board decided at its meeting last evening. President Roger Baty explained that seating the representatives as Central Board observers will provide better communication between C-B and the various living groups. Other members concurred with his opinion.

Methods for selecting the one representative from each group will be left to the discretion of living group presidents, Central Board members said.

Most groups are expected to choose their representatives Monday evening.

The observers chosen must be able to attend meetings each Wednesday at 4 p.m. for the remainder of the quarter. Living groups should keep in mind the experience chosen representatives will gain, since this may help qualify persons for C-B seats next year, the board said.

The representatives will begin Central Board attendance next Wednesday.

The newly elected board also discussed ASMSU committee appointments. Applications for students who wish to serve on committees will go out to living groups and will be available at the Lodge late this week. They must be returned by May 17.

After discussing desirability of several changes in the committee organization, Central Board decided to postpone action on this until after further consideration.

Schafer Receives Graduate Position

Robert Schafer, senior in liberal arts, has been awarded a graduate assistantship in the English department for next year.

Schafer, from Great Falls, will teach freshman English while teaching on his masters degree.

Four other assistants also have been appointed: Mary Jaspersen has been reappointed for next year; Emil Panich, a graduate of Eastern Montana College of Education; Emmet Hoynes, a 1954 graduate of the University; and Carol Sue Rometch, a 1957 graduate of Whitman College.

BILLINGS RECEIVES AWARD

Brooke Billings, Missoula, was presented the "Freshman Chemistry Achievement Award" yesterday during the class hour by Prof. Earl C. Lory, chairman of the chemistry dept.

The annual award is an inscribed copy of the "Handbook of Chemistry and Physics," donated by the Chemical Rubber Company.

Frosh Paint the 'M' ... Observance of 1907 Tradition To Highlight Today's Activities

Singing on the Steps (SOS), tapping of new Mortar Board members, and painting the "M" will highlight today's All-University Day program, according to Dick Barney, Traditions Board chairman.

SOS was started by Robert Sibley, professor of mechanical engineering from 1903-07. The event is an evening singing session for students and faculty on the grounds in front of Main Hall. The ceremony always ends with the singing of "College Chums," for which Sibley wrote the words.

The event takes place during commencement week and other special occasions decided on by Traditions Board. SOS has become a symbol of the University for thousands of alumni during the past half century.

Mortar Board is a senior women's service honorary. Members are selected on the basis of scholarship and service. There will be a reception for new members in the Lodge after SOS. Last night present members of Mortar Board serenaded the living groups from which new members will be selected.

Barbecue, Street Dance Planned At Interscholastic

A well-rounded program of entertainment has been planned for participants in Interscholastic May 17 and 18, according to Tom Monahan, assistant to the Dean of Students. The theme of the meet will be "MSU and Your Career."

Although competitive events do not start until Friday, the program will begin Thursday afternoon with a series of guided campus tours. Thursday's events will end with the traditional Singing on the Steps, Monahan said.

Guided tours will also be conducted Friday morning. Competitive events start at 1 p.m. until late in the afternoon. The Newman Songfest will begin at 6:30 p.m. and the M Club fights are from 7 until 9 p.m. A dance at the Lodge is scheduled from 9 p.m. until midnight Friday.

Saturday's events include a barbecue in the afternoon, followed by a variety show, a street dance in front of the Lodge and dance in the Lodge. Monahan asked University students not to park their cars in front of the Lodge during the street dance.

Arson Possibility In Billings Fires

BILLINGS (P)—Billings' fourth large fire this year, started by a series of mysterious explosions, destroyed the Rims Drive-in Restaurant Tuesday morning.

Owner William Ball estimated his loss at upwards of $120,000. He was not certain of the portion covered by insurance.

A police guard was placed at the smoldering ruins pending arrival today of Thor Faladweg, Spokane, Wash., an arson investigator for the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Police Chief C. E. Maness and Fire Chief Sidney F. Morse said authorities were "checking the possibility" there might be a connection between this fire and a blaze that destroyed a business building just west of the city. That blaze also began with an unexplained explosion.

Freshmen have traditionally painted the "M" twice a year—spring and autumn. The "M" was last painted during Orientation Week.

