'Cave Dwellers' Practices Get Under Way

Rehearsals are underway on one Masquer production, "The Cave Dwellers," and another, "Romanoff and Juliet," has been cast, according to Firman (Bo) Brown, chairman of the drama department.

Cave Dwellers

"The Cave Dwellers," a two-act play under the direction of Ray Maidment, a junior from Royal Oak, Mich., will be presented in the Masquer Theater Jan. 28 to 31. This is the first major production to be directed by a student this year.

The play, written by William Saroyan, takes place on an abandoned stage about to be torn down in a slum clearing project in East New York City. The characters are people from different professions who have not met with fortune during their careers.

The Duke will be played by Charles Storfa, junior from Bigfork. The Girl will be played by Diane Kenyon, a freshman from Great Falls. The Queen will be portrayed by Marge Shjeflo, a freshman from Dickinson, N. D. Wayne Finney, sophomore from Hamilton, will play the King.

Religious Emphasis Program To Probe Relevancy of Church

By BARBARA WILLIAMS

Is religion outmoded and lagging behind modern logic or is it a vital force that has something to say to society today? Religious Emphasis Week on campus this year is being approached from this new angle, according to Rev. C.

William Hassler, instructor in the School of Religion.

This new approach is a series of positive statements on various church policies rather than endless panel discussions, Mr. Hassler said. RE Week begins Sunday, Jan. 17, and continues through Wednesday, Jan. 20.

The theme is "Relevancy of the Church in Society." Dan Bieri, general chairman of RE Week, said. Emphasis will be on six major topics of current concern, Mr. Bieri said. These topics are: The population problem and birth control; a Roman Catholic president of the US; the strike situation in Montana and the U.S.; our foreign policy and atomic weapons; universal military training and mandatory ROTC; and the place of religion in public education.

Seven Faiths Represented

These subjects will be discussed by representatives from seven different faiths, said Mr. Bieri. Representatives are Rev. Larry Gruman, University Congregational Church, Missoula; Bishop Chandler Sterling of Helena, head of the Episcopal Church in Montana; Father Emmett O'Neil, instructor at Carroll College, Helena; Prof. B. West Belnap, instructor at Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah; Mr. Joseph J. Mauer, committee member of the Christian Science Church, Seattle; Rev. Vern Klingman, First Methodist Church, Billings; and Rev. J. P. Sanders, First Christian Church, Missoula.

The keynote address will be Sunday, Jan. 17 at 7 p.m. by Reverend Gruman. Other speakers are scheduled as follows: Jan. 18, 4 p.m., Reverend Sterling; 8 p.m., Father O'Neil. Jan. 19, 8 p.m., Bishop Belnap; and Jan. 20, 8 p.m., Mr. Maur. All speakers will appear in the Yellowstone Room.

There will also be informal luncheons in the Lodge Territorial rooms each noon Monday through Wednesday, Mr. Bieri said. All students and faculty members are invited to attend. The campus living groups will have the opportunity to invite any of the speakers as dinner guests, he added.

Theological Viewpoints

Speakers will attempt to give their church's theological viewpoint on the various topics and will invite questions afterward, Mr. Bieri said. They will also speak before classes in the School of Religion. Students and faculty members may make appointments with any of the speakers at the School of Religion.

The purpose of RE Week, according to Mr. Bieri, is to make the students more aware of solutions offered by various religious denominations concerning some major problems of today.

The Campus Religious Council sponsors RE Week every year, usually during the winter quarter. CRC hopes to make RE Week campus-wide, Mr. Bieri said. It should be the concern and interest of the student body as a whole and not just of those directly involved in the religious organizations, he said. Eventually a nationally known speaker may be obtained, Mr. Bieri said.

Serving on Mr. Bieri's committee are Mike Hodge, Deseret Club; Joan Bugby, Canterbury Club; Mert Johnson, Lutheran Student Association; and Jim Johnson, Newman Club. Publicity is under the direction of Joan Anderson. Jerry Oliver is in charge of dinner schedules for the living groups. He may be contacted at Elrod Hall. Arrangements with the lodge are being made by Herb Anderson.

Alumni Will See MSU-Utah Games On Booster Night

Booster Night will bring many alumni from Butte for the Grizzly vs. Utah game Feb. 13, according to Stash Ashmore, chairman of the Campus Visitations Committee.

