Fifth Montana Science Fair Scheduled For Fieldhouse

The fifth annual Montana Science Fair is scheduled for April 1-2 in the University Fieldhouse, R. A. Diettert, Director, said yesterday.

The two major divisions of exhibits will be the senior high school division, open to students in the tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades, and the junior high school division, open to seventh, eighth and ninth grade students.

First, second, third, fourth and fifth place and honorable mention award ribbons will be given in each of the 14 categories.

Two grand prize awards will be awarded, one for the best exhibit by a boy and another for the best exhibit by a girl. These two win-ners will be sent to National Science Fair in Indianapolis, Ind., May 11-16, on a supervised all-expenses-paid trip, Diettert said. Other awards will be presented to outstanding exhibitors. Su-perior awards will be given to three exhibits in the Senior Di-vision. The Montana Heart As-sociation will award $50 for the best exhibit in medicine and Two grand prize awards will be physiology, $30 for second and $20 for third. A seven-day U. S. Navy cruise will be given to a sopho-more or junior boy chosen by a special committee. The Univer-sity will award scholarships for senior exhibitors with high scho-lastic records, Diettert said. The projects will be judged on a point system, creative ability-30, scientific thought-30, thor-oughness-10, skill-10, clarity-10 and dramatic value-10. Over 400 projects were entered in the event last year, Diettert said.

Rental Book Circulation Said Good by Librarian

The circulation of books in the rental library was termed "very good" by Miss Kathleen Campbell, head librarian, Monday.

The rental library opened Jan. 15. From that day until the end of that month 45 books were checked out. The circulation for February was 93 books and for the first eight days in March 19 books. Miss Campbell said these figures are quite high for the number of books on the shelves. Most of the books have been circulated more than once. The rental library opened Jan.

The End of a Year

One year ago the present editor and his staff published their first Kaimin. Now the term of office is over and a short year is ended.

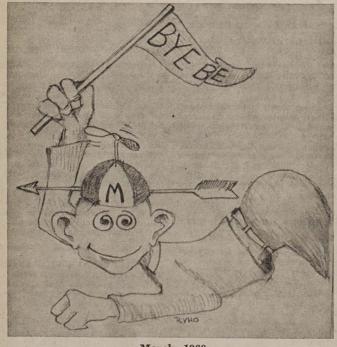

To say that we leave the Kaimin without regret is untrue. To say that we wish the year were only beginning is only a half truth.

Through it all we have found that for every question there are as many answers as there are people to discuss the issues. We have learned that criticism is easy and is bred largely by prejudice. On the other hand, compliments flowed freely when their donors agreed with the views expressed in the Kaimin.

This year's Kaimin was perhaps more difficult than most because of staff replacements made necessary by graduation, marriage and economic reasons. Throughout the year the efforts and loyalty of the associate editors and business manager contributed greatly to any success enjoyed by the Kaimin. The reporters, copy editors and advertising salesmen have also contributed their share in the publication of the Kaimin and they deserve recognition for their efforts. The faculty of the journalism school deserves a vote of thanks for many long hours spent helping us who were responsible for the Kaimin, and for their restraint in suggestion prior to publication. Finally we are grateful to the printers and pressmen for their patience and cooperativeness throughout the past year.

It is difficult to leave these columns for the last time without offering the incoming editor and his staff a few words of advice. But of all we could say, the ability to arrive at an opinion based on fact and honest beliefs and to defend that opinion is most important.

The incoming staff will be praised and damned by all who read the Kaimin, depending on the circumstances of the moment. Yet we leave with the belief they will remain anchored fast to their principles.

of the National Intercollegiate Tel-egraphic American Ten Pin Tour-nament. The women keglers racked up 1574 pins in the high-ten five-man two-game series. Jan Matson and Betty Hoffman placed in the high-ten individual two-game series with 335 total pins each. Participants in the indiv-idual series are girls from the in-termediate bowling classes and members of the intercollegiate bowling team, Miss Viola Klein-dienst, professor of health and physical education, said. Montana is competing with 14 other schools in the tournament. The State University of Iowa, Wis-consin State College, and Temple University placed first, second, and third, respectively. The teams compete entirely by mail, Miss Kleindienst said. Results of the March tournament have recently been sent to the scoring center at Wisconsin State College. The Unibeen sent to the scoring center at Wisconsin State Colege. The Uni-versity will also compete in the April tournament, she said.

Muddlar Says His System Of Government 'Best of All'

Tommy M. Muddlar has offered a new SC (Student Corpse) constitution to Senatorial Board. The constitution provides for an utter Supreme Leader with absolute power in all appointments, absolute veto power on all bills and ability to pass a bill over two-thirds negative vote of the Student House. He said it was the best government yet.

Who Rides Astride Her Column Is Salem Witch A University coe-ed, Duty Ma-kehay, was lain to rest this past week. She was burned at the stake as a Salem witch by IFC, (I Fight Confusion).

The co-ed, a regular contributor to the Daily Revolution, was ac-cused of being a witch by IFC members after they read a column she had written for the campus paper. May she rest in peace, and her column with her.

Head Shrinkers Will Stav In Massive Hall

Massive Hall The psychological laboratories will remain in Massive Hall for at least another year. Psychological School Dean Fil-bert Dus Flaw, recently appoint-ed to the position, said that the plans to construct Freud Hall in the Clover Bowl had been aband-oned. Dus Flaw said the present building was more adaptable to psychological learning than the proposed Freud Hall would be. Dus Flaw elaborated on his statement by saying that the many corridors and dead ends in Massive Hall were ideal for experimenting with human subjects. He des-cribed the halls as "the ideal hum-an maze." Peeking out from under white rats and an adding machine Dus Peeking out from under white rats and an adding machine Dus Flaw said that Massive Hall might need some repairs. Quickly leap-ing over an abandoned graduate student Dus Flaw pointed to a few holes in the wall where win-dows once were. He said that the building and grass department had yet to replace a few windows from yet to replace a few windows from last year's earthquake.