Anne Thomas Is Selected Kaimin Feature Editor

Anne Thomas, sophomore from Butte, was appointed fifth associate editor of the Montana Kaimin by Central Board last evening. She will fill the position of feature editor.

ANNE THOMAS

Her appointment is effective through winter quarter.

Miss Thomas, majoring in journalism, is affiliated with Delta Gamma sorority and Theta Sigma Phi, national professional women's journalism honorary.

Her practical experience in journalism includes work on the Kaimin this year and on her high school newspaper as news editor.

Penny Postal Hike Passes Committee

WASHINGTON (P)—The administration's request for a penny increase in the cost of mailing first-class and airmail letters cleared its first Congressional hurdle Tuesday.

The proposal was approved by the House Post Office Committee, by a reported 2-to-1 margin, along with a companion plan to increase postcard rates from two to three cents.

Under the committee bill, first-class letters would go up from three to four cents and airmail letters from six to seven cents.

The plan would cost the public an extra $314,700,000 a year on first-class mail, $17,100,000 on airmail letters and $32,600,000 on postcards.

It would also increase airmail cards from four to five cents, producing another $200,000, and boost drop letter rates from two to three cents, a total of $1,200,000.

PROF. MARVIN TO LECTURE ON BERGSON'S PHILOSOPHY

The philosophy of Henri Bergson will be discussed by Prof. Edwin L. Marvin, Thursday at 4 p.m. in LA 104. The public is invited to attend this sixth lecture in the course, "Great Philosophers."

Richman Announces Directors Of Music Festival Ensembles

Directors of the All-State Band, Orchestra, and Chorus for the State Music Festival here Thursday through Saturday were announced Saturday by Dean Luther A. Richman, of the School of Music. The meet is sponsored by the Montana High School Assn. and is administered by the School of Music.

New Band To Play At Festival Dance

The annual Music Festival dance will be Thursday night in the Yellowstone Room of the Lodge. The dance will mark the beginning of High School Music Festival activities.

Music for the dance will be by the Blue Hawks, a new 14-piece band under the direction of Don Lawrence. Featured with the new band will be the Arnie Carruthers Trio.

The Blue Hawks were first heard as a pep band for the last two basketball games of the past season. They played for the Foresters Ball and the Military Ball.

AFROTC To Hold Annual Inspection, Review of Cadets

Col. Donald C. Jamison, AFROTC detachment commander said yesterday that the annual inspection of the AFROTC detachment at MSU will be conducted Thursday and Friday. The inspection will be conducted by an inspection team from AFROTC Headquarters, Maxwell, AFB, Ala.

Visits to classrooms, interviews with cadets, and examination of training, administration, and supply activities will be included in the inspection, Col. Jamison added.

A joint parade and review of the cadets of both the Army and Air Force ROTC units, including the cadet band, will climax the inspection. The parade will be held at 5:10 p.m. Thursday on the University Oval. The parade and review will include a retreat ceremony and inspection of the assembled cadets by the reviewing officers.

Reduced Aid Plan Near Completion

WASHINGTON (P)—President Eisenhower's new scaled-down $3,900,000,000 foreign aid program should be ready to go to Congress in about 10 days, administration officials said Tuesday.

When Eisenhower presented his budget earlier this year, he estimated his foreign aid request at $4,400,000,000. He said last month however that $500,000,000 in new spending authority could be cut from his earlier estimate.

It was understood the President's forthcoming special foreign aid message will reflect such a reduction in new spending authority but also will request authority to use about $50,000,000 in unspent funds from previous appropriations.

This would make it possible to avoid any large cutback in the program in the next fiscal year.

VOLUNTEERS ARE NEEDED TO GATHER B-B-Q WOOD

A call for volunteers to gather wood for a Pub-Travel barbecue was issued last night by Jim Smith, Bear Paw vice president.

Smith said Pub-Travel plans to barbecue beef for 2,000 people May 18, the Saturday of Interscholastic.

Volunteers are to meet in front of Forestry building Sunday at 2 p.m. Names of prospective Bear Paws will be taken, Smith said.

Ralph E. Rush, head the Music Education Depts. of the School of Music and the School of Education at the University of Southern California, Los Angeles, will conduct the All-State Band. Rush is a past president of the Music Educators' National Conference and is now national chairman of the conference's commission of Standards of Music Literature and Performance.

