Final Production Of Ballet Theater Is Next Weekend

"Cendrillon," written by Marnie Cooper, will be the feature ballet in MSU's final "Night of Ballet" May 12 and 13.

When Marnie Cooper created the ballet, she did not know that it would be both the first and last ballet performed during her career at MSU.

"Cendrillon" is the story of a fiery ballerina who delays rehearsals with her temperamental personality. The ballerina, portrayed by Kathy Joseph, continues her behavior and is reprimanded by the director. Ultimately, the ballerina quits in a fit of anger, and is replaced by a young girl in the corps. The ballet concludes with the staging of the actual "production."

The choreography has been re-created as Marnie Cooper strives to portray the individual personalities and styles of her dancers.

The cast includes Kathy Joseph, David Thomas, George Klein, Sandra Swank, John Barber, Bill Gehler and Sue Kerslake.

Next week's performances will end ballet at MSU, as ballet has been removed from the curriculum.

Buddhism, Beats Subject for Talk

Dr. Alan Watts, author, lecturer, theologian, will present a lecture on "Zen Buddhism and the Beats" at 8 p.m. Friday in the Missoula County High School Auditorium, according to Ralph McGinnis, chairman of the Public Exercises Committee.

Mr. Watts has been guest lecturer at Cambridge, Harvard and was a religious counselor at Northwestern.

U.S. Officially Declares Cuba Is Member of Communist Bloc

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States yesterday declared Cuba has become a member of the Communist bloc and accused Fidel Castro of a rule even more "Communist" than other Iron Curtain countries.

Under Castro's proclamation that Cuba is a "Socialist" state, a U.S. statement said, Castro is using the same term that the Soviets and others use to describe themselves. Furthermore Castro is going the Communists "one better," the statement said, by:

Putting an official end to elections in Cuba. The other Red countries normally at least go through the form of holding elections even though the voters don't have a choice of candidates.

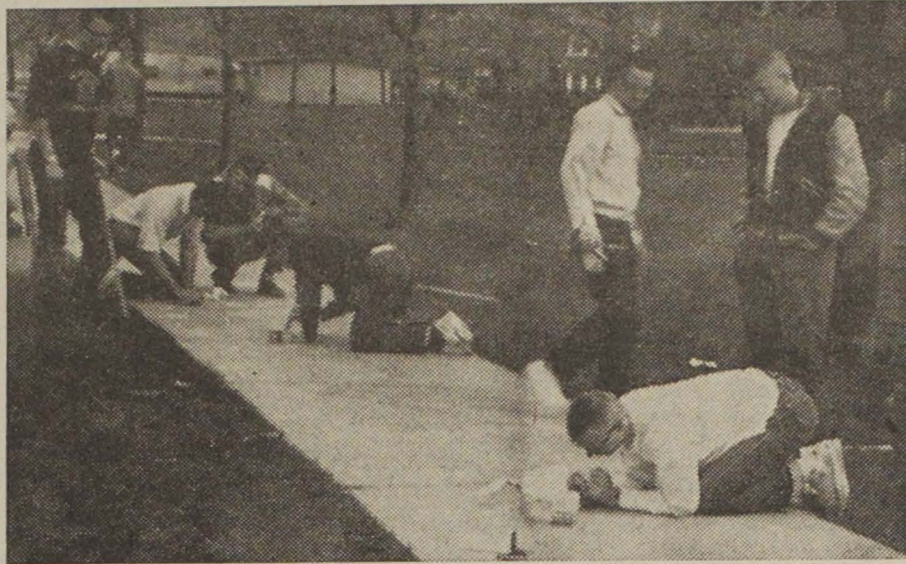

Kennedy Orders Road Spending

WASHINGTON (AP)—Spending of three-quarter million dollars on Yellowtail Dam-Yellowstone Park area roads has been ordered by the President.

Sens. Mike Mansfield and Lee Metcalf also said that the projects are part of a national speed-up asked on $3.5 billion worth of highway building.

For a road from the Yellowtail Dam site north to provide a link with Hardin, $400,000 will be spent.

The Cook City-Red Lodge access to the northeastern edge of Yellowstone Park will use $350,000.