Sigma Phi Nothing Announces Stepped-Up Pledge Campaign

The Sigma Phi Nothing fratern-ity has announced that their cam-paign to recruit 10,000 new mem-bers is coming along fine, and as soon as the University manages to matriculate some more students next quarter, they should meet their quota.

Franklin Roosevelta, president of Sigma Nothing said yesterday that some people may think the quota set by the national officers is high. But, he said the fratern-ity is accustomed to doing things big ity is accustomed to doing things big. Teddy Roosevelta, rush chair-man for the Sigma Nothings, said the fraternity is offering a number of inducements to recruit new members. First, he said, the frat-ernity makes sure that the trap door installed in the front side-walk, which catches unaware and innocent freshmen, is always in proper working order. He said the only trouble with this setup is that occasionally the fraternity the only trouble with this setup is that occasionally the fraternity lets a child prodigy professor drop in the trap door, and then he spends the rest of the week lec-turing in class about the unethical Second, as an inducement to join, he said, the fraternity is of-fering such services for new pled-ges as breakfast in bed for the first quarter, maid service, guar-anteed B pluses on mid-quarter exams, dates with campus queens, and no special assessment fees, general assessment fees, social fees, room fees, food fees, book fees, rushing fees, furniture fees, repair fees, dance fees, or un-named fees for the first year. Third, he said, the fraternity is taking rushees to Wallace, Idaho, for entertainment. In this way, he said, the fraternity manages to snag many of those which are on the borderline of indicision. Alexander Hamiltin, treasurer of the Sigma Nothings, said he was starting to worry about the finan-cial situation of the fraternity. He said entertainment prices in Wal-lace have been raised, and the fraternity is in debt. He said,

He said, however, that he was going to talk to the president of the enter-tainers' union and see if the tainers' union and see if the fraternity can get special rates for rushees. Eisenpower said that other cri-tics on campus were screaming about discrimination concerning White-Christian clauses in the fraternity constitution. This is bad publicity for the fraternity, he said. The only solution to the problem, he said, is to have the fraternity form a separate frat-ernity for Negroes, Jews, Indians, agnostics, athiests, existentialists, socialists, Communists, un-Ameri-cans, etc., in back of the fraternity. The two groups shouldn't have any trouble getting along together, he said, as long as they stay on their side of the 20-foot brick wall. Only Seven Returning Lettermen

Track Team Prospects Bright This Year, Says Coach Adams

Although track coach Harry Adams has only seven returning lettermen, prospects have been brightened considerably by one of the most promising freshman squads in years. Newcomers include shotputter Harley Lewis; distance men Glynn DeVries and Phil Dwight; high jumper Chuck Miller; sprinters Pat Dodson and Larry Lewis; hurdlers Ed Whitelaw, and

Pat Dodson and Larry Lewis Gordon Pagenkopf; handyman Sterling Wetzsteon; and broad jumper Jerry Bjork. All of the freshmen, with the exception of out-of-stater Whitelaw, won in-dividual titles in the 1959 Mon-tana Interscholastic meet. Veterans are weightman Ken Wersland, 440 man Ken Nelson, pole vaulter Chuck Nelson, quar-ter miler John Datsopoulos, 880 star Bill Anderson, and distance-men Gary Wojtowick and Art De-Vries.

Adam's tracksters open their schedule on April 30 with Utah in Missoula. They will host Montana State College May 14. Road meets will be against Brigham Young and Utah State, with the conference match slated May 27-28 at Fort Collins, Colo.

Grizzly Skiers Scheduled In NCAA Championships

Montana skiers Rudy Ruana and John Manz have qualified to part-icipate in the NCAA champion-ships March 24-26 at Bridger Bowl near Bozeman.

Rear Bozenan. Ruana, who rates among the nation's five best slalom qualifiers, won both heats of the qualifying round last weekend at Bridger Bowl. His time was more than three seconds faster than his near-est competitor. In 1958, Ruana placed among the best 10 col-legiate slalom men in the nation. He did not compete last year He did not compete last year.

Manz, a jumper, ended among the top five qualifiers at Bridger Bowl. Coaches Homer Anderson and Bob Steele said they were "very pleased" with the perform-ances of the Grizzly skiers at the qualifying meet qualifying meet.

Over fieldings Goach Hal Sherbeck's baseball squad today moved into the Field-house for ten days of preparation before their trip to Lewistown, idaho, for spring training sessions with Idaho, Washington State, and Oregon State. Five lettermen are returning from Sherbeck's '59 squad. They are pitcher Ken Winmett, catcher Floyd Ayers, infielders Terry Screnar and John Matte, and out-fielder Jim Johnson. Newcomers include pitchers Mike Dishman and Butch Hendricks and Joe Firrel; infielders Bob O'Billovich, Jim Bartell, Tom Peterson and Dick Held; outfielders Glenn Sor-

Golf, Tennis Squads Plan To Get Underway in April

To Get Underway in April By STEVE LOWRY Montana's golf and tennis squads are scheduled to get under way sometime during the first week in April, if weather permits. Golf veterans Roger Norgaard, Ray Maidment and Fred Jewell are expected to bolster the squad this spring. Three new men, all experienced players, should back up the trio of lettermen. Among the newcomers are Jim Bryngelson, 1959 Interscholastic Champion, and Bill and Ted Hod-ges.

Don Hubbard and Mike Hogarty are Bill Corette, Carl Lehrkind, and Bill and Dick Brown.
