Annual Montana Science Fair To Open Today in Field House

By AL MADISON

Electricity from freezing water and a method of detecting carbon monoxide are two of the 319 exhibits in the fifth annual Montana Science Fair which opens today in the Field House.

Forty-five schools will be represented by participants in the fair which is sponsored by the Missoula Exchange Club and conducted by Montana State University. R. A. Diettert, chairman of the University botany department, is in charge of the fair.

Students will set up their exhibits this morning. All exhibits must be completed by noon. Judging will be from 1 to 5 p.m. The fair will be open to the public after the judging until midnight Friday and from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Saturday. There will be no admission charge.

The exhibits in the senior division range from astronomy to zoology, with the medicine and physiology category attracting the largest number of exhibits, 37. Physical sciences attracted top rating in the junior division, with 52 entries. The Montana Society of Medical Technologists and the Missoula Exchange Club will have exhibits at the fair.

After lunch the students will remain with their exhibits from 1 to 2:15. A program will be held for the students in the Music Auditorium at 2:30 p.m. Pres. H. K. Newburn will speak and the Jubileers will perform. After the program, the Bear Paws and Spurs will conduct tours of the campus.

All participants in the Science Fair will be admitted free to a movie at the University Theater tonight. The movie is a Russian film, "Potemkin," and will be shown at 7 and 8:30. A dance for the participating students will be in the Lodge at 9 p.m.

The University will have open house from 9 to 11 a.m. Saturday and the students will have an opportunity to see the campus. They will have all meals in the Lodge.

Presentation of awards will be at 2:30 p.m. Saturday in the University Theater. Earl C. Lory, acting dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, will be master of ceremonies. Robert T. Pantzer, executive vice president, will give a short talk.

The boy and girl of the senior division whose exhibits are judged as the most outstanding will each receive an expense-paid trip to the National Science Fair at Indianapolis, Ind., May 11-14.

Superior awards will be given to the three next best exhibits. The Montana Heart Association will give prizes of $50, $30 and $20 for the three best exhibits in medicine and physiology. Other awards include a Navy cruise, Montana State University scholarships, ribbons, certificates, books scientific equipment and cash.

More than 80 judges will judge the exhibits. Dr. Ludvig G. Brown, professor of zoology, is in charge of the judging.

The fair will officially close tomorrow at 3 p.m.

Highway Patrol Goes All Out To Enforce 65 MPH Limits

HELENA (UPI) — Montana Highway Patrol Supervisor Alex B. Stephenson said this week the patrol will go all out to enforce the special 65-mile-an-hour daytime speed limit in Missoula and Flathead Counties starting Friday.

He said strict enforcement of speed limits is essential because of the heavy spring breakup of roads and the resultant hazard.

Flathead County got permission from the State Highway Patrol Board in January and Missoula County in February to impose a 65 MPH limit on main highways. To date, however, the highway patrol has not enforced the speed restrictions.

mate $8 per barrel for cleaned marketable cranberries.

The White House said that although the industry as a whole suffered, only a few growers had been responsible for improper use of the weed-killer.

MONTANA MAY GAIN PARK

HELENA (UPI)—The National Park Service will study the Fort Benton-Fort Peck area this summer as the first step in possible creation of a national park along the upper Missouri River, it was learned Wednesday.

Sen. James E. Murray said Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton informed him of the pending study in line with a request made by Murray. The senator had asked that the river area be scouted as a possible national park site.

Murray asked that particular attention be paid to possible preservation of sites visited by Lewis and Clark.

Club to Sponsor Rodeo April 8-9

The University Rodeo Club will sponsor the third annual intercollegiate rodeo at the Field House April 8 and 9, according to John Padden, club president.

Performances will be Friday night and Saturday morning and night. Awards will be presented at the final performance.

Cowboys from colleges and universities throughout the northwest will be entered in the competition. Early this week Padden said that entries had been received from eight schools, and more are anticipated. Fifteen schools were represented in last year's rodeo. The deadline for entries is midnight next Friday.

