Wren's Russian History Text Tells of Rulers' Personalities

By TEDDY ROE

"The Course of Russian History," text expected to be released this month by the Macmillan Co., is the product of seven years of research by Dr. Melvin Wren of the history department.

"This book is designed for a one year or two quarter course in Russian history," Dr. Wren said. "I plan to use the text in my classes starting spring quarter." Numerous maps and illustrations are contained in the 725 page book.

The book covers a history of Russia from ancient times to the present; including mention of the Russian Sputnik. About one third of it is on Russian history since 1917.

"Most texts on Russian history are uninterestingly written, they are dull and in general bore everyone who reads them," Dr. Wren said. "I feel this text is better balanced, it pays more attention to 'historical antecedents' of Bolshevik Russia than is found in the average text. It brings out more clearly the personalities of Russian rulers."

Dr. Wren reviewed sketches of his book Wednesday evening at his home to members of Phi Alpha Theta, a national history honorary. There were about 22 members present. He told the group that he had concentrated more on the economic and social aspects of Russian history while most texts concentrate on the political development.

Some of the research for the book Dr. Wren completed while at the University of California and at the London School of Slavonic Studies. He first came to MSU in 1940. Between 1940 and 1948 he traveled considerably but always under a leave of absence from the university. During this eight year period he did spend four years on campus and in 1948 he resumed his position in the history department and has remained at MSU.

The American Historical Review, The English Historical Review, The Accounting Review, and the journals of Economic and Modern history have carried a number of articles written by Dr. Wren on Russian history and on the history of London.

AWS Says Pooh On Weatherman; The Show Goes On

This weekend is Snow Week-end.

Despite the obvious lack of cooperation from the weather man, Associated Women Students' President Liz Astle announced yesterday that her organization will go ahead as planned—with, of course, slight alterations.

There will be no snow sculpture contest.

Ski Club has cancelled the ski carnival. But, AWS is sponsoring a dance at the Lodge tonight and there will be a floor show featuring the crowning of the Snow King and Queen.

Identification of the king and queen candidates will not be announced until the dance has started, according to Miss Astle.

Dancing will begin at 9 p.m. Admission will be 50¢ for single, 75¢ for couples.

City Symphony Concert Offers Soloist Takacs

The Missoula Civic Symphony, Eugene Andrie conducting, will present its second concert of the season Sunday at 8:15 p.m. in the University Theater.

Conductor Andrie is enthusiastic about the concert. "This is by far the best orchestra we've ever had," he said, "and we are fortunate to have a soloist, pianist-composer Jenő Takacs. He's really in the big league among concert artists."

About half the members of the 65-piece orchestra are University students. The rest are townspeople and faculty. A few key personnel have been brought in from out of town to round out the sections.

The orchestra will preview its Sunday program on a 30-minute stereophonic broadcast over KMSO-TV and KGVO radio tonight at 7:30.

The complete program will include "Trumpet Voluntary" by Purcell, Brahms' "Symphony No. 2," Enesco's "Rhapsody No. 2," "Baroque Suite," a Takacs arrangement of several traditional Hungarian folk tunes, and "Tarantella," Takacs composition for orchestra and piano. The composer will be soloist.

Speaking of "Tarantella," Andrie commented that it is a "terrific piece, filled with a certain aggressiveness in the Hungarian spirit."

"Tarantella" was written in 1937 and has been performed mostly in Europe. The Berlin State Opera has performed it as a ballet and Miss Meudtner, famous European dancer, gave it in hundreds of performances all over the continent. Pianist Rudolph Serkin called it "one of the most effective contemporary concert pieces."

Andrie said that working up the Brahms' symphony was an ambitious project for the orchestra, and one of which they are quite proud.

Single admission, for those without season tickets, is $1.50 for adults, 75¢ for students.

AWS General Election Continues to 5 p.m. Today

The Associated Women Students' general election of officers will continue until 5 p.m. today at the polls set up in the Lodge. The results of the election will be announced tonight at the Snow Week-end Dance.

Nancy Preston, a junior from Great Falls, is the only candidate for AWS president. Miss Preston went unopposed in the primary elections last week.