The campus visitations committee, a subcommittee of public relations, has made arrangements with the Butte alumni to charter a train to Missoula to attend the game. The purpose of the project is to obtain revenue for the Field House and to promote public relations, he said.

The tickets cost $6.50 which include $3.75 for train fare, $1.50 for the game and $1.25 for lunch. Students may be asked to provide cars for transporting the guests to and from the railway station, Ashmore said.

The last time Booster Nights was tried at the University was two years ago.

Six-Year Drought Ended at Denver

Montana's Grizzlies came from behind last night to topple favored Denver University 70-69 in Denver.

Grizzly guard Danny Balko fired in 21 points, including Montana's last six points, to lead his teammates in scoring. Vince Ignatowicz and Terry Serenan followed with 18 each. The Pioneers led most of the game, and were ahead 39-31 at halftime, but the Grizzlies out-shot and out-rebounded DU.

Both teams have 1-2 records in Skyline play.

The Grizzlies play New Mexico tomorrow in Albuquerque.

be Dustin Farnum, freshman from Missoula, and Dorothy Simonsen, freshman from Sheridan, as Father and Mother; Dick Willis, junior from Missoula, as the bear and the young opponent; Montana Venné, freshman from Missoula, as a woman with a dog; Julie Briscoe, sophomore from Missoula, as the young queen; Bill Jones, sophomore from Monida, as the wrecking crew boss; Bill Lensing, freshman from Troy, as Jamie; and Phil Dougherty, freshman from Des Plaines, Ill., as the young man and the silent boy.

Assistant to the director is Ellen Sheire, freshman from Butte.

Unusual Set

"Romanoff and Juliet," to be presented Feb. 11 to 13, will have one of the most unusual sets attempted at the University, Douglas Bankson, director, said. It will include two 2-story, revolving houses in addition to stationary set pieces.

The General is played by Dan Bieri, sophomore from Helena; Juliet is played by Marith Mcand the son of the Russian ambassador, Igor Romanoff, is played by Kirk Buls, a freshman from Missoula.

MARITAL STRUGGLE—Eileen Gallagher of Helena and Ken Pedersen of Billings are engaged in the marital struggle in the Masquer production "The Fourposter." The play which opened a week ago Thursday in the Masquer Theater is being held over this weekend.

Waldron Says Library Needs Improvement

The library is the "defense budget" of the University, Ellis Waldron, Dean of the Graduate School, said at an organizational meeting of the Friends of the Library last night.

He said the library is fairly adequate in some fields but in other areas it is hopelessly inadequate. He said an increasing graduate program increases the needs of the library in geometric proportions.

Robert S. Hoffman, assistant professor of zoology, noted the need for back issues of current periodicals and also for more new journals, particularly in the field of foreign periodicals. He said he thought some departments felt they needed to fill a backlog of recent books. He also noted a general lack of non-technical works.

Jacob Vinocur, assistant professor of English, said an outside organization such as the Friends of the Library group could give substantial aid to the library, but could not hope to assume the responsibilities of the state legislature.

Mr. Vinocur said that the Friends of the Library could act as an organization to collect books, manuscripts, and money from people who wish to contribute to the library.

Mortar Board has been the steering organization for the Friends of the Library.

The Authority Belongs to CB

Earlier this week several state newspapers carried an article written by the director of the University News Service announcing the addition of "Miss University" to the title of Homecoming Queen. The duties "Miss University" will have, according to the release, will be a representative of "all that is fair and lovely" at the University. In practice, her duties will consist of serving the University in the capacity of a hostess.

At the time this announcement was made by the News Service, the only action that had been taken to make the title official was Traditions Board's recommendation which had yet to be presented to Central Board. In past years, Central Board had received proposals to create a Miss University coldly, refusing to approve Traditions Board's recommendation. Had the News Service waited until after Traditions Board had presented the idea to Central Board, it might have spared itself the time it took to write the article. There is the possibility that Central Board would not have approved the creation of the new title except for the fact it had been prematurely announced.

The creation of "Miss University" and similar titles is properly an activity of the student body, and students deserve, and should demand, an active voice in these matters. The University News Service, in spite of personal desires, did not have the authority to make the title of "Miss University" official, that belonged to Central Board.