HELLO, AGAIN AND AGAIN—Bearpaw recruits wielded paint brushes Saturday morning as they painted greetings along the new "Hello Walk." The old "Hello Walk," torn up during the construction of the new Liberal Arts addition, was a campus landmark for many years. The new walk stretches from the baby oval to Turner Hall entrance.

Largest Montana Music Festival Starts Tomorrow

This weekend's State Music Festival will be the largest since the annual event was begun in 1939, according to Dean Luther Richman.

Mrs. F. A. Boedecker, secretary for the school of fine arts, said accommodations have been secured for the 2,500 students, directors and chaperones who will arrive on campus tomorrow from over 110 Montana high schools.

Before last weekend, 200 beds were needed for students who had no arrangements for accommodations. Mrs. Boedecker said the fraternities and sororities offered housing facilities.

Finland Will Host Chess Tourney

A letter from Praha, Czechoslovakia received yesterday informed the Kaimin that the next world student chess championship will be in Helsinki, Finland on July 17-31.

Last year in Leningrad the USA team beat the USSR "chesskovi" and took first place in the world championships in a field of 14 countries. This was the first time the USA team had placed higher than fifth in the tournament.

Officials urge all those who play chess to sharpen their logistics and nimble their fingers. It is hoped that, even though the USSR put the first man in space, the USA chess team may keep the last king on the checkered board in Helsinki again this year.

Weather Change Is Needed For Space Launching

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla (AP) — America's first attempt to launch a man into space was called off yesterday because of storms—but within hours there was a forecast for improving weather by tomorrow.

Astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr. climbed out of his spacesuit for the long wait in a "ready room" as weather experts studied reports that skies may begin clearing sometime today.

The Miami Weather Bureau said there should be a decrease in showers, some decrease in winds and probably a decrease in cloudiness.

Regardless of the weather, Shepard, 37, must wait at least 48 hours before he can again climb into the cramped, bell-shaped Mercury capsule for a 115-mile trip into space.

It will take that long for the 63-foot-tall Redstone rocket, purged of corrosive fuels after the postponement, to be readied again for launching.

The postponement was caused by two storm fronts converging on the area 290 miles down the range where the astronaut's capsule was to parachute into the ocean some 15 minutes after launch.

If this is delayed beyond Saturday, an indefinite postponement will be called.

Four Army Men Reported Missing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army reported yesterday that a captain and three sergeants, serving as U. S. advisers to the Royal Laotian Army, have been missing since April 22.

It was the second such incident involving Americans in the Laotian fighting between government forces and pro-Communist rebels. An unarmed U.S. transport assigned to the U. S. Embassy was shot down during a spotting mission on March 23. So far as is known only one of the seven U. S. military personnel aboard survived. Army Maj. Lawrence R. Bailey parachuted into rebel hands, and presumably is a prisoner.

Education Subcommittee Accepts School Aid Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Education subcommittee yesterday voted 8-1 to approve President Kennedy's $2,298,000,000 proposal for federal aid to public grade and high schools.

Only Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., opposed the measure. Six Democrats and two Republicans voted to send it to the full Labor and Public Welfare Committee.

The latter group is expected to approve it either tomorrow or early next week.

Democratic leaders hope to bring the legislation up on the Senate floor next week.

Anaconda Senior Wins Scholarship To MSU J-School

Janet Florence Ritschel, of Anaconda High School, has been selected as first recipient of the C. G. Rochon scholarship in journalism at MSU, according to Nathan B. Blumberg, dean of journalism.

Miss Ritschel, 17, will enroll in journalism at MSU next fall. She was co-editor of the school newspaper during her senior year.

The Rochon scholarship was established in 1960 by Mrs. Dorothy Rochon Powers, a Spokane newspaperwoman and a 1943 graduate from the MSU School of Journalism, when she won the national Ernie Pyle Memorial Award for her writing in the Spokesman-Review.

The scholarship, named in honor of Mr. Rochon, Mrs. Powers' father, consists of five $200 funds to be awarded to Anaconda High School students planning to major in journalism at MSU.

Miss Ritschel was selected by a committee composed by Marva Eccleston, AHS journalism instructor; Tom Doohan, AHS English instructor; and M. F. O'Leary, AHS principal.

The Aquamaids created all of their own costumes and built the backdrops for the show. Each costume identifies the character.