Other candidates are: vice-president: Terry Carpenter, Kitty Fox; secretary: Sally Harris, Peggy Jo Neil; treasurer: Judy Blakely, Joyce Zeiler.

Write-in votes will be counted whether or not the candidate was entered in the primary election, according to Liz Astle, AWS president.

As Kaimin Associates

Swanson, Reagan, McGlashan, Lundin, Richardson Appointed

This is a red-letter week for women in journalism.

Four of the five associate editors of the Montana Kaimin selected Wednesday by Publications Board are women students in the School of Journalism.

The new associates—who will take office at the beginning of spring quarter and continue in their positions until the end of winter quarter—are Vera Swanson, Robert Reagan, Marilyn Lundin, Zena Beth McGlashan and Toni Richardson.

The appointments were approved yesterday by Central Board. Eight students applied for the five associate editorships.

Swanson Is News Chief

Vera Swanson is a journalism sophomore from Idaho Falls, Idaho, and will be news editor. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority and is secretary to the Montana Interscholastic Editorial Assn. in the School of Journalism.

As news editor, Miss Swanson will be in charge of reporters' assignments and will determine news policy in general. She will also work on Kaimin make-up.

Reagan on Sports

Robert Reagan, a junior in journalism, is from Brockton, Mass. He has been appointed sports editor, and will have supervision of the daily sports page in addition to writing major stories and assigning other sports copy.

Marilyn Lundin, a journalism freshman from Cut Bank, has been named woman's editor. Miss Lundin will be in charge of society news, women's features and other news of interest to women. She will also work on make-up.

Zena Beth McGlashan is a journalism freshman from Butte. As an associate editor, she will be responsible for United Press wire news in addition to special assignments from the editor and work on make-up.

Miss McGlashan is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. At Interscholastic last year she won honorable mention in the "outstanding high school journalist" competition sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi, professional honorary for women in journalism.

Toni Richardson—a sophomore in journalism—is from Flagstaff, Ariz. Her associate editorship will include working with exchange papers, special assignments from the editor and make-up work.

Miss Richardson worked a year on the student paper at Arizona State College, where she was a freshman last year.

Editor Comments

"After helping Publications Board interview the new associates Wednesday, I am confident that each will be a definite asset to the Kaimin in the coming year," editor-elect Ted Hulbert said yesterday after Central Board announced the appointments.

Hulbert asked that other journalism and non-journalism students interested in working on the Kaimin contact him before the beginning of spring quarter.

DEADLINE TODAY

Today is the deadline for turning in applications for Orientation Week committee membership. Applications may be obtained from the Lodge Main desk.

DU End Coach Is Candidate For Grid Post

William C. Heiss Jr., end coach at Denver University, will be interviewed Saturday for the head football coach vacated recently by Jerry Williams.

Heiss is the first applicant scheduled for interview by the Faculty Athletic committee, said Dr. Earl Lory, chairman.

Heiss was head football coach for three seasons at Colorado College, and for two seasons at Adams State, Alamosa, Colo. He began coaching as an assistant at Detroit after graduation from the University of Illinois.

Heiss played three years of varsity football at Illinois under Coach Ray Elliott.

Dr. Lory said that the athletic committee is giving full consideration to all qualified candidates for the coaching position, and that many will be interviewed before the job is filled.

'Stereocast' Try On Air Tonight

The first stereophonic broadcast in Missoula will be aired tonight at 7:30 in a simultaneous broadcast over KMSO-TV and KGVO radio. The Missoula Civic Symphony will be featured on the program doing excerpts from its Sunday concert.

S. J. Schile, general manager of KMSO-TV, said the stereocast would be effected by using three microphones channeled through the TV transmitter, and two through the radio transmitter. He said it will be necessary for TV viewers to tune in a radio to KGVO and place it near their TV set. Orchestra director Eugene Andrie said arrangements were being made to have a radio available with the Lodge TV set for interested students.

Schile pointed out that the experimental "simulcast" done by two stations several weeks ago was not stereophonic as was mistakenly assumed at the time. The term stereophonic implies that the signal is blended from two sources. The previous broadcast was merely a simultaneous broadcast over the two transmitters from a single source—one microphone.

U SHOW NEEDS FOUR MEN

Four men are needed to complete the chorus for the all school show, Bizet's Carmen, which will be presented May 16, 17 and 21.