Eugene Andrie will be the All-State Orchestra director. Andrie teaches violin and theory and is a conductor in the music school. He is the director of the University Symphony Orchestra, the Symphonette and various string ensembles. He is also the conductor of the Missoula and the Helena civic symphonies.

Lloyd C. Oakland will conduct the All-State Chorus. He has been in charge of choral activities at MSU since joining the faculty in 1951. He directed the University Choir in five national broadcasts and for three long-play Columbia records, as well as directing the A Cappella Choir, various choral ensembles and the Jubileers.

Baker Will Speak At Bus Ad Dinner

Dr. George Pierce Baker will speak at the School of Business Administration awards banquet Saturday, May 18, in the Bitterroot Room of the Hotel Florence, according to Dean Theodore H. Smith.

Dr. Baker is professor of transportation at the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration and president of the Transportation Association of America. Topic of his speech will be "The Necessity for a Co-ordinated Transportation Industry."

Awards will be presented to outstanding students by the Montana Society of Certified Public Accountants, the Montana Bankers Association, the Mobile Producing Company, Phi Chi Theta, professional honorary for women business administration and economics majors, and Alpha Kappa Psi, professional honorary for male business administration and economics majors.

New members of Beta Gamma Sigma will be introduced. Membership in this scholastic honorary is restricted to the top three per cent of the junior class and the top 10 per cent of the senior class of the business school.

Applicants for Sentinel photography editor will be interviewed tonight at 7 p.m. in Committee Room 3 of the Lodge, according to Kay Blaszek, Publications Board chairman.

The photo editor receives $35 a month for eight months.

Written applications should be given to Miss Blaszek or Sentinel Editor Natalie Norby by 5 p.m. today.

SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENTS TO INTERVIEW CANDIDATES

Paul Picton, Lewistown Superintendent of Schools, will interview candidates for vacancies in English-journalism; English speech; and home economics, May 9.

On May 10, A. M. Vie, Chester Superintendent of Schools, will interview candidates in home economics, music, science and mathematics. Interested candidates should contact Mrs. Betty Gordon, placement officer, for an interview appointment immediately.

MSU Rifle Team Captain Is Selected To Second Place All-American Team

John R. Foster, captain of the MSU varsity and Army ROTC rifle teams, has been named a member of the Second Place 1957 All-American Rifle Team.

Foster recently returned from the Sixth Army Rifle and Pistol Matches held at Camp Roberts, Calif. He placed second in aggregate scores among 390 members competing in the matches.

Top riflemen in the Sixth Army Area from Reserve Units, the National Guard and active duty personnel of the Army, Navy and the Marines competed in the match.

Foster is considered one of the top firers in the nation with both .22 and .30 calibre rifles. He has many other accomplishments in the field of rifle marksman competition. Some of these are:

High individual firer in the Sixth Army Area Hearst Match in 1955; possibly first or second in the same event this year; National Rifle Association Champion in the Pacific Northwest Region in 1955; Pershing Rifle National Champion in 1955; and high man in the Western Montana Small-bore League this year.

CHEADLE-MCKINLEY AWARD DEADLINE TOMORROW AT 5

Deadline for the Cheadle-McKinley memorial scholarship of $50 is May 9, at 5 p.m., according to Liz Astle, AWS president. The award will be made to a sophomore coed on the basis of need and activities, she said.

Applications must be in the office of the Dean of Women by 5 p.m. on May 9, and notification about interviews will be made at a later date. The scholarship is named after Jane Cheadle and Marlene McKinley, outstanding MSU students who died within the last ten years.

TWELFTH NIGHT—Heather McLeod and Bruce Cusker, above play the leading roles in the Masquers' spring production Twelfth Night, which appears tonight in Livingston. From there the play will go to Great Falls and Havre. It will be presented here May 14 through 16 at the University Theater.

He was also winner of the Montana Smallbore State Match, and winner of the Great Falls 100-shot offhand match.

Tribute To His Coach

Foster has won enough medals and trophies to fill a good sized room. His experience will be of utmost value when he enters the Army next year as a commissioned officer.