Admission for the show will be 50 cents for children and 75 cents for students and adults.

Lawyers Take Positions On MBA Proposal

HELENA (AP) — Five county bar associations and more than 125 individual attorneys have taken official sides on a proposal to unify all Montana lawyers into a new group.

Officials of the present Montana Bar Association proposed the plan for integrating the bar of the state under regulations of the Montana Supreme Court, which will hear the request Monday.

The MBA petition, filed March 20, contends a unified bar "would result in the establishment of a democratic organization which would be the antithesis directly opposite of an exclusive or voluntary bar association."

Clerk of Court Thomas J. Kearney yesterday said petitions supporting the proposal were filed by the Cascade County Bar Association, Franklin S. Logan of Billings, Russell E. Smith of Missoula and Robert E. Sullivan, dean of the MSU Law School.

Sullivan was one of the MBA officials who signed the original proposal. Another was Stanley M. Doyle, president of the 540-member MBA, who since was appointed a Supreme Court justice.

Objections to the integration plan were filed by the bar associations of Park, Silver Bow, Lewis and Clark and Broadwater counties; a group of 16 attorneys practicing in Helena; and a group of 101 lawyers from Helena, Billings, Hardin, Red Lodge, Bridger, Fromberg, Laurel, Lewistown, Choteau, Missoula, Livingston, White Sulphur Springs, Shelby, Bozeman, Malta, Glendive and Baker.

Others listing themselves as opponents include John Moore of Cut Bank, Ellsworth A. Cragholm of Missoula, Lloyd J. Wallace, J. A. Turnage and T. N. Hamman of Polson.

The petition signed by 101 lawyers asks that the hearing be postponed until fall and that, meanwhile, all lawyers be given a chance to cast a secret, mail ballot on the proposal.

This group said the request stems from the 1960 MBA convention in Billings at which no more than 150 members, "a small minority," were present.

The MBA says the high court has the inherent power to regulate admission to the bar.

About 56 per cent of the lawyers licensed to practice in Montana are members of the present bar association, which probably would be terminated by adoption of the integration plan.

Thieves Like to Stick Together

Recently an MSU student went to the library in search of a book for a report. Not being able to find it, he requested the librarian to put it on the wanted list. A few days later, he received a card from the library saying the book has been missing since 1951.

The title of the book is, "The Professional Thief by a Professional Thief."

Project for Carroll

Steve Carroll, receiving the highest number of votes for the sophomore delegate position to Central Board, automatically becomes chairman of Elections Committee. Denis Adams, ASMSU president, suggested at the installation banquet that each delegate start his own project before he returned from a convention in San Francisco.

Carroll might well start working with the elections procedure for ASMSU.

This last election brought many undesirable events both in voting and counting of ballots.

Lacked Information

There were two constitutional amendments on the ballots and a ballot on student membership in the Associated Students Store.

With the constitutional changes the ballots stated the change and "I am in favor of the following Constitutional amendment" and "I am opposed to the following Constitutional amendment."

In the case of the ballot on student membership in the Associated Students store it stated either "I favor" or "I oppose the proposals that all regularly registered students at Montana State University become members of the Associated Students Store Corporation there, as long as they are students."

Neither in the constitutional changes nor in the store proposal did the ballot state what was being changed. A voter, without being able to tell what he is voting for, can hardly vote intelligently.

Election May Be Illegal

Many have said the election was illegal because of this. To be illegal the election would have to be contrary to procedure called for by the constitution or by-laws, and in this case there is no procedure set forth.

An addition to the by-laws should be made so that both the existing law and the proposed changes appear on the ballot.

Also by-law changes should be made for the procedure of ballot casting, collecting and counting.

In his report to Central Board on April 27, Ed Whitelaw, then Elections Committee chairman, told Central Board that somehow there was a mix up of 21 votes. He said either 21 students failed to sign the register or there was some ballot stuffing.

Certainly these admissions suggest that some kind of procedure is needed in these fields.

Procedure for Counting

If you were in the ASMSU offices when the ballots were being counted you would also say procedure is needed. How counting of the ballots will be handled is up to the chairman, who changes every year. There is no provision for a recount, or who finally makes the election official.

Also, the excellent idea of precincts on different parts of the campus should be incorporated so that this will become a practice instead of an act of individual chairmen.