Men who are interested in taking part should contact Mr. Musulman, director of the chorus, in Music 110.

Student Says NFL Should Pay It's Way

To the Kaimin:

Why do not the athletic department and University apply directly to the National Football League for a subsidy to improve the Grizzly eleven? The lucrative business of professional football has been tapping this and most other tills with great affluency.

College football has been raised to the status of a minor league; therefore, why should we as students, alumni, and a University continue to support this private enterprise out of public funds. The fancy metaphysical discussions about the amateur-professional status of college sports have intrigued and beguiled us in the past, but now have ceased to amuse. Let us eject hypocrisy from the gridiron and state the matter clearly. If we are to continue to furnish the professional teams with players and coaching experience, it no longer seems necessary to refrain from asking those teams to contribute towards athletic scholarships, coaching salaries, and maintenance expenses.

I sincerely hope that this viewpoint will be considered and analyzed in the forthcoming (and I hope open) debate about raising the tuition fee.

G. Q. Baker

No Poll Tax

To the Kaimin:

Might I say to Mrs. Warner that it takes no food from the baby's mouth nor valuable time from the class schedule to vote in the ASMSU elections. In spite of this, I don't doubt that the student vote will only amount to 40% again this year. Those who ignore student government and activities are ignoring an integral part of university life. The ten dollars spent per quarter should mean more than free admission to athletic events. If it does not, I pity the community which receives such a graduate (the person who has spent his school life playing the role of the uninterested student). He will add as much to that community as he did to our college community.

It takes not time and money to be a good citizen, but the idea that one has a service to perform. In our modern society, Mrs. Warner, is your only service to your family? If it is, I give up on the advancement of mankind.

Jack Upshaw

Keep It Clean

To the Kaimin:

I wouldn't be surprised if the basketball team won their last two games, but why don't they really surprise us and wear clean suits?

They are white uniforms, aren't they? If the players got together they could take advantage of the "two-for-one" specials at local cleaners.

M-Club Invites . .

To the Kaimin:

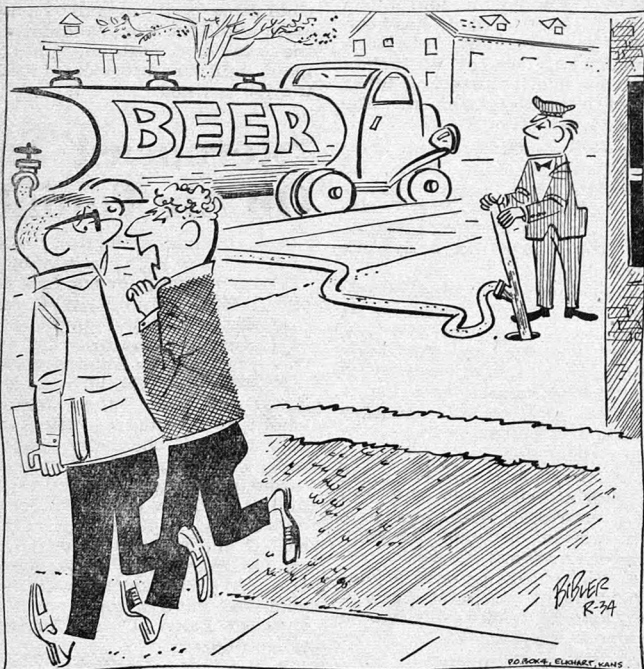

The members of the M Club are greatly appreciative of the offer which the Masquers have extended to us. Therefore, we would like to reciprocate and invite the Masquers to attend the M Club dance Saturday night free of charge.

The dance will be from 9 p.m. to midnight in the Yellowstone Room of the Lodge.

Students Will Give Sociodrama on TV

"Building Montana for Montana Youth" is the title of a sociodrama which will be presented on KMSO-TV Monday by Prof. Bert Hansen's sociodrama students.

The purpose of the program is to suggest that more should be taught to high school students concerning the values and potential values of Montana as a place to go to school and earn a living. It is hoped that the program will stimulate discussion and thought on this topic among the television audience, Professor Hansen said.

This topic was suggested by Maurice Lokensgard. The cast, besides Lokensgard, will include Roberta Dickson, Harold Hanson, Tom O'Brian, Jon McArthur, Donald Straus, Robert Johnson and John Travis.

