Enrollment Up 12% At State College

Fall quarter enrollment at Montana State College reached an all-time high of 3,427 students at the close of the regular registration period, according to Martha L. Hawksworth, registrar.

This is 368 more students or a gain of 12 percent over the previous all-time high last year of 3,059.

Going back five years, this year's enrollment is 216 percent above that of 1952 when 1,805 students registered for fall quarter.

A break down of this year's enrollment shows that 2,477 are men, a gain of 279 over last year, and 950 are women, a gain of 89.

At least 100 more students are expected as late registrants arrive, Miss Hawksworth said.

Fall Quarter Rushing Begins Today on Day-to-Day Basis

Fraternity and sorority rushing will start this evening at 5 o'clock and proceed on a day-to-day basis with continuity contingent upon the toll taken by the influenza epidemic now in progress on campus, responsible student officials said yesterday. Should the flu take too heavy a toll among fraternity and sorority actives or rushees, the program will be postponed.

All prospective fraternity rushees will meet at 7 p.m. tonight in the Yellowstone Room at the Lodge to begin a five day session heralding fall rush, Hal Edwards, Interfraternity president, said today. The registration deadline for those eligible to go through rush is 5 p.m. today.

"We may have to postpone rush if too many rushees or fraternity men come down with the flu," Edwards said, "but at present we are planning on going ahead."

Plans call for the rushees to visit the nine fraternities on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday evenings where they will sample fraternity life by looking over each house and talking to its members.

Saturday night the rushees will list their preferences from 1 through 9. Sunday afternoon rushees may pick up their preferences at the Lodge and then Sunday evening they will go to the first preference on their cards for preference dinner at 6:30 p.m. and to their second choice at 8:30 for two hours of entertainment.

Rushees may pick up their bids any time after 9 p.m., Monday at the Interfraternity office in the Lodge with formal pledging to follow at the fraternities at 8 p.m., Monday.

All first quarter freshmen planning to go through rush must have graduated in the upper 2/3 of their graduating class or otherwise complete one quarter as a college freshman with grade index of at least 2.0. Those who do not sign up for rush must wait 30 days before pledging.

Sorority Program

Despite the siege of flu which has hit the sororities this past week they are still planning to go ahead with their program this weekend.

All eligible sorority rushees will begin by going through open house at 5:00 this evening. They will spend half hour sessions in each of the six sororities.

Friday morning the rushees will go to the Lodge and pick up their bids and select four preferences for later that evening. The rushees will return to the houses of their choice for firesides from 5:15 p.m. to 10:00 p.m.

Saturday they narrow their choice to three sororities to which they return that night for costume parties from 7 o'clock to 10:30.

Sunday the women go to the house which is their second choice at 2:30 for one hour and to their first preference at 3:45 for one hour of entertainment and refreshments.

Sunday afternoon the rushees go to the Panhellenic office in the Lodge between 5:00 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. and state their preference to a lawyer. Between 2:00 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. Monday the girls pick up their bids at the Panhellenic office followed by a formal pledge dinner at the sorority at 6:30 p.m. that night.

"The same scholastic rules govern female and male rushees. We are going to operate on a day to day basis and will postpone rush if we should find that too many rushees or too many girls from any one house are sick," stated Maureen Froiland, Panhellenic president.

Health Center Director Reports Flu Epidemic Is Under Control

Some 250 University students have had bouts with influenza since the beginning of orientation week, Dr. Robert W. Hansen, new director of the University Health Center, reported Wednesday. Tests made so far have shown no Asian flu virus but several of the more common flu viruses have been identified, he said.

"The situation is well under control," he said, "because the rate of development of new cases does not exceed our facilities for care. We are now seeing about 25 cases a day at the Health Center and other Missoula doctors who are participating in the new University health and medical care plan are assisting in the treatment of ill students in private homes or fraternity and sorority houses."

Andrew C. Cogswell, dean of students, said that the University had anticipated an outbreak of influenza and, before the fall term began, set aside one floor of North-Corbin Hall and one floor of Duniway Hall to be used as infirmaries in the event of an emergency. The Duniway Hall floor was used for the first time last Tuesday night for six men students who were later moved to the Health Center when some of the recovered men students returned to classes.

The North-Corbin floor has been in use twice since the opening of the term, and at present 18 girls are being treated there. Last week, 13 freshman girls were hospitalized there, but all have fully recovered. The Health Center accommodates about 22 men and 22 women. When these facilities are filled, the North-Corbin and Duniway floors are used.

So far the majority of flu victims have been women students. Twenty-two cases developed in the Alpha Phi house and as many as 18 have been reported from another sorority.

Let Rush Speak for Itself

Freshmen have a last chance this afternoon to decide if they will enter fraternity and sorority rush. The decision may seem a somewhat staggering one to many new students who mistakenly think that if they enter rush, they are to a degree obligating themselves to pledge.