Lory to Discuss Athletic Policy at Montana Forum

Earl C. Lory, chairman of the faculty athletic committee, will speak to Montana Forum at an open meeting today at noon in Territorial Room 4 of the Lodge, according to Thomas Mongar, chairman. Dr. Lory will explain the new athletic policy.

LOCAL LAWYER TO SPEAK

Dexter Delaney, a Missoula lawyer and University graduate, is scheduled to speak at a Newman Club Breakfast at the Lodge following the 10 a.m. Mass Sunday. His topic will be "The Catholic Church and Capital Punishment."

Deadline Extended For Play Contest

The deadline for the Masquer original one-act play writing contest has been extended to 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Douglas Bankson, assistant professor of drama, said that the deadline was extended to allow students who had worked on plays over spring vacation to enter the contest. He said that there were a few entries but more were needed.

The contest is held annually and is open to any student enrolled at the University.

Students Receive Fellowships For University Graduate Study

Six MSU students have received National Science Foundation fellowships to finance a year of graduate study at the University during the 1960-61 school year, and a seventh MSU student will study at the University of California at Berkeley under the same program, Dr. Ellis C. Waldron, dean of the graduate school, announced today.

Those receiving $2,200 awards for 12 months of study at MSU were Maurice G. Hornocker, a senior in wildlife technology, from Allerton, Iowa; Mrs. Margaret R. Hummon, a graduate student in botany, from Oakton, Va., and Merle E. Manis, a senior in mathematics, from Missoula.

Students receiving $1,650 awards for nine months of study were Daniel G. McRae, a senior in mathematics, from Missoula; Morgan A. Long, a graduate student in Mathematics, from Sugarloaf, Pa., and Ronald C. Parker, a graduate student in geology, from Missoula.

Mongar Awarded Grant For Three Year Period

Thomas Mongar, senior in political science, has been awarded a three year National Defense Graduate Fellowship for study at the University of Oregon. Mongar, in accepting the award, said he would study political philosophy and theory. He will begin his graduate studies next fall.

The award provides a stipend of $2,000 the first year, $2,200 for the second and $2,400 for the third year of study, plus $400 each year for each dependent.

Registration Trial Termed Success

The one-day registration which was initiated on an experimental basis this quarter was a success, according to Registrar Leo Smith.

The experiment turned up no reason for a return to the two-day registration. The two-day process needlessly cuts down on instruction time and wastes faculty manpower, he said.

Mr. Smith noted that the one-day process does need some improvements, but said the experiment indicates that it is possible to use it for spring and winter registrations.

Keith Yale, a senior in mathematics at MSU, from Missoula, received a $2,200 fellowship for 12 months of study at the University of California, after he applied there, Dean Waldron said.

All of the students took a graduate record examination last November which rated them with over 3,000 national applicants. He said they were also judged on their past record.

The University was invited by the National Science Foundation to nominate as many as 10 candidates for the cooperative graduate fellowships.

MSU will receive $1,800 for each of the students for fees and costs of training.

Help! Volunteers Needed Backstage for 'Oklahoma!'

Students are needed to help with scenery, costume construction, and properties in the "Oklahoma!" production.

Those interested may contact Richard James, technical director for the production, in Fine Arts 203.

No previous experience is necessary, and students need not be enrolled in drama classes. Volunteers may register for Drama 101 to earn academic credit, but this is not mandatory, he said.

Russian Film To Be Shown

The Russian film, "Potemkin," and "The Pawnshop," a short Charlie Chaplin comedy, will be shown tonight at the University Theater, according to Sharon Blaszek, chairman of the Movie Committee.

"Potemkin" is considered by some to be one of the greatest films in the history of the silent cinema. A musical score has been added but there is no dialogue. The film is based on an incident which occurred on the armored cruiser Prince Potemkin during the 1905 uprising. The sailors themselves and the people of Odessa were used as actors.

Show times are: "The Pawnshop," 7 and 8:35 p.m., "Potemkin," 7:25 and 9 p.m. The admission price is 25 cents for students and faculty. Participants in the Science Fair will be admitted free, according to Miss Blaszek.