Dr. Erling Jorgensen, associate professor of journalism, will be production director of the program and Frank Crepeau, journalism senior, will be the floor manager. Program time is 6 p.m.

FROM UPON

The Wall of Ivy

By Pramenko, et al

Crazy! Crazy! Crazy! Boy, you see everything from up here on the old Wall of Ivy. It seems the greatest creature on the MSU campus has talents he doesn't even know of. Yes, the Men of the Ivy green are talking about the fabulous male student of MSU.

This being has mastered all things from time immemorial. Now he has added something new to show the female half of this revolving sphere (to you poor, disunited, low-cultured frosh, this refers to mother earth). He has mastered a new art; that of modeling fabrics which are worn in style in our day and age.

This feat came to its climax at a style show held in an uptown merchandising firm Wednesday. It seems that the two masculine models stole the show; the Bermuda shorts and the tipping of chapeaus captured the mostly feminine audience.

The grace and showmanship were of the finest. "M" Club and all of MSU should be proud of these outstanding men who have learned to adjust to one more obstacle of modern living. Our ivy league hats are off to you boys.

SN-PDT Game Will Decide Fraternity League Race

Regular season play has been completed in intramural league basketball with the exception of the fraternity league, which finishes play Monday. Each league will send its top three teams to the intramural tournament, which begins Tuesday.

Undeclared Sigma Nu meets second-place Phi Delta Theta Monday at 4 p.m. for the fraternity league title.

Other greek league games to be played are PSK-TX at 4 p.m. today, SAE-ATO at 5 p.m. today, SX-DSP at 5 p.m. Monday.

A Sigma Chi win coupled with a Sigma Alpha Epsilon loss would put those teams into a tie for the third tournament berth.

Tournament teams from other leagues include:

A League—Jumbolaya (7-0), Nesters (6-1) and FAF (5-2).

B League—Butte Rats. (7-0),

Corsairs (6-1) and Sigma Rho (5-2).

C League—Shieks (6-1), Lazy 10 (6-1) and Hermits (6-1).

The Lazy 10 was given top spot in tournament by a flip of a coin.

D League—Yankees (7-0), Crai 1st (6-1) and Loggers (5-2).

'Tip Cagers Grab 51-44 Win From Title-contending Rams

The Montana Grizzlies defeated the Colorado State University Rams 51-44 last night in the Fieldhouse in a rough game in which neither team was able to hit consistently from the field.

The Rams sported the top field goal percentage in the Skyline coming into the game but hit only .242 from the field as the Grizzlies hit .273.

The Skyline championship will be riding on the games tomorrow night as Wyoming dropped an overtime to Utah 81-74 last night in Salt Lake City. Wyoming still has a one-game lead over CSU as CSU now has four losses and Wyoming three. Wyoming plays here tomorrow night and CSU plays at Utah.

The Grizzly-Ram game got off to a slow start with both teams in a tight man-to-man defense from the tipoff. Neither team was able to hit the basket and both teams were losing the ball on traveling violations and bad passes.

Four-point Lead

Montana built up a 17-13 lead with four minutes remaining in the first half as Russ Sheriff paced the Grizzlies with two hook shots and a tipin. At this point Coach Jim Williams of the Rams pulled out his big center Chuck Newcomb and substituted Sonney Blanton, a guard.

With three guards in the lineup the Rams began to press the Grizzlies and to foul as they did so. The 'Tips picked up four free throws and Sheriff and Dunham scored to give the Grizzlies a 27-13 lead as the half ended. The Rams were unable to score in the final seven minutes of the first half.

Dan Balko hit a free throw and a layup to start the scoring in the second half but it soon became apparent that both teams were still cold from the floor. After Balko's shot the Grizzlies did not score for five minutes when Hal Erickson hit a jump shot.

Rams Press

The Rams started pressing closely again with 13 minutes remaining in the game and went into a full court press with the score Montana 34-CSU 21.

The full court press rattled the Grizzlies to some extent and the game grew very ragged with bad passes and stolen balls on both sides. The Rams managed to break up Montana's offense with these tactics and pulled within 10 points of the Grizzlies with seven minutes remaining in the game.