Such a misunderstanding is itself understandable. During the first week at MSU, it isn't hard to pick up wrong impressions and wrong information. Rush period is the time for freshmen to set themselves straight on the fraternity system.

Everyone knows the story of the small town girl who went to a big town school, only to find herself an outcast because the "right" house didn't take her in. Probably there are many apprehensions, on the part of both men and women at MSU, that the same thing will happen to them. Consequently, these freshmen may decide not to enter rush. By deciding so, they are lessening the opportunity everyone has of finding the really right house.

The reason is not hard to understand. Under Interfraternity and Panhellenic rulings, each house may pledge only a set percentage of those first quarter freshmen who are rushees. For the fraternities, the percentage is one-ninth. For the sororities, it is one-sixth. The more who rush, the more each house is allowed to pledge. Ultimately, by entering rush each student gives himself a greater probability of pledging the house he prefers most.

A group second to those with false apprehensions about rush includes those who misunderstand the Greek societies in general.

There are several things that a fraternity or a sorority is not. It is not a group of narrow-minds organized to foster class consciousness. It is not a collection of the idle rich having nothing to do but lower standards. It is not an organized movement to deter tolerance, understanding, or harmony.

Members of fraternities and sororities may themselves be guilty of these things, as may all fallible beings. But if they are willingly class conscious, intolerant and out of harmony with other students, they are not really fraternity men, not really sorority women.

A fraternity, as its name implies, is a brotherhood, and a sorority a sisterhood. Pledgeship is an indication by the individual that he wishes to live like a brother with a group of other students. By living, working, studying, thinking and sharing experiences closely with others during four college years, a person can know and understand his fellowman as he might never be able to do otherwise.

The freshman who does not enter rush cannot honestly say he has considered the fraternity system first-hand. He may have heard first-hand rumors, but he has not formed a conclusion from first-hand evidence.

Music Series Tickets Go On Sale Today

University Music Series tickets will be on sale today and Friday in the Lodge, according to Dean Luther A. Richman, School of Music. Season tickets will cost $2.50 for students and $5.50 for faculty.

The 1957-58 season will feature the Hungarian Quartet, to play here Wednesday, Jan. 8. Others appearing in the series are Manja Mourier, who sings the folk music of Denmark and reads excerpts from the works of Danish authors (Tues. Nov. 5), John Hamilton, American harpsichord artist, (Tues. Oct. 22), Arthur Loesser and Joseph Knitzer in a piano-violin duo, (Wed. Nov. 13), and Virgil Fox, organist, (Tues. Apr. 22).

An added feature in the series will be a concert by the Montana String Quartet on Tuesday, Dec. 3. All concerts begin at 8:15 p.m.

"This series was initiated primarily to give our students the opportunity to hear the finest," Eugene Andrie, assoc. prof. of music said. "A single ticket to a concert by the Hungarian Quartet in New York or Chicago would cost as much as the whole series does here. The low cost of the series is the result of special arrangements with concert management through the School of Music Foundation."

Tickets may also be obtained in the Music School office.

Silvertips Seek Initial Victory In Friday's Tussle With BYU

A Grizzly football squad of 33 men will leave at 2 p.m. today for Provo, Utah in search of their first win of the season. The 'Tips meet the pass-minded BYU Cougars Friday night. Montana is rated the underdog against the Cougars who will be playing their first conference game of the season. BYU opened the season with a 14-14 tie at Arizona and lost to Kansas State last Saturday 36-7.

Montana dropped its first two games to the two top teams in the Skyline, Utah and Wyoming. Montana Coach Jerry Williams said the Grizzlies will have a better chance to win this one than they did the other two.

Coach Williams said that the Grizzlies were constantly improving but added, "I am now convinced that the time we lost because of the flu will never be made up."

It is expected that the 'Tips will face a lot of passing in this game. BYU's Carroll Johnston is the ninth ranking passer in the nation with 17 completions in 33 attempts for 131 yards.

Grizzly pass defense was a glaring weakness in the Utah game, but improved against Wyoming as the Cowboys connected on only nine of 22 passes. However pass defense has been emphasized in practice sessions this week.

The coaching staff has also stressed Montana's passing offense this week. The passing attack is hampered as Earl Keeley, who was expected to be the Grizzlies top passer, is still crippled by bursitis in his throwing arm.

The 'Tips will also be without the services of Russ Grant, Bill Hardin and Joe Pepe Friday night. Grant, the second leading ground gainer on the Grizzly squad, suffered a shoulder separation in the Wyoming game and will not be ready for contact work before next week.

Hardin is sidelined with a pinched nerve in his shoulder and Pepe has an injured ankle and will be unable to make the trip.

Against the Cougars Montana's probable starting lineup will be: ends, Myers or Hurley and Rhinehart; tackles, Benjamin and Dixon; guards, Renning and Bilan; center, O'Brien or Moore, and backs, Bray, Rosera, Williamson and Gorsich.