Library to Feature Display Of Freeman's Publications

During the next week the library will feature a display of publications by Edmund L. Freeman, professor of English, and Harvard Professor I. R. Richards who is here to participate in an academic festival honoring Mr. Freeman.

Spring Registration Comment

Many of us immediately condemned the experimental, one-day registration when it was proposed last quarter, saying it could only lead to mass confusion. It was feared nothing would go right, because of the anticipated rush.

But there was no rush.

The Kaimin conducted a poll to help get student opinion which the registrar requested last quarter.

This poll is only a small cross section (approximately 12 per cent) of the 3,400 students at the University, so we do not present it as an accurate picture. It was circulated in fraternity houses, sorority houses, dormitories and a few off-campus residences.

Here are the results.

1. Was registration for you, FASTER (108), SAME (165), SLOWER (136).
2. Did one-day registration hinder getting desired courses? YES (144), NO (265).
3. Were you inconvenienced by abolishment of deferred payment? YES (62), NO (347).

You can draw your own conclusions from these figures.

The Kaimin feels the first answer does not indicate much of anything other than students went through lines faster or slower depending on what time of day they registered.

Question two should raise some eyebrows. More than 50 per cent of the students polled said they did not get the courses they wanted. This might also happen during two-day registration. Nevertheless, the registrar should be aware of this situation.

Ideally, the last question should have been answered 100 per cent yes. It is not fair for students with financial difficulties to be denied registration. Approximately 18 per cent said they were inconvenienced by abolishment of deferred payment. This is too many.

There were some bottlenecks—especially in the late morning around the check-out stations. Packet lines were keeping students standing for over an hour in the early hours. More check-out stations might help, if room could be found for them. Better arrangement of packet lines (according to the alphabet) would keep these more evenly distributed. The R to Z line was especially long.

All in all, one-day registration surprised many with its efficiency. It has saved a day of schooling.

It might be fair to give this day back to the students on Good Friday, so they can attend church or go home over Easter.

Student Comments From Kaimin Poll

"I think the packet lines should be eliminated. The packets could be mailed to the students or their advisors in advance."

"I think the registration packets should be delivered to the students at their living groups when they receive their time appointment cards."

"This is my thirteenth quarter in attendance at MSU. I have had deferment of payments every quarter and have never been lax in a payment. I think this is grossly unfair to working students with families to support on limited incomes."

"I didn't like having to go to school Tuesday."

"I don't change my religion every quarter, so why fill out a new card each quarter? The same thing applies to the health service cards, etc."

"Pre-registration would probably be even more effective. At least it's worth a try."

"I advocate one-day registration as it gives us an extra day of classes which is so beneficial. Perhaps in the future, registration could begin on Sunday evening—thereby adding even another day of classes!"

"Please split up the R-Z line into about four separate lines with one separate line for the W's."

Mongar Proposes Rewording Petition

To the Kaimin:

There have been violent objections to Referendum B calling originally for an immediate cut, beginning in the fall of 1960, of $5.00 of the $10.00 Athletic Fee. Some people feel that it would wreck the President's new athletic policy. On the contrary, it will tend to enforce that policy by cutting funds so the old policy cannot be revived without considerable effort. However, we do recognize that the withdrawal of $45,000.00 per year will upset the time schedule for the new policy.

Therefore, we propose that Referendum B be changed to read: "The Associated Students of Montana State University recommend that the State Board of Education of Montana reduce $5.00 of the current $10.00 per student per quarter Athletic Fee in the following manner: $2.00 for 1960-61 and $3.00 for 1961-62." This supports the President's gradual withdrawal and at the same time offers a concrete guarantee that the students will get the reduction.

If you, as a signer of the petition, disagree with this procedural change, you may withdraw your name by contacting Jean Tate, ASMSU Secretary. If you have not done so by 5:00 p.m., Wednesday, April 6, we shall assume that you accept the change. Accordingly, we will ask Central Board to accept the change in placing the Referendum on the ballot.