Profit in Election Campaigns

Of late, the Republican party has professed itself capable of picking up the senate seats of three Democrats in November's election, one of those being that of Montana's Senator James Murray. Whether or not they will do this is of little importance to the University at present. What is important is that Murray has been, and in some circles still is, a name to be reckoned with politically, both in Montana and in Washington, D.C. The Democrats will not let him slip quietly to defeat at the hands of the Republicans, should he choose to run. Nor will the Democrats stand by counting the years in office of Democrat Montana senators should Murray not be their candidate. They will do great battle with the Republicans, who in turn will do their utmost to insure the election of a man from the GOP to the Senate.

And what does this have to do with the University?

One of the tricks on the bottom of that proverbial bag during election campaigns is to impart politicians who are national figures to support a local candidate of their party. Were Murray's seat a question mark, and it easily may be, there is reason to believe many nationally known men from both parties will be in Montana campaigning for or against Murray, or whoever may run. It is within the realm of possibility that some of these men may well be presidential candidates, as is Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota who was forced to cancel a talk at the University last quarter because of adverse weather conditions.

Isolated Montana rarely has the opportunity to see presidential candidates in action, and the coming election may well bring many hopefuls to the state, and, we can hope, to the University. Such speakers, regardless of their political affiliations, would be a worthwhile addition to the visiting lecturers program and every effort ought to be extended by the University to persuade some of these men to speak at the University.

A 'Solution' Brings Problems

Lately the nation's educators have embarked upon a planning program that could result in a four-year educational television course terminating in a degree being awarded the faithful viewer (and quite possibly a bill for thick eye-glasses).

Television is already being used to take the place of classrooms, as well as providing improved laboratory instruction on many campuses and in some metropolitan areas. It could be expanded into a program that would be capable of offering a complete college course, thereby partially solving the problem of inadequate classroom space.

However, we suspect that an investigation of the programs backers would find TV set salesmen as well as educators. In many homes, "Gunsmoke" and "77 etc." may be more popular than "Principles of Economics" or "Freshman Composition," this fact resulting in two and three TV set homes.

There are other obstacles to the program too. What about payola, and how do you tell a teacher come test time that your set went on the "fritz" in the middle of an important lecture?

Judy McVey Banking Hours

The Montana State University Library is modern.

A notable feature of this institution is its banking hours. Every one these days is on banking hours—it leaves more leisure time. The institution closes its doors Friday night and Saturday night. Sunday it opens briefly in the afternoon and evening.

Perhaps as the community advances to the space age, the library will be able to close Sunday. Eventually, it will advance to the point where it has drive-in service, with one teller working at the window. Then the library will never have to open its doors again.

But its customers are poor—intellectually. Nevertheless, the establishment has assets of some 413,529 volumes. It is able to maintain a guard at the door and possibly at some future date the assets will increase enough to allow the purchase of a burglar alarm.

The modern situation became particularly evident during fall quarter final week. The traffic in the bank was overwhelming. That is obviously why the institution is able to keep banking hours. It is a profitable business.

Tea and Sympathy

Students gained the heartfelt sympathies of many when they made protests about the food at the Lodge. And no wonder . . .

After all, one can buy a delicious, succulent, greasy meal almost anywhere for about $1.50. And the food service could be economical and use products at hand. The sugar beets grown in this section are noted for their very high sugar content. The Missoula Rose Garden has about 22,500 plants in the garden. Missoula supports meat-packing plants and a brewery.

This would eliminate the necessity of hauling in all those vegetables, etc. There is elk meat and duck. Students could go on a fall hunt to supply the food service with meat. The inflation problem would almost be licked.

It is a serious problem. The fact that it is brought up perennially indicates this. Other than the lateness of the mail man, no single problem demands so much attention.

If each student received a detailed financial report each year which pinpointed the destination of his dollar, he would undoubtedly understand the problem. When the grocery bill stares him in the face, he will have to admit that the price of peas is higher this year.

Freshman Points To Lack of Spirit

To the Kaimin:

Here I am at last, my first college basketball game. Man! There's sure a lot of people here. Why's everybody standing up? Oh! the school song. Aren't they supposed to sing the words to it? Maybe they're all freshmen like myself and don't know the words.

Look at the team! I hope they shoot as well in the game as they have been during the warmup. "Yea!" Opps, I guess you're not supposed to yell when Montana makes a basket. Maybe it would make the opposing team feel badly.

Darn it, the other team is ahead. Why is everybody booing?