Much is needed to be done in setting up the procedure of the elections of ASMSU. This next year Elections Committee will come under the direction of a new chairman with many new members. The next election, unless a special one is called, will be next fall with the election of freshmen delegates to Central Board.

It is hoped that elections procedure will have been set up by that time.

GARY COOPER: SYMBOLS OF MONTANA'S OLD WEST AND THE SHIFTING AMERICAN DREAM

(Note: This week's Heresy is written by Jack Gilluly, senior in journalism.)

Gary Cooper is dying, and it seems that part of Montana's old West—even if it is now nonexistent and stereotyped by Hollywood—is going to die with him.

Montanans are proud of their old-west heritage. This is reflected in Montana's mainstreets, books and newspapers, paintings, celebrations and historical monuments. The old West, of course, is dead; but as Leslie Fiedler in his essay "Montana Face or the End of Jean Jacques Rousseau" writes, Montanans do not want to admit it. Montana, the last frontier, as one writer called it, gives most of the natives the satisfaction that their state is different. Who knows how many years it will take us to come out of our old-West dream world.

Gary Cooper, a quiet, amiable actor (please note the "Montana Face" the next time you see him in a movie), who does not know he knows how to act, therefore represents to most Montanans a symbol of the old West. Since Cooper is a former Montanan (his father used to be Justice of the Montana Supreme Court and owned a ranch near Great Falls), the symbol becomes even stronger.

Several years ago Dorothy M. Johnson, MSU assistant professor of journalism and one of the West's foremost writers, had one of her best sellers, "The Hanging Tree," made into a movie by the same name. Montanans were happy that Gary Cooper was the main character, and that Miss Johnson had referred to Cooper as "my hero."

While The Hanging Tree was being shot near Yakima, Wash., (many Montanans wondered why it was not made in Montana), Gary Cooper came to Missoula to confer with Miss Johnson about the movie. Since Cooper was a former Montana and an outstanding actor, someone suggested that it would be a nice gesture if Cooper was given an honorary doctor's degree in drama from the University. The MSU faculty disapproved the suggestion, and many Montanans were angry, accusing the University of attempting to destroy the symbol.

So Gary Cooper's approaching death is sending a chill up many Montanans' spines. We are about to lose one of our prized symbols. An editorial in a recent Missoulian is an example of this apprehension.

Gary Cooper also symbolizes the shifting American dream. Cooper has represented American moods and attitudes during some of our most cherished and shameful periods of history. Quickly recalling a few of his past films, he was Lt. Henry in "A Farewell to Arms" when we were preoccupied with pacifism; the liberal-minded Mr. Deeds in "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town" during the New Deal Era; Lou Gehrig in "Pride of the Yankees" and Billy Mitchell in "The Court Martial of Billy Mitchell," not to mention his numerous western films.

Thomas Morgan, writing in this month's Esquire, says "Gary Cooper's 'Gary Cooper' is second only to Charlie Chaplin's tramp among all the enduring symbols created by U.S. movies" and "While Chaplin's tramp expresses our common humanity and . . . tragic-comedy, Cooper sums up the shifting American dream in terms of our national reluctance to grow older and

Haggis Will Talk To Phi Sigma

Alex Haggis, of the zoology department of the University of Washington, will speak tonight at 7:30 on "Embryonic Induction" at the Phi Sigma meeting in Room 307 of the Natural Science Building, according to Philip L. Wright, chairman of zoology.

our pioneer belief in the inevitable triumph of good over evil."

According to a quote of Leslie Fiedler's in Mr. Morgan's article, Cooper's image has also spread aboard. Mr. Fiedler writes: "This faith has already built up in Western Europe a sizable underground sect which worships in the catacombs of the movie theaters . . . a hundred years after the Manifesto, the specter that is haunting Europe is—Gary Cooper! Vulgar, gross, sentimental, impoverished in style—our popular sub-art presents a dream of human possibilities to starved imaginations everywhere. It is a wry joke that what for us are most embarrassing by-products of a democratic culture, are in some countries the only democracy there is."

Gary Cooper will probably die soon despite President Kennedy wishing him a quick recovery. It will be interesting to see whom Hollywood will give us to replace "the American hero" as Thomas Morgan calls Cooper. It will be interesting to see who will satisfy "starved imaginations" in the future.

