UM STUDENT COMPOSERS
TO PRESENT WORKS
JULY 15-16

MISSOULA---

Ten student composers will present their works at 7:30 p.m. July 15 and 16 in the Music Recital Hall on the University of Montana campus, Missoula.

The compositions were written as a part of a UM Summer Session class in techniques of musical composition instructed by Lowndes Maury, a visiting professor of music at UM.

The student compositions will include such forms as a composition for a male quartet, a fugue for four brass instruments, an octet for mixed brass and woodwind, and a work for soprano voice, flute and piano.

At the recital July 16 Maury and Eugene Andrie, UM professor of violin, will perform for the first time in Missoula a sonata for violin and piano written by Maury. It is entitled "Sonata in Memory of the Korean War Dead."

The public is invited to attend the composition workshops and to discuss the techniques and objectives of the works with the composers.

Students whose compositions will be presented include Robert Bork, formerly of Butte, now of Jackson, Ore.; Charles Bryson, Missoula; James Robertson, Three Forks; Michael Rosbarsky, Great Falls; Lowell Boyd Swingley, formerly of Lewistown, now of Canyonville, Ore.; Allen Sand, Melville, Sask., Canada; Dale Anderson, Ely, Nev.; Carl Holden, Riverside, Calif.; Sister Juliana Rathgeber, Provo, Utah; and Linda Lee Thomas, Cardston, Alta., Canada.