Two Skyliners Top National Statistics; Grizzly Gorsich Is Among Top Twenty

Two Skyline stars, Bob Winters of Utah State and Don Perkins of New Mexico, topped major college players in offense in the first statistics of the football season released yesterday by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau.

Matt Gorsich, Grizzly junior halfback, was 19th in the nation in rushing with 143 yards in two games.

Winters, a senior quarterback, leads in total offense with a net of 352 yards and in passing with 373 yards and 28 completions after two games. Winters has accounted for 77 per cent of Utah State's ground gaining and his 49 pass attempts and 66 total offense plays make him the workhorse of the nation.

Perkins, a sophomore halfback, has accumulated 245 yards in 30 carries for an average of 8.16 per carry.

Wyoming's Larry Zowada is fourth in total offense with 310 yards.

Carroll Johnson of BYU leads the nation in pass interceptions with three.

I-M Football League Play Will Begin Next Week

Registration slips may be secured at the Men's Gym and the Women's Center.

Fred Chapman, bowling director, said he would like to have two women's leagues and three men's leagues this year.

Missoula Civic Symphony Rehearsals Begin This Evening in Music Building

The Missoula Civic Symphony Orchestra will begin rehearsals for its 1957-58 season this evening at 7:30 in Room One of the Music building. Auditions will begin at 6:15 for new players in M204, according to Eugene Andrie, director.

There will be openings for several players and there is usually a shortage of string bass and cello players, Andrie said. A few players will be accepted in the woodwind, brass, and percussion sections, he said.

The Symphony association has initiated a new training program for orchestra personnel. Section leaders of the string, woodwind, brass and percussion choirs will train players in orchestral technique, according to Mrs. G. M. DeJarnette, president. This program may also encompass the training of adult musicians who have had little experience, as well as those who are out of practice, she said.

The orchestra is composed of some professional musicians as well as amateurs and students.

THE MIXTURE AS BEFORE

Today begins my fourth year of writing this column and, as before, I will continue to explore the issues that grip the keen young mind of campus America—burning questions like "Should housemothers be forced to retire at 28?" and "Should pajamas and robes be allowed at first-hour classes?" and "Should proctors be armed?" and "Should picnicking be permitted in the stacks?" and "Should teachers above the rank of associate professor be empowered to perform marriages?" and "Should capital punishment for pledges be abolished?"

Philip Morris Incorporated sponsors this column. Philip Morris Incorporated makes Philip Morris cigarettes. They also make Marlboro cigarettes. Marlboro is what I am going to talk to you about this year.

Before beginning the current series of columns, I made an exhaustive study of Marlboro advertising. This took almost four minutes. The Marlboro people don't waste words. They give it to you fast: "You get a lot to like in a Marlboro... Filter... Flavor... Flip-top Box."

Well, sir, at first this approach seemed to me a little terse, a bit naked. Perhaps, thought I, I should drape it with a veil of violet prose, adorn it with a mantle of fluffy adjectives, dangle some participles from the ears... But then I thought, what for? Doesn't that tell the whole Marlboro story?... Filter... Flavor... Flip-top Box.

Marlboro tastes great. The filter works. So does the box. What else do you need to know?

So, with the Marlboro story quickly told, let us turn immediately to the chief problem of undergraduate life—the money problem. This has always been a vexing dilemma, even in my own college days. I recall, for example, a classmate named Oliver Hazard Sigafos, a great strapping fellow standing 14 hands high, who fell in love with a beautiful Theta named Nikki Spillane, with hair like beaten gold and eyeballs like two table-spoons of forgetfulness.

Every night Oliver Hazard would take Nikki out to dine and dance, and then to dine again, for dancing made Nikki ravenous. Then they would go riding in the swan boats, and then Nikki, her appetite sharpened by the sea air, would have 8 or 10 cutlets, and then Oliver Hazard would take her home, stopping on the way to buy her a pail of oysters or two.

To raise money for these enchanted evenings, Oliver Hazard took on a number of part-time jobs. Between classes he cut hair. After school he gutted perches. From dusk to midnight he vulcanized medicine balls. From midnight to dawn he trapped night crawlers.

This crowded schedule took, alas, a heavy toll from Oliver Hazard. In the space of a month he dwindled from 260 to 104 pounds—but that, curiously enough, proved his salvation.

Today Oliver Hazard is a jockey, earning a handsome living which, combined with what he makes as a lymph donor after hours, is quite sufficient to curb Nikki's girlish appetite. Today they are married and live in Upper Marlboro, Maryland, with their two daughters, Filter and Flavor, and their son, Flip-top Box.

The makers of Marlboro take pleasure in bringing you this free-wheeling, uncensored column every week during the school year... And speaking of pleasure, have you tried a Marlboro?