Above all, what will my fellow Montanans do? Do you think they will adjust?

Perhaps they will erect a statue of Cooper to be placed along side that of Thomas Meagher in front of the Capitol in Helena, Mont.

Criticism Has Two Sides; Good, Bad

To the Kaimin:

An ironic letter appeared in this paper on Friday, April 28th. Its heading read, "Average Student Exhibits Ignorance" and was written by Jeff Eagmond. Mr. Eagmond called the students who listened to and watched this entertainment in the Treasure State Room last Thursday, as one who " . . . exhibits ignorance, poor taste, immaturity and the mental outlook of an unskilled laborer."

This, in my opinion, fits Mr. Eagmond to a tee. Because it takes a person of these characteristics to even write a letter of this sort. But Mr. Eagmond, don't feel alone there are many people like yourself who don't want to try to understand certain music, I didn't say like, but understand.

Who are you, Mr. Eagmond, to degrade the people who perform and the people who dig this entertainment? If you have any remarks to make on the subject of entertainment, use constructive criticism and not defamatory adjectives. Perhaps if you used a little tact with certain people, you might get the type of entertainment that you enjoy.

Scourge, Full House, Doncelles Pick Up A League Victories

By TOM FLAHERTY

The fourth week of intramural softball opened yesterday with Scourge, Full House and the Doncelles picking up victories in the A League.

Full House 13, Elrod 0

Full House turned in its sixth victory against no defeats as it shut out Elrod 13 to 0 in three innings. Les Hudson picked up his fifth victory of the season and allowed Elrod only one hit, a single by Hank Manz in the third inning.

Full House opened scoring in the first inning when Mick Naranche hit a triple with the bases loaded. After Full House scored its fourth run in the second inning, Naranche again appeared at the plate with the bases full and cleaned up with a home run giving Full House an eight-run lead.

Full House added five more runs in the third inning including two more batted in by Naranche with a double.

Hudson struck out three Elrod batters as he picked up the victory. Doug Kienitz was the losing pitcher.

Full House now leads the league with a 6-0 record. Elrod's record is 2-6.

Doncelles 13, Mafia 7

The Doncelles jumped away with the first pitch and scored five runs in both the first and second innings as they thumped Mafia 13 to 7.

The Doncelles failed to score in only the third inning. They finished the game by adding three more runs to their score in the fourth inning.

Mafia scored runs in every inning but was unable to keep up the pace set by the Doncelle batmen.

Jim Mason, Kieth Law and Dick Silverstein hit home runs for the winners as they collected nine hits, six of which went for extra bases.

Paul Miller was the winning pitcher, and Jay Wheeler was the loser.

The Doncelles' record is now 4-2 and Mafia's record is 3-3.

Scourge 9, RX 3

Scourge outscored RX 9 to 3 yesterday to pick up its fourth win of the season against two losses.

A walk, a hit and a hit batter set the stage for a two-run single by Dick Cox in the first inning. Cox's single was followed by two more walks which filled the bases, and Gary Bingham hit another single driving in two more runs.

Scourge added three more runs in the second inning on a single, a walk and two errors and scored one run in both the third and fourth innings.

RX was held scoreless until the fifth inning when Pete Davis hit a three-run double, but the pharmacy team was unable to close the six-run gap as the game ended.

Ron Fenex was the winning pitcher, and Gary French was the loser.

Scourge and RX are now tied for second place in the A League with the Doncelles. All have 4-2 records.

Whitefish picked up its second win against four losses by virtue of a forfeit from the Untouchables. The Untouchables have seven losses, all forfeits.

Forestry had a bye yesterday, and its record is 3-3.

Montana to Renew Basketball Rivalry With U of Washington

The Grizzly basketball team will renew one of its oldest rivalries this fall with a pair of games against the University of Washington.

Montana will meet Washington in Seattle Dec. 4 and 5. The Huskies are scheduled to play a return series in Missoula within one or two years, according to George Dahlberg, MSU athletic director.

The Grizzlies and Huskies first met on a basketball floor in 1924. During that season the Washington team came to Missoula and beat Montana twice, 34 to 22 and 33 to 31.

The MSU team traveled to Seattle for the next game, in 1925, but the outcome was the same.