I want to caution all who circulated petitions that they may become targets for assault. I have on two separate occasions. The assaulters are athletes who have not learned to accept the fundamental American precept that minority opinion may become majority opinion and must be accepted (Continued on Page Four)

Officials Forecast Grizzly Skyline Conference Exit

United Press International

Skyline sports officials indicated they believe it's the beginning of the end for the Grizzlies in the conference.

"I do not think Montana's action will have any effect on the Skyline Conference as a whole but this might be the first step in Montana's leaving the conference," University of Utah Athletic Director James R. "Bud" Jack said.

"On the surface it looks like it will eventually mean Montana might drop out of the Skyline," said Wyoming Athletic Director Glenn "Red" Jacoby.

Utah's Jack said the de-emphasis might make it difficult for MSU to field athletic teams of a caliber necessary to compete in the Skyline.

He said, "I'm sure that the officials at Montana are doing this

Ruana Takes NCAA Ski Title

Rudy Ruana has become the third Grizzly to win a National Collegiate Athletic Association individual championship.

Ruana captured the national slalom title spring vacation at Bridger Bowl, near Bozeman, during the NCAA championship meet.

Ruana, a junior, is from Milltown, Mont. He has consistently been a fine skier for the Silver-tips during the past three seasons.

Montana's two other NCAA champions were Dick Doyle of Missoula and Arnie Gillette of Lewistown. Doyle won the national discus title in 1950 and Gillette won the NCAA two-mile run in 1926.

Jenkins Expects Heavy Turn Out For Next Season

Head football coach Ray Jenkins expects to be greeted by nearly 60 gridders when spring workouts begin April 19. Included in the squad are 17 lettermen and about 30 freshmen. Several other team members and three transfers are expected to turn out also.

Jenkins will begin his third year at the University this spring.

Jenkins said, "We've got a lot of work to do this spring and we'll spend our time working on fundamentals and basic football." The team is limited to 20 days of spring practice by the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Skyline Conference.

Jenkins said the spring game, slated for May 19, will be an intersquad game. In past years this game has been between the varsity and the alumni.

The Silvertips will open their grid season Sept. 10 against North Dakota at Grand Forks.

in the best interests of the school. It must be a real financial hardship for them."

The decision by the Grizzlies also revived Skyline talk about realignment of the conference and recruiting new teams such as Arizona of the Border Conference and clubs such as Washington and Oregon.

W. E. Morgan, president of Colorado State University and head of the Skyline Council of Presidents, said the Montana action would be discussed "quite avidly" at the conference meeting May 27-28.

Academic Festival to Honor Freeman This, Next Week

A week-long academic festival honoring Edmund L. Freeman, professor of English, for over 40 years of service to the University, began today.

Mr. Freeman will be honored at private gatherings given by faculty groups and other friends. I. A. Richards, literary critic, author and Harvard professor, will climax the week with a public address April 8 in the Music School auditorium. There will be a public reception at the Faculty House following Mr. Richards' address.

Mr. Freeman earned his bachelor's degree in English and mathematics at Missouri Wesleyan and his master's degree in English at Northwestern University. He also studied at California University and was a fellow at King's College, University of London, in 1928-29.

Following two years service in World War I, Mr. Freeman joined the MSU faculty. Since that time he has discharged many committee

U Debate Team Goes to Meet

The University debate team left yesterday to attend the Montana Intercollegiate Speech Tournament in Billings. Ralph Y. McGinnis, Chairman of the speech department, and Louis M. Sirois, lecturer in the speech department, accompanied the team.

The speech tournament will be held at Eastern Montana College of Education April 1 and 2. Team members are Dave Danielson and Charles Vick, number one; Bruce Hanley, Kirk Buls and Sue Howard, number two. Jack Rudio, Cordelia Brown and Eileen Gallagher are entrants in oral interpretation of literature. Buls is the entrant in oratory.

The team planned to present short programs of debate and oral interpretation at Butte Public High School and Bozeman High School enroute to Billings. Similar short programs are planned for today at Billings Senior High School and at Billings Central High School.

The group plans to return to Missoula late tomorrow night.