M/Sgt. Milton Hansen, former instructor with the Army ROTC Detachment at MSU, was largely responsible for Foster's success. Foster's high position among the nation's riflemen is a lasting tribute to his coach, who was also an outstanding rifleman and sportsman.

Riflery is an art requiring many hours of practice in order to become proficient. It is an old American tradition. Brig. Gen. Carl F. Fritzsche once said, "Since the birth of this nation, the rifle, more than any other weapon, has symbolized the conquest of the American wilderness and the fight for freedom."

President to Make Appeal To Public on Budget

WASHINGTON (U)—President Eisenhower will launch a personal campaign soon to rally the support of the American people behind his embattled budget and other legislative proposals, it was learned Tuesday.

Informed sources said the President will use several devices for presenting his views to the public. They said these will include his weekly news conferences and a nation-wide radio and television speech in the near future.

Eisenhower will hold his next news conference tomorrow. No time or place has been set for the radio-TV speech.

Steam Valve . . .

Dear Editor:

Sunday night, a university student was critically injured when the auto he was driving was hit by a freight train at the Van Buren St. crossing. This makes it the third serious accident that has occurred at this crossing within the last two and a half years. How much longer are these needless accidents going to happen?

This crossing, if it doesn't already, should rank as one of the worst in the state. The approach from the Field House side, has trees and bushes so located on both sides of the roadway that the motorist has only 10 feet in which to look for trains before reaching the tracks. From the other side, the angled approach (caused by the bridge) makes it difficult for the driver to observe the right of way until he is almost on top of the tracks.

The most hazardous fact about the crossing is the signals in operation at the crossing. They flash continuously 24 hours a day while true warning signals flash only when a train is approaching. The story of the little boy who cried wolf is well known. In a sense this is the effect these signals are producing. They're no longer respected as everyone knows they flash continually, train or no train.

Something should be done about this crossing in the near future. Since the railroad owns the right of way where the tracks are located, the University controls the land up to the right of way, and the city maintains Van Buren St., the three should get together and decide on a method to lessen the danger of the crossing. A few good suggestions would be to put up a warning gate system, have the present signals flash only at times when a train is approaching, and remove the obstructions such as the trees and bushes so as to provide for a better view.

A few people will object to the above suggestion because in a few years the Madison St. bridge will be finished, thus eliminating the Van Buren St. crossing. However one life is hardly worth losing merely because future plans might make the installation of an adequate warning system not necessary.

Sincerely,
John K. Pinter

Russia Expels American For 'Incompatible' Acts

WASHINGTON (U)—The Soviet Union today expelled an American diplomat in Moscow for "activities incompatible" with his diplomatic status, the State Department announced.

The United States promptly branded the action as "unjustified" and protested to the Soviet Foreign Ministry.

The American ordered out of Russia was Martin S. Bowe Jr., a 40-year old second secretary at the Embassy. He was serving as general services officer at the Embassy, a job entailing housekeeping duties.

State Department spokesman Lincoln White said, "We know of absolutely nothing which would justify any charge (against Bowe)."

The Soviet action appeared to be in retaliation for this country's expulsion of Gennadi F. Mashkantsev, a Soviet Embassy employee in Washington. He was ousted April 17 for trying to induce Soviet refugees in the United States to return to Russia.

ISRAEL LIKELY TO ACCEPT IKE'S MIDEAST DOCTRINE

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (U)—Israel probably will accept the Eisenhower Doctrine at an "early date" despite heavy opposition from the leftist Mapam (United Labor) party in the coalition government, informed sources said Tuesday.

The sources said Israel's approval of the doctrine became almost certain after a two-hour cabinet meeting in which Premier David Ben-Gurion reported on his conversation last Friday with President Eisenhower's special Mideast envoy James P. Richards.

OUR LAWLESS LANGUAGE*

The laws that govern plural words
I think are strictly for the birds.
If goose in plural comes out geese
Why are not two of moose then meese?
If two of mouse comes out as mice
Should not the plural house be hicc?
If we say he, and his, and him
Then why not she, and shis, and shim?
No wonder kids flunk out of schools
... English doesn't follow rules!