Montana lost 39 to 27. Later that year the Grizzlies won on their home floor 23 to 28.

Montana's victory streak was completed with that one win. The Grizzlies did not beat Washington again until 1934, when MSU took a 33 to 29 victory in Seattle.

The last Montana-Washington game was played in Seattle in 1941. The Grizzlies won the first game 47 to 41.

Montana will open its basketball season next fall with a pair of games with Oregon State College before meeting the Huskies. The Grizzlies Skyline schedule begins Jan. 6 against Brigham Young University.

Fraternity Softball Nears End With Three Action Days Left

Only three regular playing days remain on the Fraternity League softball schedule, and the fight for the league crown will probably last until the final afternoon of play.

Phi Delta Theta moved a step closer to the championship Saturday with an 8 to 6 victory over Sigma Alpha Epsilon. The win put PDT into first place and left the Phi Deltas with the only unblemished record in the league with 5 and 0.

But PDT has two games yet to play and both are with upper-division clubs. Today the PDT nine meets second-place Sigma Nu, 4 and 1 and May 10 PDT will play Sigma Chi, 3 and 2.

Victories in both games would clinch the league title for the Phi Deltas.

The SAEs dropped to a second-place tie with SN after losing to PDT, but with the exception of a game against a late-starting Sigma Phi Epsilon team, the SAEs will finish the season against comparatively easy opponents.

Sigma Chi is still in the race with a 3 and 2 record, but the SXs have games with both PDT and SN before the season ends.

The top three teams in the Fraternity League and the top three in the A League will meet the week following the end of the regular season for the All-Intramural Championship.

LUCKY STRIKE PRESENTS:

DEAR DR. FROOD:

DR. FROOD'S THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: BEWARE OF SUBLIMINAL ADVERTISING!

LUCKY STRIKE LUCKY STRIKE LUCKY STRIKE LUCKY STRIKE LUCKY STRIKE LUCKY STRIKE LUCKY STRIKE LUCKY STRIKE LUCKY STRIKE

Dear Dr. Frood: I've been reading a great deal about automated teaching devices. How long will it be before they come up with machines to replace professors?

Professor

DEAR PROFESSOR: Just as soon as they get one that can rap the knuckles of a sleeping student, give humiliating answers to foolish questions and spring surprise tests whenever it happens to be in a bad mood.

Dear Dr. Frood: In the four years I've been at this college I've done some pretty horrible things. I am guilty, for instance, of [redacted] into and around the home of Professor [redacted]. I'm also ashamed of [redacted] the Board of Regents, and completely [redacted] the campus policeman's [redacted]. But the worst thing I did was [redacted] after hiding all night in the [redacted]. Can I, in good conscience, even accept a diploma from dear old [redacted]?

DEAR [redacted]: You can if you send $500 in unmarked bills to Dr. Frood, Box 2990, Grand Central Station, New York 17, N. Y. If you don't, I'll print your letter without the little black lines.

Dear Dr. Frood: Don't you think it's wrong for a boy and girl to marry while they're still in school?

Soc. Major

DEAR SOC.: Yes, they should at least wait until recess.

Dear Dr. Frood: My problem is fat, stubby fingers. As a result, I am exceedingly awkward with my hands. My manual dexterity is so poor, in fact, that I can't even get a Lucky pack open. What can I do?

Fingers

DEAR FINGERS: Simply strap ordinary sewing needles along both of your index fingers. Now cup the Lucky pack in your hands, grasp the little red tab in your teeth, and yank. Next, place the pack on a flat surface and secure it between two unabridged dictionaries. Then, with the right-hand needle, carefully, carefully carve a one-inch-square opening at the top right-hand corner. Finally, place the points of the needles firmly against the sides of a Lucky and lift. That's all there is to it. A word of warning though: Try to be careful when shaking hands.

THE HANDWRITING IS ON THE WALL, says Dr. Frood. Or, more exactly, on the blackboard. It's appearing on college blackboards everywhere: "College students smoke more Luckies than any other regular." Why is this statement showing up on college blackboards? Because I am paying agents to put it there. For you must remember that Luckies are the cigarette with taste—the emphatic toasted taste. Try a pack of Luckies today.

CHANGE TO LUCKIES and get some taste for a change!
