CBS NEWSMAN DUE
FOR BRIEF STAY
IN MISSOULA THURSDAY

MISSOULA--

Richard C. Hottelet, a correspondent and news analyst for the Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS), is scheduled to be in Missoula little more than nine hours Thursday (July 11) to deliver a lecture at the University of Montana.

Hottelet is slated to arrive by plane at Johnson-Bell Field at 1:07 p.m. Thursday and he is due to board another plane at 11:30 p.m. for Spokane, where he will make connections for an eastbound flight.

Hottelet's lecture, which will deal with the Vietnam situation, will be at 8 p.m. in the UM Music Recital Hall. The event, open to the public without charge, is sponsored as a part of the UM Summer Session under the direction of Dr. Walter C. Schwank, summer session coordinator.

The lecture by the CBS newsman is based on Hottelet's personal contact with the Vietnamese, their problems and how they are solving them, and his talks with military and political leaders as well as combat-worn GIs.
