Clarke speaks at University of Montana Thursday

University of Montana--Missoula. Office of University Relations

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.umt.edu/newsreleases

Recommended Citation

This News Article is brought to you for free and open access by the University Relations at ScholarWorks at University of Montana. It has been accepted for inclusion in University of Montana News Releases by an authorized administrator of ScholarWorks at University of Montana. For more information, please contact scholarworks@mail.lib.umt.edu.
MISSOULA—

Arthur C. Clarke will discuss "The Promise of Space" at 8 p.m. Thursday (May 23) in the University Theater at the University of Montana.

The public lecture is sponsored by the Associated Students at UM. There is no admission charge.

Clarke, a noted author, is inventor of the communications satellite. He is co-author of the book and film entitled "2001: A Space Odyssey."

Having an intense interest in the sea, Clarke has been exploring the depths of Australia and Ceylon since the early 1950s. He has written numerous items related to his underwater explorations, many of which have been published in such periodicals as Reader's Digest and Holiday magazine.