Gee! The second half already. Good, that basket put us ahead. Tied score again? I guess they're supposed to keep the score as close as they can. Isn't that big red-headed guy (supposed to shoot unless it's a lay-in)? Well the game must be over, everybody is leaving. What was that score again? How can the game be over if there's still time on the clock? Oh well, these people are all college students and know what they're doing. I'm just a dumb freshman; I'll probably catch on (Continued on Page Five)

Board Sets Speed Limit For Flathead

By JOHN HONEY

As a result of the Montana highway death toll reaching a high of 244 for the year 1959, as compared to 193 in 1958, the Flathead County Board of Commissioners adopted a daytime speed limit on rural roads Wednesday.

The limits are 65-miles-an-hour on most paved highways and 55 on county gravel roads.

A resolution of intention to create a 65-mile-an hour daytime limit in Missoula County by the county commissioners. A meeting has been scheduled for Jan. 21 to rear public opinion. Commissioners and county attorneys from seven other counties have been invited to discuss the problem.

So far there has been no state level ruling on whether counties may set their own speed limits. Highway Patrol officials say the question of county limits will come up at the next board meeting Monday.

Until last year's legislative move, Montana had a 65-mile-an-hour daytime speed limit by Highway Patrol Board action. The Legislature turned down a request to make the limit state law.

Anthony F. Keast, Missoula County Attorney, has ruled that counties may legally set their own speed limits. However, the attorney general's office in Helena says it has received no request for information on the matter and has not investigated the question.

Education Majors Are Not Required To Receive Minor

University students seeking a secondary teaching certificate no longer need a teaching minor. Before last summer, the requirements for Montana certification stated that all applicants for the standard certificate must complete 30 credits in a minor field in addition to the required number of credits in a major field and graduation requirements.

The recent action was the result of a conference of delegates from the state schools at Billings, Bozeman, Dillon, Havre and Missoula. Their action was passed by the State Board of Education and put into effect by the State Department of Public Instruction.

Miss Elaine White, executive secretary of the University education department, said that all education majors are still advised to secure one or more teaching minors. Many teachers in the smaller high schools in the state are required to teach in more than one subject area, she said.

Miss White added that other states have similar certification requirements.

Lewis Announces Field House Drill For This Quarter

Lt. Col. William J. Lewis announced this week that the Army ROTC will drill despite the weather.

Drill will be held indoors at the Field House. Each of the three lettered companies will have its own day of drill from 4 to 5 p.m. Company A under the command of Cadet Capt. Leo Kottas will drill Mondays. Company B, commanded by Cadet Capt. Jim Hinds, will meet Tuesdays. Wednesdays, Company C will meet, commanded by Cadet Capt. Alexander George.

Instead of the familiar marching seen autumn quarter in front of the Chem-Pharm building, activity will be limited to small class areas in the corridors of the Field House where such basic skills as manual of arms, assembly and disassembly of weapons and platoon drill will be taught by members of the junior class to freshmen and sophomores.

Too Many Cars, Not Enough Room U. Official Says

Mr. F. W. Krieger, superintendent of buildings and grounds, reported yesterday the crux of the traffic problem is that there are too many cars for the available parking area.

There are 2,660 cars registered. Students account for 1883 cars and the faculty for 777 cars.

There is available room for only 275 cars in the combined faculty and staff parking areas. The combined parking areas for students will accommodate 1,865 cars. However, this includes the outlying parking lot around the Field House which will hold 1,240 cars alone, Mr. Krieger said.

Mr. Krieger said that almost 50 percent of the student cars belong to freshmen. The only possible solution is for students to quit driving their cars to class and between classes, he said.

New Weapon?

Khrushchev Announces Cut Of Million in Armed Forces

MOSCOW, (UPI)—Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev announced today the Soviet Union would cut more than a million men from its armed forces and depend more heavily on rockets and a mysterious "fantastic" new weapon for defense.

Khrushchev said the armed forces would be reduced by a third—about 1,200,000. He did not describe the new weapon except to say it was being developed and would be more formidable than anything now known.

Khrushchev told an enthusiastically applauding audience in the resplendent St. George's Hall of the Grand Kremlin Palace that the U.S.S.R. planned to reduce its army and navy from 3,623,000 to 2,423,000.

He invited the west to do the same, noting the numerical strength of the Soviet armed forces after the cut would be lower than the level of 2,500,000 suggested by the United States, Britain and France in 1956 disarmament proposals.

