This course is a comprehensive review of contemporary human relations from a global perspective. Its central concern is an exploration of the ways people from different backgrounds and traditions approach common problems. While the nation-state is the focus of any discussion of international relations, this institution is examined from both the historical-traditional point of view as well as the evolving, future-oriented point of view. This examination is based upon empirical assessment as well as normative-ethical perspectives. Of special concern are distributive issues like economic development and global welfare disparities. Also, human rights issues and problems associated with the global commons are examined.

Course Objectives:

Develop understanding of the role of political organizations in global relations

Promote the ability to analyze the components of commercial and economic relations at the transnational level

Encourage appreciation for the socio-cultural differences that describe world populations

Increase recognition of the importance of moral and ethical perspectives in international affairs

Encourage an appreciation for the historical changes that have occurred in the value systems embraced by people in different parts of the world

Generate informed discussions of the philosophical controversies and dilemmas in the contemporary world
Course Requirements:

The course is divided into four sections of approximately four weeks each. At the conclusion of each section, there will be a one-hour exam covering the material of that part only. There will be no comprehensive final at the end. The exams will consist of objective type questions and will be designed to draw equally from the textbooks and lecture material. In addition, there will be questions on geography and current world events. Each exam will count for 25% of the final grade. The exams will be electronically graded so purchase at the Bookstore answer form F-289.

MISSED EXAMS WILL BE MADE UP ONE WEEK AFTER THE EXAM DATE.

Legitimate reasons for missing an exam are limited to the following:
1. Sickness
2. Family emergency
3. Personal exigency

To be eligible to make up an exam, written documentation is required.

GRADES: The course grade will be based on the total of the four exams (400 possible points). No other points are included including extra credit. Grade distribution will be as follows: top 10% = A; next 20% = B; next 40% = C; next 20% = D; next 10% = F. For purposes of the pass/no pass grade option, a C or better is required for a P (pass) grade.

In order to make the experience of this course as pleasant and rewarding as possible for all concerned, you are asked to observe the following rules. Do not come to class late or depart early. Do not use class time to read the Kaimin, write letters, chat with your neighbors or engage in other activities not related to the course.

4. John Locke, Second Treatise on Government

Part II - WAR AND PEACE

1. Hugo Grotius, The Law of War and Peace
2. Benito Mussolini, The Political and Social Doctrine of Facism
3. Sun Tzu, The Art of War

Part III - LIFE, LIBERTY, AND THE PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS IN THE MODERN WORLD

1. James Howe and John Sewell, Let's Sink the Lifeboat Ethics
3. Fouad Ajami, Justice is Not a Procedural Matter
4. Garrett Hardin, The Tragedy of the Commons
Part I - BRIEFLY IDENTIFY AND STATE THE SIGNIFICANCE OF TEN (10) OF THE FOLLOWING (Each question is worth 5 points. Answers should be no more than 25-30 words in length.)

1. Idealism
2. Hero in history model
3. Geopolitics
4. Truman Doctrine
5. Detente
6. Rational Choice Theory
7. Political Power
8. Containment Doctrine
9. Mikhail Gorbachev
10. Sovereignty
11. Cuban Missile Crisis
12. Nationalism
13. Hegemony

Part II - ANSWER TWO (2) OF THE FOLLOWING

1. What is the "Political Realism" approach to international relations? In what ways does this approach limit understanding of the subject?

2. Prior to World War I, it was assumed that international relations would operate in the basis of a "balance of power system". Why did this system ultimately fail?

3. In the making and execution of foreign policy, large-scale organizations (bureaucracy) are required. Identify and describe the ways in which bureaucracy affects the foreign policy process.
1. Approaches to politics and international relations vary depending upon distinctive concepts of human nature. In the first section of the Ethics Reader, various points of view on the subject of human nature are represented by the different readings.

Write an essay of approximately two to three pages which deals with the following:

A. In what ways do the views of Machiavelli, Kautiliya, Hobbes and Locke differ on the subject of human nature?

B. How are these views manifested in contemporary international relations? That is, how does the behavior of states reflect the views of these authors on human nature?

2. Different moral and ethical beliefs shape and guide the behavior of the nations of the world consequently affecting the character of international relations. In both Benito Mussolini's "The Political and Social Doctrine of Fascism" and Fazlur Rahman's "The Islamic Concept of State" an ethical belief shapes the philosophical framework of a political system.

Write an essay of approximately two to three pages which deals with the following:

A. Show how the ethical and moral beliefs of the authors differ.

B. Show how these beliefs are similar.

C. Show how these beliefs can result in different international behavior.

3. International relations involve making ethical choices and dispensing ethical judgments. Keeping this in mind, compare how Herbert Spencer "The Man Versus the State", Jonathan Swift "A Modest Proposal", and James W. Howe, "Let's Sink the Lifeboat Ethics", would respond to a proposal to give aid and humanitarian relief to an over-populated and underdeveloped country.