CAA To Suspend Coach's License

Coach Jerry Williams' private pilot license Monday was ordered suspended for 100 days effective May 24.

The order was made by Harley Moorhead of Washington, D.C., CAA safety hearing examiner, following a hearing in Missoula Monday.

The hearing resulted from a crash landing made by Williams last May 24 at the edge of U. S. Highway 10 about a quarter-mile east of the summit of Lookout Pass. He and Lauri Niemi, assistant football coach, were enroute to Spokane to recruit football players for the Grizzly squad.

Williams was charged with flying a two-place plane in instrument weather without an instrument rating and with careless operation of aircraft in attempting to fly through the pass with a ceiling of only 100 to 150 feet.

Williams said that he became involved in bad weather unintentionally. He said that the weather had closed in unexpectedly and created an emergency situation which left him nothing else to do.

Herb Score, Tribe Strikeout Artist, Has Eye Injury

CLEVELAND, (U)—Herb Score of the Cleveland Indians, baseball's greatest srikeout artist, suffered a damaging eye injury tonight when he was struck by a batted ball while pitching against the New York Yankees.

The brilliant young southpaw was taken to Lakeside Hospital and, although the first reports were inconclusive, it was feared his sight may be damaged.

Score was struck on the right eye by a line drive off the bat of the Yankees' Gil McDougald in the first inning. He lay on the mound for about five minutes, and, although he bled from the mouth, he did not lose consciousness.

Dr. Don Kelley, the Indians' team physician, admitted that there is some fear that Score's sight may be impaired. He immediately called in a Cleveland eye specialist, Dr. C. I. Thomas.

"The boy had some light perception," Dr. Kelly said after the clubhouse examination, "that's encouraging. I don't suppose he could see through the hemorrhaging but that isn't too significant. It's one of those rare things and we just have to wait and see."

Dressen Replaced As Nats Manager

DETROIT (U)—Cookie Lavagetto, one-time star third baseman in the National League, today replaced Chuck Dressen as manager of the Washington Senators.

Dressen, who tutored Lavagetto as a player and a coach for most of the past two decades, was offered the job of coordinator of player personnel for the Senators but declined to make an immediate decision.

The change in managers followed Washington's disastrous start this season. The Senators won only four of their first 20 games and brought an eight-game losing streak to Detroit with them.

Washington President Calvin Griffith said "This is no attempt to kick Chuck upstairs and use up his contract. The front office was discussing a long-term contract with Dressen but pointed out final approval would be up to the club's board of directors."

"This came as such a surprise to me that I'm still thinking it over," Dressen said. Lavagetto, a former infielder for the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Brooklyn Dodgers, said the change also was "very much a surprise to me."

He said he hated to see Dressen leave the role of a manager, but pointed out "it was just a matter of time before he would be in someone's front office because he knows so much about baseball."

Lavagetto informed the Washington players about his elevation to manager at a clubhouse meeting.

Wilt Chamberlain Leaves Kansas To Join Globetrotters This Autumn

By JACK VOGEL

Ever since the day Wilt Chamberlain enrolled at Kansas there was speculation that he would be lured into the professional ranks before using up his eligibility at Kansas.

Yesterday Chamberlain left no doubt in the minds of the spectators. He left Kansas. Chamberlain made it apparent that he will play basketball with the Harlem Globetrotters this fall.

The fantastic, seven-foot Chamberlain, who averaged 29.6 points last season, and rewrote practically every Kansas scoring record, thinks it is time to make a little money for himself.

Phog Allen, former Kansas coach, who was responsible for luring Wilt to Kansas, said that Chamberlain made over $100,000 for Kansas last year.

Wilt gave a hint of his retirement when he made a statement to Kansas alumni representatives that "basketball is a job", and that "I might as well get paid for it."

The Warriors drafted Chamberlain following his graduation from Philadelphia Overbrook High School two years ago. Under NBA rules he can not join the pro-team until his college class is graduated, two years hence. The Globetrotters have no such code.

Dick Harp, present Kansas coach, has denied rumors that another of his stars, sophomore Donnie Loneski of Calumet City, Ill., also would leave Kansas for another basketball location.