At this point the Grizzlies went into a delayed offense as the Rams continued their full-court press. The Grizzlies began to work the ball better and the Rams fouled repeatedly in an attempt to get the ball.

Rough Game

The Rams played a rough game as they pressed trying to get the ball. Twenty-one fouls were called on them and this was the difference in the game as the Grizzlies shot .750 from the free throw line. Balko was especially effective at the line with 11 of 13 as he scored 15 points for the night.

Sheriff was high for the Grizzlies with 16 points. He engaged in a hook-shot duel with CSU's fine hooker Newcomb and made four hook shots to Newcomb's three. Sheriff did a fine job in guarding the Ram ace.

The Grizzlies outrebounded the Rams 55 to 46 as Sheriff pulled down 13 and Balko and Dunham each got 10. The Grizzlies defense was especially good with the work of Erickson and Powell outstanding. Stan Albert hit 13 points to lead Ram scoring.

Math-Physics Moves Up In Faculty Bowling Loop

Math-Physics was the only team to sweep a series in faculty bowling this week and their feat netted them a move up to the league's second spot. Journalism lost two to eighth-place Botany to drop them to third place while Administration won two from Chem-Pharm to maintain the league lead.

In other league action, Zoology won a pair from Bus-Ad and Phys-Ed won two and tied a third game with Education.

Phys-Ed took team honors for the week with a 2351 series and an 840 high single game. Journalism's Ed Dugan, who maintains the highest game average in the league, had the high individual series at 577. John Munoz, Zoology, rolled the high single game of the week; a 232.

ROTC Troops Schedule Combat Patrol Maneuver

Members of the basic advanced corps of the Army ROTC department will conduct a field problem tonight at the Fort Missoula maneuver area.

The problem involves a night combat patrol which has as its mission the destruction of an enemy automatic weapon emplacement situation behind enemy lines. The cadets will be using M-1 rifles and heavy machine guns with blank ammunition.

The combat patrol will be made up of members of the Pershing Rifles, basic honorary society, under the command of cadet Captain Harold Mueller.

For those in the advance corps, the problem will provide practical experience of patrol work studied this quarter in the course covering small unit tactics.

No Legion Laughter on Costume Idea

By DON DEHON

This story concerns the Missoula American Legion and the Sigma Nu fraternity.

It seems that Dick Riddle came up with an idea for the Sigma Nu "Communist Party" held Saturday night. Why not get some American Legion hats and go as Legion delegates? It sounded like a good idea so Dick asked his date, Helen Guthrie, to pick up hats from some Legion members she knew Saturday afternoon. Helen told the Legionnaires that the hats were to be used for a costume party that night.

All was well until 7 p.m. when the head man of the Missoula American Legion post found out about the plan. He called the two members who loaned the hats and told them to get the hats back immediately.

So Helen returned the hats to the wife of the first member and to the second member personally. She explained to him that no hats had been intended and that if an institution can't take a joke, a sign of weakness in that institution.

At this, the Legion member became indignant and asked Helen for the names of those students involved. He assured her that prompt action would be taken. But at present, no action, prompt otherwise, has been taken.

Law School Shows Reference System

An exhibition showing the workings of the Shepard's Citator, the principal reference system used by practicing lawyers for keeping abreast of the law, has been set up in the law school.

It shows how attorneys keep posted on the latest statutes and court decisions. The system contains citations of the latest decisions and statutes available. Regular supplements are issued to keep it up to date.

It is divided into sections which cover regional, state and federal law. Being purely a reference work, it doesn't give the text of the statutes or decisions, but shows the searcher where to find them. Learning how to use the Citator system is part of the education of the law student at MSU.

The exhibit, which is open to the public, will remain on display in the main entrance hall of the law school for two weeks.

ANEMIC?

If you're anemic, you should know about

PRONEMIA®

Hematinic Capsules. Just one capsule daily will probably help you regain normal coloring, appetite, and energy.

Among all the many, different, blood-building preparations, PRONEMIA ranks Number One in potency! These capsules contain generous amounts of every single ingredient known to build blood, including Vitamin B12.

PRONEMIA is another quality product from Lederle Laboratories, the company that makes so many of the drugs your doctor prescribes.