It was the first time he had disclosed the exact strength of the red army and navy.

Khrushchev said that during World War II Soviet armed forces reached 11,365,000. By 1948 demobilization reduced this number to 2,874,000, but they were built up again to 5,763,000 by 1955, he said. As Soviet nuclear capabilities increased, they were cut to the present level of 3,623,000, he said.

He said the Soviet Union had the greatest nuclear-rocket striking force in the world. International ballistic missiles, he said, were being "mass produced."

"We warn and openly state that in reducing the number of the armed forces we are not diminishing their firing power," he said. "On the contrary, in quality it increases several times over."

Khrushchev said the Soviet Union planned to "entirely discontinue" production of bombers and "other obsolete equipment," replacing military aviation almost entirely by rockets.

Mr. K's Bomb May Be 'Orbital'

WASHINGTON, (UPI)—Atomic scientist Ralph E. Lapp said today that Nikita Khrushchev's "fantastic" new weapon may be an "orbital H-Bomb" that could be stationed in space and fired or recalled on command.

He also suggested the Russians may be working on a long-range missile capable of delivering a 100-megaton warhead continents away. Such a weapon would be 5,000 times as powerful as the 20,000-ton Hiroshima A-bomb.

Lapp, who worked on the wartime atomic bomb project, speculated on these possibilities in an interview after Khrushchev said in Moscow that the Soviets have a "formidable" new weapon "in the hatching stage."

Lapp, now a writer on nuclear affairs, said a recallable H-bomb in orbit around the earth "would have a tremendous impact upon the world as a psychological terror weapon."

Lapp said such a bomb might not be the best possible weapon from a strictly military standpoint. But as a terror weapon circling the earth at an altitude of 300 miles, he said, it would have a vast effect on the mind and emotions of mankind.

(However, Soviet space scientist Anatoly Blagonravov said in Nice, France, where he is attending an International Space Conference, that creation of an orbital H-bomb "is not our aim." He accused Lapp of "trying to create the wrong kind of atmosphere," but refused to comment further on Khrushchev's report of a new weapon.)

Ike Orders Federal Spending Study

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower today ordered an immediate study of increasing federal spending to speed development of super booster rockets for the U.S. space program.

The President instructed Dr. T. Eith Glennan, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, to complete the study at the earliest practicable date.

Glennan, who conferred with the president earlier, was told to examine "the possible need for additional funds" for the rest of this fiscal year and fiscal 1951 "to accelerate the super booster program."

Ford Foundation Gives Yu Grant

Dr. Frederick T. C. Yu, associate professor of journalism, has been awarded a research grant by the Ford Foundation to study communications in Asia. He will spend six months in Japan, Korea, the Philippines, South Vietnam, Thailand, Burma, India, and possibly Indonesia.

He expects to spend two to four weeks in each country, he said. His research plans call for interviews with about 150 leading newspaper publishers, editors, columnists, reporters, writers and radio figures in these countries.

The project, according to Dr. Yu, is designed mainly to study how Asians communicate with and feel about each other and "to examine some of the underpinnings of some current Asian thinking about Asian politics, problems and relations."

Dr. Yu plans to leave Missoula in June and to return before Christmas.

This is the second time Dr. Yu has been awarded a research grant by the Ford Foundation. In 1958 he won a Ford Post-Doctoral International Relations Fellowship to study at Harvard University and M.I.T.

Dr. Yu joined the MSU journalism staff in 1955. He has taught at the State University of Iowa, University of Southern California and Stetson University.

Khrushchev Fires 'Right Hand Man' From Party Post

MOSCOW, (UPI)—The Soviet Union abolished its Ministry of Internal Affairs tonight and fired the man generally regarded as Premier Nikita Khrushchev's right hand man from his high Communist party post.

The surprise announcements came on the eve of the first 1960 session of the Supreme Soviet (parliament) which has been described as "unusually important."

First, the Communist party newspaper Pravda startled Moscow by disclosing that Aleksei Kirichenko had been elected to a new post, that of regional party secretary in the distant city of Rostov in southeastern Russia.

With the switch, Kirichenko also apparently was released from his membership in the party's ruling presidium and from his important position as secretary of the Communist party's central committee. There are six such secretaries, with Khrushchev as first secretary.