Loneski told the Lawrence Kansas Journal World he had no plans to leave Kansas. Harp said rumors that a member of his freshman squad was pulling stakes were all news to him.

A keen competitor and a good team man, Wilt took the three losses suffered by Kansas last season, (the last one a three-over-time game to North Carolina in NCAA finals) painfully. He blamed the defeats on himself and admitted the pressure was on him to win.

It is reported that Chamberlain will make $20,000 a year with the Globetrotters.

Nieman Fellowships Curator Stresses Need For Understanding Newspapers

Louis M. Lyons, curator of the Nieman Fellowships at Harvard University and 1957 professional lecturer at the School of Journalism, left yesterday for Washington state where he will interview candidates for Nieman Fellowships.

Lyons, who delivered the Dean Stone night address at a journalism school banquet Saturday evening, spoke to classes Monday and Tuesday at the school.

Shortly before leaving Missoula yesterday, he was notified that he has been selected to deliver the Phi Beta Kappa address at Harvard University this year.

"Newspapers need more self-criticism," Lyons told journalism students during his three days here. "Readers need to understand the newspaper better. It is a very strategic institution for them."

LOUIS M. LYONS

It should not be mysterious.

"Now that inexorable economics has eliminated competition from the newspaper field in practically all cities under metropolitan size, the old excuse for sensationalism is gone. You can put your news in perspective. You can meet your own standards of what is important."

"Of all the qualities essential to the fullest service in a newspaper," Lyons said, "I would put first independence. And I mean also local control. No chain paper is as good as the best autonomous papers. And the best chain papers are the most autonomous."

"Reporters need to be as free as sports writers, to call the shots. There is no mystery why sports writing is interesting—there are no sacred cows, no censorship, no danger of libel, not much vested interest, not much advertising."

"Just as, in college, we need teachers as dynamic as the coach, so in journalism we need reporting as lively as the sports page."

Scholarship Camp To Be Held Here

Twenty-seven high school seniors from all parts of the state will take part in a scholarship camp here May 17 and 18 as part of the Interscholastic Weekend, according to Dean of Students Andrew C. Cogswell.

The students are part of an initial group of 245 seniors who recently finished taking qualifying tests at their home schools. As a result of the tests the group is to take here, about half will be awarded endowment foundation scholarships and others will be given university freshman scholarships.

In the group are Judith Burke and Donald Dubay, Deer Lodge; Judith King, Helena; Don Loftsgaarden, Power; Karen Perkin, Anaconda; Rosana Hurwitz, White Sulphur Springs; Boone Sparrow, Wiseriver; Hazel Wilson, Harlem; Ivan Doig, Valier; Mary Jo Schumacher, Havre; Raymond Sideruis, Kalispell.

Mary Mullen and Don Watne, Billings; Joan Zimmer, Windham; Mary Hozeland, Lewistown; Robert Benner, Forsyth; Kenneth Jarvi, Sand Coulee.

Eddie Droge, Belgrade; Richard Guthrie, Corvallis; Richard Peterson and Fred Terwillizer, Livingston; Thomas Buton, Mary Borden and Diane Smith, Butte Public High School, and Franklin Blackmer Jr. and Carol Struckman, Missoula County High School.

Lyons Contributes Award To Journalism Freshman

Louis M. Lyons has contributed $50 of his honorarium as 1957 professional lecturer of journalism to William Martell, freshman from Forsyth, according to Dr. Nathan Blumberg, Dean of the School of Journalism.

Martell, an honor student, was ineligible for awards on Dean Stone Night as he is out of school this quarter. The award was given on the basis of scholarship and need, Blumberg said yesterday.

MSU Songs Need New Copyrights

Six songs of MSU which were published in 1929 are now approaching the renewal period of copyright protection, according to Andrew Cogswell, Dean of Students.

The songs are "Cheering," by Vivian M. Lewis, "Fight Montana," by John Marshall and W. G. Kane, "Fighting for Montana," by Gretchen Shriver and De Loss Smith, "Montana My Montana," by Gertrude A. Knapp and George H. Greenwood, and "Up With Montana," by Dick Howell and Lowndes Maury Jr.

The copyright term in the United States is effective for period of 28 years. An additional 28 years may be secured upon filing of a renewal application.