Later, a brief dispatch by the official Soviet news agency Tass said the responsibilities of the Ministry of Internal Affairs in Moscow were shifted to the Ministries of Internal Affairs of the 15 republics that make up the Soviet Union.

John L. Lewis Resigns After Forty Years As Union Head

WASHINGTON, (UPI)—John L. Lewis formally resigned today after 40 years and headline-making years as president of the United Mine Workers. He turned his job to aging Thomas Kennedy, former UMW vice president.

In a highly significant move, W. A. Boyle, 56-year-old protege of Lewis, was elevated to replace Kennedy to the number two post.

Boyle is regarded as the UMW crown prince who will eventually succeed the 72-year-old Kennedy in the union presidency. But Kennedy said he would run for re-election to a four-year term later this year.

Like Kennedy, Boyle is a man of few words and a marked contrast from the bombastic, eloquent Lewis—a man who did battle with the highest leaders of organized labor and plunged into knock-down bouts with the federal judiciary and President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Lewis, stepping down a month before his 80th birthday, gave both men a strong vote of confidence at a news conference following a two hour meeting of the UMW's executive board.

The white-haired miner's chief was designated President Emeritus of the union—a new precedent for the UMW.

The board asked Lewis to continue as chairman of the UMW Welfare Fund, as a director of the National Coal Policy Conference and as a consultant to its officers. Lewis, who was known to want the assignments, agreed to stay on in those capacities.

Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell voiced regret over Lewis' retirement "because he represents an era in which the labor movement helped establish the dignity of workers in this country." He said Lewis proved "that his abiding interest is in the welfare of the miners."

Lewis bade farewell to his presidency at a simple ceremony in the UMW's grey granite headquarters here. Wooden chairs were set up for the 220 union officials present. Spittoons were provided, as usual, for tobacco and cigar-chewing field representatives from the coal areas where the bulk of the UMW's 500,000 are concentrated.

Lewis' valedictory was unemotional—a far cry from the thunderous oratory in which he has intertwined scriptural and Shakespearean pronouncements with his own and made them sound as if he, in fact, were the very author.

"Good luck, boys," he told reporters with a wave of his hand as he left the room. He put in a few good words for the character, personality and competence of Kennedy and he said "the same goes for Mr. Boyle."

Halleck Refuses To Sign Petition For Action on Bill

WASHINGTON, (UPI)—House GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck (Ind.) today rejected a request from church, labor and racial groups that he ask Republicans to sign a special petition to force quick house action on a stalled civil rights bill.

"I told them I would not persuade or dissuade the Republicans," Halleck said after a 30-minute conference with about 40 representatives of the leadership conference on civil rights.

The delegation also failed to get commitments from Halleck, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) or Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen (Ill.) to support their drive for amendments to the bill.

But members said Speaker Sam Rayburn (Tex.) assured them that somehow—through a petition or otherwise—the stalled bill would reach the House floor for action this year under a procedure permitting amendments.

Members said Rayburn and House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack (Mass.) advised them to get rank-and-file Republicans to sign a discharge petition to force the stalled measure out of the House Rules Committee. A discharge petition required 219 signatures. Sponsors said 160 had signed it, including only 16 Republicans. Most northern Democrats have signed.

Lettermen ... or Lettermen?

We feel a playful poke in the ribs is in order today, but we're not sure for whom. It might be us. Do you know that a number of football players who earned their first varsity letter last fall may not have been official lettermen when they were "initiated" into M Club Wednesday night.

The amusing circumstances stemmed from a misunderstanding between ASMSU President Ed Risse and George (Jiggs) Dahlberg of the athletic department. On Jan. 6 Dahlberg submitted to Central Board Coach Ray Jenkins' list of gridders who earned varsity letters. The usual CB procedure is an automatic stamp of approval. But Risse did not know at the time that the Board's approval was necessary to make the list official. As a matter of fact, neither did anyone else at Central Board, (including the Kaimin reporter) and so the list was considered by all as perfectly authorized as it was.

But a week later Risse discovered that the list needed Central Board's approval before it was to be official. The Board quickly endorsed the names about 9 p.m. Wednesday—but on the same night, M Club, with new lettermen and all, had met at 7:30 in the Field House. According to a Kaimin notice earlier in the week, one of the first orders of M Club business was this: "Initiation of new members."

- To Sum It Up:
1. Wasted talent and a loss of games through lack of student support.

 3. Negative booing instead of positive cheering.

Let's support our teams and I'm sure they'll support us much better in the future than they have in the past!!

U. S. Challenges Sincerity of Soviet's Armed Force Cut

WASHINGTON, (UPI) — The United States yesterday challenged Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev to prove the sincerity of his promised one-third cut in Russian armed forces by agreeing to a fool-proof disarmament control system.

The state department said in a "show me" statement that Khrushchev's proposed cuts, announced in a speech to the Soviet Parliament, "can be taken only as an invention since there will be no verifiable means of checking any actual reductions."

It then noted pointedly that Russia will have a chance to show its sincerity at east-west disarmament negotiations opening March 15. It said it hoped Khrushchev's announcement indicated a willingness to negotiate in good faith.

M Club Tightens Regulations, Plans More Campus Activities

A new constitution that will mean compulsory attendance at meetings and increased activity in campus affairs was approved by M club members at a meeting Wednesday night.

Attendance will be mandatory for any member who has been in school 10 quarters or less. Anyone missing more than three meetings will be expelled from the club and will not be allowed to wear his letter award on or near the campus.

All regulations in the new constitution will be mailed to club members within the next few days, John Datsopoulos, club president, said.

Further stipulations make it mandatory that all members wear their jackets or sweaters on Fridays, except during extremely cold weather. Anyone not doing so will be fined and failure to pay the fine before the next meeting could lead to expulsion from the club.

Activities for the near future include sponsoring a "Cabaret Dance and Style Show" in conjunction with the Associated Women Students on Feb. 26, and a dinner dance for M club members and their dates during Spring quarter.

Datsopoulos said the next M club meeting will be on Jan. 27 in the Century Club Room of the Lodge.

THRIFTIEST 6 IN ANY FULL-SIZE CAR—Chevy's Hi-Thrift 6 is the '60 version of the engine that got 22.38 miles per gallon in the latest Mobilgas Economy Run—more than any other full-size car.

NEW ECONOMY TURBO-FIRE V8—Here's a V8 with the "git" Chevy's famous for—plus a new economy-contoured camshaft and other refinements that get up to 10% more miles on a gallon of regular.

EASIER-TO-LOAD LUGGAGE COMPARTMENT—The trunk sill is lower and the lid opening is more than a foot and a half wider than Chevy's nearest competitor's. There's over 20% more usable space!*

*Based on official data reported to the Automobile Manufacturers Association.

MORE ROOM WHERE YOU WANT MORE ROOM—Chevy's trimmed down transmission tunnel (25% smaller) gives you more foot room. You also get more head and hip room than in any other 2- or 4-door sedans in the field.

WIDEST CHOICE OF POWER TEAMS—A choice of 24 engine-transmission teams in all—to satisfy the most finicky driving foot. There are seven engines with output all the way up to 335 h.p. and five silk-smooth transmissions.

EXTRA CONVENIENCES OF BODY BY FISHER—No other car in Chevy's field gives you crank-operated ventipanes, Safety Plate Glass all around and dozens of other Fisher Body refinements.

CHEVY SETS THE PACE WITH LOWER PRICES—All Bel Air and Impala V8's are lower priced, as are many options. Example: a Bel Air V8 sedan with Turboglide, de luxe heater and push-button radio lists at $65.30 less for '60.

QUICKER STOPPING BRAKES—Long-lived bonded-lining brakes with larger front-wheel cylinders for '60 give you quicker, surer stops with less pedal pressure.

SOFTER, MORE SILENT RIDE—Chevy's the only leading low-priced car that gentles the bumps with coil springs at all four wheels. Noise and vibration are filtered to the vanishing point by new body mounts.

NOT CHANGE FOR CHANGE'S SAKE, BUT FOR YOURS—There's only one person we consider when we make a change—and that's you. That's why we don't think you'll find anything more to your liking at anything like the price.

The more you look around the more you'll find to convince you that no other low-priced car has so much to show for your money as this new Chevrolet. Here's the kind of styling sophistication and subtle detail that only Fisher Body craftsmanship can create. Here's the kind of Full Coil comfort that neither of the other two leading low-priced cars—and only some of the smoothest riding higher priced ones—build into their suspension systems. Here's more room inside (where you want it) without an inch more outside (where you don't want it). And with all these advances Chevy has managed to hold the price line! Your dealer will be delighted to fill you in on all the facts.
